WEALTH OF STATESMEN.

Under the head of "Poverty of Statesmen," a Philadelphia paper says:

Statesmen, who are worthy of the appellation given them, generally fail to secure fortunes. They devote themselves to pursuits, which, if honestly adhered to, rarely yield rich rewards.

The same paper then gives the following statements:

Jefferson died comparatively poor. Indeed, if Congress had not purchased his library, and given for it five times its value, he would, with difficulty, have kept the wolf from his door.

Madison saved money, and was comparatively rich. To add to his fortunes, however, or rather to those of his widow, Congress purchased his manuscript papers, and paid thirty thousand dollars for them.

James Monroe, the sixth President of the United States, died in Philadelphia so poor that his remains found a resting-place through the charity of one of the citizens. They remain in a cemetery in Second street, but no monument marks the spot where they repose.

John Quincy Adams left some hundred and fifty thousand dollars, the result of industry, prudence and inheritance. He was a man of method and economy.

Martin Van Buren is very rich.—Throughout his political life, he has studiously looked out for his own interest. It is not believed that he ever spent thirty shillings in politics. His party shook the bush, and he caught the bird. True to the instincts of his nature, he believes that charity is a cheat.

Daniel Webster squandered some millions in his life time, the product of his profession and his political speculations. He died, leaving his property to his children, and his debts to his friends. The former sold for less than twenty thousand dollars—the latter exceeded two hundred and fifty thousand.

Henry Clay left a very handsome estate. It probably exceeded one hundred thousand dollars. He was a prudent manager, and a scrupulously honest man.

James K. Polk left about one hundred and fifty thousand dollars—fifty thousand of which he saved from his Presidency of four years.

John Tyler is worth fifty thousand dollars. Before he reached the Presidency he was a bankrupt. In office he husbanded his means, and then married a rich wife.

Zachary Taylor left one hundred and fifty thousand dollars.

Millard Fillmore is a wealthy man, and keeps his money in a very safe and strong box. It will never be wasted in speculation or squandered in vice.

Ex-President Pierce saved some fifty thousand dollars from his term of service.

Now it seems to us that the statements here copied do not by any means confirm the dictum, or opinion, which begins the article. Clay, Madison, J. Q. Adams, and Fillmore were surely all statesmen—all three were comparatively rich. Why? because they were economists. Zachary Taylor did not stay long enough in the statesmen's line to spend or save much.

It is rather remarkable, in running along over American statesmen, and mostly Presidents, that the writer forgot or omitted—

1. Washington, who by marriage was wealthy, in principle honest and economical, in statesmanship unquestionable.

2. John Adams, also a statesman and honest; in property neither rich nor poor, but, as the Yankees say, well off, respectable, independent.

3. Andrew Jackson, a soldier, a treasty-maker, a President for eight years, popular beyond measure, trusted with purse and sword,—yet dying with only a moderate property in possession.

4. T. H. Benton, thirty years in the Senate, just died, said to be poor, possibly insolvent, yet deemed honest.

FATAL ACCIDENT.—On Tuesday of last week, Mr. Simon Ames of Croydon while sliding from his hay mow struck his thigh against the handle of a pitch fork which was standing beside the mow, causing the fork handle to penetrate the thigh about eight inches. Mr. Ames suffered the most excruciating pain for about five days when he died. His age was 32.—Manchester American.

FATAL ACCIDENT.—Mr. Zebedee Edminster of Sunapee was suddenly and accidentally killed at Unity on Friday the 16th inst.—Mr. E. had been to Unity where he had recently been living, to obtain a load of hay, and when upon the top of the load and in the act of reaching down for a rope with which to bind his hay, he fell from the load, his head striking upon the floor of the barn and breaking his neck. He lived but a few moments after the fall. His age was about 70.—Manchester American.

☞ The Concord Standard states that Mr. Joseph Baker, Jr., of Pembroke, N. H., was thrown from his wagon on Thursday of last week, and so seriously injured that he died on the Saturday night following. His age was 56.

☞ Jack Repsher, a teamster, having killed a man, was hung recently at Leavenworth city by a gang of teamsters.

CONGRESS.

SATURDAY, April 24.

SENATE.—The deficiency bill was taken up, and Mr. Fessenden's amendment voted on and lost—22 and 30.

Messrs. Hale, of N. H., and Wilson, of Mass., respectively defined their position in respect to their vote.

The bill was read a third time, and the question put, "Shall the bill pass?"

The bill passed, by yeas 29, nays 19.

NAYS—Messrs. Broderick, Cameron, Chandler, Clark, Collamer, Dixon, Doolittle, Durkee, Fessenden, Foot, Foster, Harlan, King, Simmons, Stewart, Trumbull, Wade, Wilson.

ABSENT—Messrs. Bates, Bell, Crittenden, Davis, Douglas, Kennedy, Pearce, Reid, Sumner, Thompson of Ky.

PAIRED OFF—Messrs. Seward with Benjamin; and Mason with Hamlin.

The bill, therefore, passed precisely as reported from the Committee, with the addition of Stewart's amendment—that the Secretary submit future contracts for the sanction of Congress.

The Senate then went into Executive session, after which it adjourned.

HOUSE.—Mr. Stephens thought Monday two weeks was too far off at this advanced stage of the session for the consideration of the report of the Committee of Conference on the Kansas bill. He asked, as a personal favor to himself, as he wished to be absent, owing to the state of his health, that all agree that a vote be taken next Wednesday.

Mr. Campbell said that the report of the committee is entirely a new one. He desired to leave the city on Monday, and others propose leaving this evening. As it was impossible for him to return on Wednesday next, he thought the subject had better be voted on the second Monday in May.

Mr. Stephens remarked that he only wanted a fair understanding.

Mr. Hill of Ga. explained, that in moving to postpone the report till the second Monday in May, he did so at the suggestion of certain personal, but not political friends.

Mr. Clay of Ky. said that he himself wanted to go home to attend to his personal affairs, but this was the first time he had known, in the history of public legislation, that the affairs of a great country should be postponed to meet the private wishes of gentlemen. He presumed that the mind of every gentleman was made up, and the sooner the vote was taken the better for the peace and quiet of the country.

Mr. Montgomery of Penn. said that private affairs demanded his presence at home, and that no injury could result by the postponement of the subject until the second Monday in May.

The question was taken on motion of Mr. Harris of Illinois to reconsider the vote by which postponement to that time was fixed, and to lay that motion on the table.

The motion was decide affirmatively—by yeas, 105, against 101.

The question then recurred on agreeing to the original motion for postponement, amended by inserting the second Monday in May.

Mr. Washburne of Me. moved a call of the House, which was disagreed to, yeas 46, nays 155. Mr. Hughes moved the previous question. Negatived, 89 against 103. If this had been seconded, the House would have been brought to a vote on the report of the Committee of Conference. An adjournment was moved by Mr. Dewart and carried by 106 to 99.

A 'WATER-SHED' BURNT.—At Stoddard, N. H., Reuben Whitney's barn was burnt on Sunday, together with horses, oxen and sheep, all through the pipe of a vagrant who slept in the hay-mow. From one side of the roof of this barn the water ran off into the Merrimack river through this city to the ocean and from the other side into the Connecticut river and Long Island Sound.—Lowell News.

OUR GENUINE CONVERSION.—One day last week the Secretary of the Treasury received fifteen hundred dollars in Treasury notes from an unknown individual in New York, who states that he had cheated the government to that amount during Pierce's administration.

DOG EAT DOG.—In Roxbury, Mass., one German lager-bier seller, having some trouble with a rival in the business, complained of the latter for illegal liquor selling; the case is pending.

☞ James Dean is reported to have died of a legacy at St. Louis. He had the misfortune recently to receive a fortune from a deceased relative in England, and lived so fast that he used up himself and fortune in a few months, leaving his family destitute.

☞ A California widow, Mrs. Empy, in Rochester, had not heard from her husband for five years, and giving him up for dead, recently married one Thomas Robie. Soon after marriage the original husband turned up, and, becoming very indignant when he discovered that his ex-spouse had come into possession of a considerable property, sued her for bigamy. Mr. Robie is a respectable physician, 50 years of age. Husbands Nos. one and two are now at sword's points, and the courts are settling the difficulty.

TALL SCHOLARS.—The Wisconsin Board of Education recently resolved "to erect a building large enough to accommodate five hundred students three stories high."

THE ENGLISH EDITION.

There is at this moment a prospect that the latest revised English edition of the Lecompton swindle will be successful. It sells rapidly, and was no doubt liberally subscribed for before its publication. It is the worst form yet exhibited, as it assumes in its very preamble the astounding lie that "the people of Kansas did, by a convention of delegates at Lecompton, &c., form for themselves a Constitution and State government, which constitution is republican." Every intelligent man who votes this, in either House, knows that he commits perjury.

This new English outrage, if perpetrated by Congress, as it now appears probable, will increase the political excitement throughout the country to a higher pitch than we have seen since the Nebraska bill was first broached in Congress. The impression is generally entertained that English's proposition submits the Lecompton Constitution fairly to a popular vote.—This is a mistake; it submits the land ordinance, and, if accepted, the State is admitted under Lecompton.

The New York Express, not a Republican paper, but the organ of that portion of the American party of New York who still adhere to their organization, explains the matter as follows:

We are a little in the fog here about this proposition of Mr. English—but let us grope our way as well as we can.

When the Lecompton gotten up their job in Lecompton, they devised a project to steal land, as well as to steal away the voting rights of the people of Kansas.—Hence, a land-grabbing ordinance—said to amount to 3,000,000 of acres—was attached to the Lecompton Constitution, and made part and parcel of it. The Lecompton Senators of the United States, when Mr. Buchanan sent before Congress a land ordinance and the Constitution, objected to the land-stealing part and separated it from the vote-stealing part. To steal suffrages they set down as naught, they being stolen for the Southern market; but they could not stand the 3,000,000 land-grab. Hence the ordinance was cut off, and the Constitution only was sent down to the House, with the cheat upon the South of the Pugh amendment and the Calhoun Free State count.

Now Mr. English, as we understand, proposes to restore the land ordinance, in order to bribe the Free State people of Kansas to sell out freedom and take their pay in land; or in other words, if they will take "the niggers" imbedded in Lecompton, they are to be paid 3,000,000 acres of land. But if they don't take the bribe, they are to be put under the ban of Uncle Sam until they have 100,000 people or more in Kansas, taken by the federal census—if any is ever ordered by Congress for that territory.

The mere statement of all these trickeries, cheateries and common frauds, upon the South as well as the North, is enough disgusting, and requires no comment. In the days of Calhoun, the McDuffies, the Livingstons of Louisiana, the Hugh Whites of Tennessee, &c., all such propositions would be forthwith kicked out of Congress, with the introducers. Some of it is worthy of Five Point thimble-rigging.

WASHINGTON, April 24.—The House Committee on the Judiciary are now considering the subject of repealing the Neutrality laws.

The House Committee on Naval Affairs have authorized their Chairman to report a bill for the construction of five sloops-of-war of small size. The same Committee are also considering the question of increasing the pay of the officers of the navy.

The Chairman of the Committee on Ways and Means will shortly introduce a proposition for the meeting of the next session of Congress on the first Monday of November, being of the opinion that it will then be necessary to remodel or modify the tariff and revenue system.

There is little, if any, doubt that the administration will soon ask the authorization of a loan of $30,000,000, to be applied in part to the redemption of the treasury notes.

The friends of the new Kansas measure are entirely sanguine of its success during the present week. Messrs. Douglas, Stuart and Broderick are not only opposed to it, but are actively endeavoring to effect its defeat.

The vote seconding Mr. Hughes' demand for the previous question, was taken by the tellers—hence there is no record. If it had been seconded, it would have cut off the motion for postponement, according to the Speaker's decision, and brought the House to a direct vote on the report. Each party seemed uncertain as to its real strength, and hence the adjournment.

ACCIDENT.—The Washington States says it is currently rumored in the streets and public places that two hundred thousand dollars have been subscribed to carry Lecompton through the House. When it is recollected that this money is nearly or quite all the result of indirect plunder of the national treasury, the money of the people virtually stolen by corrupt rulers and used to circumvent the will of the people, the fact is a striking commentary on the vile character of Lecomptonism.—Lowell News.

Mr. P.'s little daughter came running to her aunt one day, saying, "Aunt Kate, Mattie has swallowed a button!" Seeing her terror, her aunt calmly replied, "Well, what good will that do her?" Said the child very seriously, "Not any good as I see, unless she swallows a button-hole!"

☞ A diabolical attempt was made, Wednesday evening, to fire the Market House in Lowell, in such a manner as to cut off the retreat of the Lowell Band from their room while they were at rehearsal. The musicians were alarmed by the smoke, and discovered the fire in time to extinguish it before it had got much headway.

DIARRHEA.

Dr. D. A. Tyler, of New Haven, Ct., in his Dissertation upon the Rock Rose Plant, mentions four cases where he had used it with marked success in Diarrhea, after the usual remedies, Chalk, Opium, &c., had failed. And, he adds, "since 1848 I have been in the habit of using the Rock Rose in form of Extract Decoction and Tincture for the cure of Diarrhea, almost daily during the fall and summer months, and have seldom been disappointed in its use." Myers' Extract Rose, as a remedy in Diarrhea, has never been known to fail. Get a Circular and read it.

A CARD TO THE LADIES.

DR. DUPONCO'S
French Periodical Golden Pills,
FOR FEMALES;

Infallible in Removing Stoppages or Irregularity of the Menses.

THESE Pills are nothing new, but have been used by the Doctor for many years, both in France and America, with unparalled success in every case; and he is urged by many thousand ladies who have used them, to make the Pills public, for the alleviation of those suffering from any irregularities whatever, as well as to prevent pregnancy in those ladies whose health will not permit an increase of family. Pregnant females, or those supposing themselves to be so, are cautioned against using these Pills while pregnant, as the proprietor assumes no responsibility after the above admonition, although their mildness would prevent any mischief to health; otherwise these Pills are recommended. Full and explicit directions accompany each box.

Price $1. Sold in Portsmouth by JOSEPH H. THACHER, in Dover by Chas. A. Tufts, in Exeter by C. A. Merrill, and in Newmarket by J. A. Prendergast. They will supply dealers at the Proprietor's price, and also send the Pills to the Ladies (confidentially) by mail to any part of the city or country, on receipt of $1 through the Post Office.

N. B.—Ladies will be particular in asking for Dr. Duponco's Golden Pills. Observe the signature J. Duponco is upon each box. You will then obtain a Pill you can rely upon.

SEWING MACHINES,
Price $15.

JUST RECEIVED AND FOR SALE AT
CHAS. T. EMERY'S.
No. 10 Market Square.

Where it may be seen in operation.

THIS machine is warranted to do all the work of a $100 machine—not liable to get out of order—and so simple in its construction that a child of ten years can work it. The needles will never break as they will on other machines; it will warrant to keep it in order for a year, for 25 cts. It will also work by the turning of the wheel either forward or backward—so that it is not liable to get out of order.

It is also small in size—not over 5 by 10 inches; can be worked with or without a table. In fact, IT IS THE VERY BEST MACHINE that has yet been invented, and it only wants to be seen to be appreciated.

Call and see it, and I will satisfy you of what I have here advertised.

A person can learn all about it and how to run it in 10 minutes. mch31

We have no better food for man or beast than the corn itself, while the leaves and stalks, green or cured, make the best of fodder for neat cattle. And both are excellent for the quality of milk.

FIRE IN GROTON.—On the night of the 7th inst., the steam saw mill of Mr. Moses Pike, of Groton, this State, was destroyed by fire, with all its machinery. The mill was nearly new, and cost its owner about fifteen thousand dollars. The loss will sensibly injure Mr. Pike, there being no insurance on the property. An Englishman named Williams was burned to death in the mill, and two other men were seriously injured by jumping from the burning building a considerable distance to the ground. It is not known how the fire originated.—Manchester American.

FIRE.—A large and valuable barn, nearly new, belonging to Mr. Calvin Smith of Langdon, N. H., together with its entire contents, was destroyed by fire on the evening of the 19th inst. The fire was discovered about 11 o'clock when it was nearly all consumed. There were 14 head of cattle that perished in the fire, among which was a yoke of nice fat oxen, 2 horses, about ten tons of hay, and nearly all of Mr. Smith's farming tools, his carriages and harnesses. It is supposed to have been the work of an incendiary. The loss is estimated at about $1600. No insurance.—Manchester American.

On Friday forenoon, as the passenger train from Boston for Lowell was stopping at the North Billerica Station, the engineer, Mr. McQuestion, got off and sat down upon the rails in front of his engine to make an examination of the machinery. TORONTO MARKET REPORT.

Front Street, Corn Market Square,
TORONTO, C. W., April 19, 1858.

The declining tendency in the English and New York Markets, the very auspicious condition of the weather, vegetation fully six weeks in advance of last year's crop, and the early resumption of navigation, indicate the certainty that low prices will obtain all summer. The speculative feeling that mailested itself a fortnight since, has given way to heaviness and inactivity.

FLOUR.—The market is very depressed; holders are anxious to realize, while there is no disposition to purchase on the part of the trade, and save some purchases of the best Extras and family flour, we hear of no transactions. A concession would be made by holders, on our quotations, to effect large sales.

WHEAT.—Notwithstanding the depression in the flour market, there continues relatively a demand for white of the best quality, although we have to note a decline on our last quotaton even of this grade.—The receipts have continued liberal, and at a dollar for the best samples, farmers appear satisfied, but the quality of such wheat as realizes this price, is equal to the best Michigan or Kentucky.

Fine Flour, $0 00 to 0.00 per bl.; No. 2 Superfine 3.00 to 3.25; No. 1 do., 3 95 to 4 00; Fancy, 4 00 to 4 15; Extra, 4 20 to 4.80; Double Ex, 4.75 to 5.25.

In quantities not less than 100 bbls. of any one grade.

Wheat—Prime white winter 100 to 105c; fair average do. 90 to 95c; Spring 82 to 85c; per 60 lbs.

Oats 30c per 34lbs. Barley 50 a 55c per 48 lbs. Rye 60c per 56lbs. Peas 55 a 60c per 60 lbs.

Bank Drafts on New York—par to ¼ per cent. premium; Boston par; American Bills at ¼ per cent. advance of New York quotations.

Freights from Toronto by rail and steamer, to Boston 80c a bl., to Portland 85c a bl., 25c. bush.; to New York 60c a bl.; to Ogdensburgh 20c. a bl.,

Charges on Wheat are 5c per bus., which covers commission for purchasing, storing, bagging, and putting on board. On Flour—per c. with funds in hand, or 2½ drawing with Bill Lading.

and Consular Agent for the United States.

MYERS' EXTRACT ROCK ROSE is invaluable. It changes the viscid humors, opens the pores of the skin, promotes insensible perspiration, thereby purifying the blood and invigorating the system. A free use of this medicine, in the spring months, will not only cure all diseases caused by impurities of the blood, but will beget a healthy action and prepare the system to resist the attacks of fevers, derangement of the bowels, &c, so prevalent in the summer season.

It is the pure Tincture of the Italian Juniper Berry, whose more vinous extract is distilled and rectified with its spiritous solvent, which thus becomes a concentrated tincture of exquisite flavor and aroma, altogether, transcendant in its cordial and medicinal properties to any alcoholic stimulant now made in the world. It is now prescribed by more than 5,000 physicians in the United States, in cases of Gravel, Gout, Dropsy, and Bladder and Kidney Complaints.

IMMORTELLES.

GOD DWELLING IN ALL.

I may not scorn the lowliest
That on the earth doth fall;
The slave who would not burst his chain,
The tyrant in his hall.

The vile oppressor who hath made
The widowed mother mourn,
Though worthless, soulless, he may stand,
I cannot, dare not scorn.

The darkest night that shrouds the sky,
Of beauty hath a share;
The blackest heart hath sighs, to tell
That God still lingers there.

THE SPIRIT OF BEAUTY.

At morn I know where she rested at night,
For the roses are gushing with dewy delight;
Then she mounts again, and around her flings
A shower of light from her purple wings.
At noon, she hides in a cool retreat,
Where bowering elms over waters meet;
She dimples the waves, where the green leaves dip,
That smiles, as it curls, like a maiden's lip.

At eve she hangs o'er the western sky
Dark clouds for a glorious canopy;
And round the skirts of each sweeping fold,
She paints a border of crimson and gold,
Where the lingering sunbeams love to stay,
When their god in his glory has passed away.

She hovers around us at twilight hour,
When her presence is felt with the deepest power;
She mellows the landscape, and crowds the stream
With shadows that flit like a fairy dream;
Still wheeling her flight through the glossome air,
The spirit of Beauty is everywhere!—[Dawes.

The following remedies are offered to the public as the best, most perfect, which medical science can afford. ☞ AYER'S CATHARTIC PILLS have been prepared with the utmost skill which the medical profession of this age possesses, and their effects show they have virtues which surpass any combination of medicines hitherto known. Other preparations do more or less good; but this cures such dangerous complaints, so quick and so surely, as to prove an efficacy and a power to uproot disease beyond any thing which has been known before. By removing the obstructions of the internal organs and stimulating them into healthy action, they renovate the fountains of life and vigor,—health courses anew through the body, and the sick man is well again. They are adapted to disease, and disease only, for when taking they one in health they produce but little effect. This is the perfection of medicine. It is antagonistic to disease, and no more. Tender children may take them with impunity. If they are sick they will cure them, if they are well they will do them no harm.

Give them to some patient who has been prostrated with bilious complaint: see his bent-up, tottering form straighten with strength again; see his long-lost appetite return; see his clammy features blossom into health. Give them to some sufferer whose foul blood has burst out in scrofula till his skin is covered with sores; who stands, or sits, or lies in anguish. He has been drenched inside and out with every potion which ingenuity could suggest. Give him these PILLS, and mark the effect; see the scales fall from his body; see the new, fair skin that has grown under them; see the late leper that is clean. Give them to him whose angry humors have planted rheumatism in his joints and bones; move him, and he screeches with pain; he too has been soaked through every muscle of his body with liniments and salves; give him these PILLS to purify his blood; they may not cure him, for, alas! there are cases which no mortal power can reach; but mark, he walks with crutches now, and now he walks alone; they have cured him. Give them to the lean, sour, dyspeptic dyspeptic, whose gnawing stomach has long ago eaten every smile from his face and every muscle from his body. See his appetite return, and with it his health; see new manhood. See her that was radiant with health and loveliness, but slowly withered, withering away; want of exercise or mental anguish, or some lurking disease, has deranged the internal organs of digestion, assimilation or secretion, till they do their office ill. Her blood is vitiated, her health is gone. Give her these PILLS to stimulate the vital principle into renewed vigor, to cast out the obstructions, and infuse a new vitality into the blood. Now look again—the roses blossom on her cheek, and where lately sorrow sat joy bursts from every feature. See the sweet babe, wasted away and worn with worms. Its wan, sickly features tell you without a tongue, and painfully distinct, that they are eating its life away. Its pinched-up nose and ears, and restless sleepings, tell the dreadful truth in language which every mother knows. Give it the PILLS in large doses to sweep these vile parasites from the body. Now turn again and see the ruddy bloom of childhood. Is it nothing to do these things? Nay, are they not the marvel of this age? And yet they are done around you every day.

Have you the less common symptoms of these distempers, they are the easier cured. Jaundice, Costiveness, Headache, Sideache, Heartburn, Foul Stomach, Nausea, Pain in the Bowels, Flatulency, Loss of Appetite, King's Evil, Neuralgia, Gout, and kindred complaints arise from the derangements which these PILLS rapidly cure. Take them perseveringly, and under the counsel of a good Physician if you can; if not, take them judiciously by such advice as we give you, and the distressing, dangerous diseases they cure, which affect so many millions of the human race, are cast out like the devils of old—they must burrow in the brutes and in the grave. Price 25 cents per box—5 boxes for $1.

Through a trial of many years and through every nation of civilized men, AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL has been found to afford more relief and to cure more cases of pulmonary disease than any other remedy known to mankind. Cases of apparently settled consumption have been cured by it, and thousands of sufferers who were deemed beyond the reach of human aid have been restored to their friends and usefulness, to sound health and the enjoyments of life, by this all-powerful antidote to diseases of the lungs and throat. Here a cold had settled on the lungs. Its dry, hacking cough, the glassy eye, and the pale, thin cheek of him, who was lately lusty and strong, whisper to all but him CONSUMPTION. He tries every thing; but the disease is gnawing at his vitals, and shows its fatal symptoms more and more over all his frame. He is taking the CHERRY PECTORAL; it has stopped his cough and made his breathing easy; his sleep is sound at night; his appetite returns, and with it his strength. The dart which pierced his side is broken. Scarcely any neighborhood can be found which has not some touching trophy like this to shadow forth the virtues which have won for the CHERRY PECTORAL an imperishable renown. But its usefulness does not end here. Nay, it accomplishes more by prevention than cure. The tourist who is about visiting a climate which is the seed which would have ripened into a dreadful harvest of incurable diseases. Influenza, Croup, Bronchitis, Hoarseness, Pleurisy, Whooping Cough, and all irritations of the throat and lungs are easily cured by the CHERRY PECTORAL if taken in season. Every family should have it by them, and they will find it an invaluable protection from the insidious prowler which carries off the parent sheep from many a flock, the darling lamb from many a home.

Authenticated evidence of these facts, with directions for the treatment of each complaint, may be found in Ayer's American Almanac, of which we publish three millions, and scatter them broadcast over the earth, in order that the sick every where may have before them the information it contains. Druggists and dealers in medicine generally have them for distribution gratis, and also for sale these remedies, prepared by DR. J. C. AYER, Practical and Analytical Chemist, Lowell, MASS.

THE RESTORATIVE OF PROF. O. J. WOOD for restoring hair perfectly and permanently, is now universally known. Volume after volume might be given from all parts of the world and from the most intelligent to prove that it is a perfect Restorative; but read the circular and you cannot doubt; read also the following.

THE HAIR.—People have for centuries been afflicted with premature baldness. The only remedy, heretofore known, has been the abominable wigs. By a recent discovery of Professor Wood these articles are being fast dispensed with, but a great many persons have a delicate feeling, because they have been so often imposed upon by Hair Tonics of different kinds. To all such persons we earnestly make the request that they will try once again, for in Wood's Restorative there is no such thing as fail. We know of a lady who was bald, who used the article a short time, and her head is now covered with hair as thick, the finest and most beautiful curls imaginable. We know of numerous cases where hair was rapidly falling out, which it restored to greater perfection than it ever had been before.

It is also without doubt one of the best articles for keeping the hair in good condition, making it soft and glossy, removing dandruff, and has proved itself the greatest enemy to all the ills that hair is heir to.

It is the duty of every one to improve their personal appearance though some may differ in regard to the ways of doing it; but every one will admit that a fine head of hair either in man or woman, is an object much to be desired, and there are no means that should be left untried to obtain such a consideration.—Woman's Advocate, Philadelphia.

CONNEUT, Ohio, Nov. 17, 1853.

O. J. Wood & Co.—Gents: I have been engaged in selling your Hair Restorative, the last season for one of your local agents (R. M. Hackinson,) and having experienced the beneficial effects of it myself, would say to those who are in city for the State of Ohio or some state in the west, should you wish to make such an arrangement as I am convinced there is nothing equal to it in the United States, for restoring the hair. I have been engaged in the drug business for several years, and have sold various preparations for the hair, but have found nothing that will restore the nervous organs or invigorate the scalp as well as yours, being convinced that your restorative is what you claim it to be, I would be glad to engage in the sale of it, for I am satisfied it must sell.

Yours truly, S. T. STOCKMAN.

WAYLAND, MASS., Feb. 5, 1857.

PROF. O. J. Wood & Co.—Gents: Having realized the good effects of your Hair Restorative, I wish to state that finding my hair falling in patches, as well as gray, I was induced from what I read and heard, to try the article prepared by you, to promote its growth and change its color as it was in youth, both of which it has effected completely; in the operation I have used nearly 6 bottles.

Yours &c., JAMES FRANCIS.

LOTTERIES.

THE Lotteries of Samuel Swan & Co. are chartered by the State of Georgia, and have sworn commissioners appointed to superintend their drawings, and certify that everything connected with the same is done in a strictly honorable manner. They offer to the public a fair opportunity for investment, the interests of parties at a distance being as well protected as if they were present. The Manager would respectfully call attention to the fact that all persons have a legal right to send orders for tickets to Georgia, as the lotteries of Samuel Swan & Co. are authorized by the Legislature of that State. A lottery will be drawn every Saturday throughout the year, all orders received being filled in the drawing next to take place after the same comes to hand. According to the scheme one ticket in every ten must draw a prize. Tickets are $10; halves, $5; quarters, $2.50. No tickets sent unless the money accompanies the order. The drawings are upon the principle of one number on each ticket, and are so simple that none can fail to understand them. There is no combination of numbers to mystify the buyer. Prizes vary from $40 to $20,000; every prize being drawn, and result of drawing forwarded to all purchasers.

Every inducement is held out to get persons to live remote from Baltimore to buy Tickets of from $20,000 to $40,000 head their schemes with tickets at One Dollar. $100,000 capital prize is are offered, tickets $5. All such, in every instance, are bogus, and if money is sent to them for tickets, it is so much thrown away without the shadow of a chance of getting a prize. Beware of all Lotteries where the Capital Prize is unusually large in comparison to the price of tickets in every instance where large prizes are offered for a small cost of tickets, put it down as a certain fraud.

The Kentucky State Lottery for the benefit of the Shelby College, under our management, is the only Lottery in the United States which is legally decided by the Maryland Drawings; all other lotteries which pur port to be decided by the Maryland Drawings are frauds.

—MANUFACTURERS OF—

Melodeons, Organ Melodeons,

—and—

PEDAL BASS MELODEONS.

No. 511 Washington St., Boston.

The first premium over all competitors, at the Fair of the Mass Charitable Mechanic Association, of the Boston Fair, Washington, D. C., also at the Ohio State Fair, held at Columbus, Ohio, was awarded to these Manufacturers.

By means of a peculiar Bellows and Voicing, known only to themselves, they have succeeded in removing the harsh and buzzing sound which formerly characterized the instrument, and rendering the tones pure, full and organ like. The action is prompt and reliable, enabling the performer to execute the most rapid music without blurring the tones. The swell is arranged to give great expression.

THE PEDAL BASS MELODEONS,

Are designed particularly for Churches, Lodges, Halls, &c. It is arranged with two manuals, or banks of keys, the lower set running an octave higher than the other, and may be used separately, and thus get in one case two distinct instruments; or by use of the coupler, the instruments may be used together at the same time by use of the front set only. This connected with the Pedal Bass, will produce the effect of a large organ, and is sufficiently heavy to fill a house that seats from 1000 to 1500 persons.

THE ORGAN MELODEON

Is designed for parlor and private use. The construction is similar to the Church instrument, being arranged with two banks of keys, and when used together, the tones are full and rich, capable of as great volume of power as the Church instrument when used without the pedals. Also, every variety of MELODEONS for Parlor use.

Purchasers may rely upon instruments from our Manufactory, being made in the most complete and thorough manner. Having removed to the spacious Buildings

511 Washington Street,

We have every facility for manufacturing purposes, and employ none but the most experienced workmen. In short, we will promise our customers a faithful Instrument, not superior, to any Manufacturer, and guarantee an entire and perfect satisfaction.

Music Teachers, Committees of Choirs, and others interested in musical matters, are respectfully invited to visit our Rooms at any time and examine our Pianos and Instruments on exhibition for sale at their pleasure.

As a still further guarantee to the public as to the excellence of the MELODEONS from our Manufactory, we may leave to refer, by permission, to the following

Piano Forte Manufacturers of Boston,

who have examined our Instruments, and will give their opinion when called upon:

Chickering & Sons,	Hallet & Cumston,

This matter is worthy of special note, as it enables those who desire a fair test of the instrument before purchasing, to obtain it at the expense of the manufacturers, to the extent at least of a year's rent.

Orders from any part of the country or world, sent direct to the manufactory in Boston, with cash, or satisfactory reference, will be promptly attended to; and as faithfully executed as if the parties were present. We have no agents to select, and on as reasonable terms.

VOL. 12. PORTSMOUTH, N. H., WEDNESDAY, APRIL 28, 1858. NO. 72.

CHARACTERISTIC LETTER.—The rumor that Edwin Forrest, Esq., the eminent tragedian, had taken part in the religious revival, as a convert, has called forth many comments. During a long a tedious illness (from which we are happy to say he is at last recovering) he has received many letters in regard to his religious opinions, most of them based upon the newspaper statement referred to. Among the most solicitous for his welfare was a distinguished clergyman in New York, who addressed him a letter full of fervent and eloquent expressions of esteem. Mr. Forrest showed his clerical friend, and, as the letter published only a part of the reply, to a religious paper, we have deemed it just to give the whole production; it is characteristic of the eminent writer's frank and manly nature, and, even those who may regret that the "rumor" is not correct, cannot fail to approve its tone and temper:—Philadelphia Press.

PHILADELPHIA, March 27, 1858.

I have much pleasure in the receipt of yours of the 23d instant.

While I thank you and Mrs. ——— with all my heart, for the kind hope you have expressed, that the recent rumor with regard to my highest welfare may be true, I am constrained to say, that rumor is in me, as in most matters which pertain to me, most pitifully in error—there is not one word of truth in it.

But in answer to your questions, my good friend, for I know you are animated only by a sincere regard for my spiritual as well as for my temporal welfare, I am happy to assure you that the painful attack of inflammatory rheumatism, with which for the last three months I have combatted, is now quite overcome, and I may safely say, that with the return of more genial weather I shall be restored once more to a sound and pristine health.

Then, for the state of my mind. I do not know, the time, since, when a boy I felt sportive bladders in the beamy sun, as I ever was so tranquil and serene as in the present hour. Having profited by the leisure given me by my lengthened illness seriously to review the past and carefully to consider the future, both for time and for eternity, I have, with a chastened spirit, beheld, with many regrets, that there was much in the past that might have been improved: more, perhaps in the acts of omission than in the acts of commission, for I feel sustained that my whole conduct has been actuated solely by an honest desire to adhere strictly to the rule of right; that the past has been characterized as I trust the future will be: to love my friends; to hate my enemies—for I cannot be a hypocrite—and to live in accordance with the divine precept: as we would that men should do to you, do ye also to them likewise.

And now for that "higher welfare" of which you speak. I can only say that believing, as I sincerely do, in the justice, the mercy, the wisdom, and the love of him who knoweth the secrets of our hearts, I hope I may will

"An unfaltering trust approach my grave
Like one who wraps the drapery of his couch
About him, and lies down to pleasant dreams."

Hoping you are in the enjoyment of good health, and that you prosper in the "good work," which to you I know is a labor of love, I am your friend,

EDWIN FORREST.

The Boston Transcript understands that Mr. Forrest's correspondent was Rev. Dr. Magoun, now of Albany.

APPOINTMENTS.—Old Grabbitt, who is looking daily for a federal appointment to some lucrative post, gets strange impression from the newspapers, sometimes.—As an instance of this, he supposes that "Committee of Conference in Congress," was chosen for the purpose of filling the offices in Massachusetts. He was confirmed in that belief, yesterday, by reading a list of "conference" appointments. His eye ran down the column, until it came to Mr. Grabtown, appointments. "Jerusalem," said he, "they've split the office, there's one in the harbor, and one in the town parish. Rugg and Bugg, who in Jericho are they?" and he brought his teeth together with force enough to sever a ten penny nail. "Rugg and Bugg," he repeated, "they don't belong to our party" and his teeth met together again with force enough to sever two ten penny nails. "Goodness me," said the old lady Grabbitt, "Paul, don't fret so wickedly.—Buchanan hadn't nothing to say about them appointments; them's our new ministers, 'pinted by the New England Methodist Conference;' " and such was the fact. If you have any regard for the quietude of the neighborhood, never say "conference" within earshot of Paul, surnamed Grabbitt.—Gloucester Telegraph.

The King of Prussia, after various turns of fortune, abdications and restorations, and after much drink, is mad. He believes he is a private soldier who has just received his commission of ensign, but has lost the parchment, which he anxiously seeks in all the hidden corners of the palace and nooks of the garden. He dislikes to be watched by his aid-de-camp, whom he believes to be commanding officer. The recent royal marriage between the daughter of Victoria and the Prince of Prussia, affords no room for recrimination. Insanity is hereditary, on both sides, and in both cases has been developed on the throne.

Coggswell's Medical Salt,
A PERFECT SUBSTITUTE
FOR THE
LANCET, LEECHES AND BLISTERS.
INSTEAD of being a panacea for all maladies, it has control over but ONE MALADY—has but ONE AIM—accomplishes but ONE THING; to wit: SUBDUES INFLAMMATORY DISEASE—whatever be its form or locality—whether in the head, throat, chest, abdomen, extremities or skin. Every form of inflammation (but no other disease) is subdued, by it as easily as fire is extinguished by water. It is what, how it does it, we know not; but by restoring the lost balance between the fluids and solids. Such is its potency, that like vaccine matter, it requires merely what adheres to the point of a quill dipped into a solution of it, to affect the entire system.
☞ Of its intrinsic value, the enlightened community, and not the discoverer, must be the judge.
PRIME COST, $1, 50 per drachm.—PRICE $2 per drachm.
A few doses of this popular and extraordinary medicine for sale by J. H. THATCHER, jy18 Cor. of Pleasant and State Sts.

MYER'S EXTRACT OF ROCK ROSE,
is peculiarly applicable, and if freely used will not fail to protect the constitution against the sudden and extreme changes of our variable climate. It purifies the blood, strengthens the stomach, and invigorates the whole system, thus fortifying against the insidious attacks of unseasonable frosts and debilitating heats. See Circulars.

Morning Chronicle.

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 28, 1858.

☞ Both House of Congress were in a sort of snarl on Monday, over the English edition of the Lecompton swindle.

In the Senate, after various motions, the Conference Report was taken up.

Mr. Crittenden was not ready to pronounce his judgment on this question. He asked the courtesy and justice of the Senate that it be postponed until Wednesday.

Lost by—yeas 25; nays 29.

Mr. Douglas spoke zealously in favor of the postponement asked by the Senator from Kentucky, saying that the high character of the Senator, who had served the country with distinction before some of those who now refuse his request were born, showed that he asked it in no factious or sinister view.

Mr. Toombs replied to Mr. Douglas, and urged an immediate vote.

After this, several motions to adjourn, failed.

Mr. Wade moved to lay the whole subject on the table. Lost by 25 against 17.

Messrs. Johnson of Arkansas, Collamer, Cameron and others then had an animated conversation as to whether the minority would compromise and name the hour for a vote. No result being reached, Mr. Foster moved that the Senate adjourn. Lost by 26 against 17.

Mr. Clark of N. H., then addressed the Senate on the general merits of the question.

From the time he concluded till half-past seven, the Senate was wholly occupied in attempts to come to an understanding, and in defeating motions of various descriptions. Wilson, Green, Iverson, Brown, Houston, Collamer and others took part in the proceedings. Finally it was agreed that the subject be made the special order for Tuesday, at half-past 12.

In the House, after an exciting debate, and many motions, they refused to postpone the consideration of the Conference Committee's report till the second Monday in May.

Yeas one hundred; nays one hundred and four.

Mr. Stephens moved to pospone till Wednesday next. Carried.

Mr. Skinner of N. Y., said he had a proposition which would be adopted. In response to cries of "read it," the Clerk began reading a preamble, incorporating an extract from the 'Burlington Hawkeye' newspaper, alleging that an order was received from Commissioner Hendricks to locate six thousand acres of land at the Council Bluffs land sale, in the name of Senator Bright, and adding that of course the order was complied with, out of office hours, and Mr. Bright had a nice slice of the public lands at a single haul, &c.

The Speaker stopped the Clerk from reading, saying that the paper contained a reflection upon a member of the co-ordinate branch of Congress.

Mr. Washburne of Me. wanted to know whether the Speaker held that Mr. Bright was a member of the Senate? (Laughter on the Republican side.)

The Speaker was understood to say that he did.

[The Speaker makes some droll decisions.]

There was much confusion during this debate.

Mr. Marshall of Kentucky observed that merely an extract from the Burlington Hawkeye had been read, and no accompanying proposition had yet been reported.

Mr. English said there was nothing in the case, and he was perfectly willing that the House should investigate it.

[Mr. English doubtless has a fellow feeling for Mr. Bright.]

Shortly after this, the House found itself without a quorum, and adjourned.

THE NEW CYCLOPÆDIA IN PARTS.—The Appletons have commenced the publication of the New American Cyclopædia in parts, which will appear weekly, containing 64 pages, and monthly issues of 250 pages. Every fourth weekly part and each monthly part will contain a steel plate portrait. The entire work is to be issued in fifteen volumes, or 45 monthly parts. L. A. Elliot & Co., 322 Washington street, are the Boston agents for the Number-edition of this work.

An agent is now in this city, soliciting subscriptions to this valuable work—a library in itself.

The Legislature of Ohio have repealed a law which gave to trustees the possession of church property. By this act Archbishop Purcell becomes the sole owner of all the Catholic church property of Ohio.

The legislature of Ohio have donkeyized themselves.

BAPTISM.—On Sunday morning, Rev. Mr. Spalding of the Whitefield Congregational Church, baptized six persons by immersion in the Merrimac, near the foot of Kent street, Newburyport.—Not a very common occurrence among Congregationists;—but by no means without precedent.

In ancient days, the celebrated precept was, "Know thyself." In modern times, it has been supplanted by the far more fashionable maxim: "Know your neighbor, and everything about him."

KING AND ADAMS.

It is known all over the land that Rev. T. Starr King of Boston is a Universalist Unitarian, and equally well known that Rev. Nehemiah Adams is an Orthodox Congregationalist. Here follows their late courteous correspondence:

12 BURROUGHS PLACE, April 15, 1858.

REV. DR. ADAMS: Dear Sir—It was my privilege to be one of your auditors, last Sunday evening, when you delivered the discourse, listened to with great interest by a large assembly, on "The Reasonableness of Eternal Punishment."

I take the liberty to address you, with the request that you will repeat the discourse in the Hollis street Church, next Sunday evening. Members of the committee of my society, and many others of the parishioners, express to me the hope that you may find it consistent with your engagements and in accordance with your sense of duty to accept this invitation.—Our church is very spacious; on such an occasion I doubt not that it would be crowded with an audience of "Liberal Christians." I am sure that they would eagerly embrace an opportunity to hear so able an advocate of "Orthodoxy" upon a theme so important as the eternal punishment, by the Infinite Father, of all who fail to comply with the terms of grace which He has established for His children during this brief life.

Let me assure you that, if you accept this offer, the pulpit shall be entirely at your disposal, precisely as if it were your own. And let me say that I expect no such offer in return. If you consent, I shall simply urge my people to attend your service, and listen, as I shall listen a second time, with the respect your abilities deserve, and with the earnestness which the momentous question you discuss—about which we differ so widely—should inspire in us all.

In the hope of an early reply, I am respectfully yours, T. S. KING.

4 BOYLSTON PLACE, April 23, 1858.

REV. T. S. KING: My Dear Sir—Your note of the 21st inst. reached me this morning, and I need not say that it has greatly surprised and deeply interested me. The sermon was written in 1852, and was then preached to my own people on a Sabbath morning, in the ordinary course of ministerial labor. The subject has weighed much on my mind during the present religious interest, and this alone induced me to present it at my lecture last Sabbath evening. That it did not strike you and others as an unfeeling exhibition of mere theological opinion upon an infinitely important and very trying subject is truly gratifying to me.

Your invitation to repeat the sermon in your church, next Sabbath evening, is conveyed in such terms that I feel impelled to accept it, and I will therefore comply with your request. It is due to you as well as to myself to say, that parts of the discourse, as originally written, were omitted last Sabbath evening, and their place was supplied from brief notes, and by few extemporaneous remarks. All this I will endeavor to repeat; and I infer from the tenor of your note that it I should further explain and reinforce some of my statements, it will but accord with your wishes. I ought, moreover, to add that none but myself can properly be held responsible for my sentiments and expressions on this subject, however much I may suppose my view to agree with theirs.

With sincere regard,
I am, dear sir,
Very truly yours,
N. ADAMS.

☞ Before Rev. Dr. Adams commenced his sermon in Hollis street church, Boston, on Sunday evening, he alluded to the circumstances under which he was present, and characterized the invitation of the pastor of the Hollis Street Church as "very kind, courteous, and, to him, surprising." So unusual a thing, he remarked, had taken strong hold on his feelings, and it might seem to be an affectation of indifference not to say as much in acknowledgment.

He need not be surprised. Such men do such things. John Pierpont, the former pastor at Hollis street, invited a trinitarian brother to preach for him, many years ago, and he did so, though he declined at first, saying he could not invite Mr. P. in turn. No matter, replied P.—I know it;—You preach all day; and if you do any harm, I can do it all away the Sunday after.

A day or two ago a quaker and a hot-headed youth were quarrelling in the street. The broad-brimmed friend kept his temper most equably, which seemed but to increase the anger of the other. "Fellow," said the latter, "I don't know a bigger fool than you are,"—finishing the sentence with an oath. "Stop, friend," replied the quaker, "thee forgottest thyself."

It is not strictly accurate, nor good English, (though some dictionaries may call it so,) to call that a quarrel, wherein all the violence, of tongue or fist, is on one side.—It may be an assault, or an outrage,—but it requires at least two persons to make a quarrel, as it does to make a bargain.

The young lady who burst into tears has been put together again, and is now wearing hoops to prevent a recurrence of the accident.

Sorrows grow less and less every time they are told, just like the age of a woman.

☞ The Manchester American reports the number of prosecutions for liquor selling in that city, under the present city Marshal, and gives the names of the culprits. Of twelve complaints for selling liquor, one was discharged—one witness ran away—one defect in indictment—one jury disagreed—three not indicted—five successful. Of thirteen complaints for keeping liquor for sale, two were discharged—eleven successful. The American ventures "the assertion that the proportion of convictions for keeping liquors for sale, is larger than for any other class of crimes brought before the jury."

☞ Rev. John Lyon, a teacher at Kirkwood, Missouri, having become deeply engaged in religious exercises, continued his fasting and prayer until his health and reason gave way, and he has been taken to the insane asylum at Fulton. He had been greatly exercised with the idea that God would do nothing to save men without a certain amount of intensity of prayer on the part of Christians: and his mania now takes the form of a painful conviction, that if he stops praying, the divine government will at once suspend operations and the universe go to ruin.

DISHONESTY.—The cotton planters profess infinite contempt for "yankee tricks," but of late many of them have gone into petty swindling in a very dishonorable way. They put gravel in the cotton bales exported north and to the English market. The sand is mixed in during the packing of the cotton, sometimes by sowing it gradually and sometimes by a deposit. The Manchester American says that in a bale recently opend at one of the mills of that city, 17 pounds were found placed near the centre.

THE REVIVAL IN NEW YORK.—The "Way of Life," the New York journal devoted to "the Young Men's Christian Union and World Wide Christianity," made its appearance on Saturday. We quote what it says of city revivals:

The revival continues in our city without any abatement. The number of prayer meetings has increased about four-fold. There is no portion of the city without one; hence the perceptible decrease in the attendance upon the union meetings down town. The ladies, hundreds of whom used to aid in crowding the meeting places, have been called upon to work nearer their homes, and as a consequence the various churches are beginning to experience the beneficial influence of the revival by large accessions to their communions.

A slave named Jake, was buried at Norfolk a day or two since, whose remains were followed to the grave by a large number of carriages, and 2000 persons on foot. A large Baptist church was densely crowded to hear the funeral sermon preached by the Rev. Mr. Allen.

And this slave was not a human being—was he?

And he had no right, (Judge Taney,) that any white man was bound to respect—had he?

☞ A young gentleman friend of ours, in a neighboring town, writes to us that he has been repeatedly and maliciously slandered—and wishes us to contradict the false stories and denounce the makers thereof. Now if it be a bad thing to be lied about, it must be vastly worse to be "put in the papers"—for where one person will hear what "they say" of him, fifty or a hundred would read it in the Chronicle.

The best way is, to "Heed no man's opinion of you, against your own knowledge." That is, if you receive unmerited praise, "be not puffed up;" and if any one say aught against you, falsely, "be not cast down."

Furthermore, a true friend will not give ear to stories tending to injure those whose friendship they profess to prize. So far as having friends is concerned—to act uprightly is of no avail, if the reputation gained by years of good conduct, is to be swept aside by the first whisper of reproach from an idle story teller or gossip.

A VIRGINIA SLAVE CANNOT ELECT TO BE FREE.—A Virginia gentleman, John L. Poindexter, left in his will a provision giving to certain slaves the option of being emancipated or publicly sold, as they might choose. The legality of this clause in the will was contested, and at the last term of the Supreme Court of Appeals, the Court decided that the provisions of a will giving to slaves the option, at the death of a life tenant, of being emancipated or sold, are void, the slaves having no legal capacity to make such election; that slaves have no social or civil rights; no legal capacity to make, or discharge or assent to contracts.

This is a picture of slavery drawn by a Virginia judge.—The slaves sometimes have a capacity to elect their freedom by taking leg bail.

What is the difference between Noah's Ark and Joan of Arc? One was made of wood—the other was maid of Orleans.

LOCAL.

☞ "Winter, lingering, fills the lap of Spring," with snow, sure enough. On Monday and Tuesday, we had the most disagreeable snow storm of "the winter" —which season seems to bid fair to extend to May Day, at least. The farmers report the season about a fortnight behind last year. Though the last winter was not so cold as that preceding, yet the absence of snow allowed the ground to freeze to a great depth; and we have not had warm weather enough to warm it up.

MAY DAY.—A long list of correspondents—old and young, men and maidens,—jolly, poetic and romantic,—have had considerable to say about celebrating May Day. The general desire seems to be, to have a Social Pic-Nic, with music, &c., in the woods somewhere, not too far off—and we think something of this kind will be done. But the first day of May is generally rather cool, and some other day may be deemed better.

A gentleman interested in the matter, suggests that as this is an old style gala day, that the Celebration be had on the first day of the month, O. S., which will be Tuesday, May 11th.

But it seems to us that we rarely have warm weather enough in May to render the woods dry enough to roam in. Why not have the celebration on the first day of June, the advent of Summer—or on the last day of May, if it is desirable to preserve the name of the month, about which so much more written than real romance hangs in our climate.

MEETINGS THIS EVENING, &c.

Union Prayer Meeting in the Vestry of the Temple, from 8 to 9 o'clock this morning, to which all are invited.

Prayer and Conference meeting at the Vestry in the Temple, this evening at half past 7 o'clock.

Meeting for Prayer and Conference, in the Chapel of the Middle Street Church, this evening, at half past 7 o'clock.

The Bible Class will meet at the Court Street Chapel, at 7½ o'clock this evening.

There will be a Preparatory Lecture in the North Church, this evening.

☞ The funeral of Mrs. Ann J. Larkin, widow of Major Samuel Larkin, will take place from her residence on Middle street, this (Wednesday) afternoon at half-past 3 o'clock.

☞ "Interest" and "Anonymously" are informed that we take no notice of communications sent us without responsible names, unless we deem advisable—which, concerning their's, we do not.

A HEROINE.—"Among the naval officers dropped by the Naval Retiring Board, (says the Philadelphia Bulletin,) was Captain Smoot, who had received the thanks of Congress, and been voted a sword by the State of Maryland, for his gallant services in the war of 1812. The sentence of the Board fell upon him with crushing weight, and the mortification which it occasioned him is believed to have hastened his death, which occurred some months since.

"His widow, feeling the responsibility resting upon her to vindicate the fame of her deceased husband: when the first month of grief had passed, set about rearing the noblest monument to his memory which a Roman matron could have desired. Taking the Maryland sword, she proceeded with it to Annapolis, during the recent session of the Legislature. Here she presented her memorial, setting forth the action of the Naval Board in her husband's case, and suggesting that if he had been justly condemned by that tribunal, the gift of Maryland had been unworthily bestowed, and ought to be no longer retained by his family. Accordingly, she begged leave to return the sword to the State, with the request that if the Legislature believed her husband had been injured by the inquisition, they would make some disposition of the token of confidence and regard that should stand as a rebuke of his persecutors, and vindicate his fair fame.

"The Legislature at once accepted the return of the sword, and passed a vote, almost unanimously, bestowing it upon the gallant captain's son—a manly lad of some 14 summers."

☞ Christopher Welsh, of Longmeadow, Mass., was instantly killed by jumping from the New York Express train while the cars were under a speed of some thirty miles an hour—a few days since.—He was an Irishman.

☞ We have received a very fine Temperance Address or sermon, which was delivered to the Concord Temperance Society on Fast day, by Rev. C. W. Flanders, of the Baptist Church, and published by request.

FROM CALIFORNIA.
TWO WEEKS LATER.

NEW YORK, April 27.—The steamship Moses Taylor, from Aspinwall, 19th inst., arrived at this port this afternoon, bringing the California mails of the 5th inst., nearly a million and a half in treasure, and five hundred passengers.

The United States ship Relief was at Aspinwall.

INTERESTING FROM UTAH.—New York, April 26.—The Daily Times has correspondence from Leavenworth City to April 19. Mr. McCullough, one of the alleged Peace Commissioners, was still at Leavenworth, making preparations for his journey across the plains. Mr. Frederick, a Mormon high priest, has just arrived, a fugitive from Salt Lake. His accounts of the Mormons differ from those previously given.—He does not think they will fight. He says they have no powder, cannon, or military stores, and no military force. The whole number of their men capable of being soldiers does not exceed 3500.

☞ The St. Louis Republican says that nearly every merchant and business man in the upper part of Missouri is interested in transactions with government, growing out of the present military expedition to Utah—amounting in the aggregate to millions of dollars. The delay in acting upon the deficiency bill in Congress had the effect to create considerable stringency in money matters in many parts of the State.

☞ The Boston Bee of Monday evening contained a full report (phonographically reported) of a sermon by Rev. Mr. Worrall, baptist, delivered in Tremont Temple on Sunday evening, in reply to Theodore Parker's two sermons on the revival. It is very ingenious as a reply and a defence.

☞ At East Bloomfield, N. Y., on the 20th inst., John Wall obtained a verdict for $200 against Patrick Lee, a Catholic priest, and John Gorman, who forcibly expelled him from church, inflicting serious injury upon his person.

☞ John E. Clark, a young merchant in Philadelphia, left his store on the 3d inst., with $400 to deposit in bank. He was not seen again by any of his friends until Thursday, when his body was found in the Schuylkill river with his throat cut, and his money and pocket-book missing.

LAGER BIER SLIGHTLY ALCHOLIC.—Adecision has just been rendered in Toronto which may be interesting to those who use lager bier. A person was arrested for selling larger without license, alleging that it was not an intoxicating drink, but upon an analysis it was found that it contained about 5 per cent of alcohol; so judgment was found against the defendant. If this analysis is correct, then a man may drink twenty glassses of lager and take no more than one of pure alcohol. In Troy, recently, a German drank seventy-eight glasses of lager bier at night, and went home sober in the morning. The man has a capacity equal to a four gallon cask, and probably about as much sentiment.—Utica Telegraph.

THE PRICE OF FLOUR.—The price of this important staple is now lower than for several years past. The following is the quoted price of State flour in New York on the 1st of April for four years past: 1855, $9.50; 1856, $6.57; 1857, $5.75; 1858, $4.40.

THE WINE OF LIFE.*
BY C. A. H.

The poet may sing of the blood red wine;
He may chant the charms of the purple vine;
But the wine I prize all others above
Is the wine of life, and its name is Love.
From a ruby chalice this wine o'erflows,
Purer than crystal, as sweet as a rose;
It gladdens the soul, yet never can dim;
Though thousands quaff, it is full to the brim;
It bubbles and sparkles with inward fires,
Which kindle the flame of noblest desires;
It strengthes the weak, makes the timid bold;
On the darkest lot sheds a gleam of gold;
Makes sad hearts gay; 'tis the rainbow of tears,
Giving hues of hope to the coming years;
O rarer and dearer, this wine of mine,
Than any which flows from the purple vine!

Yo who have tasted the juice of the vine
Whose clusters hang thick by the river Rhine.
Or have sought to quicken dead lives again
In draughts of Tokay, Madeira, Champagne;
And have found this nectar ye crave and drink,
Like apples which grow on the Caspian's brink;
Could ye taste this wine, 'twould new life impart
'Tis the Wine of Love—its chalice, the heart!

AS A SPRING MEDICINE

MYERS' EXTRACT ROCK ROSE is invaluable. It changes the viscid humors, opens the pores of the skin, promotes insensible perspiration, thereby purifying the blood and invigorating the system. A free use of this medicine, in the spring months, will not only cure all diseases caused by impurities of the blood, but will beget a healthy action and prepare the system to resist the attacks of fevers, derangement of the bowels, &c, so prevalent in the summer season

Wolfe's Celebrated Scheidam Aromatic
SCHNAPPS.

This medicinal beverage is manufactured by the proprietor, at Scheidam, Holland, expressly for medicinal use, by a process peculiar to his own Factory. It is the pure Tincture of the Italian Juniper Berry, whose more vinous extract is distilled and rectified with its spirituous solvent, which thus becomes a concentrated tincture of exquisite flavor and aroma, all together, transcendant in its cordial and medicinal properties to any alcoholic stimulant now made in the world. It is now prescribed by more than 5,000 physicians in the United States, in cases of Gravel, Gout, Dropsy, and Bladder and Kidney Complaints.

Put up in Quart and Pint Bottles, in cases of one dozen qts., and cases of two dozen pts., and for sale by all Druggists and Country Merchants.

IMMORTELLES.

THE ANTHEM OF THE SEA.

It e'er hath pealed in strains sublime,
Since first began the march of time;
When morning stars together sang,
And new born earth with music rang;
Then over all more bold and free,
Was heard the anthem of the Sea.

The deep-toned bass in nature's song;—
It pours its mighty voice along;
And wide is heard the sounding roar,
As forth it rolls from shore to shore;
A worthy praise, O God, to thee,
This glorious anthem of the Sea!

—[Mrs. S. E. Dawes.

TO-DAY AND TO-MORROW.

Through all the long, dark nights of years,
The people's cry ascendeth,
And Earth is wet with blood and tears;
But our meek sufferance endeth!
The few shall not forever sway,
The many moil in sorrow;
The powers of Earth are strong to-day,
But Heaven shall rule to-morrow.

—[Massey.

NIGHT AND MORNING.

How radiant are the evening skies—
A golden glory in heaven unfurled;
God watching with a thousand eyes,
The welfare of a sleeping world.

He lights the wild flower in the wood,
And rocks the sparrow in her nest;
He guides the angels on their road,
That come to guard us while we rest.

When the bee blows his thy horn,
To wake the sisterhood of flowers,
And God shall kindle up the morn,
Praise shall expand those hearts of ours.

—[Geo. W. Bungay.

Ayer's Pills

Are particularly adapted to the requirements of the digestive apparatus, and diseases which arise from the impurity of the blood. A large part of all the complaints that afflict mankind originate in one of these, and consequently these Pills are found to cure many varieties of disease.

We publish the testimonials from some eminent physicians in their practice.

AS A FAMILY PHYSIC.

From Dr. S. W. Gunnison, of New Orleans.

"I have tried your Pills with entire satisfaction. Their excellent qualities are unanimously admitted by my medical friends. They are mild, but effectual in their action on the bowels, and I think it impossible to find a more easy purgative than these Pills are found to cure many varieties of disease.

FOR DYSPEPSIA AND AGUE AND LIVER COMPLAINTS.

From Dr. Timothy Bell, of New York City.

"Your Pills are admirably adapted to their purpose, and I have no doubt they will generally produce beneficial effects in the complaints you mention. They are mild, but effectual in their action on the bowels, and I think it impossible to find a more easy purgative than these Pills are found to cure many varieties of disease.

TEMPERANCE LECTURES.—The Claremont Eagle says:

Mr. John F. Gerald, who has been lecturing in this and some of the adjoining towns, upon the subject of Temperance, for the last two weeks, is still in this county ready to labor in the cause wherever he can do any good. Those wishing his services may address Mr. Josiah Holt, Claremont, N. H., and their demands will be promptly and faithfully attended to. Mr. Gerald's lectures here were largely attended and believed to have been the means of accomplishing much good. In 1841, from the most miserable drunkard, by his own will, he has become a sober man, a dutiful husband, and kind father. Since then most of his time has been spent in preaching temperance to the people of the New England States, and success has crowned his efforts. He speaks from the most bitter experience, and knows just how to touch the hearts of those who are on the road to ruin and a drunkard's grave. He fixes no price upon his services, but leaves those who hear him to contribute what they please towards defraying his traveling expenses and the support of his family in Massachusetts, who are entirely dependent upon him.

On Friday, Mr. Gerald spoke at Newport to a crowded and attentive house, and an unanimous vote was passed requesting him to lecture again at his earliest convenience. On Saturday and Sunday evenings he lectured at Croydon to full houses, and the people expressed a unanimous wish for him to visit them again. On Monday evening Mr. Gerald spoke at North Charlestown, for the third time, to a crowded house, and agreeable to the vote of the people he will lecture there again on Sunday, May 9th, at five o'clock, P. M., and at the Town Hall in this village at half-past seven, he same evening. Mr. Gerald informs us that he will probably spend most of the summer in lecturing in this State.

WARNING.—The Lawrence (Kansas) Republican chronicles a sad case of death from intemperance in the person of Judge Curtis, a member of the General Assembly. This is added to the already dark and lengthened list of deaths by rum, another instance from the ranks of the high and influential of the land. The Republican says:—"Mr. Curtis was a slave to the intoxicating bowl. During the whole session of the legislature, he was rarely if ever free from the influence of liquor; indeed he was in a continual debauch. His appearance from day to day in the House, was that of a perfect wreck of manhood. His friends and fellow members could only deplore, not arrest his downward career. He kept his seat during the session, but his constant excesses had completely shattered his constitution, and on Monday of last week, he passed from the scenes of earth to the awful realities of the other world. For the last few days of his illness, the wretched man suffered the horrible agonies of delirium tremens. His maddened brain wreaked a terrible vengeance upon him for his persistent violation of nature's plainest laws. And so, from a prematurely closed life, and the dreadful tortures of an inebriate's death, he has passed to the ignominy of a drunkard's grave."

A HARD CASE.—I heard of a melancholy event this morning, which shows how the hard times affect individuals. A man living in Chelsea held in trust for a young woman $10,000, which, some time ago, he loaned to a great firm in Boston, a firm whose note was considered much better than hard gold. Well, the firm failed last October, and the impression is that it was rotten years before it failed. The trustee, being an honest man, with a conscience, sickened under the thought of what had followed from his good intentions, became crazy, was carried to the insane asylum a fortnight ago, and died yesterday, leaving a wife and children to the mercies of the world.—Boston correspondent of the N. Y. Times.

LOOK BEFORE YOU LEAP.—If you are run away with in a carriage, never jump out at the side, but let yourself down over the back. Unlasten the curtain of the top, if necessary, crawl over, put your feet down and sit on the edge, then turn over and rest on your stomach, then lower your feet to the ground and run. You can keep up with the fastest horse for a minute or two, by the help of your hands on the wagon. Then let go, and either stop running or keep on just as you please! If you jump out at the side, you will probably break a leg or an arm, or what is at least twice as bad because you have only half as many—a neck.

☞ The Manchester Mirror does "not believe that intemperance is on the increase in that city. Where is the proof of it? What facts show it? We are inclined to believe there is a great deal less than there was two years ago, but we would not vote that there is, or is not, because we do not know. This decrease, if there is any, we attribute in part to the wise restrictive measures of last year, but more than all to the bad liquor sold. With the exception of eight or ten places where liquor is sold, a compound, called "spirituous," is dealt out, that has to be kept in earthen or glass, as it eats its way out through wooden casks!"

Coggswell's Medical Salt,
A PERFECT SUBSTITUTE
FOR THE
LANCET, LEECHES AND BLISTERS.
INSTEAD of being a panacea for all maladies, it has control over but ONE MALADY—has but ONE AIM—accomplishes but ONE THING, to wit: SUBDUES INFLAMMATORY DISEASE—whatever be its form or locality—whether in the head, throat, chest, abdomen, extremities or skin. Every form of inflammation (but no other disease) is subdued, by it as easily as fire is extinguished by water. Is it asked, how it does this?—simply by restoring the lost balance between the fluids and solids. Such is its potency, that like vaccine matter, it requires merely what adheres to the point of a quill dipped into a solution of it, to affect the entire system.
☞ Of its intrinsic value, the enlightened community, and not the discoverer, must be the judge.

THURSDAY, APRIL 29, 1858.

MORE FACTS AND FIGURES.—In the House of Representatives, April 1, the extreme Lecompton men, under Mr. Quitman's lead, threw 72 votes. All the Republicans, six South Americans, and twenty-two Douglas Democrats, voted together for the Montgomery-Crittenden substitute.

At the Democratic caucus, on the previous Monday, says the Washington Republic, the following propositions were successively submitted on the part of the anti-Lecomptonites:

1. That it be made a "fundamental condition" of the admission of Kansas, that the people thereof have, at all times, the right to alter their Constitution.

2. That, prior to the admission of the State, certificates be given of the election of a Free State majority of the Legislature and of the Free State candidates for State officers.

Both those propositions were rejected by the friends of the administration. Nothing would satisfy them but the "naked" bill itself. The conference broke up without effecting anything, and immediate notice was given to the President, that the bill probably could not be got through the House.

The rejection of these propositions unmasks the real purposes of the Lecomptonites. The Lecompton Constitution was of no value to them, if the people could alter it. It was, also, of no value to them, if the election of January 4, fairly carried by the Free State party, was conceded to it. The Lecomptonites had no objection to the publication of delusive cards by Calhoun, but when put to the test of having the certificates of election of Free State men actually issued, as a condition of passing the Kansas bill, they shrank from it. This is a decisive indication of what the result will be, if the Kansas bill is finally got through without such a condition. Calhoun's cards to the contrary notwithstanding, the certificates of having carried the election of Jan. 4 will be given to the proslavery party, and the usurpation can only be thrown off by civil war in Kansas. And it is precisely civil war in Kansas which is the sole object of the real dictators of this Lecompton movement. They want such a war there, to extend elsewhere, and to terminate in disunion and a Southern confederacy.

ACCIDENT AT A WEDDING.—At a marriage festival at North Hadley, Mass., last week, a large company assembled, filling the house of the bride's father to its full capacity. Just before the knot was to be tied, some singers commenced singing a piece appropriate to the occasion, in one of the lower rooms, and there was such a general rush in that quarter that the floor could stand it no longer, and let the whole company, stove, seraphine, chairs and all, into the cellar below. No one of the hundred persons thus tumbled together into the regions of darkness, was seriously hurt; but, as might be supposed, all were badly frightened. The clergyman's house however was near at hand, and thither the company proceeded to see the marriage consummated, returning again to partake of the good things that crowned the festal board.

REMARKABLE SERIES OF CASUALTIES.—Mr. Joseph A. Wood, a carriage-maker by trade, and a resident of Woodstock, Ct., while descending the stairs of the Phenix House, Worcester, on Thursday, fell and broke his leg. It is mentioned that he has previously broken the same leg three times—it having healed up each time, however. In the present case amputation was found necessary, and the patient is doing well.

REV. DR. BUSHNELL'S NEW WORK.—Mr. Charles Scribner, of New York, has published a volume entitled "Sermons for the New Life," by Horace Bushnell, D. D., of Hartford. The position of the gifted and respected author of these discourses, in the theological world, is well known to those at all familiar with such matters. The new discourses will doubtless elicit much comment in the sectarian journals.

☞ The Jamaica (W. I.) Journal complains of the worthlessness of the Coolie emigration, and proposes to obtain free colored persons from the Southern States, which it thinks would be profitable in every respect.

☞ The extent of the publishing business in the United States is revealed by the fact that about six thousand new books were issued within the past thirty-three months, by three hundred eighty-five publishing houses.

Scandal will rub out like dirt, when it is dry.

CONGRESS.

TUESDAY, April 27

SENATE.—At half past 12, the report of the Conference Committee came up, whereupon Mr. Crittenden took the floor. He said that the offer made by the conference substitute is merely equivalent to a bribe of public lands to accept the Lecompton Constitution. He then went on to say that the conference substitute is a poor, maimed, imperfect substitute for the bill adopted by the House.

Mr. Crittenden, after defining his reasons for adhering to his amendment, adopted by the House, in preference to the Conference substitute now offered, invited the Senate impartially to attempt to do justice without sectional preferences. Referring to the geographical position of Kentucky, he pointed out that her interests are peculiarly in favor of maintaining the Union, and of the preservation of cordiality among the sections. He concluded with an earnest appeal to all parties and sections to respect the magnificent proportions and destiny of this Union, which already is recognized as among the great powers, but will soon be recognized as the greatest, if we avoid sectional and party causes of division.

The Senate was crowded during the delivery of Mr. Crittenden's speech, and he was listened to with rapt attention.

Mr. Hunter replied in an able argument, seriatim, to Mr. Crittenden's points. To throw back the people of Kansas into a territorial condition, would produce a truce of three or four years, which truce might then be improved into a permanent peace, and this distracting question pass out of federal politics, thereby giving time to attend to the great objects, moral and political, which address themselves to our attention.

Mr. Collamer made an old fashioned Kansas speech.

Mr. Hale of N. H. discussed the merits of the Conference Substitute, saying that by no possibility could Kansas come into the Union under that substitute, but as a slave State, and that the substitute offers a premium of five million dollars for her to come in as a slave State. Mr. Hale then went into severe comments on the President, saying that there exists no real equality of the States. That Mr. Buchanan gave away by a single dash of his pen, an island, "Vancouver," occupying the same important position to the Pacific, that Cuba—(which he wants to buy for two hundred millions)—does to the Atlantic. Our right to Vancouver's Island was undeniable. But it was situated in a latitude where it could not be made a slave state, whereas Cuba can.

Mr. Wade of Ohio strongly censured the action of the Conference Committee, as humiliating to the South, and as utterly repugnant to the North. He spoke for over an hour, using forcible terms in condemnation of the course of the executive, which he characterized as corrupt.

Mr. Green (of Mo.,) replied, in defence of the course of the executive, and said that Mr. Wade, in describing it as corrupt acted as a slanderer of the executive. He also said that the assertion of Mr. Crittenden, that the administration had abandoned their position by submitting the Lecompton Constitution to the people, was not true.

Mr. Crittenden took exception to the emphasis with which Mr. Green used the words "not true."

Some verbal sparring then ensued, in which Mr. Green likened Mr. Crittenden to a "Kentucky climber," a phrase which Mr. Crittenden professed himself unable to comprehend. After a few words, in which Mr. Crittenden had palpably the best of it, Mr. Green resumed his speech, disclaiming that the lands were in the nature of a bribe.

Mr. Seward moved to adjourn.

Cries of "let's go on."

Mr. Hunter had no objections, if the debate was finished to-morrow.

Mr. Seward said they were debating in good faith, and if the subject was reached to-morrow night, they would close, and if not they would not. He did admit the right of the majority to impose contracts on debate.

Mr. Iverson called for a vote on the motion to adjourn. Motion lost—yeas 22 nays 23.

Mr. Seward then moved that the subject be postponed as the special order, till to-morrow noon.

A protracted discussion then followed upon this, which ended in the motion being agreed to, when the Senate adjourned.

HOUSE.—In the House, three reports were submitted in regard to the selling of Fort Snelling. Mr. Hughes of Indiana introduced a proposition to censure Mr. Spinner of New York, which, after an hour of disorderly debate, was laid on the table.

Spinner is the member who brought up a question or two about some land, entered by Bright and English.

Mr. Hughes explained that Messrs. Bright, English and Foley made their locations under law, from which he read.—He said the proceedings of the House were used for the purpose of stabbling a Commissioner of a land office, and two representatives, and for this purpose irresponsible and infamous newspaper attacks were lugged in.

Mr. Giddings said the question was out of order, but the Speaker overruled the objection as coming too late.

Mr. English of Ind., said that he had been a member of the House for five years, and could appeal to the record to bear him out in the assertion that, during that time, he had never uttered a sentence reflecting on the personal character of any of his associates on this floor, and that never before had he any occasion to notice or refer to any charge of a personal character towards himself. He knew of no law which made it improper in any sense for a member of Congress to purchase public lands. On the 23d of February, he and Mr. Foley, for themselves and certain of their constituents, deposited in the Land Office a number of land warrents which were located in open day, under the law and the instructions of the Secretary of the Interior, and the Commissioner of the Land Office. He read from the law, and the instructions, in proof of his assertions, and showed that no preferences had been given in the location. If any gentleman made the charge that favoritism in this matter was shown him to influence his action on the Kansas question, or insinuated that he was influenced by other than patriotic motives, he would denounce him as a liar, a poltroon, and a coward.

Mr. English's indignant denial, is exactly a plea of not guilty, accompanied by such savory epithets on his accusers, as we have sometimes heard from guilty culprits who never went to Washington. Mr. English has undergone a sudden conversion from good to evil, as is manifest to every careful observer. The only question is, as to how he was changed. He says he was not bribed,—to be sure he has the land,—but that is all right,—and he is a patriot. This is not all—whoever says he is not a patriot, is a coward and a poltroon!!

Don't laugh, reader, for fear Mr. English will get angry.

WASHINGTON, April 28.—(Boston Journal Cor.)—The fate of the Conference bill will depend upon the votes of Cox, Lawrence, and Adrian, who are confidently claimed on both sides. Several prominent Ohio Democrats arrived here this morning with the officers of the expectant Ohio volunteer regiment, and they may secure their members.

Mr. Hickman of Pa., who was paired with Mr. Garnett of Va., has returned, and the Republicans have hopes that Garnett may vote with them, thus making a gain of two.(?)

NEW YORK, April 28.—(Washington correspondence).—The indications are that English's bill will be defeated in the House to-day. Adrian and Chapman, who voted on Monday against postponement, will go against the bill; so will Gilmer and Garnett, who have just returned from the South. Cox and Lawrence are hesitating. Ex-Governor Walker and ex-Secretary Stanton, it is said, are both in favor of the bill. The latter has written a letter on the subject.

MONEY IN THE LOBBY.—Late English journals state that Sir John Trelawney intends to submit to the House of Commons the following resolution, founded on a recent case in the British Parliament. This movement shows that the American Congress is not the only legislative assembly where the "exercise of influence" is a matter of trade and sale.

That the receipt of any species of reward by a member, in consideration of the exercise of his influence in that capacity, is calculated to lower the dignity and authority of this House, and is a high breach of the privilege of Parliament.

COURT OF COMMON PLEAS.

EXETER, April 28.

No. 156, Hill et als. v. Pickering, was given to the Jury, Tuesday afternoon. This is a case for damages. Deft. agreed to put a lot of hay into plffs' barn. It was alleged that the hay was partly damaged when put in. The parties reside in Newington. Verdict for deft.

No. 161, Owners brig E. P. Swett, of Bath v. J. R. Preble, was next in order. This was an action against a pilot in Portsmouth for damages resulting to the brig E. P. Swett, piloted by deft. to the Navy Yard. The plff. could not show that deft. was a legally commissioned pilot. Verdict for deft.

No. 167, Coburn v. Fruile et als. was next tried. An action to recover damages of the Rockingham Ice Company for use of stationary steam engine.

No. 227, Wellington v. Frisbie, is now on trial.

Court will adjourn Thursday or Friday.

☞ The new Arof gem of the Paris spring fashions is dyed with such poisonous materials that seamstresses who prick their fingers while sewing it, lose the use of their hands, and ladies have been taken violently ill from wearing shawls of this color. The tint is very brilliant.

A GOOD SELL.—On Saturday evening, a rumor prevailed that a young man residing some two miles out of Bangor, had got married. His youthful friends, accordingly, in good numbers, turned out to serenade him. After the performances had been sufficiently prolonged, the supposed groom appeared with a lady gently leaning on his arm, who, on raising her veil, proved to be his Grandmother! The young man had not been married.

CAUTION.—Coughs, Colds and affections of the Lungs prevail among our people to an extent wholly unknown in Europe, and, if neglected, often assume a dangerous form. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry is the remedy in such cases.

LOCAL.

WARNING.—The young man with a light overcoat, cloth cap, and a cutty pipe in his mouth, who deliberately took the Chronicle from the door of a house at the lower end of Court street, on Wednesday morning, just before seven o'clock, had better not repeat the offence, or he may find himself in a position where the daily news will reach him through the turnkey of the prison, who would not be very liberal to one who is in the habit of stealing newspapers.

MEETINGS THIS EVENING, &c.

The Class meetings of the Methodist Church will assemble at half past 7 o'clock this evening.

City Mission Prayer Meeting in the vestry of the Old South Church, this evening, at half-past 7 o'clock.

☞ A meeting of the American Medical Association is to be held in Washington on th 4th of May next. Dr. William Laighton, of this city, is appointed delegate by the New Hampshire Medical Society, to represent the medical faculty of this State in the national association.

☞ We have received a copy of the Catalogue of the Officers, Teachers and Members of the Rockingham County Teachers' Institute, held at Kingston, N. H., from April 5 to April 15, 1853. Printed at Exeter, N. H., by Samuel Hall.

The officers and Instructors of the above named Institute were:—Hiram Smart, Jr., Commissioner; Prof. Dyer H. Sanborn, Teacher of English Grammar, Spelling and Writing; Prof. Charles G. Burnham, Teacher of Mathematics and Geography; William Barton, M. D., Teacher of Physiology and Elocution; Richard Welch, Teacher of Music.

Among the Lecturers were Prof. Hoyt of Exeter, Rev. Mr. Whiting of this city.

PATENT SEWING MACHINE.—A patent was obtained, a short time since, by our enterprising fellow townsman, Oliver L. Reynolds, Esq., for an improved Sewing Machine, which, it is said, is very simple in its construction and performs its work very rapidly and neatly. The Machine has already become very popular, and we understand that it is a little ahead of anything in the market.—Dover Gazette.

The Scientific American of April 10, says:

"This invention relates to that description of Sewing Machines in which a needle and looper are employed, with a single thread to form the chain stitch. It consists principally in a device termed the 'loop distender,' operating in connection with a looper of suitable construction for the purpose of distending the loop in a proper manner, and to a proper extent to ensure the entrance of the needle."

The "No Plus Ultra" Sewing Machine, of which there are quite a number in successful operation in this city, is the machine referred to.

FROM THE PACIFIC.—Valparaiso dates of March 18 are received at Panama. A sanguinary battle took place at Arequipas on the 7th, between the government forces under Castilla, and the revolutionists, headed by Vivanco. The latter was defeated, and had escaped to Bolivia.

Arequipa was stormed by Castilla. The battle is said to have been terrific. Of one detachment of 600 men which defended the barricades, all but 40 were killed.

The steamers Apurimac, Arauco, and Lambayaque were captured, and had been sent to Callao.

The loss on both sides in the storming of Arequipa, was over 2000 killed, and the city was filled with the wounded.

The United States frigate Merrimac had arrived at Callao.

Capt. Bennett, of the late brig Cornelia, was arrested at San Francisco and held to bail on a charge of having scuttled his vessel at sea, having first robbed her of $50,000 in silver, which he had shipped at Mazatlan for San Francisco. The treasure is said to be buried near Cape St. Lucas, to which place a vessel had been sent for its recovery.

NEW YORK, April 28.—A passenger on the Moses Taylor, says the steamer John L. Stevens, on her down trip, put into Manzanillo, where she took on board Juarez, the fugitive President of Mexico, together with his Cabinet. On arriving at Aspinwall, the whole party took passage for New Orleans, intending to proceed thence to Vera Cruz, which, at last accounts, April 12, still held out for the Juarez government.

ANOTHER REVIVAL IN DRESS.

The following remarks of the Philadelphia Press upon the anticipated revival of the "old Roman blouse" in the place of the present amplitude of skirts, will greatly interest the ladies:

There is a dreadful revolution on the tapis. Borrowing, as our ladies do, all their fashions in dress from Paris and London, they have habituated themselves to follow every freak, and to adopt every change and to "pile up the agony" by a little exaggeration.

Queen Victoria is rather proud of her profile, and wore her bonnet off the face to let it be seen; (this was before she had attained or obtained her present comfortable but unromantic double chin;) and straightway her female subjects took to putting their bonnets as far back as possible; while in this country the elegantes went a little farther, and wore them off the head and on the neck.

The Empress Eugenie revived the Madame du Barri hoop, now known as crinoline, from the French name of the chief article forming the materiel; and all Europe adopted the change, while America improved upon it—at least the New York fashionables did, who evidently mistook the caricatures in "Punch" for fashion plates, and dressed up to them!

At Balmoral, on the Highlands of Aberdeenshire, while Victoria healthily trudges over the Scottish moors, in the hunting season, when Albert peppers the partridges, she wears the plain, country red petticoat of the district; which, though undress in the country, is at once seized upon by her sex, in two worlds, and especially sported as fashionable full dress in Gotham.

A French Journal des Modes recently made an alarming announcement, which we translate—for the benefit of our fair countrywomen:

"A novelidea for ladies' morning dress is the old Roman blouse, which is composed of fine cambric muslin, with a red narrow band as a zone, fastened with silver clasps."

Supposing that this "novel idea" be practically carried out, what a contrast will a Romanized drawing-room present, to one in which the modern expansive and extended attire is now exhibited! Such of our readers as have seen the stage representation of the characters of Virginia, Parthenia, Hermione, and such classic creations, will readily understand how "the old Roman blouse" will look.

After the great French revolution, when it was considered patriotic to imitate anything ancient and classic, the belles of Paris for a time much affected the Roman modes; and a woman of ton bore a close resemblance to a statue, with only a fringed table cloth, loosely tacked together, for a garment, "with a red narrow band as a zone, fastened with silver clasps." As the material is "composed of fine cambric muslin," there can be no doubt that such delicate wearer would say, with Brian O'Linn, that it was "pleasant and cool."

Wearing such a Roman blouse as is now spoken of, the famous Madame Recamier, then the most beautiful woman in Paris, ventured to take a walk in Kensington Garden, when visiting London. Investing her pedals in sandals, (for she classically repudiated such novelties as shoes,) and with a Roman dress, of which it might be said that, like Nora Creina's, it left "every beauty free to sink or swell as nature pleases"—in short, much resembling the Venus de Medicis, in thin attire, and very little of it—the French beauty was mobbed by the spectators, had to seek refuge in a hackney coach, and abandoned London in a rage, incensed with the matter of fact English, who had no taste for classical costume!

Are now Recamiers going to spring up? Is crinoline and are hoops to be abolished? Instead of the expansive gowns which are now the mode, are we to fall back upon a minimum of "fine cambric muslin," close-fitting, bound round the waist with a red zone, and presenting a face similar of the old Roman blouse? If so, what a change! One-fifth of the present material will answer for a dress. If so, what a saving!

To be sure, the manteau-makers will have to complain, with Othello, that their "occupation's gone;" whalebone, metallic bands and cane will have to go by the board; a drawing-room twenty feet by fifteen will actually be able to contain more than half a dozen ladies in full dress (perhaps we should rather say, in full undress; and a car or omnibus, freighted with the ordinary per centage of womanhood, will be able to accommodate its full amount of passengers. We await the new fashion with intense anxiety.

He who follows in the footsteps of another, will always remain behind.

SCHNAPPS.
This medicinal beverage is manufactured by the proprietor, at Scheidam, Holland, expressly for medicinal use, by a process peculiar to his own Factory. It is the pure Tincture of the Italian Juniper Berry, whose more vinous extract is distilled and rectified with its spirituous solvent, which thus becomes a concentrated tincture of exquisite flavor and aroma, altogether, transcendant in its cordial and medicinal properties to any alcoholic stimulant now made in the world. It is now prescribed by more than 5,000 physicians in the United States, in cases of Gravel, Gout, Dropsy, and Bladder and Kidney Complaints.

Ayer's Pills

Are particularly adapted to derangements of the digestive apparatus, and diseases arising from impurity of the blood. A large part of all the complaints that afflict mankind originate in one of these, and consequently these PILLS are found to cure many varieties of disease.

Enlightened are the statements from some eminent physicians, of their effects in their practice.

AS A FAMILY PHYSIC.

From Dr. E. W. Cartwright, of New Orleans.

"YOUR PILLS are the prince of purges. Their excellent qualities among my cathartic we possess. They are mild, but very certain and effectual in their action on the bowels, which makes them invaluable to us in the daily treatment of disease."

FOR JAUNDICE AND ALL LIVER COMPLAINTS.

From Dr. Theodore Bell, of New York City.

"Not only are your PILLS admirably adapted to their purpose as an aperient, but I find their beneficial effects upon the Liver very marked indeed. They have in my practice proved more effectual for the cure of bilious complaints than any one remedy I can mention. I sincerely believe that we have at length a purgative which is worthy the confidence of the profession and public."

DYSPEPSIA — INDIGESTION.

From Dr. Henry I. Ricord, of St. Louis.

"The PILLS you were kind enough to send me have been all used in my practice, and have satisfied me that they are truly an extraordinary medicine. We peculiarly need a pill adapted to the diseases of the human system, that they soon to work upon them alone. I have cured some cases of dyspepsia and indigestion with them, which had resisted the other remedies we commonly use. Indeed I have experimentally found them to be effectual in almost all the complaints for which you recommend them."

DYSENTERY — DIARRHŒA. — RELAX.

From Dr. J. G. Wilson, of Chicago.

"Your PILLS have had a long trial in my practice, and I hold them in esteem as one of the best aperients I have ever found. Their alterative effect upon the liver makes them an excellent remedy, when given in cases of bilious dysentery and diarrhœa. Their sugar-coating makes them very acceptable and convenient for the use of women and children."

INTERNAL OBSTRUCTION—WORMS—SUPPRESSION.

From Mm. H. Stuart, who practises as a Physician and Midwife in Boston.

"I find one or two large doses of your PILLS, taken at the proper time, are excellent for the removal of the natural secretion when wholly or partially suppressed, and also very effectual to cleanse the stomach and expel worms. They are much the best physic we have that I recommend no other to my patients."

CONSTIPATION — COSTIVENESS.

From Dr. J. P. Vaughn, Montreal, Canada.

"Too much cannot be said of your PILLS for the cure of costiveness. I of others of our family have found them as efficacious as I have, they should join me in proclaiming it for the benefit of the multitudes who suffer from that complaint, which, although bad enough in itself, is the precursor of others that are worse. I believe conscious to originate in the liver, but your PILLS affect that organ and cure the disease."

IMPURITIES OF THE BLOOD — SCROFULA — ERYSIPELAS — SALT RHEUM — TETTER — TUMORS — RHEUMATISM — GOUT — NEURALGIA.

From Dr. Rankin, Gall, Philadelphia.

"You were right, Doctor, in saying that your PILLS purify the blood. They do that. I have cured many of my patients by our practice, and agree with your statements of their efficacy. They stimulate the excretories, and carry off the impurities that stagnate in the blood, engendering disease. They stimulate the organs of digestion, and infuse vitality and vigor into the system.

"Such remedies as you prepare are a national benefit, and you deserve great credit for the use."

FOR HEADACHE—SICK HEADACHE—FOUL STOMACH—PILES—DROPSY—PLETHORA—PARALYSIS — FITS — &c.

From Dr. Edward Boyd, Baltimore.

"DEAR DR. AYER: I cannot answer you what complaints I have cured with your PILLS rather shorter than to say we cure trial with a purgative medicine. I place great dependence on an effectual cathartic in my daily contest with disease, and believing as I do that your PILLS afford us the best we know, I of course value them highly."

☞ Most of the Pills in market contain Mercury, which, although a valuable remedy in skilful hands, is dangerous in a public pill, from the dreadful consequences that frequently follow its incautious use. These contain no mercury or mineral substance whatever.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral

Has long been manufactured by a practical chemist, and every ounce of it under his own eye, with inviolable accuracy and care. It is sealed and protected by law from counterfeiting, and consequently can be relied on as genuine, without adulteration. It supplies the surest remedy the world has ever known for the cure of all pulmonary complaints; for COUGHS, COLDS, HOARSENESS, ASTHMA, CROUP, WHOOPING COUGH, BRONCHITIS, INCIPIENT CONSUMPTION, and for the relief of consumptive patients in advanced stages of the disease. As time makes these facts wider and better known, this medicine has gradually risen to the best reliance of the afflicted, from the log cabin of the American peasant to the palaces of European kings. Throughout this entire country, in every state and city, and indeed almost every hamlet it continues, Ought Pectoral is known as the best of all remedies for diseases of the throat and lungs. In many foreign countries it is extensively used by their most intelligent physicians. If there is any dependence on real men of every station merely it has been for them; if we can trust our own senses when we see the dangerous affections of the lungs yield to it; if we can depend on the testimony of intelligent physicians, whose business is to know; in short, if there is any reliance upon any thing, then is it irrefutably proven that this medicine does cure the class of disease it is designed for, beyond any and all other remedies known to mankind. Nothing but its intrinsic virtues, and the unmistakable benefit conferred on thousands of sufferers, could originate and maintain the reputation it enjoys. While many inferior remedies have been thrust upon the community, have failed, and been discarded, this has gained friends by every trial, conferred benefits on the afflicted they can never forget, and produced cures too numerous and remarkable to be forgotten.

S. D. & H. W. Smith,

—MANUFACTURERS OF—

Melodeons, Organ Melodeons,

—and—

PEDAL BASS MELODEONS,

No. 511 Washington St., Boston.

The first premium over all competitors, at the Fair of the Mass. Charitable Mechanic Association, of the National Fair, Washington, D. C., also at the Ohio State Fair, held at Columbus, Ohio, was awarded to these Manufacturers.

By means of a peculiar kind of Voicing, known only to themselves, they have succeeded in removing the harsh and buzzing sound which formerly characterized the instrument, and rendering the tones full, clear and organ like. The action is prompt and reliable, enabling the performer to execute the most rapid music without blurring the tones. The swell is arranged to give great expression.

THE PEDAL BASS MELODEONS,

Are designed particularly for Churches, Lodges, Halls, &c. It is arranged with two manuals, or banks of Keys, the lower set running an octave higher than the other, and may be used separately, and thus get in one case two distinct instruments; or by use of the coupler, the two banks of keys may be played at the same time by one of the front set only. This combined with the Pedal Bass, will produce the effect of a large organ, and is sufficiently heavy to fill a house that will contain 1000 to 1500 persons.

THE ORGAN MELODEON

Is designed for parlor and private use. The construction is similar to the Church Instrument, being arranged with two banks of Keys, and when used together, by means of the coupler, is capable of a great volume of power as the Church Instrument when used without the pedals. Also, every variety of MELODEONS for Parlor use.

Purchasers may rely upon instruments from our Manufactory, being made in the most complete and thorough manner. Having removed to the spacious building

511 Washington Street,

We have every facility for manufacturing purposes, and employ none but the most experienced and skilful workmen. In short, we will promise our customers an Instrument equal, if not superior, to any manufacturer, and guarantee an entire and perfect satisfaction.

Music Teachers, Leaders of Choirs, and others interested in musical matters, are respectfully invited to visit our Rooms at any time and examine or test the instruments on exhibition for sale at their pleasure.

A written guarantee to the public as to the excellence of the MELODEONS from our Manufactory, we beg leave to refer, by permission, to the following

Orders from any part of the country or world, sent direct to the manufactory in Boston, with cash, or satisfactory references, will be promptly attended to, and as faithfully executed as if the parties were present, or employed an agent to select, and on as reasonable terms.

SOLD IN THE

NEW ENGLAND STATES

IN ONE YEAR.

THE RESTORATIVE OF Prof. O. J. WOOD is now daily hale perfectly and permanently, has never yet had a rival. Volume after volume might be given from all parts of the world and from the most intelligent of society, one will fact Restorative; but read the circular and you cannot doubt; read also the following.

THE HAIR.—People have for centuries been afflicted with bald heads, and the only remedy, heretofore known, has been those abominable wigs, but now intelligent people of the 19th century these articles are being just dispensed with, but a great many persons still patronize them, because they have been so often imposed upon by Hair Dyes and other nostrums. To all such persons we earnestly make the request that they will try once again, for in Wood's Restorative there is no such thing as fail. We know of a lady who was bald, who used the article a short time, and her head is covered completely with the tiniest and most beautiful curls imaginable. We know of numerous cases where hair was rapidly falling out, which it restored in greater perfection than it ever had been before.

It is also without doubt one of the best articles for keeping the hair in good condition, making it soft and glossy, removing dandruff, and has proved itself the greatest enemy to all the ills that hair is heir to.

It is the duty of every one to improve their personal appearance though some may differ in regard to what is beautiful, yet all will one we admit that a beautiful head of hair, either in man or woman, is an object much to be desired, and there is no one who would not be willing to obtain such a consideration.—Woman's Advocate, Philadelphia.

COCHOCTON, Ohio, Nov. 17, 1856.

O. J. Wood & Co.—Gents: As I have been engaged in selling your Hair Restorative the last season for Messrs. Hewes & Hickox, of N. Y., and having experienced the beneficial effects of it myself, I would like to obtain an agency for the State of Ohio or some state in the west, if you would be able to make such an arrangement, as I am convinced there is nothing equal to it in the United States, for restoring the hair. I have been engaged in the Drug business for twenty years, and have tried various preparations for the hair, but have found nothing that restores the secretive organs or invigorates the scalp as well as yours, being convinced of the superiority of yours is what you represent it to be, I would like to engage in the sale of it, for I am satisfied it must sell.

Yours truly, S. T. STOCKMAN.

WAYLAND, MASS., Feb. 5, 1857.

Prof. O. J. Wood & Co.—Gents: Having realized the good effects of your Hair Restorative, I wish to state, that finding my hair growing thin, as well as gray, I was induced from what I read and heard, to try the article prepared by you, to promote its growth and change its color as it was in youth, both of which it has effected completely. In the operation I have used nearly 3 bottles.

Yours truly, JAMES FRENCH.

CAUTION NOTICE.

PERSONS living at a distance should be extremely cautious of whom they order Lottery Tickets or Certificates of Packages to be sent. The country is flooded with bogus and swindling Lotteries. Every inducement is held out to get money from the unwary. Schemes of Prizes of from $20,000 to $40,000 head their schemes, with tickets at One Dollar. $100,000 capital prizes are offered, tickets 25. All such, in every instance are a swindle, and the money sent for tickets, it is so much thrown away without the shadow of a chance of getting a prize. Beware of such Lotteries and remember that the Capital Prizes usually large in comparison to the price of tickets—in every instance where large prizes are offered for a small cost of tickets, put it down as a certain fraud.

The Kentucky State Lottery for the benefit of the Shelby College, under our management, is the only Lottery in the United States, that is legally decided by the Maryland Drawings; all other L. tteries which pu port to be decided by the Maryland Drawings, are frauds.

THE MARYLAND STATE LOTTERIES.

Purchase in the Maryland State Lotteries, then you are sure of being right. And in ordering in the Maryland Lotteries, you are sure of fair and honest drawings.

One thing look to, and that is, if you order from any Lottery vendor in Baltimore, do not receive any but Managers' Tickets and Managers' Printed Certificates of Packages. The Managers' Certificates have the numbers printed and have the signature of the Managers, R. FRANCE & Co.

No one has a right to send his individual certificates, if he does it, be sure there is a fraud at the bottom of it.

IMMORTELLES.

SPRING.

Spring is coming—Spring is coming,
Changing death to joy and life;
Lift your hearts to him who ruleth,
Making earth with blessings rife.
Look above—a Spring is coming
Rich with flowers of heavenly dyes;
Choral music fills its arches,
And its lights are mercy's eyes.
Welcome, welcome—Spring supernal,
Welcome all thy joys divine—
Welcome with thy fadeless glories—
In thy bowers our hearts enshrine.—[Anon.

NOBILITY.

What is noble? That which places
Truth in its enfranchised will!
Leaving steps—like angel traces—
That mankind may follow still!

E'en though scorn's malignant glances
Prove him poorest of his clan,
He's the noble—who advances
Freedom and the cause of man!

FREEDOM.

Oppression shall not always reign;
There comes a brighter day,
When Freedom, burst from every chain,
Shall have triumphant way.
Then right shall over might prevail,
And truth, like hero armed in mail,
The host of tyrant wrong assail,
And hold eternal sway.

What voice shall bid the progress stay
Of truth's victorious car?
What arm arrest the growing day,
Or quench the solar star?
What reckless soul, though stout and strong,
Shall dare bring back the ancient wrong,
Oppression's guilty night prolong,
And Freedom's morning bar?—[H. Ware.

TIME.

Time, the tomb-builder, holds his fierce career,
Dark, stern, all pitiless; and pauses not
Amid the mighty wrecks that strew his path,
To sit and muse, like other conquerors,
Upon the fearful ruin he has wrought.
—[Prentice.

NOBLE ACTION.

Every great and noble action
Is re echoed o'er and o'er;
Life itself is but an echo—
Of the lives that were before.

☞ As we copied the article alluded to, in justice to our Spiritual brethren we transfer to our columns the following from the "Manchester Daily Mirror:"—

"INFATUATION."—Mr. Editor:—In your yesterday's paper, I read an article headed, "Melancholy Infatuation," taken from the Springfield (Mass.) Republican, in relation to a gentleman who had been led into the discussion of spiritualism, free love affinities, etc., and had become infatuated with a young lady, although he had been living happily for twenty years with his wife, and had an industrious family of children. Now, I am sorry to say, sir, that this is by no means, an isolated case; but that we have persons in our very midst, and all over the country, who have become similarly infatuated. But, while I freely admit the above truths, I must also state what I know to be the fact in regard to the great majority of Spiritualists, so called. They do not countenance this "affinitizing," "free-loving" business in any manner whatever, but take every occasion to frown it down wherever seen.

I know that there are individuals who pretend to have discovered by "the light of spiritualism," that they have no affinity for their wives; but that they have become so enlightened as to discover it in the person of some young lady, (by the way, a very handsome young lady, generally,) and that thereafter they must live and abide with said young lady, to the neglect of their own more virtuous and lovely companion.

Now just notice the everyday life, and private and public acts of such individuals, and you will find, that they are as destitute of true and genuine spirituality, or even a passable degree of morality, as the serpent is of anything agreeable or loveable. These persons want to sail under some colors—want something for a cloak—and so take unto themselves the name of Spiritualists.

Such men, no matter where found, are more licentious than spiritual, more immoral than virtuous, more foolish than wise. They will soon find their own level, and all men will see and take them for just what they are.

HARWICH, MASS.—A correspondent of the Traveller says:

A case has occurred in the eastern part of this town so similar to that of the gambler in Uxbridge, who was converted at the card table, or rather smitten with conviction with ten cards in his hands, that I cannot forbear to mention it.

A company of young persons were assembled for a "plumb porridge party." Among them was a reckless character who had long opposed the temperance movement by selling spirits and defying the vigilance of the law. On sitting down to the entertainment, he was asked in derision to crave a blessing. He commenced the act in imitation of a well known pious person. He suddenly stopped, feeling, as he afterwards said, as if he had been struck violently upon the head. His agitation and alarm were such as to spread consternation among the company. He commenced warning every one, and has since spent his time in going from house to house, entreating the prayers of the pious, conversing with every one and giving good evidence of a true conversion.

VOX CAPRICORNI.—A Lowell correspondent of the Boston Traveller, speaking of Mr. Metcalf's concert by the Advent antiphonal choir, says:—

It was a great novelty and drew a crowded audience. Some of the boys had sweet voices, though from their lack of volume, the chorus s disappointed me. Mast. Fred. White had a voice like a birds' so sweet and flexible, yet withal so light as to remind one of old Chaucer's description of the song of a beardless priest—

"A vois he had ks smal as hath a gote."

AN ARFRAY AT LECOMPTON.—Last Saturday, at about 3 o'clock, P. M., Andrew Rodrigue, in company with H. J. Strickler, met James Thompson, keeper of the Star Saloon near the Land Office, in Lecompton, who asked Rodrigue if he had made a certain report in relation to him. Rodrigue replied that he had, and added that it was a "good joke." Thompson called Rodrigue a liar, upon which Rodrigue stuck Thompson a back-handed blow over the mouth. The latter then coolly drew a large dirk-knife from his pocket and opened it. Strickler, perceiving his intention, caught hold of him, but let go his hold when he thought Thompson had abandoned his object. As soon as Thompson was free, he deliberately approached and thrust the blade up to the hilt in Rodrigue's left side; then hastening to his saloon, took the contents of the money drawer and fled. Both are pro-slavery men, and until very recently Rodrigue has been postmaster at that place. Free State men who were imprisioned for treason two years ago, will remember that he refused them their letters. Rodrigue died on Wednesday morning from the effect of his wound. Thompson is still at large—Herald of Freedom.

EQUESTRIAN RIVALRY.—The people of South Paris and Norway, Me., have endeavored to out-ride each other after the following fashion:—Some days since, about a dozen of the young people of South Paris took a ride to Norway on horseback. A day or so after the call was returned by their Norway neighbors to the number of thirty-six. This latter visit was considered and declared a challenge by the South Paris people, and was returned by eighty horsemen. To this the Norway people responded with a cavalcade of 103. They were received by the South Paris people, headed by the So. Paris Band, and went off with the expectation that they had won the field. Not so. On Wednesday the Paris troop had increased to two hundred and four, and with this force returned the call. The Norwegians received them with three cheers, handsomely "acknowledged the corn," and furnished the whole company with refreshments. Thus matters rest for the present—though it is calculated that in case it should be required a corps de reserve, of about one hundred will be forthcoming.—Oxford Democrat.

The Ladies of the Unitarian Society in Exeter, are about to give their customary May Fair, upon the plan which has heretofore proved so successful. In addition to an evening exhibition of the thousand and one products of feminine taste and skill, it is designed to furnished to furnish to morning visitors a substantial breakfast,—tempting enough to excuse any one for breaking his vows of abstinence. This Fair will be held, the present year, on Tuesday, the fourth day of May, instead of May day, as heretofore, for the reason that Saturday—which is the first day of the month—is not a convenient or appropriate day for such an entertainment.—News-Letter.

SAD FATE OF AN EMINENT PHYSICIAN.—On Thursday last, a blind paralyzed old man without friends or money died at the house of a benevolent negress who had given him shelter in Evansville, Indiana.—Among his effects were papers and testimonials which proved him to be Dr. John Pocock Holmes, a member of the College of Surgeons, London, and formerly in the employ of the Hudson Bay Company, the friend of Captain Parry, the Artic navigator, and the associate of many of the first people of England. He was also the author of several inventions. Our exchanges offer no explanation of the cause of this terrible fall.—Cincinnati Gazette.

A PAIR OF TONGUES.—At a recent trial in Montreal a part of the jury could talk English only, and the other knew nothing but French. The case for the prisoner was first argued to the jury in English by Mr. Ramsey, and then in very eloquent French, by M. Morin. We have heard a Montreal Judge in giving his decision, use both languages indifferently, as attorneys happen to ask questions in one or the other. On the whole, Montreal is a French city, but it isn't the Frenchness of France by several chalks!—Lowell News.

A PET DOVE.—In Leedsville, N. Y., a tame pigeon accompanies two children to school regularly, flying after them along the street, alighting on the fence, trees, and in the road before them. If it flies too far ahead, you may see it turn round, and looking at the children, wait patiently for their arrival, and then fly a stretch farther on; and so it keeps doing until they reach the school. Then it perches itself upon the window sill, where it remains until school is out, when it observes the same manner in going home.

A beautiful slab of Missouri marble has just been received at Lexington, Ky., from a military company at St. Louis, to be inserted in the Clay Monument. It bears upon its face, in raised letters, the following inscription: "I would rather be right than be President. National Guards. St. Louis, July 4, 1857."

Why are people with corns like certain vegetables? Because they are too-martyrs.

Coggswell's Medical Salt,
A PERFECT SUBSTITUTE
FOR THE
LANCET, LEECHES AND BLISTERS.
INSTEAD of being a panacea for all maladies, it has control over but ONE MALADY—has but ONE AIM—accomplishes but ONE THING, to wit: SUPPRESS INFLAMMATORY DISEASE—whatever be its form or locality—whether in the head, throat, chest, abdomen, extremities or skin. Every form of inflammation (but no other disease) is subdued, by it as easily as fire is extinguished by water. Is it asked, how it does this?—simply by restoring the lost balance between the fluids and solids. Such is its potency, that like vaccine matter, it requires merely what adheres to the point of a quill dipped into a solution of it, to affect the entire system.

THE INSOLVENT BILL.

The last Legislature provided for the appointment of a committee by the Governor to draft a bill for the more equal distribution of "the Estates of insolvent debtors," but "not providing for the discharge of the insolvent."

A correspondent of the Dover Enquirer states that the committee have prepared a bill, which provides practically for administering on an insolvent live man's estate in pretty much the same manner as upon a dead man's insolvent estate; but does not discharge him without payment in full.

The writer then remarks,—"The bill in the main seems a good one, but for one, I hope if the next Legislature pass a law upon this subject, they will provide in some manner for the discharge of the debtor who has surrendered all his property."

He argues the case as follows, in a way worthy of attention, if we are to have such an important change in our laws on this subject.

When a man obtains credit, the creditor usually takes from him above what the cash buyer pays, an insurance to cover the liability of loss. This amount which debtors pay is supposed to be enough to cover the losses through them. Now when a man has sacrificed his capital and energies in a business, and failed, and surrendered all his property, and his fellow debtors with him have paid an insurance to cover the loss which may be incurred in his case, he should be discharged; and if in another channel, he acquire new credit, the new creditor should not incur the additional hazard of the old losses.

A man's highest obligation is to his family; and should that family be deprived of his business talents and energies, and the community also, because old liabilities are left weighing him down after everything has been taken from him to meet them, and he left penniless? Why not then make the future earnings of the wife and children pay the claims against an Insolvent Estate of a deceased father and husband? It seems to me that the bill should provide that when in the opinion of the assignee or commissioners, or both, the debtor has surrendered all his property to satisfy the claims against him, and it shall be insufficient to pay them in full, that upon the recommendation of a majority of the creditors, he should be discharged from any further liability on account of them.

The 10th section of the bill provides that no conveyance, assignment, pledge or mortgage made within ninety days of the decree of insolvency, shall be valid against the assignee, when the party receiving the same "knew or had good reason to believe such debtor insolvent." This seems to me defective, inasmuch as it does not except those cases where the mortgage or pledge is given to secure the payment of the purchase money of the thing mortgaged or the property pledged.

An insolvent bill is a novel feature in the legislation of the State, and if passed will effect a radical change in the manner of conducting business and collecting debts. And I have said thus much for the purpose of calling the attention of those more experienced to the consideration of it.

GOUGH'S TOBACCO, &c.—The English correspondent of the Morning Star speaks thus of Mr. Gough's tobacco, and of his lawsuit:—

It is deeply to be regretted that your renowned advocate, J. B. Gough, Esq., has commenced an action at law against Dr. F. R. Lees, of Leeds, for some alleged defamation of character. We fear the cause of temperance reform will be brought into disrepute by such an unnatural conflict.—The precise injury of which Mr. Gough complains, it is very difficult to come at. No doubt, however, exists that the coldness with which Mr. Gough treats the "Maine Law" movement in England, has made him many enemies. And Mr. Gough's addiction to the use of tobacco has also considerably lowered him in general esteem.

Dr. Lees and his friends proposed the settlement of the dispute by friendly arbitration, but this Mr. Gough indignantly rejected; and now some thousands of good sterling money will be spent in a useless litigation in our courts of law, causing the enemies of true social reform to ridicule and blaspheme.

We are by no means certain that this litigation will be useless. Dr. Lees is not a man to be cowed up in this manner, though his money may be. It is not easy to say what the result of such a law case may be; but it is not impossible that Mr. Gough may be more damaged by it than Dr. Lees. Mr. G.'s use of tobacco, if it be correctly stated, will tend greatly to diminish his influence as a temperance man.

They are having a little muss in Boston about removing the Post Office. We trust there will be no rebellion about the matter—similar to the "ten cent" one they had years ago.—Nashua Oasis.

The only "rebellion" will be to have the Post Office located in the people's place.—Boston Bee.

The tea cent rebellion was for good cause. And so was a three-penny rebellion many years before, when the tea was thrown overboard because the people would not pay a three-penny tax thereon.

HOUSE OF REFORMATION.

The New Hampshire House of Reformation for Juvenile offenders, in Manchester, is nearly completed, and is to be dedicated on the 12th of May, the exercises to commence at 1 o'clock, P. M. The exercises are as follows:

Prayer, by Rev. Richard S. Rust.
Dedicatory Anthem. The music under the direction of Mr. John H. Willard.
Delivery of the keys and surrender of the building to His Excellency the Governor, by the Chairman of the Board of Commissioners, Hon. Frederick Smyth.
Response by the Governor.
Delivery of the keys and building to the Trustees, by the Governor.
Response from the Trustees, by the Chairman, Hon. Horton D. Walker.
Original Ode, by William Stark, Esq.—Music by Mr. George W. Stratton.

When, far upon the wild and stormy sea,
The freighted ship is lost,
Shall coward sailors from their duty flee,
And, with white lips, upon the bended knee,
Proclaim that all is lost?
Ah, no, not lost! for stalwart forms
Shall battle with the god of storms;
And hearts of steel and ribs of oak
Shall boldly meet the billow stroke,
Till, watched by eyes that never dare to sleep,
She rides the monarch of the angry deep.

When, rocked by pain, with throbbing heart, we fear
The touch of death's dread frost,
Shall weeping friends in anxious haste draw near,
And bring the shroud, the sable pall and bier,
In token for the lost?
Ah, no, not lost! for Science brings,
With tend'rest care, her offerings,
And earth and air their treasures give,
That he who languishes may live;
Till dread disease, in fear to longer stay,
Spreads her dark wings, and noiseless glides away.

When gilded sins, in gaudy garments drest,
The youthful heart accost,
Shall direful anguish rend the mother's breast,
And press the pillow where her child shouldrest,
Despairing for the lost?
Ah, no, not lost! the honored dead
Has noble incense round it shed,
And noble hearts and hands conspire
To save from Sin's consuming fire;
Till each loved spirit, though on earth distrest,
May fold its pinions in a heavenly rest.

Here shall they come whom vice has led astray,
On life's rude billow tost;—
Where treacherous winds the dark entangled way,
And sunless skies emit no cheering ray,—
Yet not forever lost,
Ah, no, not lost! Not lost to Hope,
Who throws the drowning one a rope:
Not lost to Mercy's pitying eye,
Not lost to gentle Charity,—
Not lost to Love, whose withered leaves of yore,
May bloom afresh and flourish evermore.

Address, by Hon. T. M. Edwards, author of the Bill establishing the Institution.
Short addresses from others present.
Music—"Old Hundred." Benediction.

REMARKABLE DISCLOSURE.—The New Haven Palladium states that a discovery has been made in the town of Orange, Ct., which furnishes, it is confidently hoped, the proofs necessary to expose and bring to justice a murderer who has for more than seven years escaped the penalty of the law. On the 18th of September, 1850, a farmer named Ira Clark, residing in Orange, was found murdered in a field near his house, his throat having been cut.

Suspicion fell at once upon a worthless fellow named Bowen, who had maintained a disreputable intimacy with the wife of the murdered man. It was noticed that Bowen had on his best suit of clothes, and not those he had usually worn, and he was never seen to wear them again. Search was made for those clothes, and any other proofs of his guilt, but nothing could be found. Bowen was arrested, but after being detained for some time in jail, was released, nothing appearing to fasten the crime upon him. The matter was dropped and for more than seven years, there has seemed no chance that the murderer would ever be exposed or convicted.

But, on Friday Mr. W. C. Pruden, whose farm lies next that formerly owned by Clark, while repairing a stone wall, found a coat that had evidently lain there for years, but has been positively identified as the missing coat worn by Bowen until the morning of the murder, but never seen since. It has been taken to New Haven to be examined by competent chemists, and if chemical analysis should establish the belief now entertained, that the coat is stained with blood, the evidence would seem complete.

☞ The Boston Courier says:—

"But if there be reason in the roasting of an egg, there is also a reason, a judgment and a propriety to be exercised upon the subject of negro slavery, as upon all others."

Very important; especially the egg.

"SOME COONS."—On Friday last, a Chicago firm shipped direct to London, England, by way of New York, eighteen thousand coon skins, valued at $9500.—The skins were made up in sixty compactly pressed bales.

ONE OF THE CITIES.—It was stated by one of the Councilmen, at the last meeting of the New Bedford Common Council, that "there are 500 shops selling liquors in violation of law—one to every 40 inhabitants, both male and female; that there were some 8 or 10 places where rum was sold within hearing of his voice."

The prettiest lining for a bonnet is a smiling face.

☞ In Congress, on Wednesday, the "Swindle" was debated in both Houses.

In the Senate, Mr. Stuart of Michigan, spoke on the general question, making many facetious hits.

The ground of Mr. Stuart's argument was in favor of Mr. Crittenden's amendment, in preference to this miserable compromise proposition.

Mr. Pugh of Ohio replied at great length to Mr. Stuart, following various arguments he adduced. He also examined the provisions of the Leavenworth Constitution,—and the attempt to adopt the instrument by means of negro suffrage.

In the House, Mr. Howard of Mich., in giving the reason why he withheld his assent to the report, said that it did not rise to the dignity of a compromise, open and above board, but was a species of dodge. If the proceedings of the Lecompton Convention were legal and binding, and conclusive on the people, how and by what process will Lecompton become dead. It reminded him of a fellow who craved pardon of his sovereign. Prostrating himself before his majesty, he prayed forgiveness for having knocked off the hat of a fellow subject, and pardon being readily granted, he then informed his majesty that the man's head was knocked off too. In this matter the Lecompton Constitution is not submitted, but in rejecting the ordinance the head of Lecompton is knocked off. (Laughter.)

If the population of Kansas is sufficient to come in under the Lecompton Constitution, why should it not come in under any other constitution? This measure would keep open and increase the quarrel and strife. If a fair election be held, it will be voted down four to one,—it cannot be otherwise. In the Northern States the question will turn on the issue whether one set of conditions shall be prescribed for a territory for admission as a free State, and another for a slave State. This ordinance is a premium for a slave state, and he predicted that this issue will be distinctly presented before the Northern people,—every man will be elected or defeated on this issue—and he should not be surprised if 125 out of the 144 representatives to which the North is entitled, shall be sent here to repudiate this thing.

Mr. Davis of Md., said, so far as the admission or rejection was concerned, everything in law, if not in language, is conceded by this bill. But he had learned State Rights notions from Clay and Pinckney. The Constitution is not submitted. Representing a Southern and a Slave State, in her name he protested against this attempted interference in State Rights by the imposition of a condition of admission.

Mr. Stephens of Ga. was not surprised that Mr. Davis opposed the bill, but was surprised at the ground of his opposition. He was ready to defend the proposition from beginning to end, every word and line.

Mr. Gilman of Me. inquired—Is the Constitution submitted?

Mr. Stephens—I tell the gentleman distinctly it is not.

Mr. Keitt of S. C., repudiated the doctrine advanced by Mr. Davis. He was not willing to commit the rights of the South to that gentleman's custody. He denied that the federal government is sovereign, and said each State is sovereign. He then gave the reasons why he supported the bill.

Mr. Bingham, of Ohio, did not find fault with the bill because it annexed conditions, but because a great crime was sought to be perpetrated, not only against Kansas, but against the federal Constitution and the sacred rights of human nature. The bill did not submit the Constitution, but a bribe in land and money; and if it is rejected, Kansas must suffer the penalty. It was simply an act of despotism to be imposed by Congress under the Constitution, which bears the name of Washington. Better the Constitution perish, than any precedent be placed on the statute book that Congress shall dictate to freemen, under pains and penalties, admission into the Union under an internal Constitution, which they never made.

Mr. Clingman, of N. C., said this proposition was not amendable. He presumed gentlemen had made up their minds, and therefore moved the previous question.

Mr. Stephens suggested that the vote be taken to-morrow at one o'clock.

Mr. Marshall, of Ky., hoped no such agreement would be made. It would be better to take the vote to-day.

Cries of "Agreed."

Mr. Garnett, of Va., trusted the demand for the previous question would not be seconded, as he and several others wished to state the reasons for their votes.

Mr. Stephens moved a call of the House, but the motion was disagreed to. He then moved the adjournment.

Mr. Harris, of Ill.,—It was the understanding yesterday that we should take the vote to-day.

Mr. Stephens—That was what the gentleman would not agree to.

The House then adjourned, by two majority.

WASHINGTON, April 29.—(Traveller correspondence.)—The Kansas struggle is still going on. Mr. Marshall, of Ky., made a scathing speech against the bill of Mr. English.

Mr. Giddings rose and explained his course in voting for the Crittenden amendment. He then fell back in a fit. There was intense excitement. The members flocked around his chair to his aid. He was carried out, insensible.

When business was resumed, Mr. Greene of Va. moved to postpone the bill to the second Monday in May. Mr. Hughes of Ind. (administration) demanded the previous question. It was not sustained. Yeas 99, nays 105.

Mr. Jones of Tenn. moved to table the bill of Mr. English.

In the Senate the House deficiency bill was considered. The Senate adhered to its amendments. On motion of Mr. Toombs, a Committee of Conference was appointed.

The report of the Committe of Conference on the Kansas bill was taken up.

Mr. Douglas of Ill. objected to the substitute because it did not submit the Lecompton Constitution fairly to the people, but made their admission contingent on the acceptance or rejection of the land grant. He objected to the offer of a bribe to come in with 40,000 population.

☞ Mr. John F. Gerald, who is now laboring with acceptance and success in Sullivan county, has just been commissioned, by the President and Secretary of the State Temperance Committee, as a Temperance Lecturer throughout the State of New Hampshire. Mr. Gerald relies for his support upon the contributions and donations of the people in the towns he visits, and for whose benefit he labors.

☞ The grand jury of Philadelphia have found an indictment against Thomas Allibone, president, and Thomas A. Newhall, one of the directors of the Bank of Pennsylvania, charging them with defrauding the Bank of $240,000.

DIARRHEA.

Dr. D. A. Tyler, of New Haven, Ct., in his Dissertation upon the Rock Rose Plant, mentions four cases where he had used it with marked success in Diarrhea, after the usual remedies, Chalk, Opium, &c., had failed. And, he adds, "since 1848 I have been in the habit of using the Rock Rose in form of Extract Decoction and Tincture for the cure of Diarrhea, almost daily during the fall and summer months, and have seldom been disappointed in its use." Myers' Extract Rose, as a remedy in Diarrhea, has never been known to fail. Get a Circular and read it.

SEWING MACHINES,

Price $15.

JUST RECEIVED AND FOR SALE AT

CHAS. T. EMERY'S,

No. 10 Market Square.

Where it may be seen in operation.

THIS machine is warranted to do all the work of a $100 machine—not liable to get out of order—and so simple in its construction that a child of ten years can work it. The needles will never break as they will on other machines. It will warrant to keep in order for a year, for 25 cts. It will also work by the turning of the wheel either forward or backward—so that it is not liable to get out of order.

It is also small in size—not over 5 by 10 inches, can be worked with or without a table. In fact, that has yet been invented, and it only wants to be seen to be appreciated.

IT IS THE VERY BEST MACHINE

Call and see it, and I will satisfy you of what I have here advertised.

A person can learn all about it and how to run it in 10 minutes. mch 31

Children's Carriages.

THE subscriber has for sale the largest and most extensive assortment of CHILDREN'S CARRIAGES ever offered in this market, consisting of Empire Cabs, Baltimore Carts, Boston Wagons, and Gendemer Chaises.

For safety, comfort and convenience, this last named Carriage is rapidly superceeding all others. Their grand advantages are, their easy management by Children, who can safely be trusted with them; and in crossing streets where there are high curb stones, wide or deep gutters, they pass over very easily, being on leather springs, and not liable to upset. Purchasers of Carriages are invited to an examination of this stock, all of which will be sold at greatly reduced prices.

LOCAL.

☞ A petition has been signed by many of our principal citizens, praying the City Council to recast or replace the Bell on the North Church. The bell now useless has been worn out in the service of the public,—and it seems but equitable that the expense of renewal should be borne by the public. We presume there will be no objection nor opposition to the petition. The bell on the old South Church was placed there by the town.

☞ The snow and cold weather ran our young correspondents off the track about May-day. Nevertheless, there were many people at work in the fields on Thursday, plowing, sowing, rambling for spring flowers, greens, and other vegetable matters. Should Saturday be fair, there will be much Maying among old and young.

☞ A new counterfeit bill of $5, on the Lyndon Bank, Vermont, was offered at a store in this city on Thursday, by a stranger, professing to be from Lowell. The Detector does not give any account of such a counterfeit.

MEETINGS THIS EVENING, &c.

Prayer Meeting in the vestry of the Methodist Church, this evening, beginning at 7 1-2 o'clock.

Prayer and Conference meeting at the Vestry in the Temple, this evening at half past 7 o'clock.

Meeting for Prayer and Conference, in the Chapel of the Middle Street Church, this evening, at half past 7 o'clock.

Meeting for Prayer and Conference in the brick Vestry on Fleet street, at half past 7 o'clock this evening.

There is to be a Communion Lecture at the Court Street Chapel,—to commence at half past 7 o'clock this evening.

COURT OF COMMON PLEAS.

EXETER, April 29.

No. 169, Coburn v. Frink et als., was given to the jury yesterday afternoon.—Verdict $75 for pltf., about half of what was claimed.

Wellington v. Frisbie is still on trial—appeal taken.

Pltfs. appealed in Jones v. Tucker & Locke, and in Swett v. Public.

☞ Eight schooners, from 80 to 110 tons, were launched in Essex, last week, and thirteen more are now on the stocks in that town. They are all for Gloucester, and designed for fishing. Gloucester will considerably increase her fleet this season, making it up to full four hundred vessels.

Marblehead fits away fifty vessels in Grand Bank fishing this year. This is the most profitable branch of the fisheries—though Marblehead and Beverly are the only places engaged in it in Essex county. There is a great scarcity of fishermen suited to the business.

The fishermen in this and other seaboard towns are active in fitting away for the season. The fisheries will be more largely engaged in than heretofore, owing to the dullness of other branches of business, in which there is very little prospect of an early revival.—Newburyport Herald.

About thirty vessels have cleared at this port, within a few weeks, to engage in the cod-fisheries.

COUNTERFEITERS.—In Boston, on Wednesday, the police arrested James Johnson and Henry Abbott, for passing five-dollar counterfeit bills on the Lyndon Bank, Vermont, on Washington street. They gave their names as above stated, but on the plataloons of Johnson is written the name of Perry Howe, which is probably the true name of the prisoner. They were both very fashionably dressed, and have doubtless been extensively engaged in the counterfeiting business. They state that they came from Philadelphia. The bills which they passed are probably alterations from some broken bank. They were searched, but no counterfeit money was found in their possession.

☞ The Congregational Journal says that President Lord of Dartmouth College, has a landed interest of 400 or 500 acres in Dorchester, in this State, where he is wont to pass more or less of his summer vacations, setting the praiseworthy example of working with his own hands in repairing fences and buildings, tilling the soil, &c. The people of the town are always glad to have him visit his farm, for they expect from him a social, intellectual and religious treat, which he readily grants, mingling with them in their families and preaching to them as he has opportunity.

Snooks says the ladies no longer "set their caps" to catch beaux—they spread their skirts.

Wolfe's Celebrated Scheidam Aromatic SCHNAPPS.

This medicinal beverage is manufactured by the proprietor, at Scheidam, Holland, expressly for medicinal use, by a process peculiar to his own Factory. It is the pure Tincture of the Italian Juniper Berry, whose more vinous extract is distilled and rectified with its spirituous solvent, which thus becomes a concentrated tincture of exquisite flavor and aroma, altogether, transcendant in its cordial and medicinal properties to any alcoholic stimulant now made in the world. It is now prescribed by more than 5,000 physicians in the United States, in cases of Gravel, Gout, Dropsy, and Bladder and Kidney Complaints.

Put up in Quart and Pint Bottles, in cases of one dozen qts., and cases of two dozen pts., and for sale by all Druggists and Country Merchants.

UDOLPHO WOLFE,
Sole Manufacturer and Importer,
Depot 22 Beaver St., New York.

The Proprietor takes the liberty of referring to the following Physicians in the Eastern States, who have used the Schnapps in their practice:

Ayer's Pills

Are particularly adapted to derangements of the digestive apparatus, and cleansing for impurity of the blood. A large part of all the complaints that afflict mankind originate in one of these, and consequently these PILLS are found to cure many varieties of disease.

Subjoined are the statements from some eminent physicians, of their effects in their practice.

AS A FAMILY PHYSIC.

From Dr. E. W. Carhwright, of New Orleans.

"YOUR PILLS are the prince of purges. Their excellent qualities recommend them to my care. They are mild, but very certain and effectual in their action on the bowels, which makes them invaluable to us in the daily treatment of disease."

FOR JAUNDICE AND ALL LIVER COMPLAINTS.

From Dr. Theodore Bell, of New York City.

"Not only are your PILLS admirably adapted to their purpose as an aperient, but I find their beneficial effects upon the Liver very marked indeed. They have in my practice proved a most efficacious remedy for the cure of bilious complaints than any one remedy I can mention. I sincerely rejoice that we have at length a purgative which is worthy the confidence of the profession and the public."

DYSPEPSIA.—INDIGESTION.

From Dr. Henry J. Rose, of St. Louis.

"The PILLS you were kind enough to send me have been all used in my practice, and have satisfied me that they are truly an extraordinary medicine. I have never met any thing adapted to the disease of the human system, that they seem to work upon them alone. I have cured some cases of dyspepsia and indigestion with them, which had resisted the other remedies we commonly use. Indeed I have experimentally found them to be effectual in almost all the complaints for which you recommend them."

DYSENTERY — DIARRHŒA — RELAX.

From Dr. J. G. Comstock, of Chicago.

"Your PILLS have had a long trial in my practice, and I hold them in esteem as one of the best aperients I have ever found. Their alterative effect upon the liver makes them an excellent cathartic when given in small doses for bilious dysentery and diarrhœa. Their sugar-coating makes them very acceptable and convenient for the use of women and children."

INTERNAL OBSTRUCTION—WORMS—SUPPRESSION.

From Rev. E. Stuart, who practises as a Physician and Midwife in Boston.

"I find one or two large doses of your PILLS, taken at the proper time, are excellent promoters of the natural secretion when wholly or partially suppressed, and also very effectual to cleanse the stomach and expel worms. They are so much the best physic we have that I recommend no other to my patients."

CONSTIPATION — COSTIVENESS.

From Dr. J. P. Temple, Montreal, Canada.

"You much cannot be said of your PILLS for the cure of constipation, of which I have long been a victim. Unless I can be as efficacious as I have, they should join me in proclaiming it for the benefit of the multitudes who suffer from that complaint, which, although not dangerous, is a fruitful parentor of others that are worse. I believe costiveness to originate in the liver, but your PILLS affect that organ and cure the disease."

IMPURITIES OF THE BLOOD — SCROFULA — ERYSIPELAS — SALT RHEUM — TETTER — TUMORS — RHEUMATISM — GOUT — NEURALGIA.

From Dr. Enskill Bell, Philadelphia.

"You were right, Doctor, in saying that your PILLS purify the blood. They do that, I know, from the effect I have seen in my practice, and agree with your statements of their efficacy. They stimulate the excretories, and carry off the impurities that stagnate in the blood, compromising the health. They stimulate the functions of digestion, and infuse vitality and vigor into the system.

"Such remedies as you prepare are a national benefit, and you deserve great praise for preparing them."

FOR HEADACHE—SICK HEADACHE—FOUL STOMACH—PILES—DROPSY—PLETHORA—PARALYSIS—FITS—&c.

From Dr. Edward Boyd, Baltimore.

"DEAR DR. AYER: I cannot answer you what complaints I have cured with your PILLS, because I have hardly met one case that with a purgative medicine. I place great dependence on an effectual cathartic in my daily contest with disease, and believing as I do that your PILLS afford us the best one have, I of course value them highly."

☞ Most of the Pills in market contain Mercury, which, although a valuable remedy in skilful hands, is dangerous in a public pill, from the dreadful consequences that frequently follow its incautious use. These contain no mercury or mineral substance whatever.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral

Has long been manufactured by a practical chemist, and every ounce of it under his own eye, with invariable accuracy and care. It is sealed and protected by law from counterfeits, and consequently may be relied on as genuine, without adulteration. It supplies the purest remedy the world has ever known for the cure of all pulmonary complaints; for COUGHS, COLDS, WHOOPING COUGH, ASTHMA, CROUP, WHOOPING COUGH, BRONCHITIS, INCIPIENT CONSUMPTION, and for the relief of consumptive patients in advanced stages of the disease. As time makes these facts wider and better known, this medicine has proved its adaptedness to the cure of the afflicted, from the log cabin of the American peasant to the palaces of European kings. Throughout this entire country, in every state and city, and indeed almost every hamlet in christian Christendom, Cherry Pectoral is known as the best of all remedies for diseases of the throat and lungs. In many foreign countries it is extensively used by their most intelligent physicians. If there is any dependence on what men of every nation certify it has done for them; if we can trust our own senses when we see the dangerous affections of the lungs yield to it; if we can depend on the assurance of intelligent physicians, whose business it is to know; in short, if there is any reliance upon any thing, then is it irrefutably proven that this medicine does cure the class of disease it is designed for, beyond any and all other remedies known to mankind. Nothing but its intrinsic virtues, and the unmeasurable benefit conferred on thousands of sufferers, could originate and maintain the reputation it enjoys. While many inferior remedies have been thrust upon the community, have failed, and been discarded, this has gained friends by every trial, conferred benefits on the afflicted they can never forget, and produced cures too numerous and remarkable to be forgotten.

LOTTERIES.

THE Lotteries of Samuel Swan & Co. are chartered by the State of Georgia, and have sworn commissioners appointed to superintend their drawings, and certify that everything connected with the same is done in a strictly honorable manner. They offer to the public a fair opportunity for investment, the interests of parties at a distance being as well protected as if they were present. The Manager would respectfully call attention to the fact that all persons have a legal right to send orders for tickets to Georgia, as the lotteries of Samuel Swan & Co. are authorized by the Legislature of that State. A lottery will be drawn every Saturday throughout the year, all orders received being filled in the drawing next to take place after the same comes to hand. According to the scheme one ticket in every ten must draw a prize. Tickets are $10; halves, $5; quarters, $2.50. No tickets sent unless the money accompanies the order. The drawings are upon the principle of one number on each ticket, and are so simple that none can fail to understand them. There is no combination of numbers to mystify the buyer. Prizes vary from $40 to $70,000; every prize being drawn, and result of drawing forwarded to all purchasers.

Maryland State Lotteries.

R. FRANCE & CO.....MANAGERS.

CAUTION NOTICE.

PERSONS living at a distance should be extremely careful in ordering their Lottery Tickets or Certificates of Packages of Tickets.—The country is flooded with bogus and swindling schemes, and unprincipled persons are held out to get persons to invest money in them. Capital Prizes of from $20,000 to $40,000 head their schemes—with tickets at One Dollar. $100,000 capital prizes are advertised for $1. Such schemes, for instance, are frauds; and if money is sent to them for tickets, it is as much thrown away without the shadow of a chance of getting a prize. In all of all Lotteries where the Capital Prize is unusually large in comparison to the price of tickets—In every instance where large prizes are offered for a small cost of tickets, put it down as a certain fraud.

The Kentucky State Lottery for the benefit of the Shelby College, is a Kentucky Lottery—is not only Lottery in the United States which is legally decided by the Maryland Drawings; all other Lotteries which purport to be decided by the Maryland Drawings, are frauds.

THE MARYLAND STATE LOTTERIES.

Purchase in the Maryland State Lotteries, then you are sure of being right. And in ordering for the Maryland Lotteries, you are sure of fair and honest drawings.

One thing look to, and that is, if you order from any licensed vender in Baltimore, do not receive any but Managers' Tickets and Managers' Printed Certificates of Packages. The Managers' Certificates have the numbers of the tickets, have the lithographic signature of R. France & Co.

No one has a right to send his individual certificates, if he does, he does so in a fraud at the bottom of it.

IMMORTELLES.

THE BROAD ROAD.

The road to Heaven is broader than the world
And deeper than the kingdoms of the dead;
And up its ample paths the Nations tread,
With all their banners furled;
No saint nor angel sits beside its gate,
Holding the key within his griping hands;
The loving gate of Heaven wide open stands,
Not to be closed again by earthly hate;
And evermore, with all their grief and sin,
The souls keep pouring in,
Singing melodious psalms,
While angels pitch their tents beneath the heavenly palms. —[Stoddard.

CALMNESS.

Calmness is great advantage; he that lets
Another chafe, may warm him at his fire;
Mark all his wanderings and enjoy his frets;
As cunning fencers suffer heat to tire.
Truth dwells not in the clouds; the bow that's there
Doth often aim at, never hit the sphere.
—[George Herbert.

POLITICIANS.

They'll sit by the fire, and presume to know
What's done in the Capitol; who's like to rise,
Who thrives, and who declines; side factions, and give out
Conjectural marriages: making parties strong,
And feebling such as stand not in their liking,
Below their cobbled shoes. —[Shakspeare.

DAYBREAK.

How suddenly that straight and glittering shaft
Shot thwart the earth!—in crown of living fire
Up comes the Day!—as if they conscious quaffed
The sunny flood, hill, forest, city, spire,
Laugh in the wakening light.—Go, vain Desire!
The dusky lights have gone; go thou thy way!
And pining Discontent, like them, expire!
Be called my chamber, Peace, when ends the day;
And let me with the dawn, like Pilgrim, sing and pray! —[Dana.

"SPEAKING OUT IN MEETING."—Among the numerous novel incidents of the present revival movement that we have heard, are two instances of "speaking out in meeting." In one of the liberal churches, on Fast Day, while the preacher was reading some extracts from a recent revival discourse in New York, one of the audience cried out "Shame!" This protest against the doctrine of the New York preacher created quite a sensation.

In a Trinitarian church in Boston, recently, where the pastor asserted that men of learning and culture had always held the views of endless future punishment, he was then enforcing some person in the gallery cried out "Disputed!" and thereby distracted the attention of the audience.—Transcript.

POPULATION OF MALDEN.—Our correspondent keeps us pretty well posted up concerning things in Malden, but we have obtained an item from a new source which it may be well for the census people to "make a note of." The occupants of one room are enumerated to us as follows, and we think the arrangement cannot be beaten in any other section of the country: Number of persons seven, viz., a man and his wife, three children and two boarders; a rooster and four hens; a drake and three ducks; four geese; one young pig; one calf nine months old; one sheep and a lamb; three dogs and two cats. The statement is made on the authority of an eye witness, and if any town in the State can beat Malden in this particular, we should like to hear from it.—Bunker Hill Aurora.

Emerson, in his lecture on Memory, says that it used to be a custom, in establishing boundaries between towns, in order to make boys remember the lines, to whip them on the site. We recollect very well having been whipped on a similar purpose, (to quicken our memory) but it is our impression that it was somewhere else than "on the site." We always thought such a custom was just as bad "in the breach, as in the observance."—Biddeford Gaz.

CLEVER TRANSLATION.—The same stupid Frenchman who translated Byron into prose, upon being told that "Brown Stout" was made from malt, exclaimed, quite rejoiced at the cleverness of his discovery: "Oh! I see, you speak of Malte Brun."

PLACE WHERE MEN SHOULD DIE.

How little recks it where men die,
When once the moment's past,
In which the dim and glazing eye
Has looked on earth its last;
Whether beneath its sculptured urn
The coffined form shall rest,
Or, in its nakedness return
Back to its mother's breast.

Death is a common friend or foe,
As different men may hold;
And at its summons each must go—
The timid and the bold!
But when the spirit, free and warm,
Deserts it, as it must,
What matters where the lifeless form
Dissolves again to dust?

The soldier falls, 'mid corses piled
Upon the battle plain,
Where reinless war steeds gallop wild
Among the mangled slain:
But though his corse be grim to see,
Hoof-trampled on the sod,
What recks it when the spirit free
Has soared aloft to God?

The coward's dying eye may close
Upon his downy bed,
And softest hands his limbs compose
On garments o'er him spread.
But yo who shun the bloody tray,
Where fell the mangled brave,
Go—strip his coffin-lid away,
And see him—in his grave.

There, sweet, indeed, to close our eyes
With those we cherish near,
And wafted upward, by their sighs,
Soar to some calmer sphere;
But, whether on the scaffold high,
Or in the battle's van,
The fittest place where man can die
Is where he dies for man.

"VENGEANCE AGAINST THE SEPOYS."—It is under this caption that the Richmond South, lamenting the defeat of Lecompton in the House, calls loudly for vengeance against the authors of its woes. The South says:

"The mark is upon his brow, and henceforth Douglas, the fratricide, will be avoided as an object of universal contempt and indignation. The Democracy of the North will not tolerate his presence. They will banish him from the party, and compel him to seek the association of Abolitionists, by whom he will be complimented as a recruit, and distrusted as a traitor. To satiate of revenge against the followers of Douglas, we believe the Democracy of the North will be impelled by their own instincts of justice. But if that motion fail, they may as well understand at once that the Democracy of the South are resolved to sever all connexion, with the associates of Douglas and his fellow apostates. Southern Democrats have simply to choose between an alliance with the South and a federation of the Illinois ingrate."

LUCK.—A week or two ago a Cincinnati printer visited the theater and found a pocket book containing $250. Rich beyond all expectation, he "put a sub on," opens what money he had of his own, inferred several little debts, and then concluded to break in upon his treasure by purchasing a new hat. He entered a hat store, bought one of the latest style, and tendered one of the $5 notes in payment. It was pronounced a counterfeit, and so, in turn, every note of his $250 found treasure! He has gone to work again, saying that being a printer he should have known that the bills were worthless.

DISREPUTABLE HOUSES BROKEN UP.—A mob assembled in Peoria, Illinois, on Sunday 18th, and proceeded to demolish several houses of ill-fame and drive their inmates into the streets, and no effort was made by the police authorities to quell the disturbance. The mob first proceeded to a house kept by a person named Cleveland, where, after breaking the windows and doors, a fire engine was brought, and the house flooded with water. This drove out the inmates. The mob then entered, carried out the furniture, embracing sofas, chairs, (of which there were two very costly ones,) chairs, trunks, bedding and every available article, and piling it up, set fire to it and burned it to ashes. The house was completely riddled and sacked, and the property destroyed in this single instance was not less than $5000. Eight or ten other houses were treated in a similar manner, regardless of the remonstrances of the owners, who, in some instances, had let them without knowing the character of their tenants. The work of destruction was continued on Sunday night and Monday, and, although by the Mayor's orders, a military company was in reserve, such was the character of the mob and those who countenanced the proceedings, that no opposition to the destruction was made.

On Wednesday, the 21st, Hiram Jackson, Esq., one of the most respected citizens of Peoria, finding that he had unknowingly rented a house on Hamilton street, to a woman of ill repute, proceeded to it, in order to induce her to leave, and while there conversing with the woman, was assaulted and dangerously stabbed by a man named Samuel Tate, who came in while they were talking, to enjoy the hospitalities of the house.

THE OCEAN TELEGRAPH.—The ships are rapidly preparing to make another attempt to lay the cable. Dispatches dated 9th inst., have been received at the Navy Department, from Capt. Hudson, in command of the steam frigate Niagara. 470 miles of the telegraph cable had been coiled in the Niagara and Agamemnon. Each will carry 1400 miles. The Newburyport Herald says:—

It has been thought that the Leviathan steamer might succeed in laying the telegraph, when smaller vessels would fail.—She would have the advantage of taking the entire cable along, and from her great size would be less liable to break the wire in rough weather. It may be that Providence has ordered her for that special purpose, for nobody can conceive what else she is good for.

☞ There are 1500 miles of railroad in Massachusetts, that have cost $54,000,000.—They probably would not bring one half the cost to-day, but the State is worth four times that amount more than it would be without them.

Punch says it requires an early start, now-a-days, for a man to get around his wife.

Coggswell's Medical Salt,
A PERFECT SUBSTITUTE
FOR THE
LANCET, LEECHES AND BLISTERS.
INSTEAD of being a panacea for all maladies, it has control over but ONE MALADY—has but ONE AIM—accomplishes but ONE THING, to wit: supplies NATURE'S DEFICIENCY—whatever be its form or locality—whether in the head, throat, chest, abdomen, extremities or skin. Every form of inflammation (or no other disease) is subdued, by it as easily as fire is extinguished by water. Is it asked, how it does this?—simply by restoring the lost balance between the fluids and solids. Such is its potency, that like vaccine matter, it requires merely what adheres to the point of a quill dipped into a solution of it, to affect the entire system.

The officers of Fort Wardens were filled in Convention, (the former election by the Board of Aldermen being illegal,) and Nath'l R. Folsom, John N. Frost and Nathan Godfrey were chosen.

A communication was received from Hon. Daniel Marcy, suggesting that an invitation be extended to Amin Bey, Rear Admiral of the Turkian Navy, and suite, to visit this city for the purpose of examining the vessels at the Navy Yard at this port, was referred to a special committee, consisting of the Mayor, and Ald. Walden, Odiorne and Webster.

A petition of C. S. Toppan and others, asking that a bell be put on the North Church, weighing not less than 2000 lbs. at the expense of the city, was received. The petition of the wardens of the North Church, respecting a bill, was taken from the table, and was with the petition referred to a special committee—Aldermen Marden, Kenney and Treadwell.

The committee on streets reported on the petition to have Dover street accepted by the city, that the same be granted, provided the rise of land at the entry of said street be taken down, and the boundaries be furnished the city—adopted.

The same committee reported on the application for widening Water street, that the Messrs. Russell would move their building back for $200, and the Melcher building for $100. Report laid on the table.

The committee to whom was referred the first remonstrance in relation to the Aldermen from Ward 1, requested to be discharged, "the said remonstrants having declined to bring forward any reasons in support of the petition."

PORTSMOUTH CUSTOM HOUSE.—The amount of customs collected last year was $4,600. Expense of collecting $10,978. Expense above income $6,378. So says an exchange paper.

APRIL SNOW STORMS.—On Sunday evening, a snow storm commenced and notwithstanding the rapid melting as it fell, before morning the houses were well covered. All traces of snow, however, soon disappeared.

On Tuesday, about two o'clock, another northeast snow-storm commenced, which would have done honor to winter. The snow fell thick and fast during the day and far into the night, but, melting quickly, did not make much impression, until evening, when every thing bore a decidedly wintertrik aspect; but little remained a few hours after sunrise.

MAY FESTIVAL—AT JEFFERSON HALL.

The Ladies of the Universalist Society will hold a May Festival on Tuesday evening next, at which there will be a variety of entertainments to give interest to the occasion. Among them there will be the Coronation of the May Queen. The Tables will be furnished with Refreshments and Fancy Articles, and Music will be provided for the occasion.

The details of other matters of interest will be displayed to all who attend. Tickets 15 cents.—Doors open at 7 o'clock.

Rev. Mr. Hitchcock, of Hartford, Ct. has received a unanimous call to become Rector of St. John's Church in this city, at a salary of $1250. He accepts, and will enter upon the duties of his rectorship on the second Sabbath in May. His ordination has taken place in Connecticut the past week.

Rev. Dr. Burroughs, who resigned his position last year, was inducted Rector on the 21st of May, 1812.

THE WAY OF THE TRANSGRESSOR IS HARD. Four years ago Loren S. Clough, alias James L. Smith, escaped from the State Prison at Charlestown, where he was serving out a two years' sentence for forgery. He then went to Manchester, N. H. and stole a horse and buggy, which he took to Maine and disposed of; where he stole another horse, was caught, and sentenced to the State Prison at Augusta. His term expires the present week, when he will be brought to Charlestown to serve out the remainder of his term; after which the Manchester authorities will take him in charge.

The Hudson's Bay Company have been very unsuccessful in their sales of furs this year. At the monthly sale held in London about the first of March, prices for all sorts were unsatisfactory, entailing heavy losses.

Capt. David P. Penhallow, who has been absent from this city to the Sandwich Islands for the last sixteen years, has returned by the last steamer.

ALWAYS FASHIONABLE.—Among the many constant changes which are taking place in the wearing apparel of the ladies, there are two articles which always remain in fashion. We refer to Plain Black Silks and Cashmere or Broche Shawls. It is therefore an object to get the best of either of these articles when purchasing. We notice in a new stock of goods opening this week at the store of Messrs. Allen & Paine, a large assortment of the best makes FULL BOILED BLACK SILKS, a kind that will NOT crack or break, and an invoice of sixty CASHMERE SHAWLS, free from any mixture of cotton; fresh goods imported this spring, which they have bought at a large discount from regular prices, and will sell very cheap.—Com.

FRANKLIN AND PAINE.

BROOKLYN, N. Y., April 28.

Messrs. Editors:—I feel that it is due to truth and justice to respond to an article which I regret to say appeared in your paper of the 24th, under the head of "Franklin's letter to Paine," a document which first* made its appearance in the columns of the Puritan Recorder, a few weeks since, preceded by a short note from an anonymous source.

I am not one of the followers of Paine, or any other apostle of infidelity; but being an earnest advocate of the principle "fair play's a jewel," I consider it a duty incumbent on one possessed of the true facts, to assert, on the authority of simple historical record, that the letter purporting to be from the pen of Franklin is a fabrication, or at least a fraud as far as it pretends to relate to the work called the Age of Reason.

Every school boy is familiar with the fact that Franklin died on the 17th of April, 1790. The four biographers of Paine all agree that he commenced the Age of Reason in the year 1793; the first part was not finished till March, 1794, on the day preceding his arrest by the minions of Robespierre. On his way to the Luxembourg prison, he contrived to slip the manuscript just completed into the hands of his friend, Joel Barlow. This occurred nearly four years subsequent to the death of Franklin, and was the first separation of the writing from the author.

This I consider sufficient evidence to prove to any rational mind that if the letter referred to was the production of Franklin, it had no relation to the Age of Reason. The plain truth cannot injure any good cause, and a falsehood often depreciates it, by augmenting the enmity of its opponents.

R. N. C.

*Not the first appearance by any means. Uncle Toby set it up from one newspaper for another, at least 40 years ago. This fact, however, does not prove it genuine; it only shows it to be old.

BAPTISM.—The Free St. Baptist Church, in Portland, was completely filled Wednesday afternoon, on the occasion of the administration of the ordinance of baptism by immersion, by Rev. Henry D. Moore, of Union Church. The services were commenced by the congregational singing of "All hail the power of Jesus' name," followed by prayer, singing, and a short discourse, after which the ordinance of baptism was administered to four persons (two ladies and two gentlemen) in the baptistery, beneath the pulpit.

OLD SOUTH CHAPEL, BOSTON.—On Wednesday, as we learn from the Traveller, the Business Men's Prayer Meeting at the old South Chapel, at 12 o'clock, was conducted by Thos. J. Marsh. A gentleman from Plymouth said that the united prayer-meeting in that town had been held in the Unitarian and Universalist Churches as well as in others. One or two persons had been converted among the Unitarians.—Two or three mornings ago, the Unitarian clergymen endorsed fully the revival of religion. The Universalist ministers also took an active part in the meetings. Orthodox people found they could pray as well, and talk to sinners as well in a Universalist Church as in any other. This announcement was followed by some stirring and interesting remarks relating to Christian union.

It was not proposed to forsake the truth or renounce denominational preferences, but to unite in prayer meetings and in saving souls. At the close of these remarks, an aged man struck up the verse, "Amen, Amen, my soul replies," and afterwards addressed the audience in a most touching manner, upon his own experience, upon christian union, and upon the value of religion to every man. The meeting was one of great interest.

The interest in these meetings keeps up without any abatement. The opinion is expressed that the revival is quite as deep in the city as heretofore and some think it is more powerful and interesting than at any previous time for the last few weeks.

THE LOTTERY SHERIFS AT NEW YORK.—It is said that the amount found in the letters addressed to the bogus lottery concerns in New York, exceeds $30,000.—These were lotteries that were not drawn, being wholly impositions; and the money sent from all parts of the country shows how easily the eagerness for the acquisition of unearned wealth can deceive men who are ordinarily shrewd on general matters. These bogus lottery dealers load down the mails with their circulars, and their victims are in every part of the country.

☞ In Congress, on Thursday, both houses spent most of the day in debating and manœuvring on the English edition of the Swindle.

In the House, Mr. Cox, after speaking in favor of the bill, moved the previous question, which was negatived,—103 against 108.

Mr. Marshall of Kentucky, took the floor.

Mr. Campbell of Ohio moved a call of the House—refused, 90 against 119.

The question was then stated to be on seconding the demand for the previous question.

Mr. Marshall of Ky. again attempted unsuccessfully to speak, asking that the demand be withdrawn, as he wished to say a few words.

Mr. Garnett of Va. inquired whether, if the demand was voted down, it would be in order for him to move the the postponement of the subject till a week from Tuesday next.

The Speaker replied in the affirmative.

The demand for the previous question was put, and negatived—103 against 108.

Mr. Marshall of Ky. got the floor. He rose for the first time since the subject of Kansas was introduced, to open his mouth in relation to it. The report was the original fruit of the Kansas Nebraska bill. What a spectacle is presented to the American people, when their Representatives are engaged on a measure, the authors of which do not and cannot understand the meaning whether or not to submit the Lecompton Constitution. One of the managers (Stephens) yesterday emphatically declared the principle of non-submission, while another (English) maintained the Constitution is submitted.

Mr. Giddings of Ohio said he was about the last to agree to the Crittenden-Montgomery amendment, and he assured gentlemen that his only inducement to go for it was that he understood that every gentleman belonging to the Douglas wing of the Democracy stood pledged to his coworkers to stand by them to the last.

When Mr. Giddings finished, he was seized with a fainting fit and was conducted from the hall, but soon afterwards returned and took his seat apparently recovered.

Mr. Hughes of Indiana, demanded the previous question—not seconded—99 against 105.

Mr. Garnett of Virginia moved that the further consideration of the subject be postponed til the second Tuesday in May.

Mr. Jones of Tennessee, was tired of this mode of proceeding, and, with a view to bring up the question directly, moved to lay the report on the table, as a test question.

The motion was disagreed to, 101 against 113.

Mr. Jones said the vote just taken showed that the majority were not against the bill, and moved the previous question, which the House refused to second—103 against 107.

Mr. Garnett now wanted a vote taken on his motion to postpone till the second Tuesday fn May.

Cries from the Republican side 'Agreed.'

M. Phillips of Pa., thought the gentlemen could better accomplish their purpose before they leave. Further delay in acting on the question would only obstruct the public business, and divide the friends of the bill. He moved the previous question.

Not seconded—103 against 110.

Mr. Garnett withdrew his motion, and wished the House to come to an understanding. Let the debate progress to-day, and take the vote to-morrow.

Mr. Quitman of Miss. opposed this measure because it contained a concession on the slavery question, which he, as a Southern man, was not prepared to make. He desired the issue to be brought to a final termination between the North and South. If they cannot do that they ought to separate; besides, he regarded the act of the people of Kansas as complete and binding, and was against the bill, because it proposed to submit the Lecompton Constitution to the people.

On motion of Letcher of Va. the House, by 122 against 82, adjourned.

THE ENGLISH COMPROMISE.—The beauties of the English compromise are being developed gradually. Under the Montgomery bill the Governor and Secretary of the Territory, and the President of the Council and Speaker of the House of Representatives (the two latter only owing their election to the people) were made a board of commissioners to carry out the act of Congress, to make the arrangements for voting upon the constitution, and to determine and announce the result. Mr. English has quietly added to these officers the United States District Attorney, thus placing in the board of commissioners a majority of federal officers, creatures of the administration, with full powers to take any measures needed to secure a nominal adoption of the Lecompton Constitution.

FROM WASHINGTON.—Washington, April 29.—Although in the House to-day Mr. Jones, of Tennessee, moved to lay the report of the Conference Committee on the Kansas bill on the table as a test question, all the members did not so regard it, as some of the known enemies of the report voted in the negative.

The Conference Committee on the disagreeing votes on the Deficiency Appropriation bill consists of Messrs. Toombs, Biggs, and Fessenden on the part of the Senate, and Messrs. Letcher, Maclay, and Nichols, on the part of the House.

A dispatch to the Traveller, at half-past 3 Friday afternoon, states that English's bill was passed in the House, by 112 to 103—after much excitement.

MEETINGS.

Union Prayer Meeting in the Vestry of the Temple, from 8 to 9 o'clock this morning, to which all are invited.—On Sunday morning, at 8 1-2, in the Middle Street Church—during the next week in Middle Street Chapel.

Rev. E. Burnham will preach in the Temple, Sunday, May 2d, all day and evening.

Prayer Meeting in the Methodist Church on Sunday evening at 7 o'clock.

The Monthly Concert of Prayer for Foreign Missions will be held in the brick Vestry on Fleet Street, at 7 o'clock on Sunday evening.

The Monthly Missionary Concert will be held at the Middle St. Chapel, at 7 o'clock on Sunday evening.

☞ J. Couch will preach at the Hanover Street Chapel to-morrow.

☞ Rev. Mr. Patterson will by request repeat the Sermon preached last Sunday morning, from John 3, 20–21 in the Universalist Church, to-morrow evening. Services to commence at 7 1-2.

☞ The article in the Chronicle on "the 'Union,' Prayer Meetings," a couple of weeks ago, excited great interest at home and abroad. Although we printed a large number of extra copies of our Daily paper; and twelve hundred copies of the article were circulated by interested parties—yet we have been obliged to refuse repeated solicitations for copies of it—both from citizens, and strangers who sent to us by mail and otherwise.

The only way to be sure of getting the Chronicle, is to subscribe for it. We take no pains to supply transient callers for it. If a man don't care enough for the paper to pay $4 a year for it, we don't care enough about him to sell him a paper for two cents, just at the very time when it is worth six.

☞ Snarleyow prophesied, three or four years ago, that the Daily Chronicle would "soon die out"—afterwards that the Daily and Weekly would "eat each other up"—and now he says the paper is without interest. Wonder if he will succeed in making himself believe the first statements—or our readers credit the last? Lo! man, there's a "difference in opinions," that's all; and we don't print a paper to suit you. F.

☞ The Rockingham Weekly Chronicle, containing a summary of the news of the week, this day published, and for sale at the Chronicle Counting Room, price 3 cts. each. $1 per year, in advance.

New Haven, April 29.—The evidence for Government in the Tuckerman case, this afternoon, is very strong against him. It is proved beyond a shadow of doubt that the robberies were committed in this State. This settles the question of jurisdiction, and takes away the only chance for him. It is reported now that no defence will be attempted; if so, the case will be terminated to-morrow.

Tuckerman Condemned.—By the Traveller's report from New Haven it appears that Tuckerman, by the advice of his leading counsel, Hon. E. K. Foster, at the opening of the Court, on Friday morning, announced his intention no further to contend against the overwhelming evidence which had been brought against him. In this state of the case, under the instruction of the Court, the jury brought in a verdict of guilty upon four counts of the indictment, but sentence was postponed to next week. It cannot be less than ten years and may be forty years imprisonment. The prisoner, it is said, appeared much dejected. His wife has remained near him during the entire trial.—Too good a wife for such a scoundrel.

Lager Beer in Salem.—The city authorities of Salem have commenced prosecution, under the liquor law, against the lager beer saloon in that city. Several girls who attended it were, on Thursday, fined $10 and costs and sentenced to be imprisoned twenty days in the House of Correction, for violations of the law. They appealed, but not finding sureties were committed to jail. The proprietors will also be prosecuted.

☞ John Clark and John H. Knox have been sentenced to the Maine State Prison for one year, for breaking open the Eliot Depot and stealing therefrom. And Hiram Manson and Alonzo Brown were sent to jail for 30 days for aiding in the same transaction. All the four plead guilty, under the advice of their counsel, S. B. Allen, Esq.—and they received light sentences, on account of their youth.

☞ At the Supreme Court, at Alfred, Me., five young men were admitted to the bar, among whom was John Howard Cutts of Kittery.

Mirth a Medicine.—I know of nothing equal to a cheerful and even mirthful conversation, for restoring the tone of mind and body, when both have been overdone. Some great and good men, on whom very heavy [illegible] and toils have been laid, manifest a constitutional tendency to relax into mirth when their work is over. Narrow minds denounce the incongruity; large hearts own God's goodness in the fact, and rejoice in the wise provision made for prolonging useful lives. Mirth after exhaustive toil, is nature's instinctive effort to heal the part which has been racked or bruised. You cannot too sternly reprobate a frivolous life; but if the life be earnest for God or man, with here and there a layer of mirthfulness protruding, a soft bedding to receive heavy cares which otherwise would crush the spirit, then to snarl against the sports of mirth, may be the easy and useless occupation of a small man, who cannot take in at one view the whole circumference of a large one.—Arnot's Illustrations of Proverbs.

"Omnibus quae posunt sequimur," or "we labor for the good of all," is the inscription on one of the chime of bells given by Dr. J. C. Ayer, & Co. to the city of Lowell. That favored place may have the bells, but they cannot monopolize the Doctor's skill which is made available by his Cherry Pactoral and Cathartic Pills to all alike—not only in this country but in all countries where civilization and commerce have gone. While we admire the liberality and taste of those gentlemen in such a donation to their native town, we will remind our readers of the hallowing influence a chime of bells spreads over the whole community, that hears them. They are few in this country, and their influence is little known, but ask the exile from his home in Germany, France, England, whether the chime on Trinity Church does not make his heart leap into his mouth and his eyes swim with recollection it brings of the solemn notes his childhood, his boyhood, aye and his manhood loved to hear at the soft approach of evening in his native land.

We wish our generous townsmen whom God has blessed with means would consider whether we too cannot add this one more attraction to make our children and ourselves love dearer and stronger and longer the place we call our home.—Madison, Ind. Banner.

Almost everybody has heard of "Wood's Hair Restorative." That the word "Restorative," in this case, is no misnomer, we have the testimonny of individuals whose elevated position in the country, as their acknowledged and honorable character as gentlemen, render whatever they publicly assert in the last degree reliable. Several of these have tested, personally, the hair preparation we are now speaking of, and certify to its amazing efficacy, in the most public manor possible. Their certificates can be seen at the proprietor's Depot, 312 Broadway, New York, and once seen and properly appreciated, we have no hesitation in saying they will impress conviction on the most skeptical mind. Wood's Hair Restorative is, doubtless, the best article of its kind ever yet produced.

It does not dye but gives life, health and beauty to the decaying, falling and dead, restoring as if by magic, that which was supposed to be irrecoverably lost. Heads nearly bald, and others nearly white are daily being changed to their pristine beauty, and faces covered with pimples are rendered as smooth as an infant's, and as blushing as a rose, all by the use of Prof. Wood's Hair Restorative.—Chicago Times. Sold by all Druggists.

Fine Ready Made Clothing.—Our readers will find an extra stock of ready made clothing, made of the best stock, and in the latest style, at the store of J. W. Smith & Co., corner of Elm street and Dock Square, Boston. See their advertisement in another column.

A widow lady at Cincinnati, who owns a lot within the cemetery, wherein lie her husband and two children, was recently detected in robbing the lot of another widow lady, of valuable plants, and transferring them to her own. She was fined $5.

AS A SPRING MEDICINE

MYERS' EXTRACT ROCK ROSE is invaluable. It changes the viscid humors, opens the pores of the skin, promotes insensible perspiration, thereby purifying the blood and invigorating the system. A free use of this medicine, in the spring months, will not only cure all diseases caused by impurities of the blood, but will beget a healthy action and prepare the system to resist the attacks of fevers, derangement of the bowels, &c, so prevalent in the summer season

Wolfe's Celebrated Scheidam Aromatic SCHNAPPS.

This medicinal beverage is manufactured by the proprietor, at Scheidam, Holland, expressly for medicinal use, by a process peculiar to his own Factory. It is the pure Tincture of the Italian Juniper Berry, whose more vinous extract is distilled and rectified with its spirituous solvent, which thus becomes a concentrated tincture of exquisite flavor and aroma, altogether, transcendant in its cordial and medicinal properties to any alcoholic stimulant now made in the world. It is now prescribed by more than 5,000 physicians in the United States, in cases of Gravel, Gout, Dropsy, and Bladder and Kidney Complaints.

Put up in Quart and Pint Bottles, in cases of one dozen qts., and cases of two dozen pts., and for sale by all Druggists and Country Merchants.

Ayer's Pills

Are particularly adapted to derangements of the digestive apparatus, and diseases arising from impurity of the blood. A large part of all the complaints that afflict humankind originate in one of these, and consequently these Pills are found to cure many variables of illness.

Subjoined are the statements from some eminent physicians, of their effects in their practice:

AS A FAMILY PHYSIC.

From Dr. E. W. Carbright, of New Orleans.

"YOUR PILLS are the prince of purges. Their excellent qualities commend themselves to all who appreciate a mild, but very certain and effectual in their action on the bowels, which makes them invaluable to us in the daily treatment of disease."

FOR JAUNDICE AND ALL LIVER COMPLAINTS.

From Dr. Theodore Dell, of New York City.

"Not only are your Pills admirably adapted to their purpose as an aperient, but I find their beneficial effects upon the Liver very marked indeed. They have in my practice proved more effectual for the cure of bilious complaints than any one remedy I can mention. I sincerely regrets that we have at length a purgative which is worthy the confidence of the profession."

DYSPEPSIA — INDIGESTION.

From Dr. Henry J. Knox, of St. Louis.

"The Pills you were kind enough to send me have been all used in my practice, and have satisfied me that they are truly an excellent cathartic. It is peculiarly your Pills adapted to the disease of the human system, that they seem to work upon them alone. I have cured some cases of dyspepsia and liver complaint with your Pills, which baffled the other remedies we commonly use. Indeed I have experimentally found them to be effectual in almost all the complaints for which you recommend them."

DYSENTERY — DIARRHŒA — RELAX.

From Dr. Fitzgerald, of Chicago.

"YOUR PILLS have had a long trial in my practice, and I hold them in esteem as one of the best aperients I have ever found. Their alterative effect upon the liver makes them an excellent remedy, when given in small doses, for bilious dysentery and diarrhœa. Their sugar-coating makes them very acceptable and convenient for the use of women and children."

INTERNAL OBSTRUCTION—WORMS—SUPPRESSION.

From Mrs. R. Stuart, who practices as a Physician and Midwife in Boston.

"I find one or two large doses of your PILLS, taken at the proper time, will relieve my patients from all uneasiness, when wholly or partially suppressed, and also very effectual in cleanse the stomach and expel worms. They are so much the best physic we have that I recommend no other to my patients."

CONSTIPATION — COSTIVENESS.

From Dr. J. P. Vaughn, Montreal, Canada.

"Too much cannot be said of your PILLS for the cure of costiveness. I find them to act more mildly and yet more effectively than any other cathartic I know. I and them as efficacious as I have, they should join me in proclaiming it for the benefit of the multitudes who suffer from that complaint, which, although not thought so much of, is the prolific parent of other that it worse. I believe costiveness originate in the liver, but your PILLS affect that organ and cure the disease."

IMPURITIES OF THE BLOOD — SCROFULA — ERYSIPELAS — SALT RHEUM — TETTER — TUMORS — RHEUMATISM — GOUT — NEURALGIA.

From Dr. Rudolf Bell, Philadelphia.

"You were right, Doctor, in saying that your PILLS purify the blood. They do that. I have cured many persons of long standing, and with your statements of their efficacy. They stimulate the excretories, and carry off the impurities that stagnate in the blood, engendering disease. They stimulate the organs of digestion, and infuse vitality and vigor into the system.

"Such remedies as you prepare are a national benefit, and you deserve great credit for them."

FOR HEADACHE—SICK HEADACHE—FOUL STOMACH—PILES—DROPSY—PLETHORA—PARALYSIS—FITS—&c.

From Dr. Edward Segal, Baltimore.

"DEAR DR. AYER: I cannot answer you other complaints I have cured with your PILLS, but I can say all that are ever treat with a purgative medicine. I place great dependence on an efficient cathartic in my daily conflict with disease, and believing as I do that your PILLS afford us the best we have, I of course value them highly."

☞ Most of the Pills in market contain Mercury, which, although a valuable remedy in skilful hands, is dangerous in a public pill, from the dreadful consequences that frequently follow its incautious use. These contain no mercury or mineral substance whatever.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral

Has long been manufactured by a practical chemist, and every ounce of it under his own eye, with invariable accuracy and care. It is sealed and protected by law from counterfeits, and consequently can be relied on as genuine, without adulteration. It supplies the surest remedy the world has ever known for the cure of all pulmonary complaints, for COUGHS, COLDS, HOARSENESS, ASTHMA, CROUP, WHOOPING COUGH, BRONCHITIS, INFLUENZA, and even for the relief of consumptive patients in advanced stages of the disease. As time makes these facts wider and better known, this medicine has gradually fixed its base relliance of the afflicted, from the lofty cabin of the Mississippi steamer to the palaces of European kings. Throughout this entire country, in every state and city, and indeed almost every hamlet it contains, CHERRY PECTORAL is known as the best of all remedies for diseases of the throat and lungs. In many foreign countries it is extensively used by their most intelligent physicians. If there is any dependence on what men of every clime certify to have done for them; if we can trust our own senses when we see the dangerous affections of the lungs yield to it; if we can depend on the assurance of intelligent physicians, whose business is to know its effects, if there is any reliance upon any thing, then is it irrefutably proven that this medicine does cure the class of diseases it is designed for, beyond any and all other remedies known to mankind. Nothing but its intrinsic virtues, and the unmistakable benefit conferred on thousands of sufferers, could originate and maintain the reputation it enjoys. While many inferior remedies have been thrust upon the community, have failed, and been discarded, this has gained friends by every trial, conferred benefits on the afflicted they can never forget, and produced cures too numerous and remarkable to be forgotten.

—MANUFACTURERS OF—

Melodeons, Organ Melodeons,

PEDAL BASS MELODEONS,

No. 511 Washington St., Boston,

The first premium over all competitors, at the Fair of the Mass. Charitable Mechanic Association, of the National Fair, Washington, D. C., also at the Ohio State Fair, held at Columbus, Ohio, was awarded to these Manufacturers.

By means of a new method of voicing, known only to themselves, they have succeeded in removing the harsh and buzzing sound which formerly characterized the instrument, and rendering the tones full, clear and organ like. The action is prompt and reliable, enabling the performer to execute the most rapid music without blurring the tones. The swell is arranged to give great expression.

THE PEDAL BASS MELODEONS,

Are designed particularly for Churches, Lodges, Halls, &c. It is arranged with two manuals, or banks of Keys, the lower set running an octave higher than the other, and may be used separately, and thus get in one case two distinct instruments; or by use of the coupler, the two may be played at the same time by one of the front set only. This connected with the Pedal Bass, will produce the effect of a large organ, and is sufficiently heavy to fill a house holding from 1500 to 2000 persons.

THE ORGAN MELODEON

Is designed for parlor and private use. The construction is similar to the Church Instrument, being arranged with two banks of Keys, and when used together, by means of the coupler, is capable of a great volume of power as the Church Instrument when used without the pedals. Also, every variety of MELODEONS for Parlor use.

Purchasers may rely upon instruments from our Manufactory, being made in the most complete and thorough manner. Having removed to the spacious buildings

511 Washington Street.

We have every facility for manufacturing purposes, and employ none but the most experienced and skilful workmen. In short, we will promise our customers an Instrument equal, if not superior, to any Manufactory, and guarantee an entire and perfect satisfaction.

Music Teachers, Leaders of Choirs, and others interested in Musical matters, are respectfully invited to visit our Rooms at any time and examine or test the instruments on exhibition for sale at their pleasure.

As a still further guarantee to the public as to the excellence of the MELODEONS from our Manufactory, we beg leave to refer, by permission, to the following:

Piano Forte Manufacturers of Boston, who have examined our Instruments, and will give their opinion when called upon:

Orders from any part of the country or world, sent direct to the manufactory in Boston, with cash, or satisfactory references, will be promptly attended to, and as faithfully executed as if the parties were present, or employed an agent to select, and on as reasonable terms.

More than 500,000 Bottles

SOLD IN THE

NEW ENGLAND STATES

IN ONE YEAR.

THE RESTORATIVE OF Prof. O. J. WOOD for restoring hair perfectly and permanently, has never yet had a rival. Volumes after volumes might be given from all parts of the world and from the highest and most exalted ranks of life of perfect Restoration; but read the circular and you cannot doubt; read also the following.

THE HAIR.—People have for centuries been afflicted with bald heads, and the only remedy, heretofore known, has been those abominable wigs. Art is now superseded by nature, and those articles are being last dispensed with, but a great many persons still patronize them, because they have been so often imposed upon by Hair Tonics and different nostrums. We therefore earnestly make the request that they will try once again, for in Wood's Restorative there is no deceiving or selling. We remember a lady who was bald, who used the article a short time, and her head is covered completely with the tiniest and most beautiful curls imaginable. We know of numerous instances where it has rapidly filled out, which it restored in greater perfection than it ever had been before.

It is also without doubt one of the best articles for keeping the hair in good condition, making it soft and glossy, removing dandruff and has proved itself the greatest enemy to all the flies that hair is heir to.

It is the duty of every one to improve their personal appearance though some may differ in regard to the word beautiful, yet every one will admit that a beautiful head of hair either in man or woman, is an object much to be desired, and there are few who have such who would not wish to obtain such a redundancy of hair.—Women's Advocate, Philadelphia.

COHOCTON, Ohio, Nov. 17, 1856.

O. J. Wood & Co.—Gents: As I have been engaged in selling your Hair Restorative the last season for other parties, I thought I would try it myself, and having experienced the beneficial effects of it myself, I would like to obtain an agency for the State of Ohio or some state in the west. I have sold a great many bottles of your Hair Restorative, and I am convinced there is nothing equal to it in the United States, for restoring the hair. I have been engaged in the Drug business for several years, and have sold various preparations for the hair, but have found nothing that restores the secretive organs or invigorates the scalp as well as yours, being convinced of the truth of what you say, I represent it to be, I would like to engage in the sale of it, for I am satisfied it must sell.

YOURS truly, S. T. SPOCKMAN.

WALTHAM, MASS., Feb. 5, 1857.

PROF. O. J. WOOD & CO.—Gents: Having realized the good effects of your Hair Restorative, I wish to state, that finding my hair growing thin, as well as gray, I was induced from what I read and heard, to try the article prepared by you, to promote its growth and change its color as it was in youth, both of which it has effected completely. In the operation I have used nearly 3 bottles.

LOTTERIES.

THE Lotteries of Samuel Swan & Co. are chartered by the State of Georgia, and have sworn commissioners appointed to superintend their drawings, and certify that everything connected with the same is done in a strictly honorable manner. They offer to the public a fair opportunity for investment, the interests of parties at a distance being as well protected as if they were present. The Manager would respectfully call attention to the fact that all persons have a legal right to send orders for tickets to Georgia, as the lotteries of Samuel Swan & Co. are authorized by the Legislature of that State. A lottery will be drawn every Saturday throughout the year, all orders received being filled in the drawing next to take place after the same comes to hand. According to the scheme one ticket in every ten must draw a prize. Tickets are $10; halves, $5; quarters, $2 50. No tickets sent unless the money accompanies the order. The drawings are upon the principle of one number on each ticket, and are so simple that none can fail to understand them. There is no combination of numbers to mystify the buyer. Prizes range from $50 to $30,000; every prize being drawn, and result of drawing forwarded to all purchasers

☞ A list of the numbers that are drawn from the wheel, with the amount each prize is entitled to, will be published after every drawing, in the following papers:—New Orleans Delta, Mobile Register, Charleston Standard, Nashville Gazette, Atlanta Intelligencer, and New York Weekly Day Book. Write your address plainly, and direct to S. SWAN & Co., Augusta, Georgia

CAUTION NOTICE.

PERSONS living at a distance should be extremely cautious of whom they order Lottery Tickets or Certificates of Packages, as the country is flooded with bogus and swindling Lotteries. Every inducement is held out to get money without return. The Grand Consolidation of from $20,000 to $40,000 head their schemes—with tickets at one Dollar. $100,000 capital prizes offered, tickets $5. $20 each, in every instance, are frauds and if money sent, from the tickets, it is so much thrown away without the shadow of a chance of getting a prize. Beware of all Lotteries where the Capital Prize is disproportionally large in comparison to the price of tickets—in every instance where large prizes are offered for a small cost of tickets, put it down as a certain fraud.

The Kentucky State Lottery for the benefit of the Shelby College, under our management, is the only lottery in the United States which is really decided by the Maryland Drawings: all other lotteries which purport to be decided by the Maryland Drawings are frauds.

THE MARYLAND STATE LOTTERIES.

Purchase in the Maryland State Lotteries, then you are sure of being right. And in ordering in the Maryland State Lotteries, you are sure of fair and honest drawings.

One thing look to, and that is, if you order from any lottery vender at Baltimore, do not receive any but Managers' Tickets and Managers' Printed Certificates of Packages. The Managers' Certificates have the numbers printed and have the lithographic signatures of E. FRANCE & CO.

No one has a right to send his individual certificates. If he does it, be sure there is a fraud at the bottom of it. E. FRANCE & CO.

TO THE NORTH STAR.

Alike, beneath thine eye,
The deeds of darkness and of light are done;
High toward the star lit sky
Towns blaze—the smoke of battle blots the sun—
The night storm on a thousand hills is loud—
And the strong wind of day doth mingle sea and cloud.

On thy unalterable blaze
The half wrecked mariner, his compass lost,
Fixes his steady gaze,
And steers, undoubting, to the friendly coast;
And they who stray in perilous wastes, by night,
Are glad when they descr shine to guide their footsteps right.

And, thereforo, bards of old,
Sages, and hermits of the solemn wood,
Did in thy beams behold
A beauteous type of that unchanging good,
That bright, eternal beacon, by whose ray
The voyager of time should shape his way.

DESCRIPTION OF HEAVEN.

This is a world where every loveliest thing
Lasts longest; where decay life never had Above the grossest forms, and matter has not
Is all transparent substance; the flower fades
The beautiful die never here; Death lies
A dreaming—he has nought to do,—the babe Plays with h s darts. Nought dies but what should die. [Hall
Here are no earthquakes, storms, no pinguen no
At heart; no floating flood on high. The Soil
Is ever fresh and fragrant as a rose—
The skies, like one wide rainbow, stand on gold,
The clouds are light as rose leaves—and the dew
'Tis of the tears which stars weep, sweet with joy—
The air is softer than a loved one's sigh—
The ground is glowing with all priceless ore,
And glistening with gems like a bride's bosom—
The trees have silver stems and emerald leaves—
The fountains bubble nectar—and the hills
Are half alive with light. [Bailey.

REV. DUDLEY A. TYNG.—The Philadelphia Press gives the following interesting particulars of his last moments:

From the time of the fatal accident to one hour previous to his death, Mr. Tyng had an unfaltering confidence in his recovery, and even conversed freely and hopefully upon what, as he believed, Providence had designed to teach him in the dispensation to which he was being subjected. He believed it was intended to promote his greater efficiency as a minister of the Gospel, and he looked forward with bright hopes when he should again be able to preach, and to preach as he had never done before.

About an hour before his dissolution, his family, fearing that his hopes of recovery were groundless, approached him with the solemn intimation that in all probability he was soon to leave them. His physician entering the chamber at the instant, Mr. Tyng spoke to him of these fears. The doctor's reply was that they were only too true—that his time was fast drawing to a close. The dying man, with the same heroic spirit which never forsook him through all his sufferings, received the solemn announcement with the utmost resignation, answering only, "Then it is well—it is very well. God's will be done."

After a few moments of composure, he called his friends present and the members of his family to his bed-side to bid them a last farewell.

At the close of this solemn ceremony, feeling that he was approaching his end, he requested those around him to sing a hymn. After a moment of silence, his own wife, notwithstanding the solmn circumstances under which this request was made, commenced singing the beautiful hymn—made doubly so by its appropriateness to the occasion—beginning,

Rock of Ages, cleft for me,
Let me hide myself in Thee

The hymn was sung, and even while the echoes of that mournful strain yet floated in the air, the spirit of Dudley A. Tyng took its flight to other, and, as we have reason to believe, more blissful realms.

At the meeting in Jayne's Hall, on Tue day, a very singular fact was referred to in connection with Mr. Tyng's recent sermon in that Hall, to an immence audience, from the text of Scripture, "Ye that are men, go and serve the Lord."

Toward the close of his eloquent discurse on that occasion, he asked pardon if he had said anything to offend his congregation, but adding, "I would rather that this right arm—placing his left hand upon where it has since been amputated—were amputated at the trunk, than that I should come short of my duty to you in delivering God's message."

WAR BETWEEN THE TURKS AND CHRISTIANS. Every foreign steamer brings intelligence of a fierce struggle going on in several of the provinces of Turkey, in Europe, between the Turks and Christians. Christian villages are sacked and the inhabitants indiscriminately massacred, and when stray Turks fall in to the hands of the Christians, the latter take terrible vengeance by burning them to death. This religious war discloses another instance in which the

Coggswell's Medical Salt,
A PERFECT SUBSTITUTE
FOR THE
LANCET, LEECHES AND BLISTERS.
INSTEAD of being a panacea for all maladies, it has control over but ONE MALADY—has but ONE AIM—accomplishes but ONE THING, to wit: SUBDUES INFLAMMATORY DISEASE—whatever be its form or locality—whether in the head, throat, chest, abdomen, extremities or skin. Every form of inflammation (but no other disease) is subdued, by it as easily as fire is extinguished by water. Is it asked, how it does this?—simply by restoring the lost balance between the fluids and solids. Such is its potency, that like vaccine matter, it requires merely what adheres to the point of a quill dipped into a solution of it, to affect the entire system.
☞ Of its intrinsic value, the enlightened community, and not the discoverer, must be the judge.
PRIME COST, $1.50 per drachm—PRICE $2 per drachm.

MYERS EXTRACT OF ROCK ROSE,
is peculiarly applicable, and if freely used will not fail to protect the constitution against the sudden and extreme changes of our variable climate. It purifies the blood, strengthens the stomach, and invigorates the whole system, thus fortifying against the insidious attacks of unusual frosts and debilitating heats. See Circulars.

NOBLE SENTIMENTS.

Lord Brougham, in his 3d vol., fol. 170, on political philosophy, says:—

It would be a pleasing task, if it did not run the risk of being deemed too speculative and romantic, to portray in our imagination the happy condition of our humbler fellow citizens, and of the state which their labor and their virtue sustains, when instruction on all useful knowledge shall have rendered them fit, safely and profitably to possess the share in their own government which God and nature designed to be their position—to see, in our mind's eye, the time when the voice of party should be still and its hand powerless; when profligate leaders, albeit in a sober garb, could no more move the million from their sober, and honest, and steady purpose, well understood, than they could disturb the moon from her course in the heavens; when no jealousy of higher station or more ample wealth on the one part, should be encountered by supercilious disdain of plebeian merit, and alarm at plebeian encroachment on the other; when each class should feel intimately persuaded that its own advantage was bound up indissolubly with the profit of all other orders in the community, and each nation should desire, for its own benefit, the prosperity of all its neighbors; when no echo of foreign levy should interrupt our repose, no provision against domestic strife exhaust our resources, no civil broils ruffle the serene aspect of our horizon; when with general consent, many of our most costly establishments could be with all safety given up as no longer wanted to inform or to guide our system; when graceless zealots should contend no more for useless forms of faith, nor political fanatics for forms of government; when devotion to the Creator should cease to be testified by discharity towards His creatures, and wretched abstract dogma to obstruct the progress of all the light that most improves, refines, and exalts our species.

Again he says:

When the Slave Trade shall cease, we have reason to believe that even over the African desert, the light of religion and science will at length dawn, and the only exception be removed to the general rule, that human society is everywhere proceeding with a motion more or less rapid towards general improvement.

Lord Brougham has risen from humble life by his indefatigable labor and industry to be one of the greatest luminaries of England. We believe he has ever advocated the rights of the people, and a Democratic Mixed Government. How do these sentiments compare with those of the great man of South Carolina, Gov. Hammond, and his compeers, who contend that the condition of our Northern laboring classes would be improved, should they be held in slavery.

☞ Senator Broderick from California sometime since took occasion to rebuke Senator Slidell, who had an unfortunate habit of coughing when Mr. Broderick rose to speak. The other day he exposed the surreptitious manner in which senator Green obtained the report of the conference committee, which produced a sudden dumbness on the part of the Missouri senator. Later in the day, Mr. English—who by the way is a "Bright" democrat, approached Mr. Broderick, and requested him to withdraw the words he had spoken about the manner in which the bill was obtained from the House, when the latter indignantly told him, "Get out of my way, you puppy,"—a command which English lost no time in fulfilling.

☞ Micheal Clear, a native of Queen Ann's county, Maryland, died lately at Greenwich, Connecticut. In 1810 he was a sailor before the mast, but during the war of 1812 he was captain of the foretop on board the old United States ship Constitution. He aided at the taking of the British frigate Guerriere, under Commodore Hull; at the taking of the British frigate Java, under Commodore Brainbridge, and at the taking of the Cyane and Levant, under Commodore Stewart. He subsequently returned to the merchant service, where he continued for many years, when he re-entered the United States service on the sloop of-war Erie, and subsequently on the frigate Congress. His last position was that of sailing-master at the Brooklyn Navy Yard.

☞ We suppose it highly probable that the people of Kansas will vote to accept the land! and that the President will then proclaim the admission of Kansas—and then we shall see what we shall see.—Among others, we expect to see the event paraded as a triumph of democracy and popular sovereignty.

CONGRESS.

On Friday, the English edition of the Lecompton swindle passed both Houses of Congress, and President Buchanan signed the bill.

The people of Kansas are to have offered them a bribe of land: if they vote for the lands, then English's bill provides that Kansas shall come into the Union under the Lecompton Constitution, and shall have certain grants of land and mineral springs. Otherwise Kansas remains a territory until her population equals that which entitles a State to a representative, which is now 93,000. Upon principle Mr. English's uroposition has little to commend it, and it is decidedly more open to objection than Mr. Green's bill—which had not the taint of bribery in it, and guaranteed to the people of Kansas the right to change their Constitution whenever they pleased. But Mr. English's measure puts an end to the question. This fixes slavery there!

In the Senate after Messrs. Broderick of California and Seward of New York, had spoken in opposition to the bill, it was passed by a vote of 31 to 22. Before the vote, as Seward was speaking, Bigler interrupted, and announced that the bill had passed the House.

Considerable sensation, was manifested in the gallerice and on the floor.

Mr. Seward resumed, saying that the announcement caused him no discouragement. It was little matter, practically, whether it was last defeat or first victory.

After a few words of explanation by Bigler and Cameron, as to the order of the vote, the question was taken—yeas 31, nays.

NAYS—Messs. Broderick, Cameron, Chandler, Collamer, Crittenden, Dixon, Doolittle, Douglas, Durkee, Fessenden, Foot, Foster, Hale, Hamlin, Harlan, King, Seward, Simmons, Stewart, Trumbull, Wade, Wilson—22.

PAIRED OFF—Messrs. Bell with Pearce, Fitch with Sumner.

ABSENT—Messrs. Clark, who is sick; Bates, Henderson, Pearce, Reid, Thompson of Ky.—6.

Thereafter Mr. Hunter moved that the Senate do recede from the amendments to the Deficiency Bill. Carried without debate, by 25 against 22.

The Senate then adjourned.

The consideration of the question in the House was attended by some excitement. The "Douglas Democrats," who had hitherto acted with the Republicans and Americans, were put upon their reasons for their desertion of their new friends and their return to their old partizans. It was difficult, of course, for gentlemen who had opposed the original measure, to justify a vote for the "compromise bill," and one or two, in their attempts to explain, naturally enough lost their temper as well as some character for consistency.

It was stated in the House, during the discussion, on the authority of Gov. Walker, that "next fall Kansas will have a population sufficient, under the federal ratio, to entitle her to one member of Congress." This statement, with the known desire of the people of Kansas for a settlement of the political controversy, had, doubtless, much influence upon members.

Mr. English's bill finally passed by a vote of 112 to 103.

A POEM.

BY ANNIE.

A little streamlet had a pleasant birth,
And rippling merrily, it sprang to light,
Then moving slowly o'er the soft green earth,
It gently strove to make the scene more bright.

And sweet wild flowers on either side did spring,
And bowed most lovingly to kiss the wave,
While tuneful birds oft stooped with weary wing,
Their glossy plumage in its breast to lave.

And sturdy trees, with overreaching arm,
Shaded the little stream, that flowed beneath,
And tired travellers felt the gentle charm
Of its sweet waters, cooled by Zephyrs' breath.

Thro' dazled meadows and green waving fields,
The little stream serenely loved to glide;
And of its bounty it did freely yield,
To thirsty mortals who had sought its side.

Anon a change came o'er the quiet scene,
For human hands disturbed the waters bright;
And on its sloping banks, that erst were green,
Rude fabrics rose, and marred the lovely sight.

And the sweet waters, that once freely ran,
Now rudely stay'd—no longer sought the plain;
But gently yielding to the power of man,
It gave up all, nor freely flowed again.—

But ever from its depths, gay bubbles rise,
That tell of brightness it has known of yore,
Often recalling pleasant memories
Of the calm days the stream shall know no more.

Yet often when the Heaven-descending rain
Has swelled the waters of the little tide,
With joy it leaps to freedom once again,
And laughing merrily, away doth glide.

'Tis often thus the love that decked youth's bower
With bright investiture of hopes ideal,
Checked in the noontide of life's sunny hours,
It dies of heart-ache in the stagnant real.

But yet at times, when God with bounteous love
Doth view our needs,—sweet hours of joy are given,
When the chained soul, with rapture soars above
All human ties, to freedom and to Heaven.

WASHINGTON, May 1.—A large number of Democratic members of Congress have united in requesting the President to confer on Judge Loring of Massachusetts the position of Judge of the Court of Claims, made vacant by the death of Judge Gilchrist.

The Naval Committee have agreed to recommend that steam power be applied to the frigate Franklin, now at Portsmouth.

Ransom Ellett was yesterday confirmed as Solicitor of the Court of Claims, vice Montgomery Blair, removed.

There is to be a torchlight procession tonight to congratulate the President.

MUSICAL DISCORD IN THE SCOTTISH CHURCH.—An unpleasant prominence has lately been assumed in the English Presbyterian Church, and in the United Presbyterian Church in Scotland, by the question of employing the organ in public worship.—In Liverpool, one of the Presbyterian congregations introduced the organ without the consent of the Synod, and the case is still sub judice. At a meeting of the Synod, the subject gave rise to a warm controversy, there being a number of members disposed to make the question vital to the unity of the church, while others are willing to allow congregations to please themselves in the matter.

ROMANCE VS. REALITY.—The Connecantville Courier states that two girls, aged about fifteen, residents of Wayne, Ashtabula county, Ohio, who were constant readers of flash newspapers and cheap novels, became "impressed" that they were to be heroines; and, one dark stormy night last week, left their parents' home and started on foot, each carrying a bundle and without means, in quest of adventure. The first day they walked through the mud to Harmonsburg, in Crawford county; but learning there was a vast difference between fiction and reality, they told their story to some persons who took them home.

THE LEVIATHAN TO BE OUTDONE.—A bigger ship than the Leviathan is already talked of in England. It is intended that this new monster shall carry 8,000 tons more than the Leviathan—is to run faster, and draw less water. An engineer of Liverpool, named Clare, proposes to build a ship 1,000 feet in length, 70 feet beam, and only 30 feet from deck to keel, making her perfectly flat bottomed and her sides perfectly square. In size she would be 30,000 tons. What could be done with her!

POTATOES.—The New York Tribune says that market is flooded with potatoes. The arrivals last week were 10,000 bushels from Nova Scotia, and 11,063 bbls. by the Erie road and the North River, making in all over 14,000 bbls. The shippers of common sorts from the West are losing money badly. Only the best white-meated potatoes will bear the heavy cost of transport from the Western States.

VERY GOOD.—The staid old National Intelligencer, reviewing Gen. Houston's scheme for a Mexican Protectorate, quietly remarks that "doubt may, perhaps, rest on the minds of some as to the fact whether our own government has shown any such excess of political wisdom in the management of its domestic affairs that it may becomingly appropriate to itself the benevolent task of keeping Mexico in order.

☞ In the recent trial of Ira Stout, at N. Y., for murder, the question of the confidential relations between patients and physicians was fully considered. Two physicians were sent by the coroner to the prisoner, while in custody, as he supposed, to administer to his relief, but in fact to examine his person for the purpose of obtaining testimony against him. He made certain revelations to them, and at the trial the District Attorney had them called as witnesses for the Government. The counsel for the defence objected to this, and after mature deliberation the Court ruled out this testimony, declaring that statements of a party in custody to physicians should no more be used as evidence against them, than their statements to lawyers.

"CHRISTIAN UNION."

Messrs. Editors,—I rejoice at the many wholesome truths contained in an article under the above caption, which appeared in the Portsmouth Journal of last Saturday; and I have a special joy in the fact that the editors of that paper consider the imputation of "sectarian bigotry" as "being detrimental to the character of our city."

Such an imputation is detrimental; and so to the general sentiment of the people of Portsmouth, nothing could be more untrue. They are, to a greater extent than in most places, liberal in sentiment and liberal in feeling. And if a bigot, whether of the clergy or the laity, displays his narrow traits here, he soon finds his place in the public estimation.

The Journal only speaks the truth when it says,—"it was a matter of regret to many that the liberal invitation of Rev. Mr. Patterson for the meetings to be held in the Universalist Church was not accepted." And not only is this true in regard to many people, but to the great body of all who then attended the Union Prayer Meetings. Why then, somebody may ask, was not the invitation accepted? I suppose the only reason was the objection by two or three clergymen against going there. I have never heard of any other. And it was their objections to going to the Universalist house, which induced Rev. Mr. Patterson to ask them whether there was not a like objection to his attendance and participation in the meetings elsewhere. Their answers he evidently understood to be objections, and therefore he went no more.

This seems to me a plain account of the matter, that any one may understand.—But there are some mistakes: for the Journal says—

"It was thus evident that a doctrinal discussion might arise, for which these meetings were not intended, and on this account the meetings were held elsewhere.

Rev. Mr. Patterson is a good citizen and popular pastor, active in such benevolent enterprises as come within his sphere—but on the above occasion we are disposed to think he was rather too sensitive. He certainly mistook the popular feeling with regard to his attendance if he did not that of his clerical brethren.

What is the mistake? Did he think the people wished him away? No: he knew better—and the Journal says, "He took part in the meetings, and, if we are rightly informed, no one made objections, but many were gratified by his attendance." The mistake came in with an if—"if he did not that of his clerical brethren." This is where the shoe pinches. A doctrinal discussion might arise in a certain house, though Mr. P. thought it would not; and they would not go. Though, as the Journal says, "No ministers had control of them or were on the committee," yet, being a power behind the throne, their apprehension of this imaginary discussion prevented, the people from going thither. And Mr. P. being "too sensitive" to stay where he thought the ruling powers did not wish for him, ceased to attend. If he did mistake "the views of his clerical brethren," and if they really wished him to stay and take a part in the meetings, it is a strange mistake, and would make him appear more stupid than sensitive. If five clergymen, or three, could not make their feelings understood, the whole matter must be wonderfully obscure.

But I think it is understood, by the people generally, and as generally regretted, that there should be any root of bitterness spring up between those who should be laborers in the Gospel Vineyard. I copy the following with approval:

This religion certainly is not for certain sects among us, but for every one—no matter whether Orthodox, Baptists, Unitarians, Universalists, &c. If any good is to come from this revival, certainly one needs it as much as another, and in every place in the country where the morning union prayer meetings are holden, persons in every denomination take part, which evidently shows that the spirit of God is moving them, and are well received by their Christian brethren.

Even so, Messrs. Editors, let it be here.

A PRAYING MAN.

MAY FESTIVAL—AT JEFFERSON HALL.—The Ladies of the Universalist Society will hold a May Festival, on Tuesday evening next, at which there will be a variety of entertainments to give interest to the occasion. Among them there will be the Coronation of the May Queen. The tables will be furnished with refreshments and fancy articles, and music will be provided for the occasion.

The details of other matters of interest will be displayed to all who attend. Tickets 15 cents. Doors open at 7 o'clock.

BOARD for five or six American Mechanics may be had, at No. 8 Green Street.

☞ One night last week, an attempt was made to blow up and damage some property of Mr. Turner, a stocking weaver, who lives at the corner of Anthony and Middle streets in this city. The attempt was made upon a one story room in the house, containing the looms, where Mr. T. wove the hosiery. A bottle of gunpowder was thrown through the window, with some contrivance to make it explode, so as to destroy the valuable machinery, if possible. The explosion took place, but there happened to be a scuttle in the roof of the room, which easily burst open, and which probably prevented great damage. As it was, a few pance of glass reset, will make it all right again.

With the bottle there came in a threatening letter—perhaps from some rival weaver—but Mr. T. does not know from whom.

☞ We understand that the Superintendent and Teachers of the City Mission Sabbath School at the Old South Church in this city, have gathered a Band of Hope among the scholars of their School; and that these scholars, being properly encouraged by their teachers, have enrolled about 600 youth and children on the pledges of the Band of Hope. This is a work of wisdom, as well as charity, of which no one can reasonably complain. A. B.

MYSTERIOUS.—One evening last week, about 8 o'clock, a carriage, drawn by a white horse, and containing two men and a woman, well dressed, stopped in the vicinity of Stratham hill. One of the inmates called at a house near by and asked for entertainment for themselves and horse for a short time. The night being quite cold and the snow falling, these favore were, of course, granted. At about 9 o'clock, they took their departure, stating that they were on their way to Portsmouth.

Some time past midnight, a sick neighbor, living at the corner of Stratham lane, heard an unusual noise near his dwelling, and called the attention of one of the family to it, who, on looking from the window, saw the same horse and carriage coming out of the lane.

These proceedings being of a somewhat mysterious character, naturally formed a subject of conversation in the neighborhood, on the following morning, and a discovery was soon made that threw some light on the affair. Directly back of the blacksmith's shop, in Brackett's pasture, so called, a mound of earth running parallel with the lane, was observed, resembling a newly-dug grave, some 6 feet long, and 2 feet wide, and afterwards appearing about 3 feet deep. This discovery created quite an excitement among those living in the immediate vicinity, and an excavation was determined upon. Various conjectures were made, during the operation, some thinking to bring the proof of a new murder to light, while others whose bump of acquisitiveness was largely developed, declared it was the work of the money diggers, and "taking off their coats and rolling up their sleeves" used their spades with a vigor truly astonishing. Nothing, however, was elucidated.

That this excavation was made by the parties above referred to, there is no doubt. Fragments of a lunch were noticed in the woods near by, and the locality of the horse during the proceedings plainly discernable.

OUTRAGEOUS.—On Sunday afternoon an alarm of fire was raised, and in most of the churches great confusion was consequent. No fire was to be found, and it is stated that the whole disturbance originated with a parcel of loiterers around the site of the New Custom House.

Wolfe's Celebrated Scheidam Aromatic

SCHNAPPS.

This medicinal beverage is manufactured by the proprietor, at Scheidam, Holland, expressly for medicinal use, by a process peculiar to his own Factory. It is the pure Tincture of the Italian Juniper Berry, whose more vinous extract is distilled and rectified with its spirituous solvent, which thus becomes a concentrated tincture of exquisite flavor and aroma, altogether, transcendant in its cordial and medicinal properties to any alcoholic stimulant now made in the world. It is now prescribed by more than 5,000 physicians in the United States, in cases of Gravel, Gout, Dropsy, and Bladder and Kidney Complaints.

Put up in Quart and Pint Bottles, in cases of one dozen qts., and cases of two dozen pts., and for sale by all Druggists and Country Merchants.

Ayer's Pills

Are particularly adapted to derangements of the digestive organism, and diseases arising therefrom. Purgation from the Stomach, Liver, and Bowels, is the primary object of these Pills, and consequently these Pills are found to cure many varieties of disease.

Subjoined are the statements from some eminent physicians, of their effects in their practice.

AS A FAMILY PHYSIC.

From Dr. E. W. Cartwright, of New Orleans.

"Your PILLS are the prince of purges. Their excellent qualities surpass any cathartic we possess. They are mild, but very certain and effectual in their action, and pleasant to take, which makes them invaluable to us in the daily treatment of disease."

FOR JAUNDICE AND ALL LIVER COMPLAINTS.

From Dr. Theodore Bell, of New York City.

"Not only are your PILLS admirably adapted to their purpose as an aperient, but I find their beneficial effects upon the Liver very marked indeed. They have in my practice proved more effectual in the cure of bilious complaints than any one remedy I can recollect. I sincerely rejoice that we have at length a purgative which is worthy the confidence of the profession and the people."

DYSPEPSIA — INDIGESTION.

From Dr. Henry J. Bigelow, of Boston.

"The PILLS you were kind enough to send me have been all used in my practice, and have satisfied me that they are truly an extraordinary medicine. Its peculiarity are they adapted to the diseases of the human system, that they seem to work upon them alone. I have cured some cases of dyspepsia and indigestion with them, which had resisted the other remedies we commonly use. My friends have repeatedly found them to be effectual in almost all the complaints for which you recommend them."

DYSENTERY — DIARRHŒA — RELAX.

From Dr. J. G. Owen, of Chicago.

"Your PILLS have had a fair trial in my practice, and I hold them in esteem as one of the best aperients I have ever found. Their alterative effect upon the liver makes them an excellent remedy, when given in small doses, for chronic dysentery and diarrhœa. Their sugar coating makes them very acceptable and convenient for the use of women and children."

INTERNAL OBSTRUCTION—WORMS—SUPPRESSION.

From Mm. E. Ewart, who practices as a Physician and Midwife in Boston.

"I find one or two large doses of your PILLS, taken at the proper time, are excellent to remove obstructions of the secretions, when wholly or partially suppressed, and also very effectual to cleanse the stomach and expel worms. They are so much the best physic we have that I recommend no other to my patients."

CONSTIPATION — COSTIVENESS.

From Dr. J. P. Vaughn, Montreal, Canada.

"Too much cannot be said of your PILLS for the cure of costiveness. If others of our fraternity have found them as efficient and I hope they will, I think they should be published it for the benefit of the fraternity who suffer from that complaint, which, although bad enough in itself, is the prolegomena of others that are worse, and which, in most cases, originate in the liver, but your PILLS affect that organ and cure the disease."

IMPURITIES OF THE BLOOD — SCROFULA — ERYSIPELAS — SALT RHEUM — BLOTCHES — TUMORS — RHEUMATISM — GOUT — NEURALGIA.

From Dr. Eldridge Huff, Philadelphia.

"You were right, Doctor, in saying that your PILLS purify the blood. They do that. I have used them of late years in my practice, and agree with you in their efficacy in this respect. They stimulate the corporeal, and carry off the impurities that stagnate in the blood, engendering diseases. They stimulate the organs of digestion, and infuse vitality and vigor into the system.

"Such remedies as you prepare are a national benefit, and you deserve great credit for their use."

FOR HEADACHE—SICK HEADACHE—FOUL STOMACH—PILES—DROPSY—PLETHORA—PARALYSIS—FITS—&c.

From Dr. Edward Bogel, Baltimore.

"DEAR DR. AYER: I cannot answer you what complaints I have cured with your PILLS, because I have cured all that ever fell under my notice. Indeed, I place great dependence on an effectual cathartic in my daily contest with disease, and believing as I do that your Pills afford us the best we have, I of course make use of them."

☞ Most of the Pills in market contain Mercury, which, although a valuable remedy in skilful hands, is dangerous in a public pill, from the dreadful consequences that frequently follow its incautious use. These contain no mercury or mineral substance whatever.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral

Has long been manufactured by a practical chemist, and every effort of it under his own eye, with invariable accuracy and care. It is sealed and protected by law from counterfeits, and everyone should see that it comes to them without adulteration. It supplies the surest remedy the world has ever known for the cure of all pulmonary complaints; for COUGHS, COLDS, HOARSENESS, ASTHMA, CROUP, WHOOPING COUGH, BRONCHITIS, CONSUMPTION. Nothing has been for the relief of consumptive patients in advanced stages of the disease. As time makes these facts wider and better known, this medicine has proved to be the best reliance of the afflicted, from the log cabin of the American peasant to the palaces of European kings. Throughout this entire country, in every state and city, and indeed almost every hamlet it contains, Cherry Pectoral is known as the best of all remedies for diseases of the throat and lungs. In many foreign countries it is extensively used by their most intelligent physicians. If there is any dependence on what men of every station, country and creed, have done for them; if we can trust our own senses when we see the dangerous affections of the lungs yield to it; if we can depend on the testimony of intelligent physicians, whose business it is to know, in short, if there is any reliance upon any thing, then is it irrefutably proven that this medicine does cure the class of disease it is designed for, beyond any and all other remedies known to mankind. Nothing but its intrinsic virtues, and the unmistakable benefit conferred on thousands of sufferers, could originate and maintain the reputation it enjoys. While many inferior remedies have been thrust upon the community, have failed, and been discarded, this has gained friends by every trial, conferred benefits on the afflicted they can never forget, and produced cures too numerous and remarkable to be forgotten.

S. D. & H. W. Smith,

—MANUFACTURERS OF—

Melodeons, Organ Melodeons,

—and—

PEDAL BASS MELODEONS,

No. 511 Washington St., Boston.

The first premium over all competitors, at the Fair of the Mass. Charitable Mechanic Association, of the National Fair, Washington, D. C., also at the Ohio State Fair, held at Columbus, Ohio, was awarded to these Manufacturers.

By means of a new method of Voicing, known only to themselves, they have succeeded in removing the harsh and buzzing sound which formerly characterized the instrument, and rendering the tones full, clear and organ like. The action is prompt and reliable, enabling the performer to execute the most rapid movements, without blurring the tones. The swell is arranged to give great expression.

THE PEDAL BASS MELODEONS,

Are designed particularly for Churches, Lodges, Halls, &c. It is arranged with two manuals, or banks of Keys, the lower set running an octave higher than the other, and may be used separately, and thus get in one case two distinct instruments; or by one of the coupler, the two banks of keys may be played at the same time by use of the front set only. This connected with a Pedal Bass, will produce the effect of a large organ, and is sufficiently heavy to fill a house that seats from 1000 to 1500 persons.

THE ORGAN MELODEON

Is designed for parlor and private use. The construction is similar to the Church Instrument, being arranged with two banks of Keys, and when used together, by means of the coupler, is capable of as great volume of power as the Church Instrument when used without the pedals. Also, every variety of MELODEONS for Parlor use.

Purchasers may rely upon instruments from our Manufactory, being made in the most complete and thorough manner. Having removed to the spacious Buildings

511 Washington Street,

We have every facility for manufacturing purposes, and employ none but the most experienced and skilful workmen. In short, we will promise our customers an instrument equal, if not superior, to any Manufacturer, and guarantee an entire and perfect satisfaction.

Music Teachers, Leaders of Choirs, and others interested in musical matters, are respectfully invited to visit our Rooms at any time and examine or test the instruments on exhibition for sale at their pleasure.

As a still further guarantee to the public as to the excellence of the MELODEONS from our Manufactory, we beg leave to refer, by permission, to the following

Piano Forte Manufacturers of Boston,

who have examined our Instruments, and will give their opinion when called upon:

THE RESTORATIVE OF PROF. O. J. WOOD for restoring hair perfectly and permanently, has never yet had a rival. Volumes might be written, might be given from all parts of the world and from the most intelligent to prove that it is a positive Restorative of the hair, to its original and you cannot doubt; read also the following.

THE HAIR.—People have for centuries been afflicted with bald heads, and the only remedy, heretofore known, has been those abominable wigs. By a recent discovery of Professor Wood these affliction are being fast thinned out. Thousands of great many persons still patronize them, because they have been so often imposed upon by Hair Tonics of no mitigation. To all such persons we earnestly make the request that they will try once again, for in Wood's Restorative there is no such thing as fail. We know of a lady who was bald, with not hardly a short fine hair, and her head is covered completely with the finest and most beautiful curls imaginable. We know of numerous instances where gray hairs have been out, which it restored in greater perfection than it ever had been before.

It is also without doubt one of the best articles for keeping the hair in good condition, making it soft and glossy, removing dandruff, and has proved itself the greatest enemy to all the ills that hair is heir to.

It is the duty of every one to improve their personal appearance though some may differ in regard to the propriety of it; but we think all will admit that a beautiful head of hair either in man or woman, is an object much to be desired, and there are no means that should be left untried to obtain such a consideration.—Woman's Advocate, Philadelphia.

CONCORDIA, Ohio, Nov. 17, 1856.

O. J. Wood & Co.—Gents: As I have been engaged in selling your Hair Restorative the last season (for which your local agents (R. M. Hackton,) and having experienced the beneficial effects of it myself, I would like to obtain an agency for the State of Ohio or some state in the west, should you wish to make such an arrangement. I am convinced there is nothing equal to it in the United States, for restoring the hair. I have been engaged in the Drug business for several years, and we make all various preparations for the hair, but have found nothing that restores the secretive organs or invigorates the scalp as well as yours, being convinced that your restorative is what you represent it to be, I would like to engage in the sale of it, for I am satisfied it must sell.

Yours truly, S. T. STOCKMAN.

WAITLAND, MASS., Feb. 5, 1856.

PROF. O. J. WOOD & CO.—Gents: Having realized the good effects of your Hair Restorative, I wish to state, that finding my hair growing thin, as well as gray, I was induced from what I read and heard, to try the article prepared by you, to promote its growth and change its color as it was in youth, both of which it has effected completely. In the operation I have used nearly 3 bottles.

Yours, respectfully, JAMES WAITLAND.

THE Lotteries of Samuel Swan & Co. are chartered by the State of Georgia, and have sworn commissioners appointed to superintend their drawings, and certify that everything connected with the same is done in a faithful and honorable manner. They offer to the public a fair opportunity for investment, the interests of parties at a distance being as well protected as if they were present. The Manager would respectfully call attention to the fact that all persons have a legal right to send orders for tickets to Georgia, as the lotteries of Samuel Swan & Co. are authorized by the Legislature of that State. CAUTION NOTICE.

PERSONS living at a distance should be extremely cautious of whom they order Lottery Tickets or Certificates of Packages of Tickets.—The country is flooded with bogus advertising Lotteries. Every inducement is held out to get persons to invest money in them. Capital Prizes of from $500 to $40,000 have their schemes—with tickets at One Dollar. $100,000 capital prizes are offered, tickets $5. All such, in every instance, are frauds, and if money is sent to them for tickets, it is so much thrown away, with the shadow of a chance of getting a prize. Beware of all Lotteries where the Capital Prize is unusually large or disproportionate to the Scheme, in every instance where large prizes are offered for a small cost of tickets, put it down as a certain fraud.

The Kentucky State Lottery for the benefit of the Shelby College, under our management, is the only Lottery in the United States which is legally decided by the Maryland Court of Appeals to be Lotteries which purport to be decided by the Maryland Drawings, are frauds.

A PROCLAMATION

TO THE LADIES.

WHEREAS, it appears that the days of right, honor, and integrity are fast fleeting by us, and WHEREAS the unscrupulous and ignorant are daily taking advantage of the profound and extensive SECRET KNOWN ONLY TO MYSELF, to all, whether MAIDS, WIVES, or WIDOWS, that DR. CHESEMAN'S FEMALE PILLS are ALONE the certain panacea for the the trouble incident to female disorganization; they alone will regulate the menstruation, assuaging palpitations of the heart, disturbed sleep, pain in the side, and causing health and happiness to shine in place of misery; suitably to the MARRIED PORTION, as they are certain to bring on the monthly period with regularity.—AND WHEREAS, these PILLS are purely vegetable and entirely free from mineral, therefore perfectly harmless in their operations and wholly unlike other medicines thrust upon the public, purporting to effect the objects already detailed. THEREFORE, BE IT KNOWN, that NOTHING but the said PILLS of DR. CHESEMAN will accomplish the desired object, then DISAPPOINTMENT has been experienced under the regime of OTHER PILLS; and the Ladies will cause this Proclamation to spread amongst them, to their own everlasting benefit—always remembering that Proclamation in one case must be considered NULL and VOID; that is to say the PILLS MUST NOT be taken when any female is in an INTERESTING SITUATION, otherwise a MISCARRIAGE will be the inevitable result.

IMMORTELLES.

IN HARMONY WITH NATURE.

My life with Nature now is blest;
She is a portion of my blood;
I am her passive instrument,
The creature of her every mood;
A part and parcel of her forms,
Of her calms and of her storms.
To her my soul unloids as violets do,
When April winds are low, and April skies are blue.

I am a harp whereon she plays,
When she accompanies her lays;
A sea of moon like presence sways,
Shifting its tides a thousand ways.—[Stoddard.

TRUTH.

When by night the frogs are croaking,
Kindle but a torch's fire,
Ha! how soon they all are silent,
Thus Truth silences the liar.
—[Longfellow.

MERCY.

Why, all the souls that are, were forfeit once;
And He that might th'advantage best have took,
Found out the remedy: How would you be,
If He, who is the top of judgment, should
But judge you as you are? O, think on that;
And mercy then will breathe within your lips,
Like a man new made. —[Shakspeare.

THE BROOK.

I steal by lawns and grassy plots,
I slide by hazel covers;
I move the sweet forget-me-nots
That grow for happy lovers.

I slip, I slide, I gloom, I glance
Among my skimming swallows;
I make the netted sunbeams dance
Against my sandy shallows.

I murmur under moon and stars
In brambly wildernesses;
I linger by the shingly bars;
I loiter round my cresses.

And out again I curve and flow
To join the brimming river,
For men may come and men may go,
But I go on forever.— [Tennyson.

☞ Chief of Police Willey, in crossing the causeway which leads from the Lower Port to East Cambridge, Ms., on Wednesday, discovered a man lying asleep on the marsh near the road, in such a position that when the tide rose it must have flowed over him. The man was found to be intoxicated, and was taken up and placed in safer quarters in East Cambridge.

A SCENE IN THE MARSHAL'S OFFICE.—A woman came into the city marshal's office yesterday afternoon, and addressing that official, said: "My husband was sent to jail for ten days. He was not very well, and I don't think he'll stand it so long."

Marshal—"In that case, we'll see him decently and honorably interred."

Wife—"Thank you, sir—that will do very well; very much obliged to you, sir."

She left the office evidence greatly relieved on the score of the health of her incarcerated husband.—Cincinnati Gaz.

The lager beer concerts have died out in Nashua. They only thrived a day or two. The proprietors being told that such institutions were hardly needed in that city, the people already being abundantly supplied with stimulating drinkables, they answered that "lager beer was not an intoxicating drink," very said the patronizing public, "we don't buy water in this place." It seems that Nashua is a little ahead of Manchester; these nuisances having thrien here for some weeks.—Manchester American.

Norway has a population of about a million and a quarter. The inhabitants are nominally Protestant. There is not a Roman Catholic church or priest in the whole land. Neither Jew nor Jesuit is allowed by the constitution to set foot on the soil.

A POLITICAL RELIGIOUS DENOMINATION.—A speaker in the Tennessee House of Representatives says: "There has never been a church in this country or any other, whose clergy and members have stood more firmly in defence of Southern institutions and rights than the Methodist Episcopal Church, South!"

The First Church in Hartford has had a succession of pastors for 225 years, not one whom has been dismissed. They have all, with the exception of the present pastor, (Dr. Hawes,) lived and died, and been buried with their people.

DISTRESSING CASUALITY.—Among the casualities recently detailed, the following is very melancholy: "The young man who recently went on a bridal tour with an angel in book muslin, has returned with a termigant in hoops!

☞ James H. Russell, aged about 35 years, died in the Watch House in New Bedford, on Monday morning, from excessive use of opium.

☞ Rev. David Smith, D. D., of Durham, the oldest corporator of Yale College, preached all day on a recent Sabbath at Indianapolis. He is 90 years of age.

☞ Rufus Choate will address the Alumni, and Rev. Dr. Cheever the Theological Society of Dartmouth, at the next commencement.

From Hon. Chas. Mason, Commissioner of Patents.
U. S. PATENT OFFICE, Feb 23, 1855.
I take great pleasure in stating that during the time I have been acting as Commissioner of Patents, Samuel Cooper, Esq., of Boston, has been engaged as Solicitor, and has been in that capacity in constant correspondence and intercourse with the office; he has evinced a thorough acquaintance with the Patent Law, and with the rules and practice of the office, a close attention to the interests of his clients, and a marked candor and courtesy that has rendered the transaction of business with him a pleasure. I have no hesitation in stating that I regard him as one of the very best agents for the transaction of business with this office with whom I am acquainted

Coggswell's Medical Salt,
A PERFECT SUBSTITUTE FOR THE
LANCET, LEECHES AND BLISTERS.
INSTEAD of being a panacea for all maladies, it has control over but ONE MALADY—has but ONE AIM—accomplishes but ONE THING, to wit: SURDUS INFLAMMATORY DISEASE—whatever be its form or locality—whether in the head, throat, chest, abdomen, extremities or skin. Every form of inflammation (but no other disease) is subdued, by it as easily as fire is extinguished by water. It is natural, how it does this?—simply by restoring the lost balance between the fluids and solids. Such is its potency, that like vaccine matter, it requires merely what adheres to the point of a pin, dipped into a solution of it, to affect the entire system.
☞ Of its intrinsic value, the enlightened community, and not the discoverer, must be the judge.

TUESDAY, MAY 4, 1858.

THE NEW BANKRUPT LAW.—Mr. Toombs' bankrupt law is being actively considered by the Judiciary Committee, and it will probably be presented to the Senate early next week. It is understood it will be a general bill, including individuals, corporations, chartered banks, and any association of persons authorized to issue notes, bills, &c. It will provide for voluntary bankruptcy, and will be retroactive. The retroactive feature will be guarded so as to exclude all who subsequent to January last, or any other time, have assignments, in contemplation of the passage of a bankrupt law, which gave preference to one creditor over another, and the bankrupt in such cases shall not receive a discharge unless with the consent of a majority of his creditors who have not been preferred.

The involuntary bankruptcy applies to cases where the debts exceed $2000, and the person declared bankrupt is entitled to trial by jury. All transfers of property, of any kind, for the purpose of giving any creditor, endorser or other person, any preference or priority over general creditors, to be sued for such amount as assets of the bankruptcy.

With regard to the banks and other issuers of paper money, they are to come under the head of involuntary bankrupts, and in addition to all liabilities which attach to individuals, they may be declared bankrupt for the non-payment for ten days after demand of any bill, note, or other liability. All the expenses of proceedings to be paid by the parties interested, and under no pretence to be paid by the United States. These are the general features of the bill. It is to go into effect next November, if now passed.

HOW IT IS TO BE DONE.—The Boston Advertiser gives the following brief but plain account of the English Kansas bill:

The bill proposes to allow the people of Kansas to vote upon the question of accepting or rejecting "the proposition of Congress."

"The proposition of Congress" offers the people large grants of land, if they will come into the Union with the Lecompton Constitution, which establishes and recognises slavery in the new State.

If this proposition be accepted, Kansas gets the lands and is at once admitted into the Union, as a slave State, with two Senators and one Representative in Congress.

If this be rejected, Kansas remains a territory, and it will not be allowed to form a State Constitution, until her population equals the representative ratio, which is now about 93,000, and is likely to be advanced to 120,000 by the next census.

It remains to be seen what action the people of Kansas will take upon "the proposition of Congress." The day for the election is not fixed, but it is designed that it shall take place within a reasonable period. The provisions relative to the election are not such as to inspire public confidence in the manner in which it will probably be conducted. A majority of the members of the board entrusted with the whole power of supervising the election, are creatures of the administration.

The Courier says:—"As a question of state, the action of Congress on this point is arbitrary and unjustifiable. It is compulsory, in a moral sense; and though the people of the territory may certainly do as they please, yet inducements are held out to them which certainly militate against the free exercise of their political rights.

"As a matter of political principle, consequently, we cannot approve of this bill. Yet it is to be remembered, which is too much forgotten, that this whole controversy is not a moral, but a political question."

And the action of the executive and Congress thereon, is a barefaced political swindle.

☞ The New York correspondent of the Philadelphia Ledger, says there is no truth in the newspaper stories that the Cunningham family, which was connected with the Burdell murder mystery, are living in extreme poverty. On the contrary, Madame resides in an elegantly furnished house; her daughters have their piano, and a music teacher attends them every day. There is good reason to believe, moreover, that Mrs. C. will shortly be married to a wealthy gentleman of that city.

☞ The Ledger reports that a returned Californian, who took passage on one of the Sound steamers at New York for the East a few days since, wishing to indulge in a drinking bout, gave to a travelling companion a quantity of jewelry valued at $1180, and $37 in money, to keep for him. When the boat reached her destination the foolish fellow was in his berth, drunk, and did not take the cars; but his friend did, and forgot to leave the valuables that had been placed in his keeping.

Calumny may be defined, a mixture of truth and falsehood blended with malice.

FROM ENGLAND.—The Anglo Saxon has arrived at Quebec, with news three days later. In consequence of a division among the Crown lawyers of England, in regard to the legality of the seizure of the "Cagliari," the government do not "think it desirable to take strong measures" against Naples. Mr. Disraeli had laid his financial budget before the House of Commons. He estimates the expenses of the year at £67,100,000, which is £4,000,000 in excess of the estimated revenue. His plan of providing for this sum was so satisfactory as to favorably affect consols. Ex-Speaker Abercomby is dead. The acquittal of Dr. Bernard created a profound sensation in Paris; and one paper gives currency to the opinion that had Mr. James's speech been circulated among the people of France, it "would be difficult to stay their indignation." Notwithstanding these bickerings of the allies, it is rumored that Queen Victoria contemplates meeting the French Emperor at Cherbourg. Nothing important from Italy, Prussia, or Russia. The India mail—no later news—had reached England. Sir Colin Campbell was preparing to give the rebels battle at Calpee.

The Paris correspondent of the Boston Courier states that "among the wiser headed Bonapartists, there is an intense apprehension of a fearful storm in France;" and adds, "we may wake here any morning, and find the whole established order of things overthrown."

GREAT SNOW STORM IN ENGLAND.—The London papers contain an account of a snow storm, of singular, and, considering the lateness of the season, almost unexampled severity, which occurred on Wednesday night, the 14th, its chief intensity being apparently concentrated upon the district lying between the Dunford and Denistone stations on the Manchester, Sheffield and Lincolnshire railway line, where a drift of snow formed so deep as entirely to block up the line and to put a stop to the travel during the whole of the day.

☞ Fowler & Wells of New York have sent us their new manual, called The Gardener. It is an eminently popular and practical work—so clear and simple in style that everybody can understand it; so convenient in form and size that it can be carried in the pocket; and so low in price that all can buy it; while, at the same time, it is thorough, comprehensive and reliable. It tells how to cultivate everything belonging to the garden; how to plant trees; how to choose the best varieties of fruits; how to prune, graft, bud, destroy insects, preserve fruits and vegetables, and save seeds; and it not only tells the reader what to do, but why it should be done, thus giving him a new interest in everything. The chapter on the Flower Garden is just what the ladies are wanting.

The same publishers have just issued the Phrenological Journal for May. Their Life Illustrated is a beautiful, valuable and popular weekly paper.

TUCKERMAN'S PLUNDER, &c.—The Traveller's reporter says:

It is supposed that he has taken all of the thirteen missing mails. He did not, however, destroy all that he took from them; but has retained documents, books, daguerreotypes, &c., which have served to convict him. He had a large number of daguerreotypes, several Congressional documents, deeds of land and legal papers, love letters, &c., safely preserved.

He had accumulated about thirty-five hundred dollars' worth of postage stamps. It is not supposed that he obtained much money. Fifty dollars in counterfeit bills were found on his person. A large amount of drafts were destroyed by him, as it would be running too much risk to negotiate them.

I learn from a reliable source that Mrs. Tuckerman is supposed to be innocent of all complicity with him; she probably knew nothing of his proceedings until after his arrest. She has exhibited a tender devotion to him, but bears in her countenance signs of sorrow which touch with pity all who behold her.

Perhaps it may not be out of place here to give a word of advice to a certain class of persons in the community—ladies and gentlemen who have amours not authorized by the parson—that if they do not want their tenderness exposed, they will do well not to put them into the mail-bags. If printed, certain persons in certain localities would hardly fail to change color in presence of their friends.

Tuckerman is 35 years old.

THE DAILY STATESMAN will, as usual, be issued on the morning of the first Thursday of June, at Concord, and continue through the session of the Legislature.—Proceedings to be reported by Mr. Yerrington, of Boston. Five copies for $1; single subscriptions, 25 cents for the session.

☞ The flooring of a stable in New Bedford gave way, a few nights since, by which five cows, tied to stanchions, were hung up by the necks, and found dead in the morning.

FIRE IN BOSTON.—On Sunday morning, at a quarter past one o'clock, fire was discovered in the fifth story of the large granite warehouse No. 137, Federal street, occupied, with the exception of the ground floor, by Messrs. Byram & Binley, bookbinders and printers, successors to Messrs. Sanborn, Bazin & Ellsworth, who had recently transferred their extensive business to the first mentioned firm. The whole stock and machinery of Messrs. Byram & Binley, consisting of presses, books, pasteboard, materials for binding, steam engine, &c., were entirely destroyed. Their loss is about $45,000, and they have insurance for $35,300, viz., Hope, $2,500; Conway, $4,500; Shoe and Leather Dealers, $4,600; Quincy Fire Mutual, $2,500; Metropolitan, $4,600; City of New Haven, $3,000; Home, $5,600; Charter Oak, $4,000; Hampden, 4,000.

In the cellar of the building, Messrs. Sanborn, Bazin & Ellsworth have about $70,000 worth of stereotype plates stored in a brick and iron safe. This property is not insured, and it is probable that it is not injured.

While the fire was raging fearfully in this building, John W. Tuttle and Francis F. Cutting, hosemen of Tremont Engine Company, No. 12, were ordered to the roof of the adjoining brick building, and they had been there but a few moments when a large portion of the side wall of the burning building fell over upon them; crushing the roof of the building and pressing down the several floors clear to the cellar. The unfortunate men went down with the wreck and were instantly killed. A man named Jeremiah Reardon, fifty-three years of age, who was in the building at the time, was crushed beneath the ruins, but was rescued alive and taken to the Hospital. He sustained serious injury. Several of his ribs were broken. In the attic of the same building, at the time of the falling of the wall, was a widow, named Catherine Moran, thirty-eight years of age, who had gone there to remove some of her clothing and other property. She was saved alive from the general wreck, and was afterwards conveyed to the hospital. Singular to say, she had no bones broken. She was burned somewhat and sustained some bruises, but will soon get well.

Some of the burning pasteboard from the bookbindery was picked up in a garden on the Highlands, Roxbury, four miles distant.

The bodies of Tuttle and Cutting were dug out from the ruins Sunday morning. Tuttle was thirty-two years of age, and leaves a widow. Cutting was twenty-eight years of age and leaves a widow and one child. They were both esteemed by all who knew them. Cutting was to have been baptized Sunday morning at the Harvard Street Church, of which Rev. D. C. Eddy is the pastor. In his sermon Sunday morning, Mr. Eddy appropriately alluded to the sad calamity of the death of Mr. Cutting and his companion.

Several other buildings were destroyed or injured, with their contents, making a total loss $225,000.

☞ Some thirty thousand volumes of books, many of them valuable and expensive works, have recently been discovered in the vaults under the Capitol at Washington, the boxes in which they were packed being buried under heaps of coal and ashes. Many of them have been ruined by the rats and coal ashes together.

Some destructive rats above stairs, also.

☞ William C. Thompson, an old resident of Shalersville, Ohio, who eloped with young Mary McDonald, and $6000, leaving a wife and four children, and a circle of excited creditors, was arrested in Philadelphia, by means of the telegraph.

☞ The Worcester Spy states that Francis Adams, 2d, of Spencer, who has been a deputy sheriff, horse jockey, &c., got into debt all he could, and took his horse and buggy and went to Worcester and sold it; then took his eldest son and left for parts unknown, leaving a wife and six children behind.

☞ An American lady lately visited the distinguished German author and theologian, Bunsen, who told her that he believed that the influence of Dr. Channing's works was greater at this time in France and Germany, than that of any other man, either living or dead.

☞ The Philadelphia oyster trade is at present extremely dull, owing to the market being overstocked. Prices now range from $1 to $5 per thousand, and some difficulty is experienced in disposing of the bivalves at this low figure.

☞ A Princeton editor says that Colonel Thomas H. Benton opposed the Lecompton constitution— and died!

IMMORTELLES.

SPRING.

Now, animate throughout, from morn to eve
All harmony, activity and joy,
In lovely Nature, as in her blest prime.
The robin to the garden, or green yard,
Close to the door repairs to build again
Within her wonted tree; and at her work
Seems doubly busy for her past delay.
Along the surface of the winding stream,
Pursuing every turn, gay swallows skim;
Or round the borders of the spacious lawn
Fly in repeated circles. —[Wilcox.

THE LIFE OF GOD IN THE SOUL OF MAN.

Would'st thou know
Something of what is life, shake off this death;
Have thy soul feel the universal breath
With which all nature's quick! and learn to be
Sharer in all that thou dost touch or see.
Break from thy body's grasp thy spirit's trance;
Give thy soul air, thy faculties expanse:—
Love, joy,—e'en sorrow,—yield thyself to all!
They'll make thy freedom, man, and not thy thrall.
Knock off the shackles which thy spirit bind
To dust and sense, and set at large thy mind.
—[Dana.

THE VALUE OF LIFE.

What is life worth without a heart to feel
The great and lovely, and the poetry
And sacredness of things? for all these are Sacred—the eye of God is on them all,
And hallows all into it. It is due
To stand upon some lofty mountain-thought
And feel the spirit stretch into a view;
To joy in what might be if will and power
For good would work together but one hour.
Yet millions never think a noble thought;
But with brute taste of brightness buy a mind
Which drives the darkness out them, like a hound.
—[Festus.

WOMAN.

A woman mov'd, is like a fountain troubled,
Muddy, ill seeming, thick, bereft of beauty;
And, while it is so, none so dry or thirsty,
Will deign to dip or touch one drop of it.
—[Shakspeare.

THE REVIVAL AT THE SOUTH.—The revival of religion is extending widely at the South and West. The system of daily prayer-meetings in business hours has been inaugurated in most of the Southern cities. There has been a great increase in church membership, and during the past year, the Baptists alone have added over 590,000 members, most of which has been at the South.

AN OBJECT OF CHARITY.—Yesterday afternoon an American woman named Hannah Wright, aged about 25 years, yet the mother of seven living children whose ages range from seven months to nine years, was found on the Common surrounded by her brood of little ones, destitute of money, destitute of food, and destitute of a husband, who left his home in Andover some time since, with the express intention of seeking work in New Hampshire. Since he deserted his family he has not been heard from, and the wife accompanied by her children has been searching for him in the Granite State, but without success. Mrs Wright was removed to the fourth station house, and there provided with a temporary home at the city crier's. All the children were dressed neatly.—Boston Herald.

When your wallet is well supplied with the "root of all evil," your friendship is sought by both great and small.—Exchange Paper.

Look out for your pockets, especially if you are troubled with such an article as money, sometimes said to be the "root of all evil."—Manchester American.

Now the Bible says, "The love of money is the root of all evil,"—and this is not usually carried in the "wallet," but in the heart, or in the place where that organ ought to be. As to the first statement—no truly "great" man will care a fig more for your friendship, with money, than without—it is only the "small" that do this.

☞ Col. Schouler, formerly editor of the Boston Atlas, and lately of the Ohio State Journal, has left Ohio for Boston, where he is to be an editor of the Boston Bee. Gentlemen of all parties in Columbus, Ohio, gave him a complimentary supper last Friday evening. He will engage in the Bee, forthwith.

DISASTROUS FIRE—FOUR LIVES LOST.—Montreal, May 1.—The Converse Rope Factory was destroyed by fire this afternoon. The foreman of the factory and three girls were burned to death. A man jumped out of the fourth story window and broke his back. The loss by the fire has not yet been ascertained, but is very heavy, and the property is said to be uninsured.

Dr. D. A. Tyler, of New Haven, Ct., in his Dissertation upon the Rock Rose Plant, mentions four cases where he had used it with marked success in Diarrhea, after the usual remedies, Chalk, Opium, &c., had failed. And, he adds, "since 1843 I have been in the habit of using the Rock Rose in form of Extract Decoction and Tincture for the cure of Diarrhea, almost daily during the fall and summer months, and have seldom been disappointed in its use." THE subscriber has for sale the largest and most extensive assortment of CHILDREN'S CARRIAGES ever offered in this market, consisting of Empire Cobs, Baltimore Carts, Boston Wagons, and Greenfield Chaises.

For safety, comfort and convenience, this last named Carriage is rapidly superseding all others. LOCAL.

☞ Mr. John Swindell is making large additions to his brewery, showing that the business is good—for him. He stands in the same relation to the public as the boys (in the fable) did to the frogs: what is sport to him is death to us.

In anticipation of the supply which will be demanded for the consumption of the two breweries in this place, the farmers hereabouts have devoted a great deal more land to the raising of barley than has been their wont. Some may think this an argument of sufficient weight to amply apologize for the establishment of breweries in our midst, but if they will take a walk in their neighborhood on some of our glorious summer nights, they stand a good chance to find the air which should be fresh and invigorating, polluted and laden down with the fetid odors of mashing. These pestilential vapors tend rather to depreciate than enhance the value of real estate in that immediate vicinity, and the opening of a second plague-spot in their midst has excited considerable indignation among the people of Creek Village, some of whom, we are sorry to hear, have been so unwise as to threaten the safety of the premises.

Good News.—That the digging, drilling, blasting, picking, pumping, and cluttering, on account of the Custom House Drain through State street, is about done. The drain is laid the whole length, and the street will be graded and cleared up immediately.

Better.—That the money has come from Washington to pay all back bills due on account of the Custom House; and many of the arrearages were settled on Monday. This will distribute a considerable amount of funds among our citizens—due for labor and material, much of which was really needed by laborers. Some of these claims had been sold at a large discount.

☞ A watchman, who was on duty, at the new custom house on Sunday afternoon, informs us that the false alarm of fire was not first given there,—but that it came from Congress st., where four young men were seen to start from a corner, and run, crying fire, which cry was, of course, re-echoed all over town shortly.

This is the first break up of the congregations in this city, by a false alarm of fire, within our remembrance. It is hoped that it may be the last.

☞ In one of our churches, on Sunday last, the minister prayed fervently that we might all have "an enlargement of the heart." Brown objects decidedly to such a petition being offered for him, as he is not desirous to "shuffle off this mortal coil" just yet, though he admits that there would be some honor in dying of the same disease as Dr. Kane. He says he did have an idea of taking an excursion for pleasure this summer, but taking a compulsory trip to "that undiscovered country from whose bourne no traveller e'er returns," is not in consonance with his feelings. Y.

Y. is informed that the Psalmist says, addressing the Deity, "I will run in the way of thy commandments, when thou shalt enlarge my heart." Uncle Toby thinks this divine enlargement of the heart would be an excellent thing, and deems the prayer a good one.

☞ A short time since, a gentleman of this city, desirous of disposing of a suburban possession, placed a board with the inscription "This Place for Sale" on the road-fence. Near by was a stream much frequented by amateur fishers, one of whom attached a Plaice to the placard of our friend. No one seemed inclined to speculate in the genus Platessa, and the flounder was withdrawn from the market.

☞ The Discourse on "The Revival," delivered in the Universalist Church in this city, on Sunday, April 18th, by Rev. Mr. Patterson, is now in press and will be ready for delivery the last of this week—being published by request of the Society. The breaking of one of our presses, last week, has delayed this and other work, and caused considerable inconvenience to ourselves and others. It is necessary to have a strong "lever to move the world."

May Festival—at Jefferson Hall.—The Ladies of the Universalist Society will hold a May Festival, on Tuesday evening next, at which there will be a variety of entertainments to give interest to the occasion. Among them there will be the Coronation of the May Queen. The tables will be furnished with refreshments and fancy articles, and music will be provided for the occasion.

The details of other matters of interest will be displayed to all who attend. Tickets 15 cents. Doors open at 7 o'clock.

The Hall will be open Wednesday afternoon, for children.—Admission 10 cents.

Old Folks Choir.—All persons who have ever met with this Choir, and all others who sing the old music, are invited to a social Rehearsal, at Exchange Hall, on Thursday Evening, at half-past 7.

Union Prayer Meeting in the Middle Street Chapel, from 8 to 9 o'clock this morning, to which all are invited.

☞ A dealer in this city gives notice that he has for sale iron slates. We suppose the frames are made of pine oak.

New York, May 3.—The anniversary of the Presbyterian Board of Foreign Missions was held in this city last evening. The Rev. Dr. Dabney of Virginia delivered the sermon. The receipts for the year, including a special contribution of $18,000 for repairing the losses in India, were $224,000; the expenditures $207,000.

(Washington correspondence.) — The President has received authentic information that a large body of Indians of various hostile tribes are collected on the head waters of the Red River. They are well armed, and say it is the intention of the Great Chief of the West, Brigham Young, to exterminate the white settlers on the frontiers. A regiment of government troops from Texas is now on the way to that point, having been ordered there some time since in anticipation of this movement.

Kansas.—M. F. Conway, President of the Convention which formed the late Kansas Constitution at Leavenworth City, has issued his proclamation that the Constitution shall be submitted to the people of Kansas for approval on the third Tuesday in May. The vote shall be by ballot; and those in favor of the Constitution shall write or print upon their ballots the words "For the Constitution," and those opposed to the Constitution shall write or print upon their ballots the words "Against the Constitution."

An old lady combated the idea of the moon being inhabited, by remarking with emphasis, that the idea was incredible; "for," said she, "what becomes of the people in the moon when there is nothing left but a little streak?"

A CARD TO THE LADIES.

DR. DUPONCO'S
French Periodical Golden Pills,
FOR FEMALES;

Infallible in Removing Stoppages or Irregularity of the Menses.

THESE Pills are nothing new, but have been used by the Doctor for many years, both in France and America, with unparalled success in every case; and he is urged by many thousand ladies who have used them to make the Pills public, for the alleviation of those suffering from any irregularities whatever, as well as to prevent pregnancy in those ladies whose health will not permit an increase of family. Pregnant females, or those supposing themselves so, are cautioned against using these Pills while pregnant, as the proprietor assumes no responsibility after the above admonition, although their mildness would prevent any mischief to health; otherwise these Pills are recommended. Full and explicit directions accompany each box.

It is the pure Tincture of the Italian Juniper Berry, whose more vinous extract is distilled and rectified with its spirituous solvent, which thus becomes a concentrated tincture of exquisite flavor and aroma, altogether, transcendant in its cordial and medicinal properties to any alcoholic stimulant now made in the world. It is now prescribed by more than 5,000 physicians in the United States, in cases of Gravel, Stone, Dropsy, and Bladder and Kidney Complaints.

MOSES & DOWNIE,

SOLE Agents for the above Goods, have on hand a large Stock of the same, suitable for shore and sea wear

These fabrics, since their first introduction to the public, (almost three years since,) have been fully tested, and the result has proved them to possess all the qualities requisite to make a perfect article. They have been adopted in the Monitors by gentlemen in the navy and merchant service, which they would be pleased to show any one who would favor them with a call. They have been applied for by the officers of the Falmouth, who have tested the Rubber goods, and found them unfit for sea service.

Nos. 33 & 37 Market Street.

MOSES & DOWNIE.

The following remedies are offered to the public as the most, most perfect, which medical science can afford. AYER'S CATHARTIC PILLS have been prepared with the utmost skill which the medical profession of this age possesses, and their effects show they have virtues which surpass any combination of medicines hitherto known. Other preparations do more or less good; but this cures such dangerous complaints, so quick and so surely, as to prove an efficacy and a power to uproot disease beyond any thing which men have known before. By removing the obstructions of the digestive organs and stimulating them into healthy action, they renovate the fountains of life and vigor,—health courses anew through the body, and the sick man is well again. They are adapted to disease, and disease only, for when taken by one in health they produce but little effect. This is the perfection of medicine. It is antagonistic to disease, and no more. Tender children may take them with impunity. If they are sick they will cure them, if they are well they will do them no harm.

Give them to some patient who has been prostrated with bilious complaint; see his bent-up, tottering form straighten with strength again; see his long-lost appetite return; see his clammy features become into health. Give them to some sufferer whose foul blood has burst out in scrofula till his skin is covered with sores; who stands, or sits, or lies in anguish. He has been drenched inside and out with every potion which ingenuity could suggest. Give him these PILLS, and mark the effect; see the scales fall from his body; see the new, fair skin that has grown under them; see the intelepor that is clean. Give them to him whose angry humors have planted rheumatism in his joints and bones; move him, and he screeches with pain; he too has been racked through every muscle of his body with liniments and salves; give him these PILLS to purify his blood; they may not cure him, for, alas! there are cases which no mortal power can reach; but mark, he walks with crutches now, and see he walks alone! Give them to some blind man. Give them to the lean, sour, haggard dyspeptic, whose gnawing stomach has long ago eaten every smile from his face and every muscle from his body. See his appetite return, and with it his health; see the sour face that was radiant with health and loveliness blasted and too early withering away; want of exercise or mental anguish, or some lurking disease, has deranged the internal organs of digestion, assimilation or secretion, till they do their office ill. Her blood is vitiated, her health is gone. Give her these PILLS to stimulate the vital principle into renewed vigor, to cast out the obstructions, and infuse a new vitality into the blood. Now look again—the roses blossom on her cheek, and where lately sorrow or joy buried from every feature. See the sweet infant wrapped with worms. Its wan, sickly features tell you without disguise, and painfully distinct, that they are eating its life away. Its pinched-up nose and ears, and restless sleepings, tell the dreadful truth in language which every mother knows. Give it these PILLS, large doses to sweep these vile parasites from the body. Now turn again and see the ruddy bloom of childhood. Is it nothing to do these things? Nay, are they not the marvel of this age? And yet they are given and you never pay a cent.

Have you the less serious symptoms of these distempers, they are the easier cured. Jaundice, Costiveness, Headache, Sickness, Heartburn, Foul Stomach, Nausea, Pain in the Bowels, Flatulency, Loss of Appetite, Rising's Food, Neuralgia, Gravel, and kindred complaints all arise from the derangements which these PILLS rapidly cure. Take them perseveringly, and under the counsel of a good Physician if you can; if not, take them judiciously by such advice as we give you, and health will follow. Dangerous diseases they cure, which afflict so many millions of the human race, are cast out like the devils of old—they must burrow in the brutes and in the sea. Price 25 cents per box—5 boxes for $1.

Through a trial of many years and through every nation of civilized men, AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL has been found to afford more relief and to cure more cases of pulmonary disease than any other remedy known to mankind. Cases of apparently settled consumption have been cured by it, and thousands of sufferers who were deemed beyond the reach of human aid have been restored to their friends and usefulness, to sound health and the enjoyments of life, by this all-powerful antidote to diseases of the lungs and throat. Even a cold that settled on the lungs. The dry, hacking cough, the glassy eye, and the pale, thin features of him who was lately lusty and strong, whisper to all but him CONSUMPTION. He tries every thing; but the disease is growing, or it vitals, and shows its fatal symptoms more and more every all his frame. He is taking the CHERRY PECTORAL now; it has stopped his cough and made his breathing easy; his sleep is sound at night; his appetite returns; and with it his strength, which had fled, which pierced his side is broken. Scarcely any neighborhood can be found which has not some living trophy like this to shadow forth the virtues which have won for the CHERRY PECTORAL an imperishable renown. But its usefulness does not end here. Nay, it accomplishes every purpose for which it is intended. The countless colds and coughs which it cures are the seed which would have ripened into a dreadful harvest of incurable diseases. Influenza, Croup, Bronchitis, Hoarseness, Pleurisy, Whooping-Cough, and all irritations of the throat and lungs are easily cured by the CHERRY PECTORAL if taken in season. Every family should have it by them, and they will find it an invaluable protection from the insidious prowler which assaults of the parent sheep from many a flock, the darling lamb from many a home.

Authenticated evidence of these facts, with directions for the treatment of each complaint, may be found in Ayer's American Almanac, of which we publish three millions, and scatter them broadcast over the earth, in order that the sick everywhere may have before them the information it contains. Druggists and dealers in medicine generally have them for distribution gratis, and also for sale these remedies, prepared by Dr. J. C. AYER, Practical and Analytical Chemist, Lowell, Mass.

S. D. & H. W. Smith,

—MANUFACTURERS OF—

Melodeons, Organ Melodeons,

—and—

PEDAL BASS MELODEONS.

No. 511 Washington St., Boston.

The first premium over all competitors, at the Fair of the Mass. Charitable Mechanic Association, of the National Fair, Washington, D. C., and at the Ohio State Fair, held at Columbus, Ohio, was awarded to these Manufacturers.

By means of a new method of Voicing, known only to themselves, they have succeeded in removing the harsh and buzzing sound which formerly characterized the instrument, and rendering the tones full, clear and organ like. The action is prompt and reliable, enabling the performer to execute the most rapid music without blurring the tones. The swell is arranged to give great expression.

THE PEDAL BASS MELODEONS,

Are designed particularly for Churches, Lodges, Halls, &c. It is arranged with two manuals, or banks of Keys, the lower set running an octave higher than the other, and may be used separately, clear and distinct, in one case two distinct instruments; or by use of the coupler, the two banks of keys may be played at the same time with the Pedals, which, in this connection with the Pedal Bass, will produce the effect of a large organ, and is sufficiently heavy to fill a house that seats from 1000 to 1500 persons.

THE ORGAN MELODEON

Is designed for parlor and private use. The construction is similar to the Pedal Bass Instrument, being arranged with two banks of Keys, and when used together, by means of the coupler, is capable of as great volume of power as the Church Instrument when used without the pedals. Also, every variety of MELODEONS for Parlor use.

Purchasers may rely upon instruments from our Manufactory, being made in the most complete and thorough manner. Having removed to the spacious Buildings

511 Washington Street,

We have every facility for manufacturing purpose, and employ none but the most experienced and skilful workmen. In short, we will promise our customers an Instrument equal, if not superior, to any in the market, and guarantee an entire and perfect satisfaction.

Music Teachers, Leaders of Choirs, and others interested in musical matters, are respectfully invited to visit our Rooms at any time and examine or test the instruments on exhibition for sale at their pleasure.

As a still further guarantee to the public as to the excellence of the MELODEONS from our Manufactory, we beg leave to refer, by permission, to the following

Piano Forte Manufacturers of Boston,

who have examined our Instruments, and will give their opinion when called upon:

Chickering & Sons, Hallett & Cumston,
T. Gilbert & Co., Wm. P. Emerson,
Brown & Allen, A. W. Ladd & Co.,
George Hewes, Woodward & Brown,
Newhall & Co.

MELODEONS RENTED.

Persons who wish to hire Melodeons with a view of purchasing at the end of the year, can have the rent credited as part payment of the purchase money. This mode is worthy of special note, as it enables those who desire a fair test of the instruments before purchasing, to obtain it at the expense of the manufacturers, to the extent at least of a year's rent.

Orders from any part of the country or world, sent direct to the manufactory in Boston, with cash, or satisfactory references, will be promptly attended to, and as faithfully executed as if the parties were present, or employed as agents to select, and on as reasonable terms.

More than 500,000 Bottles

SOLD IN THE
NEW ENGLAND STATES
IN ONE YEAR.

THE RESTORATIVE OF Prof. O. J. WOOD for restoring hair perfectly and permanently, has never yet had a rival. Volume after volume might be given from all parts of the world and from the highest sources, to show that it is a perfect Restorative; but read the circular and you cannot doubt; read also the following.

TEN HAIR.—People have for centuries been afflicted with bald heads, and the only remedy, heretofore known, has been those abominable wigs. Of late years, quite a number of bald heads these articles are being last dispensed with, but a great many persons still patronize them, because they know of no other remedy. Wood's Restorative and Tonics of different kinds. To all such persons we earnestly make the request that they will try once again, for in Wood's Restorative there is a remedy which is in fact. We know of a lady who was bald, who used the article a short time, and her head is covered completely with the finest and most beautiful curls imaginable. We know of numerous cases where hair was rapidly falling out, which it restored in greater perfection than it ever had been before.

It is also without doubt one of the best articles for keeping the hair in good condition, making it soft and glossy, removing dandruff, and has proved to be the greatest enemy to all the ills that hair is heir to.

It is the duty of every one to improve their personal appearance, and we offer no apology in regard to the ways of doing it; but every one will admit that a beautiful head of hair, either in man or woman, has object much to be desired, and there can be no reason why it should be left untried to obtain such a consideration.—Woman's Advocate, Philadelphia.

COCHECTON, Ohio, Nov. 17, 1856.

O. J. Wood & Co.—Gents: As I have been engaged in selling your Restorative, I have received from one of your local agents; R. M. Hackinson,) and having experienced the beneficial effects of it myself, I would like to obtain an agency for the State of Ohio. Some state in the Union I expect in the Drug business for several years, and have sold various preparations for the hair, but have found nothing that restores the secretive organs to healthy action, like that of yours, being convinced that your restorative is what you represent it to be, I would like to engage in the sale of it, for I am satisfied it must sell.

Yours truly, S. T. STOCKMAN.

WAYLAND, MASS., Feb. 5, 1857.

PROF. O. J. WOOD & CO.—Gents: Having realized the good effects of your Hair Restorative, I wish to state, that finding my hair growing thin, as well as gray, I was induced from what I read and heard, to try the article prepared by you, to promote its growth and change its color as it was in youth, both of which it has effected completely. In the operation I have used nearly 3 bottles.

Yours &c., JAMES FRENCH.

SMILES AT HOME.

"Take that home with you, dear," said Mrs. Lewis, her manner half smiling half serious.

"Take that home, Caddy?" said Mr. Lewis, turning towards his wife, curiously.

Now, Mrs. Lewis had spoken from the moment's impulse, and already partly regretted her remark.

"Take that home?" repeated her husband. "I don't understand you."

"That smiling face you turned upon Mr. Edwards when you answered his question just now."

Mr. Lewis slightly averted his head, and walked on in silence. They had called in at the store of Mr. Edwards to purchase a few articles, and were now on their way home. There was no smile on the face of Mr. Lewis, now, but a very grave expression instead—grave almost to sternness.—The words of his wife had taken him altogether by surprise; and though spoken lightly, had jarred upon his ears.

The truth was, Mr. Lewis, like a great many other men who have their own business cares and troubles, was in the habit of bringing home a sober and, too often a clouded face. It was in vain that his wife and children looked into that face for sunshine, or listened to his words for tones of cheerfulness.

"Take that home with you, dear."—Mrs. Lewis was already repenting this suggestion, made on the moment's impulse. Her husband was sensitive to a fault. He could not bear even an implied censure from his wife. And so she had learned to be very guarded in that particular.

"Take that home with you, dear! Ah me! I wish the words had not been said. There will be darker clouds now, and gracious knows they were dark enough before! Why can't Mr. Lewis leave his cares and business behind him, and let us see the old, pleasant, smiling face again? I thought this morning that he had forgotten how to smile? but I see that he can smile if he tries. Ah! Why don't he try at home?"

So Mrs. Lewis talked to herself as she moved along by the side of her husband, who had not spoken a word since her reply to her query. "Take what home?" Block after block was passed, and street after street crossed, and still there was silence between them.

"Of course," said Mrs. Lewis speaking in her own thoughts. "Of course he is offended. He won't bear a word from me. I might have known that talking out in this way would only make things worse. Oh, dear! I'm getting out of all heart!"

"What then, Caddy?"

Mrs. Lewis almost started at the sound of her husband's voice, breaking unexpectedly upon her ear, in a softened tone.

"What then?" he repeated: turning towards her and looking down into her shyly upturned face.

"It would send warmth and radiance through the whole house," said Mrs. Lewis, her tones all a trembling with feeling.

"You think so?"

"I know so. Only try it, dear, for this one evening."

"It isn't so easy a thing to put on a smiling face Caddy, when thought is oppressed with care."

"It didn't seem to require much effort just now," said Mrs. Lewis, glancing at her husband with something of archness in her look.

Again a shadow dropped down upon the face of Mr. Lewis, which was again partly turned away; and again he walked on in silence.

"He is so sensitive!" Mrs. Lewis said to herself as the shadow on her husband's face darkened over her own. "I have to be as careful of my words as if talking to a spoiled child."

"No, it did not require much effort on the part of Mr. Lewis to smile, as he passed a few words, lightly, with Mr. Edwards. The remark of his wife had not really displeased him; it had only set him thinking. After remaining gravely silent, because he was undergoing a brief self examination, Mr. Lewis said—

"You thought the smile given to Edwards came easily enough?"

"It did not seem to require an effort," replied Mrs. Lewis.

"No, not much effort was required," said Mr. Lewis, his tone slightly depressed. "But this must be taken into account; my mind was in a certain state of excitement, or activity, that repressed sober feelings, and made smiling an easy thing. So we smile and are gay in company, at a cost of little effort, because we are smiling and gay, and we feel the common sphere of excitement. How different it often is when we are alone, I need not say. You, Caddy, are guilty of the sober face at home as well as your husband."

Mr. Lewis spoke with a tender reproof in his voice.

"But the sober face is caught from yours oftener than you imagine, my husband," replied Mrs. Lewis.

"Are you certain of that Caddy?"

"Very certain. You make the sunlight and the shadow of your home. Smile upon us; give us cheerful words; enter into our feelings and interests, and there will be no brighter home in all the land. A shadow on your countenance is a vail for my heart: and that is true in respect to our children. Our pulses strike too nearly in unison not to be disturbed when your heart has lost its even beat."

Concluded to-morrow.

THE GREAT ORDNATION ROCK.—A gentleman from Tamworth informs the Concord Statesman that some of the people of that town, having raised a sufficient sum, have purchased a small plot of land, and are about to place an enclosure around it, in order to perpetuate recollections connected with the Great Rock inside the fence. SMILES AT HOME.

Concluded from yesterday.

Again, Mr. Lewis walked on silent, his face partly averted; and again his wife began to think that she had spoken too freely. But he soon dispelled the impression, for he said—

"I am glad, Caddy, that you have spoken thus plainly. I only wish you had done so before. I see how it is. My smiles have been for the outside world—the world that neither loved or regarded me—and my clouded brow for the dear ones at home, for whom thought and care are exerting activities."

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis were now standing at their own door, where they paused a moment, and then went in. Instantly on passing his threshold, Mr. Lewis felt the pressure upon him of his usual state. The ease of his feelings began to change. The cheerful, interested exterior put on for those he met in business intercourse, began rapidly to change, and a sober hue to succeed. Like most business men, his desire for profitable results was ever far in advance of the slow evolutions of trade, and his daily history was a history of disappointments, in some measure dependent upon his restless anticipations. He was willing to work and to wait, as he should be, and like many of his class, neglected the pearls that lay here and there along his life path, because they were inferior in value to those he hoped to find just a little way in advance. The consequence was, that when the day's excitement was over, his mind fell into a brooding state, and lingered over its disappointments, or looked forward with failing hope in the future—for hope in many things had been long deferred. And so it rarely had smiles for his home.

"Take that home with you, dear," whispered Mrs. Lewis, as they moved along the passage, and before they had joined the family. She had an instinctive consciousness that her husband was in danger of relapsing into his usual state.

The warning was just in time.

"Thanks for the words!" said he; "I will not forget them."

And he did not; but at once railed himself, and to the glad surprise of Jenny, Will, and Mary, met them with a new face, covered with fatherly smiles, and pleasant questions, in pleasant tones, of their day's enjoyments. The feelings of children move in quick transitions. They had not expected a greeting like this; but the response was instant. Little Jenny climbed into her father's arms. Will came and stood by the side of his chair, answering in lively tones his questions. Mary, older by a few years than the rest, leaned against her father's shoulder, and laid her white hand softly upon his head, smoothing back the dark hair, just showing a little gray, from his broad, manly temples.

A pleasant group was this for Mrs. Lewis, as she came from her chamber to the sitting-room, whence she had gone to lay off her bonnet and shawl, and change her dress. Well did her husband understand the meaning look she gave him; and warmly did her heart respond to the smile he threw back upon her.

"Words fitly spoken are like apples of gold in pictures of silver," said Mr. Lewis, speaking to her as she came in.

"What do you mean by that?" asked Mary, looking curiously at her father's face.

"Mother understands," replied Mr. Lewis, smiling tenderly upon his wife.

"Something pleasant must have happened," said Mary.

"Something pleasant? Why do say that?" asked Mr. Lewis.

"You and mother look so happy," replied Mary.

"And we have cause to be happy," answered the father, as he drew his arm lightly around her, "in having three such good children."

Mary laid her cheek to his, and whispered: "If you are smiling and happy, our father! home will be like heaven."

Mr. Lewis kissed her, but did not reply. He felt a rebuke in her words. But the rebuke did not throw a chill over his feelings; it only gave a new strength to his purpose.

"Don't distribute all your smiles.—Keep a few of the warmest and brightest for home," said Mrs. Lewis, as she parted with her husband on the next morning.—He kissed her, but did not promise. The smiles were kept, however, and evening saw them, though not for the outside world. Other and many evenings saw the same cheerful smiles, and the same happy home. And was not Mr. Lewis a better and happier man? Of course he was. And so would all men be, if they would take home with them the smiling aspect they so often exhibit, as they meet their fellow men in business intercourse, or exchange words in passing compliments.—Take your smiles and cheerful words home with you, husbands, fathers and brothers. Your hearths are cold without them.

The pride of no person in a flourishing condition, is more justly to be dreaded, than that of him who is mean and cringing, under a doubtful and unprosperous fortune.

If there are men whose weak side has not been discovered, it is only because it has never been accurately sought after.

Avoid entering into an argument with a fool; man in a railway car, as it is sure to lead to high words.

LANCET, LEECHES AND BLISTERS.
INSTEAD of being a panacea for all maladies, it has control over but ONE MALADY—has but ONE AIM—accomplishes but ONE THING, to wit: removes INFLAMMATORY DISEASE—whatever be its form or locality—whether in the head, throat, chest, abdomen, extremities or skin. Every form of inflammation (but no other disease) is subdued, by it as easily as fire is extinguished by water. Is it asked, how it does this?—simply by restoring the lost balance between the fluids and solids. Such is its potency, that like vaccine matter, it requires merely what adheres to the point of a quill dipped into a solution of it, to affect the entire system.
☞ Of its intrinsic value, the enlightened community, and not the discoverer, must be the judge.

WEDNESDAY, MAY 5, 1858.

EXETERIANA.

EXETER, May 4th.

Dear Chronicle:—Exeter has suffered greatly from the late financial epidemic, but is now convalescent and on a fair road to recovery. It may be from contrast that business matters make such a lively appearance, but it certainly seems that a change for the better has been made from the apathetic state in which everything has been situated for the past six months. Our stores have opened for the spring trade, which has commenced briskly enough.—One of the most thriving establishments in this line is the wholesale and retail bookstore of Odlin & Perkins, at the stand on Front street, lately occupied by C. W. Gale. These gentlemen, the proprietors of the Exeter and Boston express, seem expressly made for their new business also, so gentlemanly and accommodating are they, and so flourishing is the trade they have already secured. The factory has not yet commenced running, but this consummation, so devoutly to be wished for, will probably be brought about at an early day. A cargo of cotton is now on its way for this mill. Messrs. Head and Jewell's carriage manufactory employs nearly its usual number of hands. Among the specimens of handicraft executed by this firm, we notice the refitting of a splendid hack owned by Dennett & Odlon of your city.—Buildings are in course of erection in all parts of the town; in short, it may be said, in imitation of the "Greek idiom," that so extensive are operations in this department, that many houses are being made this year which were never built before!

Quite a nice little "surprise party" came off here a few days since. The inmates of the "Heart of Mid Lothian," on Prison Hill, were waited upon by a delegation who kindly offered them a change of location, no doubt thinking the journey and the change of air to be remarkably conducive to the health and happiness of all concerned. They were conveyed by horse power, with great attention, to a newer and more commodious dwelling house, near the railroad, where they were ushered into apartments provided expressly for them, and unsurpassed for comfort and convenience. They in turn surprised their kind attendants by disclosing a number of tools which, with singular forethought, they had brought with them, perhaps as mementoes of past scenes. There are seven occupants of the new building, of which number Mr. Andrew Goodrich, of Portsmouth, constitutes an unit.

The festival of the Unitarian Society is held this day and evening at the Town Hall, which has been tastily decorated for the occasion. Besides festoons of evergreen and flags, in the middle of the hall is a large square "bazaar," beautifully trimmed, and displaying on its counters a charming array of fancy articles. A Maypole, of evergreen and flowers, announces that it is the advent of spring which is thus commemorated. The programme reads:—breakfast in the morning, from eight till twelve o'clock, and sale of fancy articles, the remainder of the day and evening.—There are attractions here presented which we at least cannot resist.

May-day is not enough in the old England style of May to enlist many votaries in her cause in New England. The only celebration in this region was a horse race at Scotland Hill, in Haverhill, Mass. "Exeter Boy," owned by Alva Wood, Esq., of this town, ran against "Lady Macbeth," of North Andover, for a purse of $25, best two in three, half-a-mile course. Lady M. was the winner.

The Court of Common Pleas held a rather protracted session, commencing on the 19th and adjourning on Saturday last.—Nearly all the actions tried at this court have been carried up to the Superior Court. Some very fine speeches have been made by advocates, not to the twelve "on compulsion" merely, but to a respectable auditory of spectators.

The religious interest has rather increased than diminished in this town. We understand that prayer meetings are held four times a week in the Abbot Hall boarding house, connected with the Academy, and that several converts have been made among the students. On Sunday last six persons joined the First Congregational Society—Rev. Mr. Lazell's.

An intolerable nuisance in the shape of a drinking, gambling saloon has been suffered to continue in full operation for nearly a year. A few days ago, one of our most estimable clergymen, a man of practical christianity, visited this place in order to persuade its occupants to forsake their way, but his efforts were unavailing. It is said that a few nights since the proprietor cleared all of $75 by setting up a roulette table, and that one of his patrons lost over $30 in this delectable amusement. It is a shame that the authorities should permit this state of things.

Mr. Benjamin D. Leighton having 396 majority over Col. Smith, for Register of Deeds, enters upon the duties of his office to-day. If he proves as popular an officer as the Colonel,—and we have no doubt he will,—there will be little fault found.

Yours, F. G.

CUMBERLAND CO., MAINE.—There has just been a large temperance convention in the county of Cumberland, in view of the present aspects of the cause.

The resolutions were as follows:

Resolved, That though Legislation may accomplish much towards relieving our State of the withering curse of intemperance, the Christian church is the chief guardian of this great moral interest, and when it shall do its whole duty fearlessly, the days of rum-making, rum-selling, and rum-drinking will be numbered.

Resolved, That since the law passed by the late Legislature, and to be submitted to the people, contains the essential principle of Prohibition, it is both the duty and the privilege of every friend of Temperance in the State to record his vote in its favor; it being distinctly understood that in so doing, we by no means endorse all the details of said law.

Resolved, That the aim of the friends of Prohibition in the present campaign should be not merely to secure a majority of votes cast, for the new law, but a majority of all the votes in the State.

Resolved, That the Legislature having formed a Prohibitory Law, to be submitted to the people for their ratification or rejection, it is manifestly the entire duty of the entire press of the State, to urge upon the people the necessity of its adoption.

Resolved, That we rejoice to know that the best men of both parties, Democrats and Republicans, are in favor of Prohibition, and intend to use their influence to secure its adoption in this State on the 7th of June.

Resolved, That we learn with pleasure that the State Temperance Committee, and a Committee of the Grand Division of the Sons of Temperance, have co-operated and projected measures for a thorough canvassing of the State with reference to a full vote upon the Liquor Law.

Resolved, That the clergymen of all denominations in the State are respectfully and earnestly invited to appropriate a portion of some Sunday service to the matter of urging their hearers to vote for Prohibition on the 7th of June.

Hon. S. Perham, of Woodstock, made some very pertinent remarks, in connection with important statistics. He believed that a great many men were enlisting in the cause now, who had not been reached before. During the past season, about one hundred and fifty new Societies had been formed; about ten thousand intemperate persons had signed the pledge. Pauperism and crime had increased just in proportion to the rum sold. In one town where the traffic was suppressed in 1854, there were only two paupers in the town, and they were the idiotic children of intemperate parents! costing the town about $100 per annum. In 1856, after the enactment of the license law, the number of paupers increased so that the town was taxed $750; and in 1857, the round sum of $1,250! From an estimate he had made, he found that it had cost the State about twice as much to take care of its criminals in 1857 as it had in 1853. He understood that there were from 70 to 84 in the jail in Cumberland county during the past year! About $20,000 were now wanted to enlarge the State Prison. Such a state of things existed everywhere, where intemperance prevailed. Of 6000 persons tried before the New York Court of Special Sessions last year, only ninety-four were sober when arrested! But he hoped the time was at hand when such a state of things would cease to exist. He believed two-thirds of the people in the State were in favor of prohibition, and if they could all be induced to go to the polls on the 7th of June, a new era would be inaugurated.

The revival at Portsmouth, Ohio, has terminated in a public debate of a week, between Rev. Mr. Franklin and Rev. Mr. Merrill, on the subject of baptism. There was a high state of belligerent excitement, and one of the clergymen was presented with a $100 gold watch by the party that considered him the victor. His reverend opponent arose to say that he expected his reward in heaven, but was promptly hissed down! The revival stopped, as might have been expected, when the heated controversy began.—Exchange.

"Great men are not always wise."

☞ Mr. Glover, an English member of Parliament, has been sentenced to four months imprisonment for having made a false declaration as to his qualification to sit in the House of Commons. It is the first conviction under the law.

D. E. Somes, Esq., of Biddeford, (formerly Mayor) has contracted to employ from 50 to 150 of the Reform School, in making shoes. The boys are to work six hours a day, at the School. Mr. Somes has about 300 persons in his employ.—Portland Adv.

N. H. METHODIST CONFERENCE.

The New Hampshire Methodist Episcopal Conference held its annual session at Great Falls, last week. There were 60 members present, and Bishop Scott presided. Eight candidates were admitted to full connection, among them Rev. John L. Trefren. Some excitement was occasioned by one of the preachers, asking them in the examination if they used tobacco, and declaring that he considered its use an objection to a candidate. They all replied in the negative but one, and he refused to answer.

The following are some of the appointments for the ensuing year. Among the appointments are three brothers Holman—Sullivan Holman to Great Falls; Calvin Holman to Dover; J. B. Holman, Warren and Wentworth. The next Conference will be held in Portsmouth.

CONGRESS.—On Monday, in the Senate, the subject of internal improvements, was discussed under a resolution to appropriate $50.000 to be expended in finishing the channel of St. Clair flats. The matter was referred. The Indian appropriation bill (embacing $1,250,000) was passed—26 to 9.

The House of Representatives, after several ineffectual attempts to adopt special rules to expedite business,—went into Committee of the whole on the bill making appropriations for the legislative, executive and judicial expenses of the Government. Pending the consideration of this question a message was received, covering a copy of the correspondence relative to Indian affairs in Washington, Oregon and California. The House refused to print the documents; and adjourned without making any disposition of the business in hand.

WASHINGTON, May 3—Senator Biggs was to-day confirmed by the Senate as Judge of the United States Court for North Carolina, in place of Henry Potter, recently deceased, who occupied the station 56 years, and who was appointed by Thomas Jefferson.

The nomination of Judge Loring, of Masschusetts, to supply the vacancy in the Court of Claims, occasioned by the death of Judge Gilchrist, was communicated to the Senate by the President today. Nearly all the Democratic Senators united in the request for his appointment.

R. H. Gillett was also to-day nominated as Solicitor of the Court of Claims, in place of Montgomery Blair, removed.

The last two nominations have not yet been acted upon.

It is said the President had prepared a message on the affairs of Utah, which would have been sent to Congress had the Deficiency bill been defeated, as on its passage depended the support of the expedition to that Territory.

The report of a forthcoming message from the President on the Cuban affairs is received, but can be traced to no authentic source.

☞ In Boston, we perceive, per Traveller and other papers, there is a united minister's meeting on Monday at noon, for prayer and conference; at one of their meetings, it is said there was quite a number of clergymen present, including Baptists, Methodists, Unitarians, Orthodox Congregationalists, Universalists, Christian Baptists, &c.

Rev. Dr. Neale presided, and introduced the exercises with prayer, reading of the Scripture and appropriate remarks.

The meeting was opened for all present, and all were invited to take part either in prayer or remark, as they might desire. At this stage of the meeting, was counted forty-six clergymen present. It was a delightful sight to see so many clergymen of different denominations uniting together in prayer and joining in sacred songs.

The remarks of all exhibited a kind, christian spirit, and there seemed to be an earnest desire to receive a fresh baptism of the Holy Ghost. A number of other clergymen came in before the meeting closed, making in all between fifty and sixty present.

☞ Rev. James M. Palmer of New Market, has, we learn, received and accepted a call from the Congregational church at Rochester.

☞ We learn that Rev. D. B. Bradford of Raymond, has received a call from the Congregational church at Salmon Falls, to become their pastor.

Use Philbrick's Celebrated Fire-Kindlings.

THESE Kindlings are the best of anything that has ever been used for wood or charcoal fires. They are CHEAP, a Box containing 144 squares, 1 square being sufficient to kindle a fire, burning from 8 to 10 minutes with a free blaze, therefore kindling nearly 6 fires for 1 cent, and are not affected by age or climate. They are safe, being composed of a substance not liable to spontaneous combustion; thereby dispensing with use of shavings and paper, thus removing a great risk of fire from buildings, and are HANDIER, CHEAPER and CLEANER.

DIRECTIONS.—One of the small squares lighted and placed on the bottom of the stove or grate is sufficient to kindle a wood or anthracite fire.

LOCAL.

☞ A walk occasionally in the vicinity of the C. & P. Railroad, inclines one to suppose that the Freighting department of this road must for some weeks past have been paying handsomely. The trains down are long and well loaded with stone, brick, and sand, for the Custom House; large quantities of heavy ship timber and spars for the ship and spar yards on the river; and what is of great consequence to all consumers, large quantities of hard and soft wood. The trains up are well loaded with corn, flour, and grain of all kinds; salt, coal, molasses, lime;—and in fact it is quite surprising to one seldom in that vicinity, to see the large quantities of these articles daily brought down and carried up on this, as some suppose, dead railroad.—To be sure, the number of passengers, each trip, is rather small; but so far as the freight department is concerned, if the quantities up and down for the two months past would continue through the year and increase in proportion, the receipts would certainly astonish an original subscriber.

☞ Nobody seems to know who started the alarm of fire, on Sunday afternoon. There are various reports current—that a cry was made at all the church doors simultaneously; and Rev. Mr. Burnham, the celebrated Adventist, who was preaching in the Temple, said, there and then, that it was done to disturb him, as was not unusual—and other stories are told—but there seems no foundation for any of them. Somebody cried fire first, however; and the public ought to know who—by means of a "fire inquest," or some other process. It is no light thing to disturb a whole city in this way.

Most of the meetings were entirely broken up; though in one or two, services were resumed and finished. The streets were thronged with people, hastening they didn't know where—and they didn't find out, either.

☞ About sunset, on Monday, might have been seen—were seen, four young men, strangers we thought, staggering down Congress street to Pleasant,—all drunk! If they had any brains, "an one-my put into their mouths" had stolen them away. Valiant defenders they, no doubt, of the liberty to do just as they have a mind to.

TRUCKS.—Messrs Editors:—I noticed a few weeks since, in your paper, that a vote of the city Government changed the stand for Trucks, Carts, &c., from Market to Bow Street; and although quite a long time has elapsed since, the ordinance does not appear to be enforced. The trucks have been for a number of years a nuisance, as the business in this part of the city, occupies all the standing-room for country traders and their teams, while there is plenty of room in the place selected for the Drays, &c., on Bow Street. I hope this thing will be attended to forthwith.

MERCHANTS' ROW.

☞ We notice a portion of the iron work, such as pillars, girders, and plates, for the New Custom House, are being landed from the sch. Silver Cloud, from New York, and teamed to the ground, preparatory to being laid in their proper places to sustain this fine fire-proof building. The work is progressing with dispatch now.

THE MAY FESTIVAL.—The Festival last evening, at Jefferson Hall, was a very pleasing entertainment. The Hall is appropriately and beautifully decorated, and the tables display a great variety of fancy and tasteful articles.

Two little girls in Shaker costume, singing Shaker songs, greatly amused the auditence. The dancing of the children around the May-pole was a very pretty exhibition. But the principal attraction was the May Queen.

This is a little operatic drama performed by twenty children. The piece commences with a chorus at day-break, by four maids and three guards of honor, who are soon joined by twelve representative maidens—three from the north, and the same number from the south, the east and the west. The Queen is shortly heard advancing to the grove, warbling a sweet melody, which is answered by the attendant group in a fine chorus; during which the Queen makes her appearance, and is gladly welcomed and crowned by the maids of honor, after which she makes an address to her subjects and joins them in each succeeding chorus. A valedictory address, followed by the closing chorus ends the piece.

The music and addresses were prepared under the direction of Mr. H. P. Crane, who deserves some credit for the manner in which he has produced them.

The Hall will be open this afternoon and evening. Tickets 10 and 15 cts., to be had of B. Hutchings. CRITIC.

RUNNING THE RISK.—A day or two since a sailor who was stopping at the Eastern Railroad station in Portsmouth, waiting for the next train, enquired of a bystander where he could get some liquor. A place near by was pointed out to him, and he enquired if it was good. The answer was that it was not, and was such poisonous stuff that it would probably kill. A few minutes afterwards the sailor called to a negro, who was sawing wood near by, and took him into the shop which had been pointed out, where he treated him to a drink. The bar-tender asked the sailor if he was not also going to drink, but received a negative answer, and both visitors left. Very soon the sailor again made his appearance, called for liquor, and was asked why he did not drink when he was in before. He replied that he had been watching the "nigger and I knot it was just seven minutes since he drank, and as the liquor had not killed him in that time, he believed he could stand it, and would run the risk.—Traveller.

There may be some romance about this, but we give it as we find it. No doubt the reality is bad enough.

THE FIRE IN BOSTON.—It is supposed that a young man named Patrick Reardon was buried beneath the ruins of the fire Sunday morning. He was at work moving goods from the house corner of Federal street and Milton place, during the time of the fire in the adjoining block, and has been missing since about the time the southerly wall fell. A number of his friends and others were at work searching for his body. [Since found.]

Workmen were engaged in removing the rubbish about the fire and clearing away the ruins. The iron safe belonging to the Douglas Axe Company was got out from the ruins, and all the books and papers were found in perfect preservation.

A correspondent of the Transcript relates the following incident:—

"Among the cinders which the wind scattered through the streets south of the fire, was a bit of paper burned to a black coal, which appeared to be a portion of a leaf from Scott's 'Kenilworth Castle,' at the opening of a chapter. This fragment fell in an enclosure connected with the dwelling No. 2 Tyler st., and these four lines thereon could be distinctly read:—

'The death-bell thrice was heard to ring,
An Aerial voice was heard to call;
And thrice the raven flapped his wing
Around the towers of Common-hall.'

We thought this would appear somewhat remarkable to those who heard the fire telegraph bells clang out the alarm in strokes by threes to indicate the district of the fire."

This fire confirms a lesson taught before; that with the immensely high structures which are now built we must either have some more efficient instruments to contend with conflagrations, or the insurance companies must materially enhance their risks. This fire caught in fifth story of a high warehouse, where it could not be reached by the engines, and there was nothing to be done but to wait till the fire burnt down to within their projectile force. And there are hundreds of other structures, built and in building, in which the same thing must happen. Many who saw the unavailing efforts of our strong-armed firemen, were disposed to ask whether the steam engine had had a fair trial, and had not been too hastily condemned.—Courier.

4 DAYS LATER FROM EUROPE.

HALIFAX, May 4.—The royal mail steamship America arrived here this forenoon.

The Liverpool Cotton Market had been buoyant, and under sales of the week of 88,000 bales, prices were 1-8d a 1-4d better than at the departure of the Arabia.

The Liverpool Breadstuffs Market was generally quiet. Corn, however, showed an advancing tendency.

Provisions were dull and heavy, with the exception of bacon, which was slightly higher.

Consols closed at 96 3-4 a 96 7-8.

Ship James Baines and cargo were burnt in the London docks. Loss £170,000.

SENTENCE OF TUCKERMAN.—New Haven, May 4.—Tuckerman, the mail robber, was this morning brought before Judge Ingersoll of the U. S. Circuit Court, for sentence, which was imprisonment at hard labor for twenty-one years. During the address of the Judge, he shook convulsively, as if he was being condemned to death.

It is the pure Tincture of the Italian Juniper Berry, whose more vinous extract is distilled and rectified with its spirituous solvent, which thus becomes a concentrated tincture of exquisite flavor and aroma, altogether, transcendant in its cordial and medicinal properties to any alcoholic stimulant now made in the world. It is now prescribed by more than 5,000 physicians in the United States, in cases of Gravel, Gout, Dropsy, and Bladder and Kidney Complaints.

MOSES & DOWNIE,

SOLE Agents for the above Goods, have on hand a large Stock of the same, suitable for shore and sea wear

These fabrics, since their first introduction to the public, (almost three years since,) have been fully tested, and the result has proved they possess all the qualities requisite to make a perfect article. They have on hand numerous testimonials from gentlemen in the navy and merchant service, which they would be pleased to show any one who would favor them with a call. They have been supplying some of the officers of the Portsmouth, who have tested the Rubber goods, and found them unit for sea service.

Nos. 33 & 37 Market Street.

MOSES & DOWNIE.

The following remedies are offered to the public as the best, most perfect, which medical science can afford. Dr Ayer's Cathartic Pills have been prepared with the utmost skill which the medical profession of this age possesses, and their effects show they have virtues which surpass any combination of medicines hitherto known. Other preparations do more or less good; but this one such dangerous complaints, so quick and so surely, as to prove an efficacy and a power to uproot disease beyond any thing which men have known before. By removing the obstructions of the internal organs and stimulating them into healthy action, they renovate the fountains of life and vigor, health and courses anew through the body, and the sick man is well again. They are adapted to disease, and disease only, for when taken by one in health they produce but little effect. This is the perfection of medicine. It is antagonistic to disease, and not to men. Tender children may take them with impunity. If they are sick they will cure them, if they are well they will do them no harm.

Give them to some patient who has been prostrated with bilious complaint, and watch the gradual pattering form straighten with strength again; see his long-lost appetite return; see his clammy features blossom into health. Give them to some sufferer whose blood has burst out in scrofula till his skin is covered with sores; who stands, or sits, or lies in anguish. He has been drenched inside and out with every potion which ingenuity could suggest. Give him these Pills, and mark the effect; the scabs fall from his body; see the new, fair skin that has grown under them; see the late leper that is clean. Give them to him whose angry humors have planted rheumatism in his joints and bones; move him, and he screeches with pain; he too has been soaked through every muscle of his body with liniments and lotions; give him these Pills to purify his blood; they may not cure him, for, alas! there are cases which no mortal power can reach; but mark, he walks with crutches now, and now he walks alone; they have cured him. Give them to the lank, sour, haggard dyspeptic, whose gnawing stomach has long ago eaten every smile from his face and every muscle from his body. See his appetite return, and with it his health; see the new man. See her that was radiant with health and loveliness blasted and too early withering away; want of exercise or mental anguish, or some lurking disease, has deranged the internal organs of digestion, assimilation or secretion, till they do their office ill. Her blood is vitiated, her health is gone. Give her these Pills to stimulate the vital principle into renewed vigor, to cast out the obstructions, and infuse a new vitality into the blood. Now look again—the roses blossom on her cheek, and where lately sorrow sat joy bursts from every features. See the sweet infant wasted with worms. Its wan, sickly features tell you without disguise, and painfully distinct, that they are sapping its life away. Its pinched up nose and ears, and restless sleepings, tell the dreadful truth in language which every mother knows. Give it the Pills in large doses to sweep these vile worms from the body. Now turn again and see the ruddy bloom of childhood. Is it nothing to do these things? Nay, are they not the marvel of this age? And yet they are for sale to you every day.

Have you the least symptoms of these distempers, they are the easier cured. Jaundice, Costiveness, Headache, Sickness, Heartburn, Foul Stomach, Nausea, Pain in the Bowels, Flatulency, Loss of Appetite, King's Evil, Neuralgia, Gout, and all complaints all arise from the derangements which these Pills rapidly cure. Take them perseveringly, and under the counsel of a good Physician if you can; if not, take them judiciously by such advice as we give you, and the distressing, dangerous diseases they cure, which afflict so many millions of the human race, are not alike the devils of old—they must burrow in the brutes and in the sea. Price 25 cents per box—5 boxes for $1.

Through a trial of many years and through every nation of civilized men, Ayer's Cherry Pectoral has been found to be the most reliable cure for more cases of pulmonary disease than any other remedy known to mankind. Cases of apparently settled consumption have been cured by it, and thousands of sufferers who were deemed beyond the reach of human aid have found in it a cure for their friends and usefulness, to sound health and the enjoyments of life, by this all-powerful antidote to diseases of the lungs and throat. Here a cold had settled on the lungs. The dry, hacking cough, the glassy eye, and the pale, wasted form of him who was lately lusty and strong, whisper to all but the Consumption. He tries every thing; but the disease is gnawing at his vitals, and shows its fatal symptoms more and more over all his frame. He is taking the Cherry Pectoral now; it has stopped his cough and made his breathing easy; his sleep is sound at night; his appetite returns, and with it his strength. The dart which pierced his side is broken. Scarcely any neighborhood can be found which has not some trophy like this to shadow forth the virtues which have won for the Cherry Pectoral an imperishable renown. But its usefulness does not end here. Nay, it accomplishes more by prevention than cure. The common colds and coughs which it cures are the seed which would have ripened into a dreadful crop of incurable diseases. Influenza, Croup, Bronchitis, Hoarseness, Pleurisy, Whooping Cough, and all irritations of the throat and lungs are easily cured by the Cherry Pectoral, if taken in season. Every family should have it by them, and they will find it an invaluable protection from the insidious prowler which carries off the parent sheep from many a flock, the child's bleat from many a home.

Authenticated certificates of these facts, with directions for the treatment of each complaint, may be found in Ayer's American Almanac, of which we publish three millions, and scatter them broadcast over the earth, in order that the sick every where may have before them the information it contains. Druggists and dealers in medicine generally have them for distribution gratis, and also for sale these remedies, prepared by Dr. J. C. Ayer, Practical and Analytical Chemist, Lowell, Mass.

S. D. & H. W. Smith,

—MANUFACTURERS OF—

Melodeons, Organ Melodeons,

—and—

PEDAL BASS MELODEONS.

No. 511 Washington St., Boston,

The first premium over all competitors, at the Fair of the Mass. Charitable Mechanic Association, of the National Fair, Washington, D. C., also at the Ohio State Fair, held at Columbus, Ohio, was awarded to these Manufacturers.

By means of a new method of Voicing, known only to themselves, they have succeeded in removing the harsh and buzzing sound which formerly characterized the instrument, and rendering the tones full, clear and organ like. The action is prompt and reliable, enabling the performer to execute the most rapid music without blurring the tones. The swell is arranged to give great expression.

THE PEDAL BASS MELODEONS,

Are designed particularly for Churches, Lodges, Halls, &c. It is arranged with two manuals, or banks of Keys, the lower set running an octave higher than the other, and may be used separately, and thus get in one case two distinct instruments; or by use of the coupler, the two banks of keys may be played at the same time by use of the front set only. This combined with the Pedal Bass, will produce the effect of a large organ, and is sufficiently heavy to fill a house that seats from 1000 to 1500 persons.

THE ORGAN MELODEON

Is designed for parlor and private use. The construction is similar to the Church Instrument, being arranged with two banks of Keys, and stopped together, by means of the coupler, is capable of as great volume of power as the Church Instrument when used without the pedals. Also, every variety of Melodeons for Parlor use.

Purchasers may rely upon instruments from our Manufactory, being made in the most complete and thorough manner. Having removed to the spacious Buildings

511 Washington Street,

We have every facility for manufacturing purposes, and employ none but the most experienced and skilful workmen. In short, we will warrant every Melodeon or Instrument equal, if not superior, to any Manufacturer, and guarantee an entire and perfect satisfaction.

We invite Teachers, Leaders of Choirs, and others interested in musical matters, are respectfully invited to visit our Rooms at any time and examine or test the instruments on exhibition for sale at the lowest prices.

As a still further guarantee to the public as to the excellence of the MELODEONS THEY OFFER FOR SALE, we beg leave to refer, by permission, to the following

Piano Forte Manufacturers of Boston,

who have examined our Instruments, and will give their opinion when called upon:

Chickering & Sons, Hallett & Cumston,
T. Gilbert & Co., Wm. P. Emerson,
Brown & Allen, A. W. Ladd & Co.,
George Hewes, Woodward & Brown,
Newhall & Co.

MELODEONS RENTED.

Persons who wish to hire Melodeons with a view of purchasing at the end of the year, can be accommodated, and the payment of the purchase money. This matter is worthy of special note, as it enables those who desire a fair test of the instruments before purchasing, to obtain it at the expense of the manufacturers, to the extent at least of a year's rent.

Orders from any part of the country or world, sent direct to the manufactory in Boston, with cash, or satisfactory reference, will be promptly attended to, and as faithfully executed as if the parties were present, or employed an agent to select, and on as reasonable terms.

NEW ENGLAND STATES

THE RESTORATIVE OF Prof. O. J. WOOD for restoring hair perfectly and permanently, has never yet had a rival. Volume after volume might be written to show the wonders of this hair life giver. Its pamphlet-up nose and ears, and restless sleepings, tell the dreadful truth in language which every mother knows. Give it the Pills in large doses to sweep these vile worms from the body. Now turn again and see the ruddy bloom of childhood. Is it nothing to do these things? Nay, are they not the marvel of this age? And yet they are for sale to you every day.

Have you the least symptoms of these distempers, they are the easier cured. Jaundice, Costiveness, Headache, Sickness, Heartburn, Foul Stomach, Nausea, Pain in the Bowels, Flatulency, Loss of Appetite, King's Evil, Neuralgia, Gout, and all complaints all arise from the derangements which these Pills rapidly cure. Take them perseveringly, and under the counsel of a good Physician if you can; if not, take them judiciously by such advice as we give you, and the distressing, dangerous diseases they cure, which afflict so many millions of the human race, are not alike the devils of old—they must burrow in the brutes and in the sea. Price 25 cents per box—5 boxes for $1.

Through a trial of many years and through every nation of civilized men, Ayer's Cherry Pectoral has been found to be the most reliable cure for more cases of pulmonary disease than any other remedy known to mankind. Cases of apparently settled consumption have been cured by it, and thousands of sufferers who were deemed beyond the reach of human aid have found in it a cure for their friends and usefulness, to sound health and the enjoyments of life, by this all-powerful antidote to diseases of the lungs and throat. Here a cold had settled on the lungs. The dry, hacking cough, the glassy eye, and the pale, wasted form of him who was lately lusty and strong, whisper to all but the Consumption. He tries every thing; but the disease is gnawing at his vitals, and shows its fatal symptoms more and more over all his frame. He is taking the Cherry Pectoral now; it has stopped his cough and made his breathing easy; his sleep is sound at night; his appetite returns, and with it his strength. The dart which pierced his side is broken. Scarcely any neighborhood can be found which has not some trophy like this to shadow forth the virtues which have won for the Cherry Pectoral an imperishable renown. But its usefulness does not end here. Nay, it accomplishes more by prevention than cure. The common colds and coughs which it cures are the seed which would have ripened into a dreadful crop of incurable diseases. Influenza, Croup, Bronchitis, Hoarseness, Pleurisy, Whooping Cough, and all irritations of the throat and lungs are easily cured by the Cherry Pectoral, if taken in season. Every family should have it by them, and they will find it an invaluable protection from the insidious prowler which carries off the parent sheep from many a flock, the child's bleat from many a home.

Authenticated certificates of these facts, with directions for the treatment of each complaint, may be found in Ayer's American Almanac, of which we publish three millions, and scatter them broadcast over the earth, in order that the sick every where may have before them the information it contains. Druggists and dealers in medicine generally have them for distribution gratis, and also for sale these remedies, prepared by Dr. J. C. Ayer, Practical and Analytical Chemist, Lowell, Mass.

They offer to the public a safe opportunity for investment, the interests of parties at a distance being as well protected as if they were present. CAUTION NOTICE.

PERSONS living at a distance should be extremely cautious of whom they order Lottery Tickets or Packages of Tickets.—The country is flooded with bogus and swindling Lotteries. Every inducement is held out to get persons to invest money in them. Capital Prizes of from $20,000 to $60,000 are offered, yet with tickets at one Dollar. $100,000 capital prizes are offered, tickets $5. All such, in every instance, are bogus concerns, and if you send money for tickets, it is so much thrown away without the shadow of a chance of getting a prize. Beware of all Lottery Tickets at $1 and $5 as it is usually large in comparison to the price of tickets, in every instance where large prizes are offered for a small cost of tickets put it down as a certain fraud.

The Kentucky State Lottery for the benefit of the Shelby College, under our management, is the only Lottery in the United States which is legally decided by the Maryland Drawing Law. All Lotteries which purport to be decided by the Maryland Plan, are frauds.

THE MARYLAND STATE LOTTERIES.

Purchase in the Maryland State Lotteries, then you are sure of being right. And in ordering in the Maryland Lotteries, you are sure of fair and honest drawings.

One thing look to, and that is, if you order from any Lottery office in Baltimore, do not receive any but Managers' Tickets and Managers' Printed Certificates of Packages. The Managers' Certificates are the numbers printed and have the lithographic signature of the Managers.

No one has a right to send his individual certificates. If he does it, be sure there is a fraud at the bottom of it. R. FRANCE & CO.,

THE CLOUD.

I sift the snow on the mountains below,
And their great pines groan aloud;
And all the night 'tis my pillow white,
While I sleep in the arms of the blast.
Sublime on the towers of my skyey bowers,
Lightning my pilot sits;
In a cavern under is fettered the thunder,
It struggles and howls at its;
Over earth and ocean with gentle motion,
This pilot is guiding me;
Lured by the love of the genii that move
In the depths of the purple sea;
Over the hills, and the crags, and the hills,
Over the lakes and the plains,
Wherever he dream, under mountain or stream,
The Spirit he loves remains:
And I all the while bask in heaven's blue smile,
Whilst he is dissolving in rains. —[Shelly.

OUR LIVES.

Our lives are rivers, gliding free
To that unfathomed boundless sea,
The silent grave!
Thither all earthly pomp and boast
Roll, to be swallowed up and lost
In one dark wave.

Thither the mighty torrents stray,
Thither the brook pursues its way,
And tinkling rill.
There all are equal. Side by side
The poor man and the son of pride
Lie calm and still. —[Longfellow.

ON THE SEA.

In south, too, 'tis a pleasant thing,
To sail, and feel the sea breeze blowing
About one's cheek.—O! youth bold bring
Full many a free-born thought and glowing.

For who upon the deep, deep sea,
Ere dwelt and saw its great breast heaving,
But, by a kindred sympathy,
Felt his own heart its trammels leaving?

The wide and wild, the strange and grand,
Commingle with his inmost spirit;
He feels a riddance from the land,—
A boundlessness he may inherit.
—[Motherwell.

Rhymster.—A friend relates to us the following anecdote, which actually took place at a school in a town in the interior of this State: A lad (who is an inveterate rhymster) during prayers at the school, saw a rat on the stairs and laughed aloud. After the prayers he was called forward and asked by the teacher what he laughed for. He replied "I saw a rat upon the stairs, coming up to hear your prayers." The teacher then told him if he did not immediately make another rhyme, she should flog him, when he immediately replied, "Here I stand before Miss Blodget; she's going to strike, and I shall dodge it," and immediately took his seat amid the laughter of the school.—Gloucester News.

A farmer, who had employed a green Emeralder, ordered him to give the mule some corn in the ear. On his coming in the farmer asked:

"Well Pat, did you give the corn?"
"To be sure I did."
"How did you give it?"
"An sure as yez told me, in the ear."
"But how much did you give?"
"Well, yez see, the crathur, wouldn't hold still and switching his ears about so, I could not give above a fistful in both ears!"

At Stroud, in Gloucestershire, England, a well dressed man called on a wealthy and leading Quaker and expressed great desire to see him; when his wife proffered him refreshment and a spare bed. But the servant did not like his looks, and after all had retired hid herself in a side parlor.—In the night the stranger came down stairs, put on his boots, and leaving a carpet-bag in the hall, opened the door and gave a loud whistle. The girl quickly barred the fellow out. The carpet-bag had a rich assortment of revolvers, daggers and burglars appliances, which the stranger never called for.

Prof. Maury's "Round World."—The communication of Lieut. M. F. Maury, in the Bible Society's Record, in which he brings the aid of science to establish the truth of the Bible, quoting, among other passages, "the round world" from one of the Psalms, has been extensively copied and highly commended. It turns out that there is no "round world" there. The original word is "tabel"—the inhabited earth. It is doubtful if the term "round world" is in the Bible. It occurs in the Psalter in the Book of Common Prayer.

A Good Crop.—Mr. J. B. Burr, who owns and cultivates a fine farm in Brewer, Me., sends to the Bangor Jeffersonian, the following statement of what he harvested last fall from only one acre and a half of ground:

40	bushels	good round corn,
270	"	potatoes,
30	"	turnips,
15	"	carrots,
9	"	beans,
1	"	peas,
600	pumpkins,
Fodder enough to winter a cow.

CHARADE.

Now is my first a fragile form,
That traverses the air,
The lofty mountain I adore,
And fills the vacant lair.
My next a meteor, sometimes seen
With dancing, fiery glare;
'Tis kicked by boys, aye, even men;
The ladies round it fair.
The school-boys with my whole do sport,
Sometimes with angry talk;
'Tis raised again in open air,
And spoils an evening walk.

Boiling Rock.

Sudden Death.—Mr. Josiah Turner of Lisbon, Me., dropped down dead on Sunday, 25th, while walking into the meeting-house at Lisbon Factory. He appeared to be well, but all of a sudden his arms were thrown up and he fell and expired instantly.

GIBBS'
NEW PATENT
SEWING MACHINES,
Price $15.
JUST RECEIVED AND FOR SALE AT
CHAS. T. EMERY'S,
No. 10 Market Square.
Where it may be seen in operation.
This machine is warranted to do all the work of a $100 machine—not liable to get out of order, and so simple in its construction that a child can work it. The needles will work as easily with one of these machines if it is required to keep it in order for a year, for 25 years; it will also work by the turning of the wheel either forward or backward—so that it is impossible to get out of order.
It is small in size—not over 5 by 10 inches; can be worked with or without a table. In fact, it IS THE VERY BEST MACHINE that has yet been invented, and it only wants to be appreciated, to be purchased.
Come and see it, and I will satisfy you of what I have advertised.
Persons can learn all about it and how to run it in a few minutes. mch 31

U. S. PATENT OFFICE, Feb 23, 1855
I take great pleasure in stating that during the time I have been acting as Commissioner of Patents, Samuel Cooper, of Boston, has been engaged as Solicitor, and has been in that capacity in constant correspondence and intercourse with the office; he has evinced a thorough acquaintance with the Patent Law, and with the rules and practice of the office, a close attention to the interests of his clients, and a marked candor and courtesy that has rendered the transaction of business with him a pleasure. I have no hesitation in stating that I regard him as one of the very best agents for the transaction of business with this office with whom I am acquainted.
CHARLES MASON, Commissioner.
From the Examiners of the Patent Office.

Coggswell's Medical Salt,
A PERFECT SUBSTITUTE
FOR THE
LANCET, LEECHES AND BLISTERS.
INSTEAD of being a panacea for all maladies, it has control over but ONE MALADY—but ONE AIM—accomplishes but ONE THING, to wit: SUBDUES INFLAMMATORY DISEASE—whatever be its form or locality—whether in the head, throat, chest, abdomen, extremities or skin. Every form of inflammation (but no other disease) is subdued, by it as easily as fire is extinguished by water. Is it asked, how it does this?—simply by restoring the lost balance between the fluids and solids. Such is its potency, that like vaccine matter, it requires merely what adheres to the point of a pin dipped into a solution of it, to affect the entire system.
☞ Of its intrinsic value, the enlightened community, and not the discoverer, must be the judge.
PRIME COST, $1.50 per drachm—PRICE $2 per drachm.

THURSDAY, MAY 6, 1858.

TOUGH STORY.—We saw a little item, a few days ago, about "the Spirits" having made gold money out of copper. This we treated as we do many things, not knowing exactly whether it was said in jest or in earnest.

We perceive now, that the statement was made in earnest, by a writer in the Spiritual Telegraph. We extract one paragraph as published by Mr. S. A. Peters, on Dr. Hare's (or "Professor Hare's") own authority.

A common manifestation, or one that is frequently made by Dr. Hare, is the changing a copper cent in a few minutes' time into a piece of gold. The doctor has quite a number of pieces of gold, all of which have been made by the spirits from copper cents. He showed me a solution of Russia platinum, made from the ore by the spirits. Also a piece of pure silver, weighing 3980 grains, which had been converted into a fluid state by the spirits, and then changed back into the original solid mass. He placed at one time a number of coins of different kinds—gold, silver and copper—into a glass jar, closely corked, and then put the jar containing the coins into an empty wooden box, which was then also closed. In three minutes—the doctor standing by with his watch in his hand—it was changed into a two and a half dollar gold coin. After he had examined it, and placed it in a jar, and then in the box, in five minutes it was converted into the same kind and number of coins he had put in. On another occasion, he placed a number of coins of different kinds, in like manner, in a jar, and had them converted into a solid mass in a few minutes. The spirits then changed this solid mass of metal into the same number and kinds of coin he had put in.

Is there anything new under the sun? after all. Here is something like the old Alchemy, only rather more so;—not only is base metal transmuted into gold, but gold is transmuted back again in copper or brass. Uncle Toby thinks there must be a large portion of brass or brummagen in the whole matter.—And then the spirits do it. If some poor bank with a barrel of coppers, could get a company of these gold coinining spirits, it might resume at once. But if, on the other hand, these mysterious operators should try their skill on a pile of real gold in a bank vault some Sunday,—how cashier and teller would stand aghast, as they opened the strong box on Monday and found nothing but vile coppers.

It requires a lump or bump of faith bigger than two grains of mustard seed, to swallow such a tale. But, seriously, somebody must be crazy.

☞ Philadelphia city election, took place on Tuesday. A dispatch dated 12 o'clock, midnight says:—The returns of 14 of 24 wards, give Henry 3173, and Vaux 2584.

The Democrats concede they are defeated.

The victors are parading the streets with lighted torches and music.

The issue was between Buchanan and Anti-Administration, according to Forney, who said the Representatives in Congress from Philadelphia would be rebuked for their English Lecompton vote. His prophecy is fulfilled. In 1856 Vaux was elected Mayor by 4500 majority.

☞ The flute with which John Bunyan beguiled the tediousness of his captive hours, in prison, is said to be now in the possession of Mr. Howells, tailor, Gainsborough, England. In appearance it does not look unlike the leg of a stool—out of which it is said that Bunyan, while in prison, manufactured it. When the turnkey, attracted by the sound of music, entered his cell to ascertain, if possible, the cause of the harmony, the flute was replaced in the stool, and by this means detection was avoided.

☞ The ceremony of washing the feet of twelve poor men by the Emperor of Austria, took place in the palace of Vienna on Holy Thursday, according to custom. The proceedings commenced with prayer, and were closed by a dinner, in which each of the twelve poor men were allowed four plates of meat, a desert, and a pot of excellent wine; each was, besides, presented with a suit of clothes cut in the style of the middle ages, a small sum of money, and a pewter goblet, bearing a suitable inscription. The same ceremony was performed for twelve poor women, who obtained a good dinner, and received similar small presents.

☞ During a school exhibition in the town of Alliance, Ohio, the floor gave way, and the audience of 500 were dropped in a heap to the floor below. A girl of fourteen was instantly killed, and another of those injured has since died. Many were seriously injured.

COL. FORNEY ON THE ENGLISH SWINDLE. The Philadelphia Press of Saturday contains a scathing review of the whole course of the administration in this Lecompton business, and says:—

"One wrong after another was tried, till last, as if to mock at even the resemblance of rigor, the so-called English Bill was proposed, the incarnation of treachery and of duplicity.—

The burden which this outrage attaches to the Democratic party cannot be carried without crushing it. Candidates for office will be compelled to speak out against it, and those who are silent will pay the penalty of such an acquiescence.

What Kansas may decide upon, we are not authorized to say; but we cannot doubt that she will reject the bribe with scorn. Whether she does or not, the wrong done will be avenged and the sacred doctrine vindicated.

AN INTERESTING CASE.—The case of James Brown vs. Stephen Perkins, et ux., is now on trial before the Supreme Court, in session at Salem, which involves some very interesting points. The action grows out of circumstances which transpired in the town of Rockport in July, 1857, when some two or three hundred of the women of the town formed a procession, with banners, marched through the streets, stopping at the several shops where liquor was supposed to be kept for sale, breaking in and destroying the liquor they found. The plaintiff in this suit was an owner of one of the shops, and soon after the occurrence instituted this suit against the defendants, who, he alleged, took part in the assault upon his premises. The defendants rely chiefly upon the provision of the present law which declares buildings kept for the unlawful sale of liquor to be common nuisances.—Boston Jour., 1st.

The decision of the Jury was in favor of the women, and on Saturday last they were acquitted.

BEEES.—A bushel of potatoes, which at Buffalo is worth 50 cents, will cost the Government, in Utah $32. A barrel of pork will cost $165; a barrel of whiskey $100.

It is said that the "bribing fund" for securing votes for the English bill was secured through these Utah contracts—the deficiency bill containing at least half a million, to be applied to the direct object of purchasing votes enough for the desired end. The amount of corruption which has been used to get that measure through Congress, will never be uncovered, but if it could be, the authors of it would be overwhelmed with a Nation's indignation.—Portland Adv.

☞ There are contradictory and confused accounts in the St. Louis papers, about a skirmish between the U. S. troops and somebody, at Fort Scott or Camp Scott, in which one of the soldiers was killed and an officer wounded. A Kansas letter to the Traveller locates the skirmish near Fort Scott, Kansas, and says the somebody was a party of free state men.

☞ Five keepers of lager beer saloons in Boston, were arrested in Boston on Tuesday, and gave bail in $600 each, for trial.

Most of such saloons are drinking and gambling holes, the resort of robbers, prostitutes and outlaws. In consequence of the shield which Boston and New York have thrown around the main support of such dens, they have grown to be an enormous evil.

NEWMARKET.—In this village, lately so still, a considerable part of the factory machinery is in operation; and the large stone building which was burnt out, is undergoing the most thorough repair. It is to be carried one story higher. The Hotel in the same village, is receiving a new roof and adding to its lodging accommodations.

☞ The trustees of the Maine State Agricultural Society have decided that the next State fair and show shall be held at Augusta. The inhabitants of that place have given bonds in $1,000 to indemnify the society for all loss.

☞ The Louisville Journal says:

"The course of Senator Green, of Missouri, is unquestionably disapproved by a large majority of the people of that State. He will disappear from the public service as soon as his constituents can get him out. Thenceforth he will be 'Invisible Green.'"

INSANITY.—On Sunday evening an insane man was found near this city. The man gave his name as Daniel P. Colby of Lowell. During Monday he escaped from the Police Station, but was found and taken to Lowell by his friends. He is about 40 years of age, and is a respectable citizen. Having been under strong religious excitement, he became insane on Thursday.—Manchester American.

☞ On Sunday evening, the house of Harrison Philbrick, West Weare, N. H., with the adjacent barn, shed, and nearly all the contents, were consumed. Loss $1200—not insured.

☞ Counterfeit $5 bills on the Danvers Bank, Danvers, Mass., made their appearance in New York on Saturday.

CONGRESS.—In the Senate on Tuesday, the correspondence relative to the outrage on the family of Mr. Dickson at Jaffa, was received from the Secretary of State. The clause authorizing the President to employ force was struck out of the resolution in regard to the troubles with Paraguay, and the resolution tabled. Mr. Clay of Alabama made a long speech on the bill to repeal the fishing bounties. A bill to regulate the public printing was passed.

In the House, Mr. Clingman offered a resolution to provide for the abrogation of the Clayton-Bulwer treaty. A resolution was reported from the Committee on Foreign Affairs authorizing the President to take measures to settle the difficulties with Paraguay. The bill for the admission of Minnesota was taken up, and produced a long discussion, which branched off to a personal explanation in regard to the vote of certain members on the Kansas question.

WASHINGTON, May 4.—The President signed the Kansas bill yesterday. Mr. Davis of Massachusetts has a bill nearly perfected, giving one hundred and sixty acres of land to privateersmen in the war of 1812.

Humphrey Marshall will soon introduce a resolution for the organization of a camel battallion, on the principle of camel batteries employed in the East.

Advices have been received at the War Department from the sloop-of-war Dale, which was at St. Paul, Loando, Feb. 11. She had been to Ben Benguela, where she had forced the Portuguese authorities to release two Americans, held in imprisonment there on frivolous chages. One of these seamen, Jeremiah Donovan, of the New Bedford ship Osceola, had been incarcerated ten months. The authorities at first refused to deliver up their prisoners, but a threat from the commader of the Dale to bombard the town, had the desired effect.

WASHINGTON, May 4.—According to the report of the Commissioner of Pensions, the Pension bill of Mr. Savage, as it is now shaped, will call for about $11,000,000, and it is thought the anticipated amendments will swell the amount to nearly $20,000,000.

In compliance with urgent representations from Kansas, the President has decided to postpone till October the land sales in that Territory.

Since this revival there are few if any cities in this country, with relatively so large a number of church members as Newburyport. If we should omit the Catholic church from the enumeration, we should think that full one-half of all the adult population had their names upon the church records as active members; and including the Catholics, there would be much more than one-half. Individuals may dispute about the influence of religion upon the future condition of men; but it is indisputable that not only individuals, but families and the public have been greatly benefited by this revival. When the drunkards leave their cups and go home to happy families—when the falsifiers become truthful, and the profligate moral and upright—when the rum holes are closed for the want of patronage, rowdyism is lessened in the streets, and the business of the police court has diminished one-half—we know that something is rendering the community better and happier.—Herald.

TEACHING ANIMALS.—The farmer is the "schoolmaster" of his herds. They are in the habit of doing daily as he allows them to do. They show training, or the want of it. They fly at his approach, or welcome him. They are gentle or not, as he teaches them to be. They watch his feet, if he is accustomed to kicking them. They kick back, if he allows it. Nothing adds to the market value of farm stock more materially, with so little cost, as the habits acquired in youth. The cow, the horse, the ox and the dog are valued much according to their habits or education—so is the man. The horse is frequently carefully trained—so is the dog; the ox and cow are as frequently "walloped into duty" as any way.

I cannot see the propriety in offering premiums for well-trained speed horses, and not for plow and draft horses, or oxen and well-trained cows. In real importance to the farmer, the latter are far preferable. I would wish to urge upon the farmer, and the farmer's sons, the importance of careful, thorough training of all farm animals. Use them tenderly and gently, at all ages, and you will see them manifest pleasure, rather than fear, at your presence. In teaching them to work, or to perform any duty, you need to be thorough, not harsh—kind, not cruel—and your forbearance will gain their labor, and your kindness their love.—Genesee Farmer.

A MOURNER ARRESTED.—A New York pickpocket, named Hatfield, has done an extensive business by attending funerals, where it was his custom to press to the side of the coffin and mingle his tears with those of the bereaved friends of the departed. While thus lavishing his sympathies upon the mourners, he contrived generally to relieve a number of them of the valuables in their pockets. So many tears has he shed and so many pockets has he picked at funerals, that he has obtained the sobriquet of the "Chief Mourner," among the police and his own circle of acquaintances. He has been arrested.

NAVAL.—U. S. sloop-of-war Dale, was at Monrovia, March 6.

DIARRHŒA.

Dr. D. A. Tyler, of New Haven, Ct., in his Dissertation upon the Rock Rose Plant, mentions four cases where he had used it with marked success in Diarrhea, after the usual remedies, Chalk, Opium, &c., had failed. And, he adds, "since 1848 I have been in the habit of using the Rock Rose in form of Extract Decoction and Tincture for the cure of Diarrhea, almost daily during the fall and summer months, and have seldom been disappointed in its use." Myers' Extract Rose, as a remedy in Diarrhea, has never been known to fail. Get a Circular and read it.

LOCAL.

BARLEY AND BEER.

Messrs. Editors:—You mention that farmers in this vicinity are sowing more barley, with the idea of an increased sale to our Portsmouth brewers. This may be true,—but to me there needed no new inducement to raise barley, as I have found it a profitable grain. I have sowed barley about twenty times, and never failed to get a fair crop; several times I got a heavy crop. I sold my barley one year and but one, to a trader, for the brewers, and received a low price for it. All the other years, I fed it out to my fowls, hogs, and cattle, except a little, of which we made bread. I found this more profitable than the sale.

You will allow me to say that brewing, though apparently a new thing here now, is only an old thing revived. About 40 years ago, Michael Martin, (afterwards hung for highway robbery) was set up in the brewing business by a grocer here. His brewery was near the place where the Steam Factory now stands.

About 40 years before that, there was a brewery at Islington village, near the place where there are now two of the like institutions.—This 80 years old brewery was carried on in the house wherein Asa Ham, Esq. now lives, which was cut down for the purpose, from a two-story building to its present height.

So also we had three distilleries here;—until they were crushed out by public opinion, temperance effort, and other causes. They, too, may come again, though I see no present prospect of it. FARMER.

MEETINGS.

Union Prayer Meeting in the Middle Street Chapel, from 8 to 9 o'clock this morning, to which all are invited.

Rev. E. Burnham will preach at the Temple this evening, at 7 1-2 o'clock.

The Class meetings of the Methodist Church will assemble at half past 7 o'clock this evening.

OLD FOLKS CHOIR.—All persons who have ever met with this Choir, and all others who sing the old music, are invited to a social Rehearsal, at Exchange Hall, on Thursday Evening, at half-past 7. Don't forget the books.

THE SEASON is generally pronounced backward. There was a heavy white frost on Monday night; and ice of considerable thickness was formed on Sunday night.

But yet, "Seed time and harvest shall not fail." A friend has sent us the first bunch of blosoms we have seen,—plucked in an early garden in this city May 5th,—from a cherry tree.

☞ The Stone Church in this city is to be enlarged and remodelled inside; and operations are to be commenced forthwith. It will be seen by our Auction column, that the Pews, Pulpit, and much other valuable Church Furniture, are to be sold to the highest bidder on the 18th inst.—This affords a rare opportunity to those wishing to purchase such articles, as they are all of the best stock and manufacture, and in excellent condition.

DEATHS IN PORTSMOUTH.—The record of mortality in our city for April, includes twenty names—an unusually large number.

Males eight—aged 8 months, 14 mos., 2 years, 5, 7, 22, 32, 46.

Females twelve—aged 15 mos., 2 years, 10, 24, 25, 38, 41, 62, 67, 78, 78, 80.

☞ A subscriber thinks it is none of our business, if those four young men did "come over here and have a drunk," Monday. No, but it is some of theirs; and as they seemed to be "rather oblivious" of their condition themselves, we thought it only fair to let their mothers know they were out.—so they might keep them at home till they learnt better manners. This city, just now, is no place to learn that particular and rather comprehensive branch of good behaviour—temperance.

☞ For a rare opportunity to buy Lumber and Groceries cheap, see the advertisement of Messrs. Jenkins & Goodrich.

☞ Dick Hayward, a slave of H. H. Goldsborough, of Easton, Md., ran away last week, and when overtaken deliberately cut off all the fingers of his left hand.

☞ Armed men are being regularly drilled at Yorktown, DeWitt county, Texas, preparatory to an irruption into Northern Mexico.

The other candidates are elected by majorities ranging from 2800 to 3000. The Democrats have a majority of one in the Select Council, but the opposition have a majority of two-thirds in the Common Council.

INDIANAPOLIS, May 5.—The municipal election here yesterday resulted in the election of the entire Republican ticket, by from 200 to 300 majority. Five of the seven Councilmen are Republicans.

GREAT FEAT WITH A LOCOMOTIVE.—A correspondent at Concord, N. H., informs us that N. B. Judkins, engineer, and George Eaton, fireman, run the locomotive "Abquedaukerlar with three passenger cars, 122 miles on the Boston, Concord and Montreal Road, consuming but one cord and a half of soft wood during the trip.—This is considered a great feat.—Herald.

LAWRENCE, KANSAS, April 30, via BOONESVILLE, Mo., May 4.—The State Convention at Topeka was largely attended. Hon. H. J. Adams was nominated for Governor; Col. Holliday for Lieut. Governor, and Geo. Conway for Representative to Congress. No vote was taken on the subject of Senators.

It was resolved to stand by the Leavenworth Constitution. Mr. Parrott endorsed the nominees, who are all radical men.—Boston Jour.

IMPORTANT TO
TOBACCO CHEWERS.
DR. GUSTAV LINNARD'S
TASTE RESTORATIVE TROCHES,
The Great Substitute for Tobacco.

IT is a well known and incontrovertable fact that the use of Tobacco is the promoting cause of many of the most severe
MENTAL AND PHYSICAL DISORDERS
to which the race of man is subject, as careful analysis and long and painful experience have clearly proven that it contains certain narcotic and poisonous properties most dangerous in their effects, which by entering into the blood decange the functions and operations of the Heart, causing many to suppose that organ to be seriously diseased.

TOBACCO affects also the entire nervous system, manifesting itself—as all who have ever used the noxious weed will testify—in Lassitude, Nervous Irritability, Water Brash, Dyspepsia, and many other disorders of a similar character.

THE TASTE RESTORATIVE TROCHES
are designed to counteract these baneful influences, and have proved entirely successful in a multitude of cases, and wherever used. Being harmless in themselves they exert a beneficial effect upon the system, restoring the taste which has become vitiated or destroyed by great indulgence, completely removing the irritation and accompanying tickling sensation of the throat—which are always consequent upon abstaining from the use of Tobacco, and by giving a healthy tone to the Stomach, invigorate the whole system.

Persons who are irretrievably undermining their constitutions and shortening their lives, should use these Troches immediately and throw off the injurious and unpleasant habit of Tobacco Chewing.

These Troches or Lozenges are put up in a convenient and portable form at the low price of 50 Cents per Box. A liberal discount to the Trade.

Prepared solely by the undersigned, to whom all orders should be addressed,

JAMES E. SOWERS, Druggist,

TRIUMPHANT SUCCESS OF
Buchan's Hungarian Balsam of Life,
THE GREAT ENGLISH REMEDY FOR Colds, Coughs, Asthma, and Consumption.

RELIABLE EVIDENCE OF THE EFFECTS OF BUCHAN'S HUNGARIAN BALSAM.

From the Christian Freeman.

While we respect modest merit, we are always pleased to give credit for that which is truly useful, and to give information which may benefit others. A few days ago a brother of ours, from Norway, Me., came into our office, in comfortable health, whom we did not expect to see again on earth. We received a letter a few weeks since, from another brother resident in the same house with him, saying that he was confined to his bed, and could not probably continue long. Judge then of our surprise when we saw him enter our office. He has a slight cough remaining, as it would be natural that he should have, until he has had further time for acquiring strength of lungs. But he is in comfortable health. The following letter which he addresses to the general Boston Agent for the medicine which has restored him so wonderfully, will show what medicine has been the instrument of the good work.

BOSTON, Feb. 16, 1847.

DR D. F. BEADLES—Sir:—I cannot refrain from saying a word to you in commendation of "Buchan's Hungarian Balsam of Life." Here is a plain statement of facts in relation to my case, and if they are of any service in inducing the sick to seek relief at the source whence I obtained it, I shall be thankful.

My residence is Norway, Me. Three years ago last fall, I took a violent cold, which left a cough of the most aggravated kind, accompanied by a severe pain in the left side. Last June I had become so feeble that I was obliged to quit all work and was confined to the house until about four weeks since. During that time I received the best medical attendance, and tried nearly all the medicines which are recommended in such cases, but could find no relief, grew worse, and for the last three weeks was confined to my bed. Two of my physicians gave me up as past recovery. But as fortune would have it, I heard of the Hungarian Balsam, and immediately procured a bottle. This gave me instant relief, and six bottles have broken up my cough, and placed me in a situation to resume, with advancing health, my usual occupation. Yours, truly, CHURCHILL COBB.

SCHNAPPS.
This medicinal beverage is manufactured by the proprietor, at Scheidam, Holland, expressly for medicinal use, by a process peculiar to his own Factory. It is the pure Tincture of the Italian Juniper Berry, whose more vinous extract is distilled and rectified with its spirituous solvent, which thus becomes a concentrated tincture of exquisite flavor and aroma, altogether, transcendant in its cordial and medicinal properties to any alcoholic stimulant now made in the world. It is now prescribed by more than 5,000 physicians in the United States, in cases of Gravel, Gout, Dropsy, and Bladder and Kidney Complaints.

Put up in Quart and Pint Bottles, in cases of one dozen qts., and cases of two dozen pts, and for sale by all Druggists and Country Merchants.

SOLE Agents for the above Goods, have on hand a large Stock of the same, suitable for shore and sea wear.

MOSES & DOWNIE.

The following remedies are offered to the public as the best, most perfect, which medical science can afford. AYER'S CATHARTIC PILLS have been prepared with the almost skill which the medical profession of this age possesses, and we deem it enough they have virtues which surpass any combination of medicines hitherto known. Other preparations do more or less good; but this cures such dangerous complaints, so quick and so surely, as to prove an efficacy and a power to uproot disease beyond any thing which men have known before. By removing the obstructions of the internal organs and stimulating them into healthy action, they remove the fountains of life and vigor,—health courses once through the veins, and the sick man is well again. They are adapted to disease, and disease only, for when taken by one in health they produce but little effect. This is the perfection of medicine. It is antagonistic to disease, and no more. Tender children may take them with impunity. If they are sick, they will cure them, if they are well they will do them no harm.

Give them to some patient who has been prostrated with bilious complaint; see his bent-up, tottering form straighten with strength again; see his long-lost appetite return; see the healthy features blossom into health. Give them to some sufferer whose foul blood has burst out in scrofula till his skin is covered with sores; who stands, or sits, or lies in anguish. He has been drenched inside and out with, or satisfactory reference, yet he grows yet worse. Give him these PILLS, and mark the effect; see the scabs fall from his body; see the new, fair skin that has grown under them; see the late leper that is clean. Give them to him whose angry humors have planted rheumatism in his joints and bones; move him, and he screams with pain; he too has been soaked through every muscle of his body with liniments and salves; give him these PILLS to purify his blood; they may not cure him, for, alas! there are cases which no mortal power can reach; but he walks with a firmer step, and now he walks alone; they have cured him. Give them to the lean, sour, haggard dyspeptic, whose gnawing stomach has long sign eaten every smile from his face and every muscle from his body. See his appetite return, and with it his health; see the new man. See her that was radiant with health and loveliness blasted and too early withering away; want of exercise or mental anguish, or some lurking disease, has deranged the internal organs of digestion, the blood ceases to flow, the fair lady is their office ill. Her blood is vitiated, her health is gone. Give her these PILLS to stimulate the vital principle into renewed vigor, to cast out the obstructions, and infuse a new vitality into the blood. Now look forward a few months, or years, for her, and where lately sorrow sat joy bursts from every feature. See the sweet infant wasted with worms. Its wan, sickly features tell you without disguise, and painfully distinct, that they are eating its life away. Its pillow is moist with the tears of restless sleepings, till the dreadful truth in language which every mother knows. Give it the PILLS in large doses to sweep these vile parasites from the body. Now turn again and see the ruddy bloom of childhood. Ask the mother if her child is well? Yes, are they not the marvel of this age? And yet they are done around you every day.

Have you the less serious symptoms of these distempers, they are the easier cured. Jaundice, Costiveness, Headache, Sideache, Heartburn, Foul Stomach, Nausea, Pain in the Bowels, Flatulency, Loss of Appetite, King's Evil, Neuralgia, Gout, and kindred complaints all arise from the derangements which these PILLS rapidly cure. Take them perseveringly, and under the counsel of a good Physician if you can, but take them in defiance of every advice as we give you, and the distressing, dangerous diseases they cure, which afflict so many millions of the human race, are cast out like the devils of old—they must hasten in the swine, and in the sea. "Ayer's Cathartic Pills—5 boxes for $1."

Through a trial of many years and through every nation of civilized men, AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL has been found to afford more relief and to cure more cases of pulmonary disease than any other remedy known to mankind. Many apparently settled consumption have been cured by it, and thousands of sufferers who were deemed beyond the reach of human aid have been restored to their friends and usefulness, to sound health and the enjoyments of life, by the effectual resistance it exhibited to diseases of the lungs and throat. Here a cold had settled on the lungs. The dry, hacking cough, the glassy eye, and the pale, thin features of him who was lately busy and strong, whisper to all but too Consumption's victim. Not every thing; but it disease is gnawing at his vitals, and shows its fatal symptoms more and more over all his frame. He is taking the CHERRY PECTORAL now; it has stopped his cough and made his breathing easy; his sleep is sound and quiet; his appetite returns, and with it his strength. The dark sweat has gone, his side is broken. Scarcely any neighborhood can be found which has not some living trophy like this to shadow forth the virtues which have won for the CHERRY PECTORAL an impeachable reputation. For its medicinal doses and old there. Nay, it accomplishes more by prevention than cure. The countless colds and coughs which it cures are the seed which would have ripened into a dreadful harvest of incurable fingers. Influenza, Croup, Hoarseness, Hoarseness, Pleurisy, Whooping Cough, and all irritations of the throat and lungs are easily cured by the CHERRY PECTORAL if taken in season. Every family should have it by them, and they will find it an invaluable protection from the insidious prowler which carries off the worst wheeses from many a flock, the darling lamb from many a home.

Authenticated evidence of these facts, with directions for the treatment of each complaint, may be found in Ayer's American Almanac, of which we publish three millions, and scatter them broadcast over the earth, in order that the sick every where may have before them the information it contains. Druggists and dealers in medicine generally have them for distribution gratis, and also for sale these remedies, prepared by Dr. J. C. AYER, Practical and Analytical Chemist, Lowell, Mass.

PEDAL BASS MELODEONS,

No. 511 Washington St., Boston.

The first premium over all competitors, at the Fair of the Mass. Charitable Mechanic Association, of the National Fair, Washington, D. C., at the Ohio State Fair, held at Columbus, Ohio, was awarded to these Manufacturers.

By means of a new method of Voicing, known only to themselves, they have succeeded in removing the harsh and buzzing sound which formerly characterized the instrument, and rendering the tones full, clear and organ like. The action is prompt and reliable, enabling the performer to execute the most rapid music without blurring the tones. The swell is arranged to give great expression.

THE PEDAL BASS MELODEONS,

Are designed particularly for Churches, Lodges, Halls, &c. It is arranged with two manuals, or banks of Keys, the lower set running an octave higher than the other, and may be used separately, and thus get in one case two distinct instruments; or by use of the coupler, the two banks of keys may be played at the same time by one set only. This instrument, when used with the Pedal Bass, will produce the effect of a large organ, and is sufficiently heavy to fill a house that seats from 1000 to 1500 persons.

THE ORGAN MELODEON

is designed for parlor and private use. The construction is similar to the Church instrument, being arranged with two banks of Keys, and when used together, by means of the coupler, is capable of as great volume of power as the Church Instrument when used without the pedals. Also, every variety of MELODEONS for Parlor use.

NEW ENGLAND STATES

THE RESTORATIVE OF PROF. O. J. WOOD for restoring hair perfectly and permanently, has never yet had a rival. Volume after volume might be given from all parts of the world and from the most distinguished men, but "to sleep, perchance to dream" is the rub; and the busy world has neither time nor inclination to read long letters. We, therefore, simply refer the reader to our pamphlet, Wood's Great Restorative; but read the circular and you cannot doubt; read also the following.

THE HAIR.—People have for centuries been afflicted with bald heads, and the only remedy, heretofore known, has been those abominable wigs. By a recent discovery of Professor Wood, these artifices are being just dispensed with, but a great many persons still patronize them, because they have been so long accustomed to them. Tonics of different kinds. To all such persons we earnestly make the request that they will try once again, for in Wood's Restorative there is no much, things are laid by the lady and the wig laid by, who need the article a short time, and her head is covered completely with the tiniest and most beautiful curls imaginable. We have had numerous cases where hair was rapidly falling out, which it restored in greater perfection than it ever had been before.

It is almost a doubt one of the best articles for keeping the hair in good condition, making it soft and glossy, removing dandruff, and has proved itself the greatest enemy to all the ills that hair is heir to.

It is the duty of every one to improve their personal appearance, some may differ in regard to the ways of doing it; but every one will admit that a beautiful head of hair either in man or woman, is an object much to be desired, and there are no means that should be left untried to obtain such a consideration.—Woman's Advocate, Philadelphia.

COCHECTON, OHIO, Nov. 17, 1856.

O. J. Wood & Co.—Gents: As I have been engaged in selling your Hair Restorative the last season (first as your local agent, H. M. Hackimson,) and having experienced the beneficial effects of it myself, I would like to obtain an agency for the sale of Ohio and Pennsylvania, if you should you wish to make such an arrangement, as I am convinced there is nothing equal to it in the United States, for restoring the hair. I have been engaged in the business for several years, and have sold various preparations for the hair, but have found nothing that restores the secretive organs of the system so effectually as your's, being convinced that your restorative is what you represent it to be, I would like to engage in the sale of it, for I am satisfied it must sell.

Yours truly, S. T. STOCKMAN.

WAYLAND, MASS., Feb. 5, 1857.

PROF. O. J. WOOD & CO.—Gentlemen: Having realized the good effects of your Hair Restorative, I wish to state, that finding my hair growing thin, as well as gray, I was induced from what I read and heard, to try the article prepared by you, to promote its growth and change its color as it was in youth, both of which it has effected completely. In the spring I have used nearly 3 bottles.

Yours &c., JAMES FRANCIS.

Maryland State Lotteries.

R. FRANCE & CO., ... MANAGERS.

CAUTION NOTICE.

PERSONS living at a distance should be extremely cautious of whom they order Lottery Tickets or Certificates of Packages of Tickets. The country is flooded with bogus and swindling schemes, with the intention of inducing the persons to invest money in them. Capital Prizes of from $20,000 to $40,000 head their schemes—with tickets at one dollar—Half dollar prices are offered, tickets $5. All such, in every instance, are frauds; and if money is sent to them for tickets, it is so much thrown away without the shadow of a chance of getting a prize. Beware of all Lotteries where the Capital Prize is unusually large in comparison to the price of tickets—in no one instance where tickets are offered for a small cost of tickets put it down as a certain fraud.

The Kentucky State Lottery for the benefit of the Shelby College, under our management, is the only Lottery in the United States which is legally decided by the Maryland Drawings; all other Lotteries which purport to be decided by the Maryland Drawings, are frauds.

THE MARYLAND STATE LOTTERIES.

Purchase in the Maryland State Lotteries, then you are sure of being right. And in ordering in the Maryland Lotteries, you are sure of fair and honest drawings.

One thing look to, and that is, if you order from any licensed vender in Baltimore, do not receive any but Managers' Tickets and Managers' Printed Certificates of Packages of Tickets. Managers' Certificates have the numbers printed, and have the lithographic signature of R. France & Co

No one has a right to send his individual certificate, if he does it, be sure there is fraud at the bottom of it. R. FRANCE & CO.,

IMMORTELLES.

FORGETFULNESS.

There is a haven of sure rest
From the world's bewildering stress:
As a bird dreaming on her nest,
As dew hid in a rose's breast,
As Hesper in the glowing West;
So the heart sleeps
In thy calm deeps,
Serene Forgetfulness!

No sorrow in that place may be,
The noise of life grows less and less:
As moss far down within the sea,
As, in white lily caves, a bee,
As life in a hazy reverie;
So the heart's wave
In thy dim cave,
Hushes, Forgetfulness!

Duty and care fade far away,
What toil may be we cannot guess:
As a ship anchored in a bay,
As a cloud at summer noon astray,
As water blooms on a breezeless day;
So heath thine eyes,
The full heart Hes,
And dreams, Forgetfulness! —[Lowell.

THE FREE MIND.

Stone walls do not a prison make,
Nor iron bars a cage;
Minds innocent and quiet take
That for a hermitage.
—[Richard Lovelace.

LIFE.

Hast thou seen, with flash incessant,
Bubbles gliding under ice,
Bodied forth and evanescent,
No one knows by what device?

Such are thoughts!—a wind-swept meadow
Mimicking a troubled sea,
Such is life; and death is shadow
From the rock Eternity!—[Wordsworth.

Last week, in Salem, a gang of Irishmen unloading coal at Phillips' wharf, for this city, at $1.25 a day, "struck" for $1.50. Another gang was at once raised in this city, glad of the chance to earn $1.25 in Salem, instead of 75 cents here; the strikers, however, finding they were playing a losing game, kept off the new comers with violent demonstrations, and the next day quietly resumed work at the old price.—Lowell News.

THE CRUCIFIXION.

Behold a knot of Roman soldiers surrounding a young man whom they have nailed to a cross. His head has fallen to one side—he is just dead. It is eighteen hundred and twenty-one years ago, last Thursday. A wealthy, educated-looking priest stands by, very joyful, and I ask him, "Who is this man?" And he answers, "O, he is a miserable fellow from Nazareth in Galilee. His name was Jesus. Don't you see it there?" "Why did you kill him? Was he a murderer?" "A murderer! Murder was nothing to his crime." "Was he a kidnapper? A defaulting politician, who got office and abused it for the people's harm? Or a hypocritical priest, who thought one thing in his study, and proclaimed just the opposite in the temple?"

"O, no! He was an infidel. He said that religion was nothing but piety and morality; or, as he called it, loving God and your neighbors as yourselves. He said a man was greater than the Sabbath—more than this temple, and that religion would save a man, without burning the blood of goats, and bulls, and oxen. Besides, he spoke against the priesthood—against us, and said we would compass sea and land to make one proselyte, and when we had done it, we had made him twice as much a child of hell as ourselves."

"Was there no other way to deal with such a man?" asks the visitor. "We tried to argue him down, but it was of no use. He beat us in every argument before the assembled people, who know not the law; and the more we abused him, the more would the silly people flock after him, relige him, and love him. Why, he said we were graves, that appear not, and men stumble into them; that we devour widows' houses, and for a pretence make long prayers. There was no answering such things; so we scourged him half to death with rods, and then nailed him up there. We have fixed him now!"

"How did he live?" "Like the infidel he was; trusting in his own goodness and piety for salvation. He tried to teach the people to trust in their piety and in their works. He told a most absurd story about that poor fool who fell among thieves, going from Jerusalem to Jericho; and then said that one of the priests went by—it was no he meant—and passed him on the other side. But I was in a great hurry. I had to be in Jerusalem to attend a prayer meeting, and I could not attend to the man. Then he told a story of an old fellow, who kept a tavern at Samaria—nobody ever heard of him before—jogging along on his donkey, who saw the poor fellow, and stopped in there, (he had nothing else to do,) set him on his own beast, and took care of him. He represented that as a good act, which was pleasing to Almighty God.

"Then he told a story of the last judgment, that God would take into heaven those who had been kind to poor fellows on earth, and would send the other way those who had trusted in sacrifices, prayers and the like. But he was a miserable fellow. He would have ruined the nation.—Why, he told men to forgive their enemies, and to love those who hate them. It was contrary to the sacred books Moses; never said so, nor Joshua, nor Samuel, nor David. There were no such things in all the volumes of our law."

"How did he die?" "Die? He died like a dog. No whine from him. Not a word of penitence; not a tear; no confession that he was an infidel. Why almost all his words were a miserable blasphemous prayer against us: Father forgive them, (he meant us) for they know not what they do.' Why, to crucify such a man was an act of Religion. Look here!" And then he lifts up his garments, and on his mystic vestory (a piece of parchment) he has inscribed the whole thirteenth chapter of the book of Deuteronomy written out. "Don't you see it commands us to treat such a man as this man? Glory to God!"—Theodore Parker.

A COURAGEOUS LADY AND A MAD DOG.—Friday last a dog in Cambridgeport became mad, and taking to his heels ran from the house of Mr. David Ellis, on Essex street, and considerably startled Mrs. Ellis by making a dash at her. Getting out of the way, she seized a thick hearth-broom with great presence of mind, and drove it over the dog, at the same time knocking him through the rug. The next moment he was precipitated out of the open window into the garden, where a gardener was at work. Being warned by the cry, the gardener met the onslaught of the dog with his spade, knocking the animal first one way then the other, and so stunning him as to render it an easy matter to dispatch the beast.—Traveller.

☞ The Post Office department of France recently undertook to instruct the common people how to arrange the superscriptions of their letters; and issued circulars, telling them to imitate the following style:—"Monsieur Grauchamp, lawyer, Mabilly, France." Many ignorant persons have followed this direction literally, and more than three thousand letters have been put in the offices addressed to the imaginary "Grauchamp," but of course intended for the friends of the writers.

American and Foreign Patents.
R. H. EDDY, solicitor of Patents,
(Late Agent of U. S. Patent Office, Washington, under the Act of 1837.)
No. 76 State st, oppo. Kilby st, Boston,
AFTER an extensive practice of upwards of twenty years, continues to secure Patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France, and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all Papers or Drawing for Patents, executed on liberal terms, and with despatch. Researches made into American or Foreign works, to determine the validity or utility of Patents or Inventions,—and legal or other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any Patent furnished by remitting One Dollar. Assignments recorded at Washington.
This Agency is not only the largest in New England, but through it inventors have advantages for securing patents, or ascertaining the patentability of inventions, unsurpassed by, if not unsurpassed by any other agency, which can be offered them elsewhere. The testimonials below given prove that none is MORE SUCCESSFUL AT THE PATENT OFFICE than the subscriber; and as SUCCESS IS THE BEST PROOF OF ADVANTAGES AND ABILITY, he would add that he has abundant reason to believe, and can prove, that the other office of the kind are the charges for professional services moderate—and the immense practice of the subscriber during twenty years past, has enabled him to accumulate a vast collection of specifications and official decisions relative to patents. These, besides his extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and full accounts of patents granted in the United States and Europe, put him, beyond question, to offer superior facilities for obtaining Patents.
All necessity of a journey to Washington to procure a patent, and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.
TESTIMONIALS.
"During the time I occupied the office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, did business at the Patent Office, as Solicitor of Patents. There were few, if any persons acting in that capacity, who had so much business before the Patent office; and there were none who conducted it with more skill, fidelity, and success. I regard Mr Eddy one of the best informed and most skilful Patent Solicitors in the United States, and have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot confer on a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of faithfully exercising his application in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.
EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents."
From the present Commissioner.
AUGUST 17, 1855.—During the time I have held the Office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, has been extensively engaged in the transaction of business with the office, as a Solicitor. He is thoroughly acquainted with the law, and the rules of practice of the Office. I regard him as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHAS. MASON,
Commissioner of Patents.

Coggswell's Medical Salt,
A PERFECT SUBSTITUTE FOR THE
LANCET, LEECHES AND BLISTERS.
INSTEAD of being a panacea for all maladies, it has control over but ONE MALADY—has but ONE AIM—accomplishes but ONE THING, to wit: SUBDUES INFLAMMATORY DISEASE—whatever be its form or locality—whether in the head, throat, chest, abdomen, extremities or skin. Every form of inflammation (but no other disease) is subdued, by it as easily as fire is extinguished by water. Is it asked, how it does this?—simply by restoring the lost balance between the fluids and solids. Such is its potency, that like vaccine matter, it requires merely what adheres to the point of a quill dipped into a solution of it, to affect the entire system.
☞ Of its intrinsic value, the enlightened community, and not the discoverer, must be the judge.

Morning Chronicle.

FRIDAY, MAY 7, 1858.

CONGRESS.—On Wednesday, in the Senate, a resolution was passed—32 to 8—giving three years' full pay ($7,500) to the widow of Captain Herndon of the wrecked Central America. The West Point appropriation bill, after a speech from Mr. Hale in opposition, was passed—22 to 9. A call was made on the President for information as to what steps had been taken for the protection of American commerce at Tampico and other Mexican ports during the present troubles in that country. Senator Biggs of North Carolina (recently appointed a Judge of the U. S. District Court) resigned. The resolution in relation to Paraguay was taken up, and the amendment precluding the President from using force was rejected—20 to 15. The resolution was then passed in its original form. The bill for the admission of Oregon was debated. Mr. Seward of New York mentioned the fact that the Constitution of Oregon contained a clause excluding free negroes from the territory, but still he said he "would vote for Oregon." Messrs. Wilson, Fessenden and Hale stated that they could not get over the colored barrier, and announced that they would vote no. Pending the question the Senate adjourned. The bill to repeal the fishing bounties will be in order Thursday.

In the House, French spoliation bill, copy of that vetoed by President Pierce—was reported, and after some remarks, postponed until January next. Some debate took place on Central American affairs and the bill to admit Minnesota, but no action on either. The Committee of the Whole reported the bill to pay the expenses of the legislative, judicial and executive departments, to the House; but that body adjourned without acting upon the measure.

POOR FELLOW.—The Manchester Mirror says of Daniel P. Colley, who has become insanely religious,—he belongs in Lowell, where he has worked steadily on the Appleton for twelve years, and accumulated a fair property. He left home last Wednesday, and by what means he got to Manchester his friends do not know. Lately he has been carried away with the revival. While there he was much impressed with the following unique expression, which he oft repeated: "My breath is the breath of God; and when my breath leaves my body, this world will go to h—ll in a minute."

☞ It is reported that Humphrey Marshall will soon introduce a resolution for the organization of a camel battalion, on the principle of camel batteries employed in the East. Each camel carries on his back a small swivel—a three or four pounder—which by the readiness of transportation, and the facility with which it can be brought to bear on different points, has become in the East more effective than our "Flying Artillery."

LAGER BEER IN BOSTON.—The Traveller of Thursday says:—

Martin J. Brockway, proprietor of the "Eagle Varieties," in Constitution Hall, Sudbury street, who was before the Police Court on Tuesday, for violation of the new law relative to the sale of lager beer without Municipal license, was again arraigned before Judge Russell, yesterday afternoon, on a second complaint, he having continued the sale of the beverage as previously. He waived an examination, as before, and was held this time in $1000 bonds for trial in the Municipal Court in June.

We understand that in consequence of these prosecutions, several lager, beer free-and-easy saloons in different localities have closed, and that others are about doing so.

EFFECT OF THE REDUCTION OF TOLLS ON FLOUR.—The Buffalo Courier says that the Western Transportation Company shipped more flour by canal on Saturday than during the whole season of 1857; and further, that they will ship during the present week at least 10,000 barrels. We are satisfied, from what we learn of contracts already made and to be made, that more flour will be shipped from Buffalo by canal during the coming month of May, than during the whole season of 1857.

☞ At Amherst, N. H., lately, a case was tried in which Abby Philbrick sought to recover $2000 damages from Ezekiel W. Osborn for slanderous words charging her with want of chastity. The trial occupied seven days, and forty-six witnesses were examined. Hon. George W. Morrison appeared for the plaintiff and John H George for defendant. The jury returned a verdict of $8 damages, which carries $8 costs. She has appealed to the Supreme Court.

SINGULAR COINCIDENCE.

Several of the Boston papers appear greatly exercised, because Judge Shaw, at Salem, has ruled that some women who destroyed several groggeries at Rockport, were not criminal in so doing, as the places were illegal, nuisances, &c.

It is a curious fact, that in the Boston papers of the same day, there appears a statement of testimony before a coroner's inquest, showing that a man was robbed and thrown overboard, probably by the frequenters of a den like those destroyed. We copy from the Boston Journal.

Six months ago to-day, Joseph A. Stone, a leading boseman of Hamilton Engine Co. No. 4, of Chelsea, disappeared from his home in a very mysterious manner. He had in his possession at the time of leaving home about $70 in bank notes, and was last seen alive at a notorious drinking saloon, on Winnisimmett street, kept by George Tolliver, where, according to the statement of Tolliver, Stone tried to obtain small bills for a $50 note. Subsequently, it was rumored that Stone had been seen at a liquor shop in Blackstone st. Boston, and also that he had been arrested on a charge of drunkenness, and sentenced to the House of Correction. Search was made for him among the inmates of the latter place, but no such person had been committed there.

His body was found in the water, May 5, with his fireman's badge on, and his brother firemen identified it and him.

Mrs. Stone testified in substance that the deceased left home for the purpose of going to Boston to purchase a coat, having in his possession a sum of money, of the exact amount of which she was not cognizant. She identified the body found that morning as that of her late husband.

Mrs. Tolliver testified that Stone came into the saloon of her husband on the night of his disappearance, in a state of intoxication; that he stayed there about an hour, and she several times prevented his falling upon the store; that she advised him to go home, and that he left the place alive.

Deceased was 48 years of age, and leaves a widow and one daughter. The peculiar circumstances attending the disappearance of Stone and the recovery of his body, have given rise to strong suspicions that he has been foully dealt with.

The places out of which grow such deeds do not deserve much protection. If they get destroyed, no one need sorrow.

DESTRUCTION OF LIQUOR SHOPS.—The Salem Gazette has an extended report of the case recently tried before Chief Justice Shaw in Essex County, in which an action was brought against parties who destroyed several places where liquor was sold in Rockport, in July, 1856. According to the report in the Gazette, the Chief Justice, in his charge to the Jury, said:

The great question is that of justification. That which an individual may lawfully do, a number of individuals may lawfully do. The ground here set up is that all intoxicating liquors illegally kept for sale, together with vessels and implements of the trade, and the buildings in which they are found, are common nuisances, which individuals may abate.

Two acts of the year 1855 declare these to be nuisances, to be regarded and treated as such. I do not suppose a man would be justified in burning or tearing down a building used for illegal purposes there named, to wit: gaming, prostitution, liquor-selling. * * * * *

All persons have a right to abate a public nuisance. As in cases cited by defendants, individuals may cut down a gate erected in a highway, or destroy a bridge thrown over navigable waters. I am of opinion that liquors kept illegally for sale, with the implements of trade, having been declared by law a public nuisance, every person may destroy them.

If kept in a shop, not a dwelling house, it is justifiable to use so much force as is necessary to come at such liquor and vessels, for the purpose of destroying them—a dwelling house is surrounded by law with a peculiar sacredness, and in that case the rule would be otherwise. The law abounds in maxims declaring that a man's house is his castle.

If the act is justifiable when done by one person, then it is justifiable when done by the combined action of many. If the act is right and one may do it, then three may do it, and if three may do it, I do not know why a hundred may do it.

Maine is the State in which to get a divorce. The following law passed the last Legislature and was signed by the Governor on the 27th of March. It is consequently now in full force: "Whenever a divorce from the bonds of matrimony has been decreed, either party may lawfully marry again."—Mirror.

This law is agreeable to common sense.—The attempt to prescribe the contrary is folly.

MOVEMENT.—Four hundred and fifty respectable ladies in Manchester, N. H., have petitioned the City Council to suppress the houses of ill-fame in that city, which, they duly set forth, are openly kept.

☞ The Pembroke Mills, at Suncook, N. H., will resume operations in full as soon as the operatives can be got together.

KANSAS AND LECOMPTON.—The general opinion of the press of the country, and also of the politicians at Washington, appears to be that Kansas will spurn the bribe and refuse to come into the Union under the law prepared for her by Congress. Governor Walker and Secretary Stanton, it is said, are among those who entertain this opinion. We have thought differently, supposing they were desirous of repose and an efficient government, and would accept the Congressional proposition, altering their constitution at an early day thereafter. It is not unlikely that there may be much division of opinion on this question in Kansas, and perhaps the bill was framed purposely to lead to this division.—Traveller.

We have supposed it possible that the Free State men in Kansas would watch the polls but not vote on the English swindle, thus letting it go by default, under a few pro-slavery votes in its favor. And then, having adopted, as they probably will have done before that time, the Leavenworth Constitution, organize under it, arm, resist outside and inside swindlers, and go ahead with a kind of revolution.

COLLISION BETWEEN U. S. TROOPS AND FREE STATE MEN IN KANSAS.—Letters from Leavenworth, K. T., state that on the 21st of April, seventeen armed men proceeded to the valley of the Marmaton and notified seven or eight pro-slavery settlers to quit the neighborhood within twenty-four hours, at the same time depriving them of their arms and ammunition. Some of the men thus outraged, however, lived near Fort Scott, and applied there for assistance. U. S. Deputy Marshal Little was immediately sent to their aid with about twenty-five dragoons. The Free State marauders fled before them, until they reached a wood, when, halting, they fired upon the dragoons, killing one and wounding others. Other troops were sent to the aid of the others, but according to the latest report they equally failed to arrest the offenders.—Boston Journal.

We wait to see more about this.

INFLUENCE OF THE PIANO.—The real secret of the increase of vocal culture, allowing for all other motives, is in the universal dissemination of the piano. Women and men have learned to sing alone, and not in classes, as formerly. A piano in a house always developes one or two independent singers. They learn to sing songs, and the learning to sing acceptably two or three songs, really involves more training, and culture and vocal development, than the maintenance of an undisputed place in an old fashioned choir of twenty years. This independent musical education becomes the very best possible preparation for the choir; and if the best choir in New England will trace back the history of their best and most reliable elements, they will find them conquering difficulties singly at the side of the piano.—The church may suspect, sometimes, there is a great waste of effort on frivolous music, but the fact is, that this very music has contributed indirectly to elevate church music more than all other causes put together.

A wealthy land owner, named Bouilly, of Etreux, (Aisne,) who died lately, bequeathed the whole of a large fortune to the hospital of Guise; but the Emperor by a recent decree has only authorized the hospital to accept one-half of it, the rest going to the family of the deceased.

Use Philbrick's Celebrated Fire-Kindlings.

THESE Kindlings are the best of anything that has ever been used for wood or charcoal fires. They are CHEAP, a Box containing 144 squares, 1 square being sufficient to kindle a fire, burning from 8 to 10 minutes with a free blaze, therefore kindling nearly 6 fires for 1 cent, and are not affected by age or climate. They are safe, being composed of a substance not liable to spontaneous combustion; thereby dispensing with use of shavings and paper, thus removing a great risk of fire from buildings, and are HANDIER, CHEAPER and CLEANER.
DIRECTIONS.—One of the small squares lighted and placed on the bottom of the stove or grate is sufficient to kindle a wood or charcoal fire.

DIARRHŒA.
Dr. D. A. Tyler, of New Haven, Ct., in his Dissertation upon the Rock Rose Plant, mentions four cases where he had used it with marked success in Diarrhea, after the usual remedies, Chalk, Opium, &c., had failed. And, he adds, "since 1848 I have been in the habit of using the Rock Rose in form of Extract Decoction and Tincture for the cure of Diarrhea, almost daily during the fall and summer months, and have seldom been disappointed in its use." Myers' Extract Rose, as a remedy in Diarrhœa, has never been known to fail. Get a Circular and read it.

Prayer Meeting in the vestry of the Methodist Church, this evening, beginning at 7 1-2 o'clock.

Prayer Meeting in the Catholic Church, Summer street, this evening at half-past 7 o'clock.

Messrs. Editors:—Are we to have a celebration in Portsmouth, this coming 4th of July, or are we not? Let us begin to talk about it, get up petitions, subscriptions, anything, so that we do something. We have less than two months now to act in. Why not have a reception of the Sons, as we did four or five years ago—a reception which will do honor to old Portsmouth? Why not call a public meeting of the citizens to take into consideration the subject of a celebration, not a funeral, (tolling the bells and firing minute guns,) as has been done the last few years?

VOX POPULI.

VIOLATIONS OF THE SUNDAY LAW IN NEW YORK.—According to partial returns from the various police captains of New York city, no less than nine hundred and twenty-five places in that city were open on Sunday last, for the "sale of liquors, dry goods, and cigars. The 6 wards from which no returns were received, woeld probably swell the number to near 1500. One of the captains says in his report:—

There was a marked improvement over preceding Sabbaths, as most of the dram shops kept their shutters on their windows, and conducted their business in a quiet manner.

Elder Knapp, the Baptist revivalist, has just closed a four week's protracted effort in Middletown, Butler county, Ohio. He secured a good many Methodist and Presbyterian brethren as "union workers" during the meeting. On his last Sabbath effort the elder let down terribly on the Methodist church, "as being the grand-daughter of the great harlot of Rome." At another place in his discourse, he uttered words to the following effect: "If we Baptists commune with you Methodists, then we must commune with the Presbyterians, and then with the Universalists, which last I would do no sooner than I would commune with the devil." This was a hail shower to some of our friends who worked in "union" with the elder.—Trenton Christian Advocate.

One evening last week, a Mr. Peavey was assaulted and robbed of a watch and money, at Great Falls, by three young desperadoes. The next day three men were arrested on suspicion, and after a hearing before a Justice two of them, were committed to the jail in Dover, to await their trial at the next Court; the other turned against his partners and was set at liberty.—Dover Enq.

PHILADELPHIA ELECTION.—The municipal election came off on Tuesday, and in a city in Mr. Buchanan's own state, where the democrats in 1856 elected their mayor by 4500 majority, the opposition have swept the board. The opposition now have forty-three hundred majority. So much for Lecompton. The whole state of Pennsylvania would show the same change could their votes be polled to-day. The administration was dead before English,s bill, and that was its grave-stone.—Newburyport Herald.

The Portuguese Protestants who have settled at Springfield and Jacksonville, Ill., have not entirely escaped from religious bigotry. The old school presbytery requires them to be re-baptised by a Presbyterian clergyman; they and their pastor, Rev. Mr. Demattos, think that their former baptism in the Catholic Church is sufficient, and there is consequently an unpleasant schism.

AT Bellbrook, Illinois, a little son of Mr. Etchelger, was throwing parched corn into his open mouth, when a grain lodged in his windpipe, causing death in a few moments.

NORFOLK Co., MASS., C. C. P.—Elisha C. Burford of Roxbury, for a violation of the liquor law, verdict guilty on the first count, being a common seller.

The number of dogs registered in Northampton, Mass., at the close of business May 1st was 111—the last being the celebrated hunting dog "Lion."

WASHINGTON, May 5.—The Colorado, now fitting out at Norfolk as flag ship of the home squadron, will touch at St. Domingo, for the purpose of inquiring into the condition of our affairs on that island.

The Senate has confirmed the following appointments: S. W. Dearborn, Marshal of New Hampshire; M. P. Deady, Associate Judge of Oregon Territory; J. J. Cisco, Assistant Treasurer at New York.

In the Democratic caucus of the House members, on Tuesdy night, Mr. Stephens offered a resolution to be made the basis of a bill, declaring that hereafter no State shall be admitted into the Union until it shall have on its island a population sufficient for one representative. Mr. Clarke offered an amendment that Kansas be excepted. This amendment was opposed by Stephens and others, and strenuously supported by the mover and Haskin, and was finally carried by two majority. Stephens then withdrew the resolution.

The anti-Lecompton Democrats who stood out to the last, are preparing an address to the people, in vindication of their course.

The House Committee on Territories have agreed to report a bill for organizing a territorial government for Nevada, the western part of Utah, including Carson Valley.

It is understood between the President and the Democratic leaders that Congress will not adjourn before the 15th of June.

☞ According to a Lawrence, Kansas, letter in the Boston Journal of Thursday evening, the aggressors near Fort Scott were a remnant of the border ruffians. The letter says:

The collision grew out of the attempted arrest of certain Free State men who had threatened to avenge the late outrages inflicted upon their friends by pro-slavery ruffians at Fort Scott.

When the Marshal approached within hailing distance, he bade them surrender, at the same time ordering the troops to make ready for a charge. The answer of the Free State men was a positive refusal, and a volley of rifle shots, which instantly killed one soldier, and wounded two others, besides slaying the Marshal's horse, and causing the whole squad, Marshal and troops, to take to flight.

IMPORTANT TO TOBACCO CHEWERS. DR. GUSTAV LINNARD'S TASTE RESTORATIVE TROCHES, The Great Substitute for Tobacco.

IT is a well known and incontrovertable fact that the use of Tobacco is the promoting cause of many of the most severe MENTAL AND PHYSICAL DISORDERS to which the race of man is subject, as careful analysis and long and painful experience have clearly proven that it contains certain narcotic and poisonous properties dangerous in their effects, which by entering into the blood derange the functions and operations of the Heart, causing many to suppose that organ to be seriously diseased.

TOBACCO affects also the entire nervous system, manifesting itself—as all who have ever used the noxious weed will testify—in Lassitude, Nervous Irritability, Water Brash, Dyspepsia, and many other disorders of a similar character.

THE TASTE RESTORATIVE TROCHES are designed to counteract these baneful influences, and have proved entirely successful in a multitude of cases, and wherever used. Being harmless in themselves they exert a beneficial effect upon the system, restoring the Taste which has become vitiated or destroyed by great indulgence, completely removing the irritation and accompanying tickling sensation of the Throat—which are always consequent upon abstaining from the use of Tobacco, and by giving a healthy tone to the Stomach, invigorate the whole system.

Persons who are irretrievably undermining their constitutions and shortening their lives, should use these Troches immediately and throw off the injurious and unpleasant habit of Tobacco Chewing.

MOSES & DOWNIE.

The following remedies are offered to the public as the most perfect, which medical science can afford. Ayer's Cherry Pectoral Pills have been prepared with the utmost skill which the medical profession of this age possesses, and their effects show they have virtues which surpass any combination of medicines hitherto known. Other preparations do more or less good; but this cures those dangerous complaints, so quick and so surely, as to prove an efficacy and a power to uproot disease beyond any thing which men have known before. By removing the obstructions of the internal organs and cleansing them into healthy action, they renovate the fountains of life and vigor,—health, consequently through the body, and the sick man is well again. They are adapted to disease, and disease only, for when taken by one in health they produce but little effect. This is the perfection of medicine. It is antagonistic to disease, and no more. Sweet children may take them with impunity. If they are sick they will cure them, if they are well they will do them no harm.

Give them to some patient who has been prostrated with bilious complaint: see his bent-up, tottering form straighten with strength again; see his long-lost appetite return; see his clammy features bloom into health. Give them to some sufferer whose foul blood has burst out in scrofula till his skin is covered with sores; see health come, and lies in anguish. He has been drenched inside and out with every potion which ingenuity could suggest. Give him these Pills, and mark the effect; see the scabs fall from his body; see the new, fair skin that has grown under them; see the late leper that is clean. Give them to him whose angry humors have planted rheumatism in his joints and bones; melt him, and he screeches with pain; he too has been soaked through every muscle of his body and kindred salves; give him these Pills to purify his blood; they may not cure him, for, alas! there are cases which no mortal power can reach; but mark, he walks with crutches now, and now he walks alone; they have cured him. Give them to the lean, sour, haggard dyspeptic, whose gnawing stomach has long ago eaten every smile from his face and every muscle from his body. See his appetite return, and with it his health; see the new man. See her that was radiant with health and loveliness blasted and too early withering away; want of exercise or mental anguish, or some lurking disease, has deranged the internal organs of digestion, assimilation or secretion, till they do their office ill. Her blood is vitiated, her health is gone. Give her these Pills to stimulate the vital principle into normal vigor, to cast out the obstructions, and infuse a new vitality into the blood. Now look again—the roses blossom on her cheek, and where lately sorrow sat joy bursts from every feature. See the sweet infant wasted with worms. Its wan, sickly features tell you without disguise, and painfully distinct, that they are death to its life away. Its pinched-up nose and ears, and restless sleepings, tell the dreadful truth in language which every mother knows. Give it the Pills in large doses they will expel the parasites from the body. Now turn again and see the cheek of childhood. Is it nothing to do these things? Nay, are they not the marvel of this age? And yet they are done around you every day.

How often have some serious symptoms of these distempers, they are the early cause of Costiveness, Headache, Sickness, Heartburn, Foul Stomach, Nausea, Pain in the Bowels, Flatulency, Loss of Appetite, King's Evil, Neuralgia, Gout, and kindred complaints, alarmed you the derangements which these Pills rapidly cure. Have you been careering, and under the counsel of a good Physician if you can; if not, take them judiciously by such advice as we give you, and the distressing, dangerous disorders they cure, which afflict so many millions of the human race, are cast out from the fields of old,—they must burrow in the brutes and in the sea. Price 25 cents per box—5 boxes for $1.

Through a trial of many years and through every nation of civilized men, Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, has been found to afford more relief and to cure more cases of pulmonary disease than any other remedy known to mankind. Cases of apparently settled consumption have been cured by it, and thousands of sufferers who were deemed beyond the reach of human aid have been restored to their friends and usefulness, to sound health and the enjoyments of life, by this all-powerful antidote to diseases of the lungs and throat. Here a cold had settled on the lungs. The dry, hacking cough, the glassy eye, the pale, thin features of him who was lately lusty and strong, whispered the fatal Consumption. He tries every thing; but the disease is gnawing at his vitals, and shows its fatal symptoms more and more over all his frame. He is taking the Cherry Pectoral now; it has stopped his cough and made healthy breathing easy; his sleep is sound at night; his appetite returns, and with it his strength. The dart which pierced his side is broken. Scarcely any neighborhood can be found which does not have living trophy like this to shadow forth the virtues which are in the Cherry Pectoral an imperishable renown. But its usefulness does not end here. Nay, it accomplishes more by prevention than cure. The countless colds and coughs which it cures are the seed which would have ripened into a dreadful harvest of incurable diseases. Influenza, Croup, Bronchitis, Hoarseness, Pleurisy, Whooping Cough, and all irritations of the throat and lungs are easily cured by the Cherry Pectoral if taken in season. Every family should have it by them, and they will find it an invaluable protection from the insidious prowler which carries off the purest sheep from many a flock, the darling lamb from many a home.

Authenticated evidence of these facts, with directions for the treatment of each complaint, may be found in Ayer's American Almanac, of which we publish three millions, and scatter them broadcast over the earth, in order that the sick every where may have before them the information it contains. Druggists and dealers in medicine generally have them for distribution gratis, and also for sale these remedies, prepared by Dr. J. C. Ayer, Practical and Analytical Chemist, Lowell, Mass.

S. D. & H. W. Smith,

—MANUFACTURERS OF—

Melodeons, Organ Melodeons,

—and—

PEDAL BASS MELODEONS,

No. 511 Washington St., Boston,

The first premium over all competitors, at the Fair of the Mass. Charitable Mechanic Association, of the National Fair, Washington, D. C., also at the Ohio State Fair, held at Columbus, Ohio, was awarded to these Manufacturers.

By means of a new method of Voicing, known only to themselves, they have succeeded in removing the harsh and buzzing sound which formerly characterized the instrument, and rendering the tones full, clear and organ like. The action is prompt and reliable, enabling the performer to execute the most rapid music without blurring the tones. The swell is arranged to give great expression.

THE PEDAL BASS MELODEONS,

Are designed particularly for Churches, Lodges, Halls, &c. It is arranged with two manuals, or banks of Keys, the lower set running an octave higher than the other, and may be used separately, and thus get in one case two distinct instruments; or by use of the coupler, the two banks of keys may be played at the same time by one of the front set only. This connected with the Pedal Bass, will produce the effect of a large organ, and is sufficiently heavy to fill a room that contains from 1000 to 1500 persons.

THE ORGAN MELODEON

Is designed for parlor and private use. The construction is similar to the Church Instrument, being arranged with two banks of Keys, and may be used together, by means of the coupler, is capable of a full volume of power, and guarantees an entire and perfect satisfaction.

Music Teachers, Leaders of Choirs, and others interested in musical matters, are respectfully invited to visit our Rooms at any time and examine or test the instruments on exhibition for sale at their pleasure.

As a still further guarantee to the public as to the excellence of the MELODEONS from our Manufactory, we beg leave to refer, by permission, to the following eminent

Piano Forte Manufacturers of Boston,

who have examined our Instruments, and will give their opinion when called upon:

Chickering & Sons, Hallett & Cumston,

Newhall & Co.

MELODEONS RENTED.

Persons who wish to hire Melodeons with a view of purchasing at the end of the year, can have the rent credited as part payment of the purchase money. This method is worthy of a trial note, as it enables those who desire a fair test of the instruments before purchasing, to obtain it at the expense of the manufacturers, to the extent at least of a year's rent.

Orders from any part of the country or world, sent direct to the manufactory in Boston, with cash, or satisfactory references, will be promptly attended to, and as faithfully executed as if the parties were present, or employed an agent to select, and on as reasonable terms.

SOLD IN THE
NEW ENGLAND STATES
IN ONE YEAR.

THE RESTORATIVE OF Prof. O. J. WOOD for restoring hair perfectly and permanently, has never yet had a rival. Volume after volume testify to the fact from all parts of the world and from the most intelligent, to prove that it is a perfect Restorative; but read the circular and you cannot doubt; read also the following.

The Hair.—People have for centuries been afflicted with bald heads, and the only remedy, horse-tail brown, has been those abominable wigs. By a recent discovery of Professor Wood these articles are being fast dispensed with, but a great many persons still patronize them, because they know the great injury done to the hair by Hair Tonics of different kinds. To all such persons we earnestly make the request that they will try once again, for in Wood's Restorative there is no such thing as fall. We know of a lady who was bald, who used the article a short time, and her head is covered completely with the finest and most beautiful hair, and this is only one of numerous cases where hair was rapidly falling out, which it restored in greater perfection than it ever had before.

It is also without doubt one of the best articles for keeping the hair in good condition, making it soft and glossy, removing dandruff, and has proved itself the greatest enemy to all the ills that hair is heir to.

It is the duty of every one to improve their personal appearance when they may find it in regard to the ways of doing it; but every one will admit that a beautiful head of hair, either in manner or style, is an object that is to be desired, and there are no means that should be left untried to obtain such a consideration.—Woman's Advocate, Philadelphia.

Cincinnati, Ohio, Nov. 17, 1856.

O. J. Wood & Co.—Gents: As I have been engaged late in selling your Restorative, the last season for one of your local agents; H. M. Harrison, and having experienced the beneficial effects of it myself, I would like to obtain an agency for the sale of Ohio or some state in the west, should you wish to make such an arrangement, as I am convinced there is nothing equal to it in the United States for restoring hair. I have been engaged in the Drug business for several years, and have sold various preparations for the hair, but have found nothing that restores the secretive organs so invigorately and so well as your article, being convinced that your restorative is what you represent it to be, I would like to engage in the sale of it, if I am satisfied it meets with.

Yours truly, S. T. Stockman.

Wayland, Mass., Feb. 5, 1857.

Prof. O. J. Wood & Co.—Gents: Having realized the good effects of your Hair Restorative, I wish to state, that finding my hair growing thin, as well as gray, I was induced from what I read and heard, to try the article prepared by you, to promote its growth and change its color as it was in youth, both of which it has effected completely. In the operation, I have used nearly 3 bottles.

Yours &c., James French.

LOTTERIES.

THE Lotteries of Samuel Swan & Co. are chartered by the State of Georgia, and have sworn commissioners appointed to superintend their drawings, and certify that everything connected with the business is conducted in a strictly honorable manner. They offer to the public a fair opportunity for investment, the interests of parties at a distance being as well looked after as those present. The Manager would respectfully call attention to the fact that all persons have a legal right to send orders for tickets to Georgia, as the Lotteries of Samuel Swan & Co. are authorized by the Legislature of that State. A lottery will be drawn every Saturday throughout the year, all orders received being filled in the drawing next to take place after the same comes to hand. According to the scheme one ticket in every ten will draw a prize. Tickets are $10; halves, $5; quarters, $2.50. No tickets sent out unless money accompanies the order. The drawings are upon the principle of one number on each ticket, and no single ticket once out will be returned and them. There is no combination of numbers to mystify the buyer. Prizes vary from $40 to $20,000; every prize being drawn, and result of drawing forwarded to all purchasers.

☞ A list of the numbers that are drawn from the wheel, with the amount each prize is entitled to, will be published in the following papers:—New Orleans Delta, Mobile Register, Charleston Standard, Nashville Gazette, and Savannah Morning News, and Weekly Day Book. A PROCLAMATION TO THE LADIES.

WHEREAS, it appears that the days of right, honor, and integrity are fast fading away, and WHEREAS the unscrupulous and ignorant are daily taking advantage of the profound and REAL WORTH KNOWN THEREFORE be it, whether MAIDS, WIVES, or WIDOWS, that Dr. CHESEMAN'S FEMALE PILLS are alone the certain panacea for all the troubles incident to female disorganization; they alone correcting all painful menstruation, assuaging palpitations of the heart, disturbed sleep, pain in the side, and causing health and happiness to reign in whole or part; more especially to the married portion, as they are certain to bring on the monthly period with regularity.—AND WHEREAS, these PILLS are purely vegetable and entirely free from mineral, therefore perfectly harmless in their operations and wholly unlike other medicines thrust upon the public, parading their &c. the objects already detailed. THEREFORE, BE IT KNOWN, that NOTHING but the said PILLS of Dr. CHESEMAN will accomplish the object of, when nothing else has been experienced under the regime of OTHER PILLS; and the Ladies will cause this Proclamation to spread amongst them, to their own everlasting benefit—always remembering that a prohibitive clause in one case must be considered NULL AND VOID; that is to say the PILLS MUST NOT be taken when any female is in an interesting situation, otherwise a MISCARRIAGE will be the inevitable result.

THE PREACHING OF THE TREES.

FROM THE GERMAN OF ORDEN.

At midnight hour, when silence reigns
Through all the woodland spaces,
Begin the bushes and the trees
To wave and whisper in the breeze,
All talking in their places.

The Rosebud flames with look of joy,
And perfume breathes in glowing;
"A Rose's life is quickly past!
Then let me, while my time shall last,
Be richly, gaily blowing!"

The Aspen whispers, "Sunken days!
Not me thy glare deceiveth!
The sunbeam is a deadly dart,
That quivereth in the Rose's heart—
My shuddering soul it grieveth!"

The slender Poplar speaks, and seems
To stretch her green hands higher;
"Up yonder life's pure river flows,
So sweetly murmure, brightly glows,
To that I still aspire!"

The Willow looks to earth and speaks:
"My arm to fold thee yearneth,
I let my hair float down to thee;
Entwine therein the flowers for me,
As mother her child adorneth!"

And next the wealthy Plum tree sighs;
"Alas! my treasures crush me!
This load with which my shoulders groan
Take off—it is not mine alone;
By robbing you refresh me!"

The Fir tree speaks in cheerful mood:
"A blossom bore I never,
But steadfastness is all my store,
In summer's heat in winter's roar,
I keep my green forever!"

The proud and lofty Oak tree speaks;
"God's thunderbolt confounds me!
And yet no storm can bow me down,
Strength is my stem and strength my crown;
Ye weak ones, gather round me!"

The Ivy vine kept close to him,
Her tendrils round him flinging;
"He who no strength has of his own,
Or loves not well to stand alone,
May to a friend be clinging!"

Much else, now half-forgot, they said:
And still to me came creeping
Low whispered words, upon the air,
While by the grave alone stood there
The Cypress mutely weeping.

O! might they reach one human heart,
The tender accents creeping!
What wonder if they do not reach!
The trees by starlight only preach,
When we must needs be sleeping.

TRUE COURAGE.

Who Dare?—We put the question boldly—who dare?—There are plenty who dare rush up to the cannon's mouth for patriotism or pay; a plenty who dare do any deed of peril or shame—even to blaspheming God—but who, that can avoid it, dare appear in our streets with a patch on the knee of his pantaloons? Who dare have a "scedily" dressed friend, and own him as such before society? Who dare be civil to the humblest woman, and show her in the omnibus, the car, and on the street, that deference which he hastens to shower on fine-gloved and feathered "ladies?" Who dare have it understood among 'fashionable' acquaintance, that he works hard and diligently for a living, and must be prudent and economical to support himself, if single, or his family, if he have one?

Thus far we have put the question to men. Where is the Miss or the Madam, in these days, who will not pause in the midst of almost any honest labor, to apologize for the 'fix' she has been caught in? Where the woman who will promenade our streets in aught but silks, laces, and feathers, if she can get them? Where the woman pretending to be 'respectable'—let alone fashionable—who has not a chronic way of turning up her nose at the idea of domestic toil—who is not seriously shocked that any one should fancy she ever visits her kitchen, or nurses her own babies? Where the woman who will choose the blunt, honest, smooth-faced American, with some claim to solid character, for beau, lover or husband, rather than a hairy refugee from some European tread-mill or galley?

There are some such men and women as we have inquired about—and all honor to them! There is still some deference for humanity and the solidities of life, left for the worst times and communities. But our daily experience tells us that the mass of "respectable" men act largely upon "appearance," and fear mad dogs less than they do patches. Their credit—many of them being overhead in debt—would be ruined by a single patch; their "decent" acquaintance would "cut" them by reason of that same badge.—No matter how soiled their real characters, their clothes must be clean and whole. Their courtesies must be reserved for gentlemen and ladies—they cannot afford to be civil to the common 'herd' of mankind. And your 'fine lady,' she must avoid the odor of the kitchen and nursery. She must keep her hands white and soft, though her husband and father may be on the verge of bankruptcy. "Appearance is everything,"—such is the prevailing motto. It is a false, shameful, anti-republican motto. Who that reads this will hereafter stand up against it? We repeat our question—Who dare?

A week filled up with selfishness, and the Sabbath stuffed full of religious exercises, will make a good Pharisee, but a poor Christian. There are many persons who think Sunday is a sponge with which to wipe out the sins of the week. Now, God's altar stands from Sunday to Sunday, and the seventh day is no more for religion than any other. It is for rest. The whole seven are for religion, and one of them for rest.—Beecher.

There are many troubles which you cannot cure by the Bible and Hymn Book, but which you can cure by a good perspiration and a breath of fresh air.—Beecher.

OUR FOREIGN TRADE.—Flora McFlimsey, who has had "nothing to wear" ever since the financial crisis last winter, made her appearance at one of our leading auction houses on Saturday last,—to bid on some rare cashmere and camel's hair shawls, some of which were knocked down at $162 a 177—Flora securing the handsomest, and the dry goods trade taking the others at all sorts of prices.

But, if Flora is relapsing into her extravagances, there is certainly no visible disposition on the part of merchants to run in debt again to foreign houses for her special accommodation. This is abundantly apparent in the reduced importations of dry goods as exhibited by the Custom House records from week to week. Thus:

Imports for week ending May 1, '57	$1,865,652
" " " " '58	198,550
Decrease	$1,467,100

If the total imports (dry goods and general merchandize,) from the 1st of January to date be compared, the curtailment is startling:

For months, 1857	$81,529,067
" " 1858	33,720,276
Decrease	$41,808,786

We note among the imports of last week a significant absence, to a considerable amount, of articles of luxury. Thus, while we paid—

For Tea	$174,485
For Sugar	450,175
For Coffee	29,667

Other bills, for fancy goods, jewelry, and such things, were whittled down, as the Yankees say, "to the little end of nothing:

Fancy Goods	$12,707
Perfumery	907
Patent Leather	3,685
Turpentine	4,481

WHOLESALE DESTRUCTION OF LIQUORS.—City marshal Hodgett, after having his enthusiasm fired up at the North Church temperance meeting, last evening, and being soon called to quell a fight at an Irish boarding-house and groggery near the Springfield toll-bridge, put in immediate force and full effect the late admirable decision of our chief justice Shaw, that all liquors, being contraband, may be destroyed with impunity. He gained an entrance to the house, in and about which nearly one hundred people were assembled, and finding there a full assortment of liquors, smashed all the decanters, jugs, glasses, &c., without further words, and being unable to break in the heads of several half-barrels that lined the room, he drove the excited people back and waited until all the miserable stuff had wasted itself through the faucets, making a nasty and somewhat miscellaneous puddle on the floor. There was great excitement during these proceedings, but no assault was made upon Mr. Hodgett, although, in the general mass and mixture of things he spoiled a good suit of clothes. With the help of one or two citizens he arrested a couple of women for being prominent in the melee, and left the place. The citizens will surely sustain Mr. Hodgett in these attempts to root out the vile traffic, and if he is sincere, as we hope he is, he will make thorough work of it, showing no partiality, now that the best law of Massachusetts is on his side. If he cannot enforce the prohibitory law, he certainly can the nuisance act, as he has very well proved in this case. There is no excuse of forgetful witnesses under this law and its judicial exposition.—Springfield Republican.

LIFTING HOUSES IN CHICAGO.—One of the chief curiosities at work in Chicago now, is the raising of entire brick blocks to a level with the new street grades. Innumerable small screws are used. The row of buildings is disjointed from its connections; stout joist, sustained by powerful screws, are placed in each doorway, and every possible precaution taken to insure perfect safety. The labor progresses with great rapidity when once fairly undertaken, and it is really a remarkably sight to witness an immense brick block, with all its customary occupants, goods, &c., rising steadily into the air, while a sense of entire security prevades every one who dwells, or does business there. The success which has so signally crowned the experiments here, will tend much to improve the city's appearance, and fine buildings which are now squat dumpily down seven feet below the street, can be elevated to a becoming level with great ease.

MOURNING.—The last legislature of Massachusetts passed a law requiring saloons where liquor is sold, and where singing and dancing are practised evenings, to be duly licensed, and as the law is now in full force, it bears hard upon the dance halls in North street, Boston. The Herald says that a number of the most prominent were dressed with crape, and one proprietor went so far as to empty the liquor from his decanters and bottles and tie crape around their necks, probably on account of the many victims they have been instrumental in hurrying to their long home.

Though the life of man be short of a hundred years, he gives himself as much pains and anxiety as if he were to live a thousand.

American and Foreign Patents.
R. H. EDDY, solicitor of Patents,
(Late Agent of U. S. Patent Office, Washington, under the Act of 1837.)
No. 76 State st., opp. Kilby st, Boston,
AFTER an extensive practice of upwards of twenty years, continues to secure Patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France, and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all Papers or Drawings for Patents, executed on liberal terms, and with despatch. Research made into American or Foreign works, to determine the validity or utility of Patents or Inventions,—and legal or other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any Patent furnished by remitting One Dollar. Assignments recorded at Washington.
This Agency is not only the largest in New England, but through it inventors have advantages for securing patents, or ascertaining the patentability of inventions, unsurpassed by, if not immediately superior to, what they can be offered them elsewhere. The testimonials below given prove that none is MORE SUCCESSFUL, AT THE PATENT OFFICE, than the subscriber; and as SUCCESS IS THE BEST PROOF OF ADVANTAGES AND ABILITY, he would add that he has abundant reason to believe, and can prove, that at no other office of this kind are the charges for professional services so moderate.—The immense practice of the subscriber during twenty years, has enabled him to accumulate a vast collection of specifications and official decisions relative to patents. These, besides his extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and full accounts of patents granted in the United States and Europe, render him able, beyond question, to offer superior facilities for obtaining Patents.
All necessity of a journey to Washington to procure a patent, and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.
TESTIMONIALS.
"During the time I occupied the office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, did business at the Patent Office, as Solicitor of Patents. There were few, if any persons acting in that capacity, who had so much business before the Patent office; and there were none who conducted it with more skill, fidelity, and success. I regard Mr Eddy as one of the best informed and most skilful Patent Solicitors in the United States, and have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their application in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.
EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents."
From the present Commissioner.
AUGUST 17, 1855.—During the time I have held the Office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, has been extensively engaged in the transaction of business with the office, as Solicitor. He is thoroughly acquainted with the law, and the rules of practice of the Office. I regard him as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHAS. MASON,
Commissioner of Patents.

Coggswell's Medical Salt,
A PERFECT SUBSTITUTE
FOR THE
LANCET, LEECHES AND BLISTERS.
INSTEAD of being a panacea for all maladies, it has control over but ONE MALADY—but ONE AIM—accomplishes but ONE THING, to wit: SUBDUES INFLAMMATORY DISEASE—whatever be its form or locality—whether in the head, throat, chest, abdomen, extremities or skin. Every form of inflammation (but of no other disease) is subdued, by it as easily as fire is extinguished by water. Is it asked, how it does this?—simply by restoring the lost balance between the fluids and solids. Such is its potency, that like vaccine matter, it requires merely what adheres to the point of a gold lancet, dipped into a solution of it, to affect the entire system.
☞ Of its intrinsic value, the enlightened community, and not the discoverer, must be the judge.
PRIME COST, $1, 50 per drachm—PRICE $2 per drachm.

Four citizens over 80 died in 1857.—Richard Clarinbold 87, Jacob Cutter 86, Thomas Moses 84, Charles Harratt 83.

The list is given to us by one of the above venerable company, and the above quotations are his own selection. The list is accompanied with the following address to his companions:

A few remarks I wish to address to my brethren of four score years and upwards, of which I am one of the number. In my meditations I look back to my youthful days as a school boy—and the number of scholars as stated by the master to the school committee was 126 belonging to the district, with the regular attendance of 80; and only two of them are now living that are older than myself. Now to manhood—and the young men of my companions were taken away, and I am spared. And so to middle age, and now to old age; and here I stand, a wonder to myself that I have been spared from the axeman Time, who has been in the forest cutting down all the while both great and small, young and old, rich and poor, without distinction. And we, my brethren, a little band in the town, of about 18 men in number, are spared to the present time. The forest of old trees is nearly cleared before us, and we stand waiting the appointed time for our change to come. Are we prepared to meet it? Can it be said of us, "That they may be called trees of righteousness, the planting of the Lord, that his name might be glorified." And "to appoint unto them that mourn in Zion: to give unto them beauty for ashes, the oil of joy for mourning, and the garment of praise for the spirit of heaviness." A single remark I wish to make to you, my brethren, on the marriage of the King's son. See Matt. 22d chap. 2d verse.

What is meant by this wedding garment? what does it consist in? Why I understand it to mean, holiness, purity, innocence and love. It being encircled within the robe of righteousness, makes it a perfect wedding garment to appear in at the marriage of the King's son.

Spectator.

CITY COUNCIL.—On Thursday evening, in the Board of Aldermen, the committee to whom was referred the subject of placing a Bell in the North Church, reported favorably. The report accepted, and referred back to same committee to draw up a resolution.

The committee to whom was referred the application of School District No 3, for a new division of District limits, reported favorably for a new division. Accepted.

James Moses and Elisha B. Young, on Islington street, were granted brick side walks.

No other business of importance transacted.

In Common Council, nothing done.

SHELLY & BYRON.

Trelawney's "Recollections of Shelly and Byron" has just been published in this country by Ticknor & Fields of Boston, in their usual elegant style. This interesting work will introduce to the world more intimately than ever before the lives and characters of these two bright and eccentric lights of the last generation. The following extracts are from the work, and give an illustration of character:

"On returning to Pisa, I found the two poets going through the same routine of habits they had adopted before my departure; Byron getting out of bed in the afternoon, dawdling about until two or three, following the same road on horseback, stopping at the same Podere, firing his pop-gun, and retracing his steps at the same slow pace; his frugal dinner followed by his accustomed visit to an Italian family, and then—the midnight lamp, and the immortal verses. Shelly was up at six or seven, reading Plato, Sophocles or Spinoza, with the accompaniment of a bunch of dry bread; then he joined Williams in a sail on the Arno, in a flat-bottomed skiff, book in hand, and from thence he went to the pine forest, or some out-of-the-way place. When the birds were to roost he returned home, and talked and read until midnight. * * Byron used to boast of the quantity of wine he had drank. He said, 'We young whigs imbibed claret, and so saved our constitutions: the Tories stuck to port, and destroyed theirs and their country's.' He bragged, too, of his prowess in riding, boxing, fencing, and even walking; but to excel in these things feet are as necessary as hands. It was difficult to avoid laughing at his boasting and self-glorification. In the water a fin is better than a foot, and in that element he did well; he was built for floating—with a flexible body, open chest, broad beam, and round limbs. If the sea was smooth and warm, he would stay in it for hours; but he seldom indulged in this sport, and when he did, and over exerted himself, suffered severely."

The author gives this account of a swimming match with Byron:

"One day we were on shore and the Bolivar being at anchor, about three miles off, he insisted on our trying conclusions; we were to swim to the yacht, dine in the sea alongside of her, treading water the while, and then return to the shore. It was calm and hot, and seeing he would not be fobbed off, we started. I reached the boat a long time before he did; ordered the edibles to be ready, and floated, until he arrived. We ate our fare leisurely from off a grating that floated alongside, drank a bottle of ale, and I smoked a cigar, which he tried to extinguish, as he never smoked. We then put about and struck off towards the shore. We had not got a hundred yards on our passage, when he retched violently, and, as that is often followed by cramp, I urged him to put his hand on my shoulder, that I might tow him back to the schooner. 'Keep off, you villain, don't touch me. I'll drown ere I give in.' I answered him as Iago did to Roderigo, 'A fig for drowning; drown cats and blind puppies. I shall go on board and try the effects of a glass of grog to stay my stomach.' 'Come on,' he shouted, 'I am always better after vomiting.' With difficulty I dragged him back; I went on board, and he sat on the steps of the accommodation ladder, with his feet in the water. I handed him a wine glass of brandy, and screened him from the burning sun. He was in a sullen mood, but after a time resumed his usual tone. Nothing could induce him to be landed in the schooner's boat, though I protested I had enough of the water. 'You may do as you like,' he called out, and plunged in, and we swam ashore. He never afterwards alluded to this event, nor to his prowess in swimming, to me, except in the past tense. He was ill and kept his bed for two days afterwards."

Morning Chronicle.

SATURDAY, MAY 8, 1858.

PHILADELPHIA.—To the vote of Philadelphia, Mr. Buchanan was indebted for his victory in Pennsylvania. The remainder of the State gave a decided majority against him, but his heavy majority in the city overcame the vote of the rural districts, and gave him the State in the decisive election of October, 1856. The vote of Tuesday is a deliberate judgment against the President, and a repudiation of his policy by those who did so much to place him in power.

Some papers will doubtless attempt to make it appear that the election was merely for municipal officers, and that national questions were not in issue. The following call for the convention, which nominated the successful candidate for Mayor, does not leave much chance for escape on that plea. The call was addressed

"To all the people of Philadelphia, who are opposed to the corruptions of the existing City Administration—who are tired of being governed, watched and ruled by Ballot-Box Stuffers, Shoulder-Hitters and Jury-Packers—who believe that the people ought to be served by honest men, and who are opposed to the despotism which the President of the United States has attempted to fasten on the people of Kansas!"

THE LAND BRIBE.—Our Southern Oligarchy have not offered the Kansaites so great a bribe to abjure freedom, and unite with them their devotions upon the shrine of slavery, as the Devil offered our Saviour, which was all the kingdoms of the then known world, if he would fall down and worship him. As the Devil is at the bottom of slavery, and requires the obedience of its supporters, we misjudge the character of the liberty-loving, undaunted citizens of Kansas, should they consent to accept the bribe—for to convert the soil, ultimately, into a barren waste, and reduce the population, white and colored, to that state of human misery and degradation, everywhere manifested in the old slave states, the consideration offered is wholly inadequate.

LEXINGTON.

LAW IN BOSTON.—We learn from the Traveller that on Thursday Daniel Burroughs and John S. Leonard were before the Police Court on a complaint containing three counts, charging them with selling a glass of gin to a man unknown, a glass of rum to a man unknown, and a glass of brandy to a man unknown, contrary to the provisions of the law of 1855.—For the purposes of this case, the defendants admitted that the facts alleged in the complaint would be sworn to by the witnesses, whereupon Judge Russell sentenced them to pay a fine of $10 and costs, and to suffer twenty days' imprisonment in the House of Correction on each count, and to recognize in $1000 to keep the peace and not to violate the law for one year. From this sentence the defendants appealed, and were ordered to recognize in $1000 each to appear and prosecute the appeal.

Mr. Leonard was also held in $1000 for trial on a second complaint for violation of the lager bier varieties law, so called.

A BALTIMOREAN IN BOSTON.—The detective police arrested yesterday a young man named John Stuart alias Wilson, a well-known pickpocket, hailing from Baltimore. He was taken to the Chief's office and thoroughly searched, but nothing of a suspicious nature was found upon him.—The Chief was desirous to have Stuart set for his daguerreotype, but he decidedly objected, and he was taken before the Police Court on a charge of being a vagabond, and pleading guilty was sentenced to one year in the House of Correction.—To this he also objected, and desired twenty-four hours grace to leave the city.—Judge Russell was inclined to think that he could leave in less time than that, and, quietly telling him that "he had better take the first afternoon train for home," allowed him six hours grace. Stuart promised to go forthwith.—Boston Paper.

This is wrong.—He should have gone to the House of Correction for the year.

CONGRESS.—On Thursday, May 6, the House passed the General Appropriation Bill, 110 to 54.—In the Senate, Mr. Hamlin of Maine made an able defence of the Fisheries, and the Fishing Bounties, so called.

☞ A Golden Wedding is this day, (May 8,) celebrated by and for Rev. Dr. Benedict of Pawtucket, R. I., aged 80; and his wife, aged 75.—Dr. B. is the author of Benedict's History of the Baptists, a work which gave much reputation to its author and to the denomination.

SUICIDE.—A correspondent at New Ipswich, N. H., informs us that John Sanderson committed suicide by hanging himself in his barn on Tuesday afternoon about four o'clock. His age was about fifty years.—Boston Journal.

CURIOUS PROPERTY OF WYEAR.—A California paper says there is a little stream which empties into Shasta Valley, about twenty miles west of the great butte, which possesses the singular property of encrusting everything which falls in its waters with a complete coat of stone. Flowers, leaves, grass, pine buds, and things of that sort will become completely enamelled in a week or so, retaining in the process their natural form.

☞ Great six story buildings with tumble-down walls, are dangerous, and ought not to be suffered.—Jeremiah Reardon, who was badly hurt at the Federal street fire on Sunday, while escaping from the brick house at the corner of Milton Place, Boston, died on Thursday, from the effects of his injuries. He was fifty-three years old, and leaves a wife and two children.—Four deaths, by these high, tottering walls.

☞ A few days since, a farmer living near Galena, Ill., carried a load of potatoes to that place. The highest offer he could get was ten cents a bushel, and rather than sell them at that rate, he tipped them into Fever River. The result was that he obstructed navigation, and was fined $14.

SPENCER'S UNITED STATES.—Parts 49 and 50 of this admirable work, are received from the distributor. Two more numbers, we believe, close the book. No. 50 contains a splendid vignette title-page or frontispiece for the History—drawn by Alonzo Chappel, and one of the most exquisite designs we ever saw—worth all the battle-piece with which the work abounds, perhaps appropriately enough. Johnson, Fry & Co., publishers, New York.

NEW HAMPSHIRE TEMPERANCE LAW.—Luther S. Porter, keeper of a grog shop in Claremont, N. H.; and George Willard, tavern-keeper in Charlestown, N. H.; were arraigned under the liquor law, in Claremont, last week, and held in $300 each to appear for trial.

THE NEW AMERICAN ENCYCLOÆDIA.—The first four Monthly Numbers of this excellent work, are received from Edson C. Eastman, at Concord, general agent for New Hampshire. There are 45 parts, at $1 each—which will form an invaluable library of reference for almost any man.

☞ While returning from meeting in Hollis, N. H., last Sunday, Miss Mary Moore was thrown from a wagon, causing her death in two hours after the accident happened. She probably received some spinal injury, which proved fatal. She was about forty-seven years of age.

☞ A little girl, six years old, was burned to death, at Winooski, Vermont, on Monday, by going too near a bonfire. A man who attempted to save her had his hands severely burned.

DANCING AND THE HARD TIMES.—During the season just past, there have been given in this city upwards of 250 public balls and assemblies, which were attended by 30,000 persons, at an expense of $16,000. Of these nearly 200 have been given since January 1, and of the whole number 21 were given by the firemen, which alone have been attended by about 4400 persons. Taken into account the et ceteras, we have as the total amount expended for dancing and ball-going in Boston during the season $32,000 in round numbers. There has been nearly if not quite as much dancing the past season as during previous ones.—Boston Herald.

☞ The report that Billy Bowlegs and his twenty-two warriors had surrendered, is contradicted.

☞ The Indianapolis papers find fault with Gov. Willard for pasturing his cows in the State House yard.

IRA STOUT.—The philanthropists of Rochester are getting up steam for the pardon of Ira Stout, the murderer of his brother-in-law. A writer in the Rochester Union, says "Stout, under different influences might have stood as high in the scale of morality as many of us—been as faithful, as great a benefactor—devoting his superior talents to the best purposes."

As it is, however, he seems to have devoted his "superior talents" to the worst purposes, having before finishing his career with crimes of incest and murder, been the inmate of prisons for other offences.—Albany Journal.

"I thought you were born on the first of April," said a benedict to his lovely wife who had mentioned the 21st as her birthday.

"Most people would think so from my choice of a husband," she replied.

God's time to visit his people with his comforts, is when they are most destitute of other comforts, and other comforters.

Use Philbrick's Celebrated Fire-Kindlings.

THESE Kindlings are the best of anything that has ever been used for wood or charcoal fires. They are CHEAP, a Box containing 144 squares, 1 square being sufficient to kindle a fire, burning from 8 to 10 minutes with a free blaze, therefore kindling nearly 6 fires for 1 cent, and are not affected by age or climate. They are safe, being composed of a substance incapable of spontaneous combustion; thereby dispensing with use of shavings and paper, thus removing a great risk of fire from buildings, and are HANDIER, CHEAPER and CLEANER.

DIRECTIONS.—One of the small squares lighted and placed on the bottom of the stove or grate is sufficient to kindle a wood or charcoal fire.

Congregational Singing.

CONGREGATIONAL SINGING.—You never can have congregational singing, if that is all you have. Unless you have singing in the family, singing in the house, and singing in the shop, and singing in the street—singing everywhere, until it becomes a habit, you never can have congregational singing. It will be like the cold drops, half water, half ice, which drip in March from some cleft of a rock, one drop here and one drop there; whereas it should be like the August shower, which comes ten million drops at once, and roars upon the roof. —Henry Ward Beecher.

DIARRHEA.

Dr. D. A. Tyler, of New Haven, Ct., in his Dissertation upon the Rock Rose Plant, mentions four cases where he had used it with marked success in Diarrhea, after the usual remedies, Chalk, Opium, &c., had failed. And, he adds, "since 1848 I have been in the habit of using the Rock Rose in form of Extract Decoction and Tincture for the cure of Diarrhea, almost daily during the fall and summer months, and have seldom been disappointed in its use." Myers' Extract Rose, as a remedy in Diarrhea, has never been known to fail. Get a Circular and read it.

LOCAL.

OUR SENTIMENTS.—Somebody, we can't guess who, has sent us a present. On Friday morning, a young man left at our Counting Room a large, oblong, pasteboard box, which will hold half a bushel or more—saying that "a man told him to leave it here." On taking off the cover, we found only a bit of paper, on which is written:

"In gratitude for the extra sentiments of the Chronicle this morning May 7."

Now we couldn't remember any "extra sentiments" expressed in that number of our paper, nor can we discover, by examination, what is referred to. We are not aware that our sentiments have undergone any material change, in reality or expression, since we printed the first Chronicle; and certainly we have never deviated from our original intention as to what our paper should be and what we should try to make it. However, we are much obliged to our anonymous friend for the box—and we hope he was pleased with "the extra sentiments."

☞ Old Portsmouth is often regarded and mentioned as a dull place,—and perhaps she don't do so much business as she ought to—though a power put to its utmost tension soon exhausts itself or wears out; but yet, the population of the city must be continually increasing. Though new houses are always being erected, it is very rare for a decent tenement to be empty a week; and a gentleman informs us, that he has had fifty applicants for houses within six weeks. Rents have never been so high here as in many other places—and consequently have not been reduced much to suit the times.

☞ The Rockingham Weekly Chronicle, containing a summary of the news of the week, this day published, and for sale at the Chronicle Counting Room; price 3 cts. each. $1 per year, in advance.

WASHINGTON, May 7.—The postponement of the vote on Minnesota was the result of the suggestion of Henry Winter Davis, looking towards a general concentration of the opposition against the admission. A caucus is talked of to effect a union of the Republicans and Americans on the subject.

Mr. Olingman's resolution to abrogate the Clayton-Bulwer Treaty, was killed in consequence of an understanding among the Democrats that the administration did not wish it to pass.

The Republican Senators unanimously opposed the confirmation of Judge Loring, Mr. Wilson specially on the ground of the nominee's want of capacity for the office.

In the House, to-day, Mr. Clingman of N. C., said he had had the honor to receive a commission from the Governor of North Carolina, to fill a position in the Senate. He had written him a letter of resignation of his seat as a member of the House to take effect to-day.

By general consent, ut the motion of Mr. Stephens of Ga., the vote on the Minnesota Bill was postponed till Tuesday. Adjourned.

☞ The London Times observes:—

"Distrust and fear reign in Paris, but nowhere will they be stronger than in the Imperial breast. All history teaches that those who govern by such means suffer more than they inflict. Why should Napoleon III, after all his exploits and his glory, prepare for himself the old age of Tiberius? Already men of every class are uneasy, and the roll of political offences resembles that of enslaved Rome. If a man is popular, he is dangerous to the Prince—if he is rich, he is likely to be a powerful enemy—if he is poor, poverty may spur him on to crime—if he is lively, he must be expecting some seditious intelligence—if he is melancholy, he is grieving at the supremacy of the established power."

Wolfe's Celebrated Schiedam Aromatic
SCHNAPPS.

This medicinal beverage is manufactured by the proprietor, at Schiedam, Holland, expressly for medicinal use, by a process peculiar to his own Factory. It is the pure Tincture of the Italian Juniper Berry, whose more vinous extract is distilled and rectified with its spirituous solvent, which thus becomes a concentrated tincture of exquisite flavor and aroma, altogether, transcendant in its cordial and medicinal properties to any alcoholic stimulant now made in the world. It is now prescribed by more than 5,000 physicians in the United States, in cases of Gravel, Gout, Dropsy, and Bladder and Kidney Complaints.

Put up in Quart and Pint Bottles, in cases of one dozen qts., and cases of two dozen pts., and for sale by all Druggists and Country Merchants.

MOSES & DOWNIE,

SOLE Agents for the above Goods, have on hand a large Stock of the same, suitable for shore and sea wear

These fabrics, since their first introduction to the public, (almost three years since,) have been fully tested, and the result has proved them to possess all the qualities requisite to make a perfect article. They have on hand numerous testimonials from gentlemen in the navy and merchant service, which they would be pleased to show any one who would favor them with a call. They have been supplying some of the officers of the Falmouth, who have worn the Rubber goods, and found them unfit for sea service.

Nos. 33 & 37 Market Street.

MOSES & DOWNIE.

The following remedies are offered to the public as the most perfect, which medical science can afford. AYER'S CATHARTIC PILLS have been prepared with the utmost skill which the medical profession of this age possesses, and their effects show they have virtues which surpass any combination of medicines hitherto known. Other preparations do more good than harm, but these cure such dangerous complaints, so quick and so surely, as to prove an efficacy and a power to uproot disease beyond any thing which men have known before. By removing the obstructions of the internal organs and stimulating them into healthy action, they renovate the fountains of life and vigor, and health courses anew through the body, and the sick man is well again. They are adapted to disease, and disease only, for when taken by one in health they produce but little effect. This is the perfection of medicine. It is antagonistic to disease, and no more. Tender children may take them with impunity. If they are sick they will cure them, if they are well they will do them no harm.

Give them to some patient who has been prostrated with bilious complaint, and see his benefactor, tottering form straighten with strength again; see his long-lost appetite return; see his clammy features blossom into health. Give them to some sufferer whose foul blood has burst out in scrofula till his skin is covered with sores; who stands, or sits, or lies in anguish. He has been drenched inside and out with every potion which ingenuity could suggest. Give him these PILLS, and mark the effect; see the scabs fall from his body; see the new, fair skin that has grown under them; see the late leper that is clean. Give them to him whose angry humors have planted rheumatism in his joints and bones; move him, and he screeches with pain; he too has been soaked through every muscle of his body with liniments and salves; give him these PILLS to purify his blood; they will do not more nor less, for, alas! there are cases which no mortal power can reach; but mark, he walks with crutches now, and now he walks alone; they have cured him. Give them to the lean, sour, haggard dyspeptic, whose gnawing stomach has made life a burden; see the smile from his face and every muscle from his body. See his appetite return, and with it his health; see the new man. See her that was radiant with health and loveliness blasted and too early withering away; victim of exercise for mental anguish, or some lurking disease, has deranged the internal organs of digestion, assimilation or secretion, till they do their office ill. Her blood is vitiated, her health is gone. Give her these PILLS to stimulate the vital principle into renewed vigor, and cast out the obstructions, and infuse a new vitality into the blood. Now look again—the roses blossom on her cheek, and where lately sorrow sat joy bursts from every feature. See the sweet infant wasted with worms. Its waxing fully features tell you without disguise, and painfully distinct, that they are stealing its life away. Its pinched-up nose and ears, and restless sleepings, tell the dreadful truth in language which every mother knows. Give it the PILLS in large doses to sweep these vile parasites from the body. Now turn again and see the ruddy bloom of childhood. Is it nothing to do these things? Nay, are they not the marvel of this age? And yet they are done around you every day.

They are the best mild cathartic for all those complaints, such as Costiveness, Headache, Sickness, Heartburn, Foul Stomach, Nausea, Pain in the Bowels, Flatulency, Loss of Appetite, Kings Evil, Neuralgia, Gout, and kindred complaints all arise from the derangements which these PILLS rapidly cure. Take them perseveringly, and under the counsel of a good Physician if you can; if not, take them judiciously by such advice as we give you, and the distressing, dangerous diseases they cure, which affect so many millions of the human race, are cast out like the devils of old—they must barrow in the brutes and in the sea. Price 25 cents per box—5 boxes for $1.

Through a trial of many years and through every nation of civilized men, AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL has been found to afford more relief and to cure more cases of pulmonary disease than any other remedy known to mankind. Cases of apparently settled consumption have been cured by it, and thousands of sufferers who were deemed beyond the reach of human aid have been restored to their friends and usefulness, to enjoy life and the enjoyments of life, by this all-powerful antidote to diseases of the lungs and throat. Here a cold had settled on the lungs. The dry, hacking cough, the glassy eye, and the pale, thin features of him who was lately lusty and strong, indicate that the last CONSUMPTION. He tries every thing; but the disease is gnawing at his vitals, and shows its fatal symptoms more and more over all his frame. He tries the CHERRY PECTORAL now; it has stopped his cough and allays the irritation of the lungs, his sleep is sound at night; his appetite returns, and with it his strength. The dart which pierced his side is broken. Scarcely any neighborhood can be found which has not some living trophy like this to shadow forth the picture which has been from the CHERRY PECTORAL an inspirishable remedy. But its usefulness does not end here. Nay, it accomplishes more by prevention than cure. The countless colds and coughs which it cures are the seed which would have ripened into a dreadful harvest of incurable diseases. Influenza, Croup, Bronchitis, Hoarseness, Pleurisy, Whooping Cough, and all irritations of the throat and lungs are easily cured by the CHERRY PECTORAL if taken in season. Every family should have it by them, and they will find it an invaluable protection from the insidious prowler which carries off the parent sheep from many a flock, the darling lamb from many a home.

Authenticated evidence of these facts, with directions for the treatment of each complaint, may be found in Ayer's American Almanac, of which we publish three millions, and scatter them broadcast over the earth, in order that the sick every where may have before them the information it contains. Druggists and dealers in medicine generally have them for distribution gratis, and also for sale these remedies, prepared by DR. J. C. AYER, Practical and Analytical Chemist, Lowell, Mass.

S. D. & H. W. Smith,

—MANUFACTURERS OF—

Melodeons, Organ Melodeons,

—and—

PEDAL BASS MELODEONS,

No. 511 Washington St., Boston,

The first premium over all competitors, at the Fair of the Mass. Charitable Mechanic Association, of the National Fair, Washington, D. C., also at the Ohio State Fair, held at Columbus, Ohio, was awarded to these Manufacturers.

By means of a new method of Voicing, known only to themselves, they have succeeded in removing the harsh and buzzing sound which formerly characterized the instrument, and rendering the tones full, clear and organ like. The action is prompt and reliable, enabling the performer to execute the most rapid music without blurring the tones. The swell is arranged to give great expression.

THE PEDAL BASS MELODEONS,

Are designed particularly for Churches, Lodges, Halls, &c. It is arranged with two manuals, or banks of Keys, the lower set running an octave higher than the other, and may be used separately, and thus get in one case two distinct instruments; or by use of the coupler, the two banks of keys may be played at the same time by use of the front set only. This connected with the Pedal Bass, will produce the effect of a large organ, and is sufficiently heavy to fill a house that seats from 1000 to 1500 persons.

THE ORGAN MELODEON

is designed for parlor and private use. The construction is similar to the Church Instrument, being arranged with two banks of Keys, and when used together, by means of the coupler, is capable of a great volume of power, the Church Instrument when used without the pedals. Also, every variety of MELODEONS for Parlor use.

Purchasers may rely upon Instruments from our Manufactory, being made in the most complete and thorough manner. Having removed to the spacious Buildings

511 Washington Street,

We have every facility for manufacturing purposes, and employ none but the most experienced and skilful workmen. In short, we will produce an instrument in all respects equal, if not superior, to any Manufacturer, and guarantee an entire and perfect satisfaction.

Music Teachers, Leaders of Choirs, and others interested in musical matters, are respectfully invited to visit our Rooms at any time and examine or test the instruments on exhibition for sale at their pleasure.

As a still further guarantee to the public as to the excellence of the MELODEONS from our Manufactory, we beg leave to refer, by permission, to the following

Piano Forte Manufacturers of Boston,

SOLD IN THE
NEW ENGLAND STATES
IN ONE YEAR.

THE RESTORATIVE OF Prof. O. J. WOOD for restoring hair perfectly and permanently, has never yet had a rival. Volume after volume might be given testimonials of the world and from the most intelligent to prove that it is a perfect Restorative; but read the circular and you cannot doubt; read also the following.

THE HAIR.—People have for centuries been afflicted with bald heads, and the only remedy, heretofore known, has been the uncomfortable wigs. By a recent discovery of Professor Wood these articles are being fast dispensed with, but a great many persons still patronize them, because they know not of the so often imposed upon by Hair Tonics of different kinds. To all such persons we earnestly make the request that they will try once more, for Wood's Restorative there is no such thing as fail. We know of a lady who was bald, who used the article a short time, and her head is now covered completely with the finest and most beautiful curls. Thousands of silver fifty cent numerous cases where hair was rapidly falling out, which it restored in greater perfection than it ever had before.

It is also without doubt one of the best articles for keeping the hair in good condition, making it soft and glossy, preventing dandruff, and has proved itself the greatest remedy to all the ills that hair is heir to.

It is the duty of every one to improve their personal appearance, whenever they can, with regard to the ways of doing it; but every one will admit that a beautiful head of hair either in man or woman, is an object much to be desired, and there are no means that should be left undone to obtain such a consideration.—Woman's Advocate, Philadelphia.

COCHOCTON, Ohio, Nov. 17, 1856.

O. J. Wood & Co.—Gents: As I have been engaged in selling your Restorative, for the last season for one of your local agents (R. M. Hackinson,) and having experienced the beneficial effects of it myself, I would like to obtain an agency for the State of Ohio or some state in the west, should you wish to make such an arrangement, as I am convinced there is nothing equal to it in the United States, for restoring the hair. Some time I engaged in the Drug business for several years, and have sold various preparations for the hair, but have found nothing that equals the Restorative organs or invigorate the scalp as well as yours, being convinced that your restorative is what you represent it to be, I would like to engage in the sale of it. Yours truly, S. T. STOCKMAN.

WAYLAND, MASS., Feb. 5, 1857

Prof. O. J. Wood & Co.—Gents: Having realized the good effects of your Hair Restorative, I wish to state, that finding my hair growing thin, as well as gray, I was induced from what I read and heard, to try the article prepared by you, to promote its growth and change its color as it was in youth; and I can say it has effected completely. In the operation I have used nearly 3 bottles.

Yours &c., JAMES FRANCIS.

LOTTERIES.

THE Lotteries of Samuel Swan & Co. are chartered by the State of Georgia, and have sworn commissioners appointed to superintend their drawings, and certify the result. Everything connected with the same is done in a strictly honorable manner. They offer to the public a fair opportunity for investment, the interests of parties at a distance being as well protected as if they were present. The Manager would respectfully call attention to the fact that all persons have a legal right to send orders for Lottery tickets to Georgia, as the lotteries of Samuel Swan & Co. are authorized by the Legislature of that State. A lottery will be drawn every Saturday throughout the year, all orders received being filled in the drawing next to take place after the same comes to hand. According to the scheme one ticket in every ten must draw a prize. Tickets are $5, halves $3; quarters, $2.50. No tickets sent unless the money accompanies the order. The drawings are upon the simple principle of one number on each ticket, and are so simple that none can fail to understand them. There is no combination of numbers to mystify the buyer. Prizes vary from $40 to $70,000; every prize being drawn, and results of drawing forwarded to all purchasers.

☞ A list of the numbers that are drawn from the wheel with the amount each prize is entitled to, will be published after every drawing, in the following papers:—New Orleans Delta, Mobile Register, Charleston Standard, Nashville Gazette, Louisville Courier-Journal, and New York Weekly Day Book. Write your address plainly, and direct to S. SWAN & Co., Augusta, Georgia

Prizes paid in full—no percentage deducted from prizes as in other lotteries.

CAUTION NOTICE.

PERSONS living at a distance should be extremely cautious of whom they order Lottery Tickets to be drawn in the Maryland State Lottery. The country is flooded with bogus and swindling Lotteries. Every inducement is held out to get persons to invest money in them. Capital Prizes of from $20,000 to $40,000 head their schemes—with tickets at one Dollar. $100,000 capital prizes are offered, tickets $5. All such, in every instance, are humbugs; and if money is sent to them for tickets, it is so much thrown away without the shadow of a chance of getting a prize. Beware of all Lotteries where the Capital Prize is unusually large in comparison to the price of tickets—is every instance where large prizes are offered for a small cost of tickets, put it down as a certain fraud.

The Kentucky State Lottery for the benefit of the Shelby College, under our management, is the only Lottery in the United States which is legally decided by the Maryland Drawings; all other Lotteries which purport to be decided by the Maryland Drawings, are frauds.

THE MARYLAND STATE LOTTERIES.

Purchase in the Maryland State Lotteries, then you are sure of being right. And in ordering in the Maryland Lotteries, you are sure of fair and honest drawings.

One thing look to, and that is, if you order from any licensed vendor in Baltimore, do not receive any but Managers' Tickets and Managers' Printed Certificates of Packages. The Managers' Certificates have the numbers printed, and have the lithographic signature of R. France & Co.

No one has a right to send his individual certificates, if he does it, be sure there is a fraud at the bottom of it. R. FRANCE & CO.,

A PROCLAMATION

TO THE LADIES.

WHEREAS, it appears that the days of right, honor, and integrity are fast fading away, and WHEREAS, the unscrupulous and ignorant are daily taking advantage of the profound and learned. BE IT KNOWN BEFORE, to all, whether MAIDS, WIVES, or WIDOWS, that DR. CHEESEMAN'S FEMALE PILLS are alone the certain pancacea for the troubles incident to female disorganization; they alone correcting all painful menstruation, assuaging palpitations of the heart, disturbed sleep, pain in the side, and causing health and happiness to the sex; more especially to the married portion, as they are certain to bring on the monthly period with regularity.—AND WHEREAS, these PILLS are purely vegetable and entirely free from mineral's, therefore perfectly harmless in their operations and wholly unlike other Pills, they thrust upon the public, purporting to effect the objects already detailed. THEREFORE, BE IT KNOWN, that NOTHING but the said PILLS of DR. CHEESEMAN will accomplish the desired object, when DIRECTIONS have been experienced under the regime of OTHER PILLS; and the Ladies will cause this Proclamation to spread amongst them, to their own everlasting benefit—always promising that said Proclamation in one case must be considered FULL and VOID; that is to say the PILLS ever NOT be taken when any female is in an INTERESTING CONDITION, otherwise a MISCARRIAGE will be the inevitable result.

THE DROP OF RAIN.

A little particle of rain
That from a passing cloud descended,
Was heard thus idly to complain:—
"My brief existence now is ended,
Outcast, alike of earth and sky,
Useless to live, unknown to die."

It chanced to fall into the sea,—
And there an open shell received it;—
And after years, how rich was he
Who from its prison-house relieved it!
The drop of rain had formed a gem
To deck a monarch's diadem. —[Anon.

THE SOUL A SHEPHERD.

The shepherds sing; and shall I silent be?
My God, no hymn for thee?
My soul's a shepherd too; a flock it feeds
Of thoughts and words and deeds.
The pasture is thy word; the streams, thy grace
Enriching all the place. —[Herbert.

THE SUN.

See the Sun!
God's crest upon His azure shield, the Heavens.

THE UPRIGHT HEART.

The heart, they say, is wiser than the schools;
And well they may, all that is great in thought,
That strikes at once as with electric fire,
And lifts us, as it were, from earth to heaven,
Comes from the heart; and who confesses not
Its voice is sacred, nay almost divine,
When only it declares on what we do,
Blaming, approving? Let an erring world
Judge as it will, we care not while we stand
Acquitted there; and oft, when clouds on clouds
Compass us round and not a track appears
Oft is an upright heart the surest guide,
Surer and better than the subtlest head,
Still with its silent counsels through the dark
Onward and onward leading. —[Rogers.

THE HEREAFTER.

Death to thee will be
Not so much even as the lifting of a latch;
Only a step into the open air,
Out of a tent already luminous
With light that shines through its transparent walls.

THE LOTTERY WAR.—The war upon lottery agents is still rigorously carried on; eight or ten new arrests have been made to-day, and others will be made as soon as the necessary evidence can be obtained. The Mayor this morning received a letter, threatening his life if he interfered with the writers. It was signed with figures, with a dagger after the first signature.—Here is the mysterious document, verbatim:

"New York, ——, ——.

Mayor Tiemann.—Sir:—I am a policy player, and make my living by the same. You have not broken up my place, but I have to warn you that if you attempt, a number have agreed together to put you out of the way. So be ware, No. 3—.

So help us God, we swear,
1—2—3—4—5—6—7."

The Mayor says he has no desire to be Napoleonized, and requests that in future communications of this description, the authors will give their names and residences, so that he may know whether they are men of their word, and understand the importance he should attach to their threats. Under present circumstances, not knowing whether they are responsible, he is not disposed to pay any attention to their warning.—New York Post, 30th ult.

READING ALOUD.—There is no treat so great as to hear good reading of any kind. Not one gentleman or lady in a hundred can read so as to please the ear and send the words with gentle force to the heart and understanding. And indistinct utterance, whines, drones, nasal twangs, and guttural notes, hesitation and other vices of elocution, are almost universal. Why it is, no one can say, unless it be that either the pulpit, or the nursery, or the Sunday School, gives the style in these days. Many a lady can sing Italian songs with considerable execution, but cannot read English passably.

Yet reading is by far the more valuable accomplishment of the two. In most drawing-rooms, if a thing is to be read, it is discovered that nobody can read; one has weak lungs; another gets hoarse; another chokes; another has an abominable sing-song, evidently a tradition of the way in which he said hymns when he was too young to understand them; another rumbles like a brond wheel wagon; another has a way of reading which seems to proclaim that what is read is of no sort of consequence, and had better not be attended to.—Daily Ledger.

A schoolmaster at Albany has been sending blank circulars to parents, to get authority to flog to the extent of his good judgment without exposure to legal penalties. One of the answers received was as follows:—

"DEER MR. RATTEN—Your flogging cirklar is dully received. I hope as to my John, you will flog him just as offin as you kin. Heas a bad boy—is John. Hitho I've bin in habit of teachin him miself, it seems to me he will never larn anithing—his spellin is ottragously defishment. Wallup him well, sir, and you will receive my thanks.

"P. S.—What accounts for John being sich a scolar is that he is my son by my wife's fust husband."

GOOD.—The Temperance Journal states that there is evidently a falling off in the liquor business of Portland. At an auction sale of liquors advertised in that city last week, not one bid could be obtained on any terms. No liquors were brought by the New York steamers at their last trip. Sometimes these boats have brought as many as two hundred barrels of intoxicating liquors at a single trip.

The more a woman's waist is shaped like an hour glass, the more it shows that her sands of life are running out.

SAD DEATH OF A STUDENT.—The Detroit papers give the particulars of a sad affair which took place at the University at Ann Arbor, Mich. Last week, George W. Brazie, a young man who has until recently been anxious to become a member of some of the various secret societies of the college, a band of students conceived the plan of giving him a mock initiation into a sham society, and beer and whiskey were provided for the occasion. The ceremony was performed by a party of nine students, in one of the study rooms, and all who chose partook freely of the liquors. Brazie drank so freely that he became intoxicated, and sank down upon the floor. The company sought to sober him; carried him out of doors to give him the benefit of pure air, and bathed his face and temples in water, but without the desired result. He was taken back and made as comfortable as possible, with some bed clothing; his vomiting precluded the idea of putting him to bed. He was attended at intervals during the night, but when morning came he was still drunk. The students, thinking he would soon come out of his drunken sleep, went to college as usual. When they returned, about 11 o'clock, the unfortunate young man was dying, and before a physician who was sent for could arrive, he breathed his last. A post mortem examination of his body developed no evidence either of disease or violence, and the jury returned a verdict of "death by intemperance."

It appears that Brazie had been without food much more than the usual time, and also drank freely of beer and whisky before going to the place of meeting. The melancholy afair has created great excitement at Ann Arbor, and the citizens are making a movement to break up the sale of liquors in the place.

PREACHING AND PRACTICE.—Dr. Channing had a brother, a physician, and at one time they both lived in Boston. One day a countryman in search of the divine, knocked at the doctor's door, when the following dialogue ensued: Does Mr. Channing live here?" "Yes, sir." "Can'i I see him?" "I am he." "Who—you?" "Yes sir." "You must have altered considerably since I heard you preach?" "Oh, I see your mistake now. It's my brother who preaches. I practice."

American and Foreign Patents.
R. H. EDDY, solicitor of Patents,
(Late Agent of U. S. Patent Office, Washington, under the Act of 1837.)
No. 76 State st, oppo. Kilby st, Boston,
AFTER an extensive practice of upwards of twenty years, continues to secure Patents in the United States; also in Great Britian, France, and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all Papers or Drawings for Patents, executed on liberal terms, and with despatch. Researches made into American or Foreign works, to determine the validity or utility of Patents or Inventions,—and legal or other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any Patent furnished by remitting One Dollar. Assignments recorded at Washington.
This Agency is not only the largest in New England, but through it inventors have advantages for securing patents, or ascertaining the patentability of inventions, unsurpassed by, if not immeasurably superior to, any which can be offered them elsewhere. The testimonials below given prove that none is MORE SUCCESSFUL; AT THE PATENT OFFICE than the subscriber; and as SUCCESS IS THE BEST PROOF OF ADVANTAGES AND ABILITY, he would add that he has abundant reason to believe, and can prove, that at no other office of the kind are the charges for professional services more moderate.—The immense practice of the subscriber during twenty years past, has enabled him to accumulate a vast collection of specifications and official decisions relative to patents. These, besides his extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and full accounts of patents granted in the United States and Europe, enable him also, beyond question, to offer superior facilities for obtaining Patents.
All necessity of a journey to Washington to procure a patent, and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.
TESTIMONIALS.
"During the time I occupied the office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, did business at the Patent Office, as Solicitor of Patents. There were few, if any persons acting in that capacity, who had so much business before the Patent office; and there were none who conducted it with more skill, fidelity, and success. I regard Mr Eddy as one of the best informed and most skilful Patent Solicitors in the United States, and have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and capable of putting their application in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.
EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents."
From the present Commissioner.
AUGUST 17, 1855.—During the time I have held the Office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, has been extensively engaged in the transaction of business with the office, as a Solicitor. He is thoroughly acquainted with the law, and the rules of practice of the Office. I regard him as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse.

Coggswell's Medical Salt,
A PERFECT SUBSTITUTE
FOR THE
LANCET, LEECHES AND BLISTERS,
INSTEAD of being a pansees for all maladies, it has control over but ONE MALADY—has but ONE AIM—accomplishes but ONE THING; to wit, supports INFLAMMATORY DISEASE—whatever be its form or locality—whether in the head, throat, chest, abdomen, extremities or skin. Every form of inflammation (but no other disease) is reduced, by it as easily as fire is extinguished by water. Is it asked, how it does this?—simply by restoring the lost balance between the fluids and solids. Such is its potency, that like vaccine matter, it requires merely what adheres to the point of a pin dipped into a solution of it, to affect the entire system.

DANIEL WEBSTER'S FATHER.

Prepared for the Statesman by G. W. Nesmith, Esq.

Mr. Editor,—In the recent political canvass in our State it was publicly stated by some of the speakers, that Judge Webster, the father of Hon. Daniel Webster, could neither read nor write. Now, in the course of the last summer we spent some time in investigating the history of Judge Webster. We have sufficient evidence, in Franklin and Salisbury, to satisfy the most skeptical, that he could not only read and write, spell and cipher, but he knew how to lend the means to found a State. Daniel Webster, in his auto-biography, and in his letter to Mr. Blatchford, of New York, gives us a brief, but too modest outline of the life of his father. At the risk of being tedious, we propose to show some of the acts or works that gave him his deserved influence and fame in this region.

Ebenezer Webster was born in Kingston, in 1739. He resided many years with Major Ebenezer Stevens, an influential citizen of that town, and one of the first proprietors of Salisbury. Salisbury was granted in 1749, and first named Stevenstown in honor of Major Stevens. It was incorporated as Salisbury in 1767. Judge Webster settled in Stevenstown as early as 1761. Previous to this time he had served as a soldier in the French war, and once afterward. He was married to Mehetable Smith, his first wife, January 8, 1761.—His first two children, Olle, a daughter, and Ebenezer, his son, died while young. His third child was Susanna, born Oct., 1766; married John Colby, who recently died in Franklin. He had, also, by his first wife, two sons, David, who died some years since at Stanstead; also Joseph, who died in Salisbury. His first wife died March 28, 1774. Judge Webster again married, Abigail Eastman, Oct. 13, 1774. By her he had five children, viz.: Mehetable, Abigail, (who married Wm. Haddock,) Ezekiel, born March 11, 1780;—Daniel, born January 18, 1782; and Sarah, born May 13, 1784. Judge Webster died in April, 1806, in the house now occupied by R. L. Tay, Esq., and, with his last wife and many of his children, now lies buried in the grave-yard originally taken from the Elms's farm. For the first seven years of his life, after he settled on the farm now occupied by Jno. Taylor, in Franklin, he lived in a log cabin, located in the orchard, west of the highway, and near Punch Brook. Then he was able to erect a house of one story, of about the same figure and size as that now occupied by William Cross, near said premises. It was in this house that Daniel Webster was born. In 1784 Judge Webster removed to the tavern house, near his interval farm, and occupied that until 1800, when he exchanged his tavern house with Wm. Haddock for that where he died.

In 1761 Capt. John Webster, Eliphalet Gale and Judge Webster erected the first saw-mill in Stevenstown, on Punch Brook, on his homestead near his cabin.

In June, 1764, Matthew Pettengill, Stephen Call and Ebenezer Webster were the highway surveyors of Stevenstown. In 1765 the proprietors voted to give Ebenezer Webster and Benj. Sanborn 200 acres of common land, in consideration that they furnish a privilege for a grist-mill, erect a mill and keep it in repair for 15 years, for the purpose of grinding the town's corn.

In 1768 Judge Webster was first chosen moderator of a town meeting in Salisbury, and he was elected forty-three times afterwards at different town meetings, in Salisbury, serving in March, 1803, for the last time.

In 1769 he was elected selectman, and held that office for the years 1770, 72, 74, 76, 80, 85, 86 and 1788; resigning it, however, in September 1776, and performing a six months' service in the army.

1771, 72 and 73, he was elected and served in the office of town clerk. In 1778 and 80 he was elected Representative of the classed towns of Salisbury and Boscawen; also, for Salisbury, 1790 and 91.—He was elected Senator for the years 1785, 86, 88 and 1790; Hillsborough County electing two Senators at this time, and Matthew Thornton, and Robert Wallace of Henniker, serving as colleagues each for two of said years. He was in the Senate in 1786, at Exeter, when the Insurgents surrounded the House. His proclamation to them was, "I command you to disperse."

In March, 1778, the town chose Capt. Ebenezer Webster and Capt. Matthew Pettengill as Delegates to a Convention to be holden at Concord, Wednesday, June 10, "For the sole purpose of forming a permanent plan of government for the future well being of the good people of this State."

In 1778, January 16, Col. Webster was elected Delegate to the Convention at Exeter, for the purpose of considering the proposed United States Constitution. A Committee was also chosen by the town to examine said Constitution, and advise with said Delegate. This committee was composed of Joseph Bean, Esq., Jona. Fifield, Esq., Jona. Oram, Capt. Wilder, Deacon Jno. Collins, Edward Eastman, John C. Gale, Capt. Robert Smith, Leonard Judkins, Deacon Jacob True, Lt. Bean, Lt. Severance and John Smith. At the first meeting of the Convention, in February, Col. Webster opposed the Constitution, under instructions from his town.

A majority of the Convention was found to be opposed to the adoption of the Constitution. The Convention adjourned to Concord, to meet in the succeeding month of June. In the mean time Col. Webster conferred with his constituents, advised with the Committee on the subject, asked the privilege of supporting the Constitution, and he was instructed to vote as he might think proper. His speech, made on this occasion, has been printed.—We last saw it in the columns of the New York Courier and Enquirer, in June, 1832. It did great credit to the head and heart of the author. Col Webster finally gave his support to the Constitution. He was one of the Electors for President when Washington was first chosen to that office.

In the spring of the year 1791 Colonel Webster was appointed Judge of the Court of Common Pleas for the County of Hillsborough. This office he held at the time of his decease, in 1806. He was one of the magistrates, or Justices of the Peace for Hillsborough County for more than thirty-five years prior to his decease.

In church affairs, Judge Webster exercised great influence. As early as 1768 he was chosen by the town to go after a minister. He often composed one of the Committee in subsequent years, to provide preaching; also, to build the first meeting house. The Proprietors of the town, of Kingston, voted to assist to build a meeting house like the one in East Kingston, with the pulpit like that in Hawke. Ebenezer Webster, Joseph Bean and Capt. John Calfe must see that the work on the meeting house be done in a workmanlike manner.

This meeting house was erected on Searle's Hill, so called, the highest land in Salisbury except Kearsarge mountain.—While there it was truly the Visible Church. He was one of the Committee in making the arrangements to ordain Rev. Jona. Searle, in October, 1773. He was also one of the Committee on the part of the Town, in settling the terms of the dismission of Rev. Mr. Searle, in 1790.

In 1791 Col. Webster, Capt. Benjamin Pettengill and Elder B. Huntoon were appointed a committee to hire Rev. Thomas Worcester. The same year the town voted to settle Mr. Worcester, viz: on the second Wednesday of Nov., 1791. On this day the counsel assembled preparatory to the ordination; a dispute originated between the council of ministers and Mr. Worcester upon a doctrinal point. Much time was spent in the discussion. The people without became impatient, and demanded that the ordination should come off. Judge Webster was appointed a Committee to wait on the Council, and inquire into the causes of the delay. He appeared before them—heard their statement. "Gentlemen," says he, "the ordination must come on now, and if you cannot consist, we must try to get along without you. The point under discussion must be postponed to some other day." The Council acquiesced, and the ordination ceremonies proceeded without more delay.—Col. Webster was one of the elders of the church for many years prior to his death.

Concluded to-morrow.

WASHINGTON, May, 7.—General Cramer, Chief Clerk of the Land Office at Lecompton, Kansas, who is now in this city, reports that there is a very general feeling of indignation in the Territory, at the announcement of the sale of the Kickapoo and Lecompton lands, and that meetings protesting against the sale, have been held throughout the Territory.

Senator Evans, whose decease was mentioned in the Senate to-day, was taken suddenly ill last evening while supping with his colleague, Mr. Hammond, and died soon after reaching home. His death was caused by disease of the heart.

The Kansas bill will be officially despatched tomorrow to Gov. Denver, with instructions designed to secure a fair vote on the proposition to be submitted to the people.

The estimate for the three Volunteer Regiments, for 18 months, is said to amount to $4,500,000. They will positively not be called into service until the appropriations are made.

Senator Evans had dined with his colleague, Mr. Hammond, and left for home about 10 o'clock last night, apparently enjoying his usual health. He was attacked with disease of the heart or apoplexy upon reaching his lodgings, and died a short time thereafter. His funeral takes place tomorrow from the Senate Chamber. He was aged 71 years.

Lieut. Gen. Scott has arrived here, in pursuance of orders from the Secretary of War.

WASHINGTON, May 8.—(Boston Journal correspondence.)—The great cost of the two regiments of volunteers and one of the Texas Rangers (being double that of regular troops) may defeat the appropriation for them and enable the administration to carry its original plan for an increase of the army.

The postponement of the House bill does not kill the French spoliation claim, as the Senate bill may be passed there and in the House.

The death of Judge Evans will enable the India rubber patent men to get a favorable report on their union scheme of renewal, which they have despaired of.

The Chicago Democrat says that laborers in that city are not likely to get more than six shillings a day the coming season, and that hundreds are there out of employment.

The Chicago Democrat would have told us something better to the purpose, if it had said how many cents per day the men are to have. Six shillings in New Hampshire are equal to 100 cents. In New York six shillings are equal to 75 cents.—But in New Hampshire, we hardly mention shillings, now.

"You flatter me,' said a thin exquisite to a young lady who was praising the beauty of his moustache. "For Heaven's sake, ma'am," interrupted an old skipper, 'don't make that monkey any flatter than he is now."

LATE FROM KANSAS.

The Boston Journal of Saturday evening contains a long and authentic letter from Lawrence, Kansas, May 1st, from which it appears that a Squatter's Convention was held at Topeka on the 28th ult., to take action upon the land sales ordered to take place in July. A committee to obtain remonstrances was raised and a personal discussion ensued between Gen. Lane and Dr. Robinson. The Free State Convention, called for nominating officers under the Leavenworth Constitution.

The Convention was controlled altogether by the radical men, and all the candidates are of that stamp. Each of the Supreme Judges was required to express his views on the Constitutionality of the Fugitive Slave law. All the nominees declared directly or by implication that they believed it unconstitutional; otherwise they could not have been nominated. Mr. Parrott, the present delegate to Congress lost a renomination. No action was taken upon designating the U. S. Senators. The resolutions are explicit in favor of discarding the Lecompton Constitution in case of its passage, and of putting the Leavenworth Constitution into immediate operation.—The negro suffrage provision is explained. One of the most amusing passages occurred between H. P. Johnson, the heaviest slaveholder in the Territory, and a delegate who found some fault with the Leavenworth Constitution. Johnson is a radical Free State man.

FIGHT AMONG FIREMEN.—Philadelphia, May 7. During an alarm of fire this morning, Schiffler Hose Co., attacked Moyamensing Co., capturing their carriage, demolished it, and pitched it overboard from Reed street wharf. Many shots were fired, but no one injured.

The hose carriage was subsequently towed to the Navy Yard, and there hilted out of the river with the shears, and restored to the company. All is quiet now, but apprehensions are entertained of retaliation to-night.

The man who spelt coffee—laughy was great at orthography; but they beat him in Cincinnati. There is a sign in Western Row:—Kaiks, Krakers, Kandies and Konfekshunarys, holesale and retale.

CONFESSION AND SUICIDE OF A POISONER. Chester, Orange Co., N.Y., May 7.—Mrs. Phoebe Westlake, a widow, residing in this place, was yesterday arrested on suspicion of poisoning several persons in the village. Last night she destroyed herself by taking arsenic. Before the suicide she confessed that she had administered poison at different times to a Mrs. Filder, who died about two weeks since very suddenly. She also confessed that she had administered poison to Mr. J. B. Tuthill, a merchant, who has recovered and is doing well. Mrs. Chas. Tuthill and a Mrs. Derrick are now very unwell, with every symptom of having been poisoned; and as Mrs. Westlake has lately sent them some preserves which they had eaten, it is supposed they were also intended by her as her victims.

Use Philbrick's Celebrated Fire-Kindlings.

THESE Kindlings are the best of anything that has ever been used for wood or charcoal fires. They are CHEAP, a Box containing 144 square, 1" pieces being sufficient to kindle a fire, burning from 8 to 10 minutes with a free blaze, therefore kindling nearly 6 fires for 1 cent, and are not affected by age or climate. They are safe, being composed of a substance not liable to spontaneous combustion; thereby dispensing with use of shavings and paper, thus removing a great risk of fire from buildings, and are HANDIER, CHEAPER and CLEANER.

DIRECTIONS.—One of the small squares lighted and placed on the bottom of the stove or grate is sufficient to kindle a wood or charcoal fire.

Congregational Singing.

CONGREGATIONAL SINGING.—You never can have congregational singing, if that is all you have. Unless you have singing in the family, singing in the house, and singing in the shop, and singing in the street—singing everywhere, until it becomes a habit, you never can have congregational singing. It will be like the cold drops, half water, half ice, which drip in March from some cleft of a rock, one drop here and one drop there; whereas it should be like the August shower, which comes ten million drops at once, and roars upon the roof. —Henry Ward Beecher.

A CARD TO THE LADIES.

DR. DUPONCO'S

French Periodical Golden Pills,

FOR FEMALES;

Infallible in Removing Stoppages or Irregularity of the Menses.

THESE Pills are nothing new, but have been used by the Doctor for many years, both in France and Paris, with unparalled success in every case; and he is urged by many thousand ladies who have used them, to make the Pills public, for the alleviation of those suffering from any irregularities whatever, as well as to prevent pregnancy in those ladies whose health will not permit an increase of family. Pregnant females, or those supposing themselves so, are cautioned against using these Pills while pregnant, as the proprietor assumes no responsibility after the above admonition, although their mildness would prevent any injury to the child's health, otherwise these Pills are recommended. Full and explicit directions accompany each box.

Price $1. Sold in Portsmouth by JOSEPH H. THACHER, in Dover by Chas. A. Tufts, in Exeter by C. A. Merrill, and in Newmarket by J. A. Prendergast. DIARRHEA.

Dr. D. A. Tyler, of New Haven, Ct., in his Dissertation upon the Rock Rose Plant, mentions four cases where he had used it with marked success in Diarrhea, after the usual remedies, Chalk, Opium, &c., had failed. And, he adds, "since 1848 I have been in the habit of using the Rock Rose in form of Extract Decoction and Tincture for the cure of Diarrhea, almost daily during the fall and summer months, and have seldom been disappointed in its use." Myers' Extract Rose, as a remedy in Diarrhea, has never been known to fail. Get a Circular and read it.

LOCAL.

☞ We shouldn't want to say that 'John Halifax" needs conversion—though, by his own ruling in our case when we got an an item from him, he does—but a Tamworth letter from him to the Boston Journal, does read "very like" an editorial of a certain inland New Hampshire newspaper of a few days previous. Glass houses, stones, &c.

☞ Quite a quarrel took place on Saturday evening, in Water street, between two stone-cutters. They were cousins, and the trouble arose while they were imbibing beer, so that there can be no question, Mr. Editor, but that "rum did it." I.

☞ The Circuit Court of the United States commenced its May term in this city on Saturday, Judge Harvey presiding.

☞ A correspondent calls for a steeple on the Stone Church, as an ornament to the city, to be furnished by a rich and liberal parish.

MEETINGS.

Union Prayer Meeting in the Fleet Street Chapel, from 8 to 9 o'clock this morning, to which all are invited.

Prayer Meeting in the Catholic Church, Summer street, this evening at half-past 7 o'clock.

Prayer Meeting in the vestry of the Methodist Church, this evening, beginning at 7 1-2 o'clock.

Young Men's Union Prayer Meeting in the Fleet street Vestry this evening at 8 o'clock.

☞ No business was done in Congress on Friday or Saturday, in consequence of the death and burial of Senator Evans.

☞ John Roybner, a Swiss, swindled some New York merchants out of $9000 last winter, and fled to Venezuela with his booty. A detective police officer followed, and landed at Caracas two days after the Swiss had left for the country. The money, however, was ascertained to be in the hands of a banker, but owing to the recent revolution there he could not be compelled to give it up, and Roybner could not be arrested. An embargo was laid upon the money, however, and as soon as political affairs become settled it will be recovered.

THE MODERN SODOM.—The fact of the exclusion of the Bible from the schools of the Fourth Ward in New York, has been so widely circulated as to attract attention to that interesting locality. The Tribune says that about every fourth dwelling in the ward is either a grog-shop, gaming-house or brothel; many of them are two of these "rolling into one," and some of them all three. At least half the voters of the Ward are residents of grog-shops, or brothels, or both; more revolting than similar dens almost anywhere else. There are about 2000 legal voters in the Fourth Ward, and they polled 2637 votes at the last election, of which Fernando Wood had 2112. Of course the Ward officers elected are all zealous Wood men. Their rejection of the Sacred Volume was rather a compliment than an insult to it.

These men are some who control elections,—not to mention saving the union.

A CASE OF COMPOUND CRIME.—Some two or three months ago a man with a family, bearing the name of Owen, came into Northampton, hired a dwelling house, near South street bridge, and occupied the same as a residence and for a "grocery." He gave no account of where he came from, and nobody there knew. For the last two or three weeks, he was a subject of delirium tremens, in the course of which time, one of the neighbors learned from the woman, that they came from Port Jervis, N. Y., whereupon he wrote to the postmaster of that place for information about the family. The result was, that on Saturday, two gentlemen from Port Jervis arrived, who stated that the man's true name was James McBride,—that the woman was not his wife, she being unmarried, and her two little girls belonging to nobody in particular; that he was treasurer, collector and constable of the town of Port Jervis; that he was a defaulter to the amount of $2,500, and that they were his sureties in the sum of $6,500. They thereupon procured his arrest on Saturday night, and he consented to return with his sureties without resort to further legal process. The man is said to be about 50 years old.—Springfield Rep.

MARRIAGE OF AN AMERICAN IN PARIS.—The marriage of young Hutchinson of the American India Rubber Shoe Manufacturing Company, to the daughter of the Duchess of Montmorency and Luxembourg, has made a good deal of talk in the aristocratic circle of France. They do not deny that Mr. Hutchinson is an elegant and accomplished young man, or that he has an immense fortune in hand and in prospective; they deem it a mesalliance which throws a stain upon one of the oldest and most honored names of France.—But this world is growing wonderfully "realist" in the presence of money; and since the parties are both human beings, both respectable, educated and accomplished, and withal entertain a real love for each other, where's the harm? Titles are becoming but flimsy things in the heart of this 19th century of progress and good sense.—Paris Correspondent of New York Times.

MANCHESTER MOVEMENTS.—The following is a copy of the ladies' petition:

To the Honorable Board of Mayor and Aldermen of the City of Manchester:

The undersigned, ladies residing in this city, would respectfully represent—That they have reason to believe that certain houses in the city of Manchester are kept and used for the purposes of licentiousness, prostitution and crime, contrary to law; that they are sources of moral pollution to our people, and a disgrace to our city; and we feel there is no security for the virtue of our sons and daughters, our brothers and sisters, while such allurements to vice are permitted to exist at our very doors, and we would call the attention of your honorable body particularly to No. 42 Park street, the last house on Chesnut street, near the Cemetery—with other places.

We do most earnestly pray your honorable body that measures may be immediately taken to suppress said places of direful degradation, and to punish the guilty according to law, and as in duty bound we will ever pray.

Signed by Mrs. S. P. Bailey, and 449 others.

The best citizens there see the need of some caustic measures, to cure the moral cancers which threaten to eat away the morals of that community.

Speaking of the law for the suppression of intemperance, the American says:

The deficiency in enforcing the law usually rises from the inefficiency or unwillingness of some branch of the municipal authorities, or some one of the officials, whose duty it is to execute the law. We believe that two-thirds of the tax paying voters of Manchester desire to see this law executed, and the groggeries shut up.—Moderate drinkers even—men who may not think rumselling a crime—after witnessing such scenes as those enacted at our last election, are in favor of having the law carried out to the utmost limits.

It may be a pertinent question to ask what permanent avail is the revival among us, when these grog-shops of the lowest order, brothels and gambling hells are allowed to present such constant temptations to the young; and when leaders of society, members of churches and business men, take no steps to consolidate and express public opinion against these evils, and to root them out of existence, or at least to drive them into disgrace and darkness. They know that the indiscriminate sale of ardent spirits in this city is justly chargable with two-thirds of the pauperism and crime in our midst.

But we say let the law be executed; let us respect it and by obedience to it test its usefulness.

COTTON IN INDIA.—Millions have been expended in trying to raise cotton in India. For twenty years, experiments have been carried on by Americans and English experts, with but trifling success. Lately the cultivation has been stimulated by exemptions, bounties, etc., until there is conceded to be a possibility of success. This is shown by the fact that the product sent from India has been gradually increasing, and the imports from America diminishing, as follows:

	Imported from India	Imported from America
1855	1,296,243 lbs.	6,085,977 lbs.
1856	1,611,577 "	6,964,643 "
1857	2,235,162 "	5,846,054 "

Besides India, Great Britian is looking to Africa for ultimate supplies. Dr. Livingstone is sanguine of the capabilities of the sail and climate of that country to produce this staple in great abundance.

THE FAMOUS MILLIONAIRE OF CINCINNATI. A good anecdote is related in the Cincinnati Times of Longworth, so celebrated for his wines, his grounds, and his wealth, in that city. A young married couple from Kentucky, visiting the city, on passing his garden determined to ask permission to look over the premises. They found at the gate a seedy looking little individual, somewhat advanced in years, who, from his appearance, they supposed to be attached to the establishment, of whom they asked if permission to make the proposed tour would be accorded. The little man not only assured them that they were at liberty to proceed, but volunteered to accompany them, showing them through the grounds and conservatories, and pointing out, in the politest manner, every object of curiosity. Having arrived at the gate, and being about to leave, the visitor did not feel at liberty to depart without offering a quarter to his guide, and was astonished to fine it refused. He urged its acceptance till he was informed that the guide was the veritable Nicholas himself, whereupon the young gentleman was not a little abashed, and confused, and proceeded to utter a multiplicity of apologies. The story, however, ended handsomely. Mr. Longworth invites the other party into the house, shows them the statuary and pictures, talks him out of his embarrassment, and sends him away at peace with himself and the rest of mankind.

☞ The Worcester Spy highly complimente Postmaster Banister, of that city, and his First Assistant, Theodore H. Bartlett, formerly of this city—and says that office "may well be considered a model institution of the kind." No doubt of it. We have had occasion to acknowledge the courtesy and attention of the latter gentleman, at least.

Locke says, "Every sect, as far as reason will help them, gladly use it; when it fails them, they cry out, 'It is a matter of faith, and above reason.'"

MOSES & DOWNIE,

SOLE Agents for the above Goods, have on hand a large Stock of the same, suitable for shore and sea wear.

These fabrics, since their first introduction to the public, (almost three years since,) have been fully tested, and the result has proved them to possess all the qualities requisite to make a perfect article. They have received the most emphatic testimonials from gentlemen in the navy and merchant service, which they would be pleased to show any one who wishes to see them with a view. They have been supplying some of the officers of the Falmouth, who have tested the Rubber goods, and found them suit for sea service.

Nos. 33 & 37 Market Street.

MOSES & DOWNIE.

The following remedies are offered to the public as the best, most perfect, which medical science can afford.☞ AYER'S CATHARTIC PILLS have been prepared with the utmost skill which the medical profession of this age possesses, and their effects show they have virtues which surpass any combination of medicines hitherto known. Other preparations do more or less good; but this cures such dangerous complaints, so quick and so surely, as to prove an efficacy and a power to uproot disease beyond any things which men have known before. By removing the obstructions of the internal organs and stimulating them into healthy action, they renovate the fountains of life and vigor,—health courses anew through the body, and the sick man is well again. They are adapted to disease, and disease only, for when taken by one in health they produce but little effect. This is the perfection of medicine. It is antagonistic to disease, and no more. Tender children—they take them with impunity. If they are sick they will cure them, if they are well they will do them no harm.

Give them to some patient who has been prostrated with bilious complaint: see his bent-up, tottering form straighten with strength again; see his long-lost appetite return; see his clammy features bloom with health. Give them to some sufferer whose foul blood has burst out in scrofula till his skin is covered with sores; who stands, or sits, or lies in anguish. He has been drenched inside and out with every potion which ingenuity could suggest. Give him these PILLS, and mark the effect; see the scabs fall from his body; see the new, fair skin that has grown under them; see the late leper that is clean. Give them to him whose angry humors have planted rheumatism in his joints and bones; see how he, will he screeches with pain; he too has been soaked through every muscle of his body with liniments and salves; give him these PILLS to purify his blood; they may not cure him, for, alas! there are cases which no mortal power can reach; but mark, he walks with crutches now, and now he walks alone; he throws away his crutches. Give them to the lean, sour, haggard dyspeptic, whose gnawing stomach has long ago eaten every smile from his face and every muscle from his body. See his appetite return, and with it his health; see the new man. See that child who was raked with hectic and lowliness blasted and too early withering away; want of exercise or mental anguish, or some lurking disease, has deranged the internal organs of digestion, assimilation or secretion, till they do their work ill. Her blood is tainted, her health is gone. Give her these PILLS to stimulate the vital principle into renewed vigor, to cast out the obstructions, and infuse a new vitality into the blood. Now look again—the roses blossom on her cheek, and where lately moped a pale form joy bursts from every feature. See the sweet infant doubled with worms. Its wan, sickly features tell you without disguise, and painfully distinct, that they are eating its life away. Its pinched-up nose and ears, and restless sleepings, tell the drowsy truth in language which every mother knows. Give it the PILLS in large doses to sweep these vile parasites from the body. Now turn again and see the ruddy bloom of childhood. Is it nothing to do these things? Nay, are they not the marvel of this age? And yet they are done around you every day.

Have you the less serious symptoms of these distempers, they are the easier cured. Jaundice, Costiveness, Headache, Sickness, Heartburn, Foul Stomach, Nausea, Pain in the Bowels, Flatulency, Loss of Appetite, King's Evil, Neuralgia, Gout, and kindred complaints all arise from the derangements which these PILLS rapidly cure. Take them perseveringly, and under the counsel of a good Physician if you can; if not, take them judiciously by such advice as we give you, and the consumptive, whose ulcerous diseases they cure, which afflict so many millions of the human race, are cast out like the devils of old; the vast must burrow in the brutes and in the sea. Price 25 cents per box—5 boxes for $1.

Throughout a trial of nearly twenty years through every nation of civilized men, AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL has been found to afford more relief and to cure more cases of pulmonary disease than any other remedy known to mankind. Cases of apparently confirmed consumption are here cured by it, and thousands of sufferers who were declared beyond the reach of human aid have been restored to their friends and usefulness, to sound health and the enjoyments of life, by this all-powerful antidote to disease of the lungs and throat. Here a cold had settled on the lungs. The dry, hard cough, the glassy eye, and the pale, thin features of him who was lately lusty and strong, whisper to all but him CONSUMPTION. He tries every thing; but the disease is gnawing at his vitals, and shows its fatal symptoms more and more every day his frame. He is taking the CHERRY PECTORAL now; it has stopped his cough and made his breathing easy; his sleep is sound at night; his appetite returns, and with it his strength. The dart which pierced his side is broken. Scarcely any neighborhood can be found which has not some living trophy like this to shadow forth the virtues which have won for the CHERRY PECTORAL an imperishable renown. But words cannot do its cures end here. Nay, it accomplishes more by prevention than cure. The complexion, colds and coughs which it cures are the seed which would have ripened into a dreadful harvest of incurable diseases. Influenza, Croup, Bronchitis, Hoarseness, Pleurisy, Whooping Cough, and all irritations of the throat and lungs are easily cured by the CHERRY PECTORAL if taken in season. Every family should have it by them, and they will find it as invaluable protection from the insidious prowler which carries off the purest sheep from many a flock, the darling child from many a home.

Authenticated evidence of these facts, with directions for the treatment of each complaint, may be found in Ayer's American Almanac, of which we publish three millions, and scatter them broadcast over the earth, in order that the sick everywhere may have before them the information it contains. Druggists and dealers in medicine generally have them for distribution gratis, and also for sale these remedies, prepared by Dr. J. C. AYER, Practical and Analytical Chemist, Lowell, Mass.

PEDAL BASS MELODEONS,

No. 511 Washington St., Boston,

The first premium over all competitors, at the Fair of the Mass. Charitable Mechanic Association, of the National Fair, Washington, D. C., also at the Ohio State Fair, held at Columbus, Ohio, was awarded to these Manufacturers.

By means of a new method of Voicing, known only to themselves, they have succeeded in removing the harsh and buzzing sound which formerly characterized the instrument, and rendering the tones full, clear and organ like. The action is prompt and reliable, enabling the performer to execute the most rapid movements without hindering the tones. The swell is arranged to give great expression.

THE PEDAL BASS MELODEONS,

Are designed particularly for Churches, Lodges, Halls, &c. It is arranged with two manuals, or banks of Keys, the lower set running an octave higher than the other, and may be used separately, and thus get in one case two distinct instruments, or by use of the coupler, the two banks of keys may be played at the same time by use of the front set only. This connected with the Pedal Bass, will produce the effect of a large organ, and is sufficiently heavy to fill a house that seats from 1000 to 1500 persons.

THE ORGAN MELODEON

Is designed for parlor and private use. The construction is similar to the Church instrument, and arranged with two banks of Keys, and when used together, by means of the coupler, is capable of as great volume of power as the Church instrument when used without the pedals. Also, every variety of Manuscripts for Parlor use.

THE HAIR.—People have for centuries been afflicted with bald heads, and the only remedy, heretofore known, has been those abominable wigs. By a recent discovery of Professor Wood (those celebrated chemists of Philadelphia) a great many persons still patronize them, because they have been so often imposed upon by Hair Tonics of different kinds. To all such persons we earnestly make a request that they procure but one bottle of Wood's Restorative there is no such thing as fail. ☞ Claremont, as our readers know, is as beautiful a town as can be found in New England. It abounds with intelligent and excellent citizens. But some nuisances hang about the town as they do here, selling liquors and keeping houses of ill-fame. The authorities however, are looking after these pauper manufactories with a keen eye, and are taking measures to put a stop to them. Several persons were arrested last week, and one of them, an old runseller, now in Newport jail, has been amusing himself by "rhyming out his thoughts," as they came to him in his lonely quarters. The Claremont Advocate publishes them without alteration.—Here they are:

A SONG ABOUT NEWPORT JAIL.

Ive Ben to Jail Three or fore days,
To remind me of My Wicked Ways,
They used Me Well And Fed me To,
Thats Just What They Had ought to Do.
Corus—Ri Tol De Rol Lol De Rol Kido.

on a Straw Bed There all Alone,
With Close Enough to keep you Warm,
With no Rope For the Bed to Lay on Because the Bedstead is made of Iron.
Corus.

Now Sign the pledge and Bee a man,
keep out of Jail Long as you can,
Ive Tried it Boys and that I know,
tor to git out its hard i vow.
Corus.

Now then Beware of what i tell for I doe know it very well the sels ar stone and verry damp
if you stay there long youl have the Cramp.
Corus.

We perceive by the Claremont Eagle, that two more cases, were found against Luther S. Porter,—and one against one Willard, a tavern keeper. Held to bail $300 in each case.

Lord Bacon is said to have frequently told the following anecdote:—A proud, lazy young fellow, once came to an old man who sold brooms, and asked him to let him have one on credit, to whom the old man said: "Friend, hast thou no money?" "No," replied the other. "Then better borrow of thy back, borrow of thy belly—they'll ne'er ask it again; I shall be dunning thee every day."

In the early part of the American war, Franklin went to Paris in hopes of obtaining pecuniary resources from France.—For some time he was unsuccessful, and being invited to a large party, a gentleman observed, "It must be owned, sir, that America now exhibits to us a grand and magnificent spectacle!" "True," replied the doctor, drily, "but the spectators don't pay!"

PERSONAL.—The Cleveland Plaindealer reports that the President will take a trip to the West during the recess of Congress. The Boston Transcript states that "Honest" Tom Comer is the authority for the public statements that Bishop Eastburn had declined to minister the rite of confirmation to him, on account of his connection with the orchestra of a theatre.

☞ On Sunday last, a sad accident occurred in Acton, Me. Mr. Peter Ross, wife and two children, were thrown from a carriage, while descending a hill, so violently as to cause the death of one of the children, and severely injure Mrs. Ross and the other child—both of whom have since died.

PHILADELPHIA ELECTION.—The official canvass shows a total vote of nearly 63,000, of which Alexander Henry, people's candidate for Mayor, received 33,771,—and Richard Vaux, Democrat, 29,068; Henry's majority, 4,702. The other people's candidates were elected by majorities of about 3000.

☞ The death of Senator Evans was the theme in Congress on Saturday. In the Senate, Messrs. Hammond of South Carolina, Benjamin of Louisiana, Hale of New Hampshire, and Wilson of Massachusetts, pronounced brief eulogies on the deceased; and in the House, Messrs. McQueen of South Carolina, and Bocock of Virginia, spoke the praises of the departed. Mr. Evans was a working member of the Senate. He seldom mingled in the debates; and when he did so, it was in explanation mainly of some measure before the body. He died in the 74th year of his age.

☞ The large amount of money on deposit in the Boston banks at the present time reveals the great wealth of the community. The largest individual depositor has no less than one million nine hundred and fifty thousand dollars to his credit in State street. It is in three of the best banks.

Queen Victoria has received a present of eighty Arabian horses from the Sultan.

U. S. PATENT OFFICE, Feb 23, 1858.
I take great pleasure in stating that during the time I have been acting as Commissioner of Patents, Samuel Cooper, Esq., of Boston, has been engaged as Solicitor, and has been in that capacity in constant correspondence and intercourse with this office; he has evinced a thorough acquaintance with the Patent Law, and with the rules and practice of the office, a close attention to the interests of his clients, and a marked candor and courtesy that have rendered the transaction of business with him a pleasure. I have no hesitation in stating that I regard him as one of the very best agents for the transaction of business with this office with whom I am acquainted.
From the Examiners of the Patent Office.
The undersigned, Principal and Assistant Examiners in the United States Patent Office, have for several years been well acquainted with Mr. Samuel Cooper, late a principal Examiner in this office, and take pleasure in stating that he is a gentleman of the highest moral character, of unquestioned knowledge in the business and practice of the office, and that his scientific attainments are such as eminently fit him for the business in which he is about to engage.

From long acquaintance and intimate official relations with Mr. Cooper, I fully and heartily concur in the foregoing recommendation made by my late colleagues. W. P. N. FURNEAUX,

TUESDAY, MAY 11, 1858.

DANIEL WEBSTER'S FATHER.

Prepared for the Statesman by G. W. Nesmith, Esq.

Concluded from yesterday.

But the secret of Judge Webster's power and great influence in this vicinity was to be found in his military services and skill. The Revolutionary War found him captain of the company of militia in Salisbury. Capt. John Webster and Capt. Matthew Pettengill had each served their term of service. Capt. Ebenezer Webster, Lt. Robert Smith and Ensign Moses Garland were the officers of the company, in 1775. He commanded this company during the whole war, and was promoted to the rank of colonel in 1784. This station gave him authority and control over all able bodied citizens between the age of sixteen and fifty, as the law then was. Capt. Webster had thus the command of about 75 men. As an officer, he was beloved by his soldiers, and always had their entire confidence. He was born to command. He was in stature about six feet; of a massy frame, a voice of great compass, eyes black and piercing; a countenance open and ingenuous, and a complexion that could not be soiled by powder. He was the very man to head the proud columns of the Sons of Liberty.—Hence, soon after the Lexington fight we find him at Cambridge, at the head of most of his company. He armed more than half of his men, and remained on duty at Winter Hill for six months of that year. In 1776, resigning the office of selectman, he enlisted a company, and repaired to New York in season to take part in the battle of White Plains. Before he went into the army in this year, with the aid of his collegues he procured the signatures of eighty-four of his own townsmen (being all except two) to the pledge, offered to the people agreeably to the resolution of Congress, as follows:

"We do hereby solemnly engage and promise that we we will, to utmost of our power, at the risk of our lives and fortunes, with arms, oppose the hostile proceedings of British fleets and armies against the United American Colonies."

His son, Hon. Daniel Webster, the last year of his life thus eloquently referred to the signers of this pledge in Salisbury; "In looking to this record thus connected with the men of my birth-place, I confess I was gratified to find who were the signers and who were the dissentients. Among the former was he from whom I am immediately descended, with all his brothers, and his whole kith and kin. This is sufficient emblazonry for my arms; enough of heraldry for me." In the spring of 1777 he enlisted a company for the relief of the Northern Army. After a short service he returned to assist in the organization of a still larger force, to oppose the progress of Burgoyne. Before the first day of July he reported to Col. Thomas Stickney, of Concord, that his company was mustered, and ready for active service, all save Benjamin Huntoon and Jacob Tucker, "who each wanted a firearm." None could be procured in Salisbury for them, and Col. Stickney was requested to furnish arms for these men.

We once had in our possession two original letters from Capt. Webster to Col. Stickney, on this subject. In this company, that was engaged in the battle of Bennington, on the 16th of August, were enrolled forty-five of the good men of Salisbury; two-thirds of whom had wives and families, embracing the Pettengills, the Fifields, the Bohonnons, the Sanborns, the Eastmans, the Smiths, and Scribners, Greeleys, and Websters. They all returned safe, excepting Lieut. Andrew Pettengill, who died soon after his return, from injuries received in this campaign. He was an excellent officer, and father of Lieut. Benj. Pettengill. About seventeen of the company were from New Britain, now Andover, and ten others from the town of Hillsborough. Among them were McNeil and Andrews, Symonds and Booth, who had before fought on other fields. McNeil and Andrews had carried upon their shoulders their Captain Baldwin, when mortally wounded, in the battle of Bunker Hill.

At this period of the war, Salisbury had also twelve of her men enlisted for three years in Capt. Gray's company, Col. Scammel's regiment, viz.: Moses Fellows, Eph. Heath, Benj. Howard, D. Filch, Matthew Greeley, Philip Lulkin, Joshua Snow, Wm. Bailey, John Ash, Josiah Smith, Reuben Greeley and Joseph Webster. It was the darkest hour of the Revolution, but her citizens put forth energies equal to the emergency.

In August, 1778, Captain Webster, in obedience to a request of the Committee of Safety, with a company enlisted in his neighborhood, repaired to Rhode Island, and participated in the events that then occurred there. Again, in 1780, Capt. Webster enlisted and marched another company for the relief of the army stationed at West Point. This was a short time before the treason of Arnold. We heard one of his soldiers remark that the evening after the treason of Arnold was discovered by Washington, Captain Webster was called to his tent by Washington, and commanded to guard his tent that night, remarking, "I believe I can trust you." Capt. Webster with a portion of his company, performed sentry duty during that eventful night. His nephew, Stephen Bohonnon, one of his soldiers, used to relate the incident that Washington did not sleep that night, but spent his time either in writing or walking his tent. Capt. Webster performed a six months' service at West Point, and in subsequent periods of the war, two other short campaigns, in defence of our Northern frontier.

Thus we see that when Congress or the State called for aid, Captain Webster met the demand by the good example of leading his men, rather than by pointing the way.

The principle of equality was established by Salisbury, in raising and paying her men for the war, as will be seen by the adoption of the following vote in 1778:

"Voted, That Captain Ebenezer Webster and Captain John Webster be chosen a committee to aid the selectmen to make an inventory of each man's estate, and estimate what each man has done in this present war, and estimate the currency upon the produce of the country, and that those men who have not done according to their interest, be called upon by tax, or draught, till they have done equal to them that have already done service in the war."

The selectmen of that year, who had for a chairman Dr. Joseph Bartlett, an able and efficient patriot, and father of Ichabod Bartlett, and a family all highly respectable, united with the other members of the Committee, and they assessed the people according to the spirit of the foregoing resolution. All acquiesced except the richest man of the town, who had performed no military service, and he demurred to the tax as being too large, and illegal, and declined to pay. The Committee waited upon him. Judge Webster addressed him: "Sir,—Our authorities require us to fight and pay. Now, you must pay or fight." He paid up.

We could, if time and space would allow, give you many facts and incidents, which would interest the reader. Suffice it to say, Judge Webster was upon all the important committees raised by the town to obtain money and men to carry on the war, and to form and maintain the government. He was also the arbitrator selected more often than any other person to settle or adjust matters of a public or private character.

We send to you two of his reports, to show his comprehensive and concise form of doing his business. His honesty and sound judgment were relied upon, and led to safe results. As a magistrate and judge he heard, deliberated and decided; and from his decisions there was generally no desire to appeal. Judge Webster was too liberal to the public. He underestimated the value of his services. We find him charging four shillings, and sometimes three shillings for a day's work when employed on public business; while his associates, for similar labor, generally charged six shillings. The augusta res domi may have been induced in part by his modest charges. For instance, he received for his services as selectman for 1780, and for 100 feet of boards, 500 continental dollars. Dr. Bartlett, who did more of the writing, received $1000, and this sum was very moderate pay, the price of about 225 lbs. of beef, or of an ordinary cow. So you see how public services were rewarded in those days.

N.

MR. GOUGH RULED OUT OF AN ENGLISH COURT.—In the Court of Queen's Bench, London, on the 23d ult., a motion was made by Mr. Quain, in behalf of J. B. Gough, the well known temperance lecturer, for a criminal information against Frederic Richard Lees, for a series of libels contained in letters charging Mr. Gough with being a notorious and habitual drunkard, but that instead of drinking alcoholic liquors, he took opium and other drugs. Lord Campbell said he had no doubt Mr. Gough was a most respectable gentleman and a sincere advocate of temperance, and that he had set a good example by the precepts which he inculcated, but he did not think it was a case in which the court would interfere. The gentleman against whom the application was made appeared to have acted from no malice;—and if in his zeal he had been led to make unfounded and unpopular charges against Mr. Gough, the latter clearly disproved them by his affidavits, and the matter, therefore, might perhaps be allowed to rest there. The rest of the court, being of the same opinion, the rule was refused.

Mr. Gough evidently fell into the hands of bad advisers, when he tried to get up a pack of lawsuits against Dr. Lees for libel. Dr. L. has a character and reputation not easily shaken; and this abortive effort must react upon Mr. G., who is indeed a most eloquent and useful lecturer on temperance and intemperance, but is not so well posted up in facts as hundreds of men in this country. Mr. G. has also a history which, woven into a crafty lawyer's plea, would damage him an hundred fold more than he could damage Dr. Lees. It is well for Mr. Gough that the court dismissed his case without getting him on the anvil.

THE WAY THE VIRGINIANS DO IT.—The unfinished monument to Mary the mother of Washington, at Fredericksburg, Va., is fast going to ruin, and is badly disfigured with bullet and shot marks, being used by the boys as a target. A writer says:

The remains of the old church in which Gen. Washington was baptized, lie a few miles inland, and are almost hid to the pas-er-by with trees and undergrowth.—A few venerable looking oaks are probably the only living contemporaries of its erection. About this old church lie the remains of the Hon. Thomas Lee, and other great men of an earlier period. Nothing but broken bricks and old mortar are heaped indiscriminately on all their monuments. I have now one of the flags that paved the aisle, turned into a grindstone, purchased at an obscure sale some years since. Tradition says the floor was torn up, as soon as it was abandoned by the parson, by the neighborhood people, and used for various purposes.

The Great Blood Purifier is "Myers' Extract of Rock Rose."

☞ In Cambridge, Massachusetts, as we learn from the Traveller, the new way of abating nuisances is tried with success. The police officer is precisely the man to do the thing, on view, in that State, as the law now stands there, and in Maine—but in New Hampshire we have no such.—Perhaps we shall have, it it works well elsewhere for a while. The Cambridge story runs thus:

Chief of Police Willey, on Saturday night, as he was walking down Bridge street, East Cambridge, saw a man who was intoxicated go into a place where liquor is sold, and kept by one Dillon. Having watched the place, and seeing the man come out so badly intoxicated that he could not get along without assistance, Mr. Willey came to the conclusion that the place was nothing but a nuisance, and resolved to abate it. Thereupon he entered said shop, and after examining the liquors kept for sale, destroyed them in a workmanlike manner. He next proceeded to a place on the same street, kept by one Phillip Monahan, and there found four young men around the bar, with their glasses filled with liquor, ready to be swallowed; whereupon he went through the ceremony of demolishing jugs, decanters, and their contents. Thence he went to a place kept by one Glasson, where the people resort in the night time, and on the Sabbath, to spend their time, money, and what reputation they may have; and in like manner destroyed the contents of the various, jugs, &c. There is a set of people in Cambridge who are peddling out liquor even to school children, and the office of the Chief of Police is often visited by heart-broken women to see if something cannot be done to stop the ruin which is upon them. The remedy which the Chief has adopted is, he thinks, the only one that can be found. Prosecution after prosecution having failed, mainly through perjured witnesses, the Chief of Police has taken a course in accordance with the recent decision of Judge Shaw.

☞ A singular story is told by the New Haven Journal, which says that a young man of Bethany, of highly respectable connections and an only son, being about to leave his home for South America, made a few calls upon his acquaintances, when a young lady who was desperately attached to him, as her last means of gaining him, planned with some of her associates to drug him and have him taken to a low Justice of the Peace, where the marriage ceremony was performed.

SLAVERY IN KENTUCKY.—The Louisville Courier says there is now an extraordinary stampede of the slaves in that State. Negroes are daily escaping from their owners in startling numbers. They go off one, two, three, or a dozen at a time. That paper attributes this unusual movement to the presence of numerous Abolitionists.—It says, "Black Republicans are as thick in these parts as wolves on a prairie. It is almost respectable to be a nigger-stealer."

☞ Notice was recently served upon Thomas Clark, of London, that the walls of a building owned by him had been condemned, and would be pulled down. It was found that Mr. Clark had been in prison for more than forty years, for contempt of Court! Dicken's Circumlocution office was no creature of the fancy,

☞ The American Tract Society will have a spicy annual meeting this year. There will be a virtual division of the thing, between anti-slavery and pro-slavery. There can be no more oil and water mixture. There will be a fierce struggle for the property. It must be very unpleasant, but good will come of it.

☞ Mrs. Connors, who resides in South Boston, reports that her son Thomas, 18 years old, left home at the time the alarm of the fire on Federal street was given, for the purpose of going there, and has not been home since. She fears he was killed, and is now in the ruins.

☞ Mayor Tieman informed a Boston gentleman recently, that he had no doubt but that the city of New York had been swindled out of eight millions of dollars within the past few years, by officials and others.

☞ The Gloucester Telegraph learns that at Rockport a salute of ten guns was fired in honor of the charge of Chief Justice Shaw, and decision of the jury in the case of James Brown vs. Stephen Perkins et ux, before the Supreme Court at Salem.

☞ Dr. Thompson, who was put in jail for the murder of Mr. Carr, near Henderson, Texas, ended his own life on Sunday night, 11th April, by taking morphine.

In Germany the chesnut trees are planted along the road side, which yield the villages a large income, as their fruit is manufactured into starch. When America gets economical, our rail-roads will be lined in the same way.

The want of goods is easily repaired, but the poverty of the soul is irreparable.

FALLING OFF IN MISSIONARY RECEIPTS.—The Prudential Committee of the American Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missions have issued a circular to the churches. They say that "eight months of the Board's financial year has passed, and for every month, on an average, the receipts have fallen twelve thousand dollars short of the necessary expenditure. The aggregate deficiency is one hundred thousand dollars. Commercial distress accounts for the deficiency in the autumn; but not entirely for the falling off of the monthly receipt from forty to twenty thousand dollars, since January of the present year."

BAD HOP-ERATION.—A rich old farmer in Otsego county, N. Y., who raised last year about 100 tons of hops, first refused 30 cents a pound and asked 37; this was finally offered, but he repudiated his price and asked 40 cents: when, after sometime, this was agreed to, he again rose. Before he could be held to his price long enough for a sale to take place, hops began to fall, and the stock is still on his hands with the market price only five cents a pound.—The old screw hop-ped one time too many.

THE THING IN A NUT-SHELL.—The Louisville Journal says that the difference between the two great parties in respect to Kansas may be briefly stated. One of them demands the submission of the Lecompton Constitution to the people, and the other the submission of the people to the Lecompton Constitution. Exactly so, Mr. Prentice.

A wealthy farmer visited Philadelphia on Thursday week with his daughter, a girl of nineteen, to purchase a wedding outfit. She left her father to go to a bonnet shop, and has not since been seen by him.

DIARRHEA.

Dr. D. A. Tyler, of New Haven, Ct., in his Dissertation upon the Rock Rose Plant, mentions four cases where he had used it with marked success in Diarrhea, after the usual remedies, Chalk, Opium, &c., had failed. And, he adds, "since 1843 I have been in the habit of using the Rock Rose in form of Extract Decoction and Tincture for the cure of Diarrhea, almost daily during the fall and summer months, and have seldom been disappointed in its use." Myers' Extract Rose, as a remedy in Diarrhea, has never been known to fail. Get a Circular and read it.

LOCAL.

Don't Kill the Toads.—We are often pained while taking a walk in the outskirts of the city, to perceive the immense number of defunct bodies of that batrachian reptile called Toad, which are strown by the wayside, bearing marks of a violent death.

Though his shape be not so comely, nor his voice so sweet as that of some of our feathered songsters, still the Toad is too useful an auxiliary to gardeners and farmers to be treated in this manner, and we are ashamed to see some boys of larger growth engaged in stoning these harmless animals to death.

In the vicinity of London, we are told by an able writer in one of the English reviews, so highly are their services appreciated, twelve Toads are sold for sixpence. The ancient Egyptians went so far as to embalm them with nearly as much veneration as their sacred ibis. I.

Messrs. Editors:—Shall we have a Public Celebration on the approaching anniversary of our National Independence? It is five years since we had the day celebrated, and if there is to be anything done on the coming 4th, it is high time the work was started. Our city authorities will doubtless vote a liberal appropriation, and a call on our citizens will be met, I trust, with promptness and generous action. H.

☞ Fourteen new members received the right hand of fellowship at the Universalist Church in this city on Sunday, May 9.

In demolishing the walls of the old Goshenhoppen church near Norristown, Pa., week before last, the corner stone was found in the northeast corner of the building. It is a sandstone, about one and a half feet long and fifteen inches in breadth. It contained two small coins, one dated 1695 and the other 1652. The one is supposed to be an English and the othe a German coin. A small flask, containing some tasteless liquor, supposed to have been wine, and a quantity of black mouldered parchment, were also found in it. This was one of the oldest churches in the country, having been erected in the year 1744.

Not so very old. There is one in Newington, one in Kittery, and one in this city, much older.

From Washington.—New York, May, 8. The Tariff Investigating Committee, have recently had before them a witness who was connected with the firm of Lawrence, Stone & Co., and who, in his testimony, has accounted for most of the $87,000. Among other facts, he states that he paid a certain Albany editor $5000 for his services. This editor has been subpœnaed by the committee. The committee have also a pretty strong evidence against a Mr. Corbin, who for many years has been a clerk to the House Committee on Claims. This gentleman addressed a letter to the Boston firm, telling them it would take at least $25,000 or $30,000 more than he had already received to pass the Tariff Bill. His letter is in possession of the committee.

☞ The New York Times Washington correspondent says Mr. Slade, of the recent firm of Lawrence, Stone & Co., in his examination before the Tariff Investigating Committee, accounted for nearly the whole of the $87,000 expended by Lawrence, Stone & Co., to facilitate the passage of the Tariff bill. Between $60,000 and $70,000 was shown to have been put in Wolcott's hands, but whether he paid it out or pocketed it, is not known. The remainder of the sum was distributed among outsiders, no member of Congress receiving any, except one who borrowed a hundred dollars, and repaid it.

☞ At the anniversary meeting of the New York Magdalen Society, held last week, statistics were produced, showing the frightful increase of prostitution in that city. From these it would appear there are within three miles of City Hall no fewer than 400 houses of ill-fame, containing at least 4000 abandoned females. The police returns show that the whole number of professedly dissolute women in the city cannot be short of twenty-five thousand.

Orville Gardner, the converted pugilist, has been set up in the shoe business by his friends in New York. Instead of beating his enemies, he will now boot his friends.

4 DAYS LATER FROM EUROPE.

New York, May 10—2 A. M.

Steamship Vanderbilt, from Havre, via Southampton, 20th ult., has just arrived with 200 passengers, and $126,000 in specie.

The London Money Market is easy.

Liverpool Cotton Market is generally firm, closing quiet and steady.

Wheat and Flour steady with an upward tendency. Western Canal Flour 21 a 22s, Philadelphia and Baltimore 22 a 22s 6d.

Beef heavy. Pork quiet. Bacon firm. Lard firm; 56s for choice. Tallow generally unchanged.

Tea heavy. Sugar steady. Rice inactive. Coffee steady.

The accounts from China by mail state the exports of tea to have been five and a half millions below the exports of the corresponding period last year. The price of tea was higher, with moderate transactions. No business was taking place at Canton. At Shanghae there had been no settlements of silk.

At London the Grand Trunk Railway of Canada had advanced about 1-2 per cent.

The stagnation in all departments of business seems to increase, and for the choicest bills the rate in the market is only a fraction above two per cent. In the Stock Exchange advances on government securities can be obtained at 1 1-2 per cent. At the Bank there was very little business doing.

An Infant Eaten by Hogs.—Mr. Amos Barlow, of Medina, informs us that as he was coming to the city Cleveland this morning, he saw, a few rods ahead, when about five miles from town, two hogs ravenously devouring something in the middle of the road. As he approached the spot the hogs fled, leaving a small pool of blood in the road. On investigation, Mr. Barlow found that it was an infant they had been engaged on. The head and one foot were whole and untouched, but the other portions of the body, except a few bones, had been devoured.

Looking in the direction taken by the hogs in their flight, Mr. Barlow saw a woman lying in the gutter, apparently asleep. He went to her and found that she was in a state of unconscious and beastly intoxication. Evidently the miserable wretch was the mother of the infant. Mr. Barlow informed the people of a farm house near by, and they went and carried her to their house. She was a stranger to them, a German, and apparently about forty years old.—Cleveland Plaindealer, May 5.

TORONTO MARKET REPORT.
Front Street, Corn-Market Square, }
Toronto, C. W., May 5, 1858. }

The same dullness and inactivity noticed in our last report is still more marked now than then; and our market, sympathising with the declining tendency of the English and American markets, is now in a most depressed condition. The trade, here and eastward, withhold from purchasing more than their immediate wants demand, awaiting the result which the large receipts, now in transit from the West, may have upon the New York market.—There is now afloat, from Oswego alone, over half a million bushells of wheat. The weather has been cold and dry—vegetation would be improved by warm rains, still our growing crop of winter wheat looks well.

Flour is very dull, and but few transactions transpiring, saving some orders for double extra family grades for the States, and also low grades for Montreal, but at exceedingly low figures, for the latter.

Wheat is not in very ample supply at present, farmers are busy seeding. Prices have fallen off 5to 8 cents, with a good demand for the best samples only of white winter. Spring wheat is heavy and dull of sale as is also fall, of low or medium grades.

There are orders for Wool for Eastern manufacturers at 18c. per lb. for washed.

Fine Flour, $6 00 to 0.00 per bl.; No. 2 Superfine 2 75 to 3.00; No. 1 do., $ 75 to 3 80; Fancy, 3 95 to 4 00; Extra, 4 10 to 4.51; Double Ex, 4.65 to 5.00.

In quantities not less than 100 bbls. of any one grade.

Wheat.—Prime white winter 95 to 100c; fair average do 85 to 90c; Spring 78 to 80c; per 60 lbs.

Oats 34c per 34lbs. Barley 50 a 55c per 48 lbs. Rye 55c per 56lbs. Peas 55 a 00c per 60 lbs.

Bank Drafts on New York par to ¼ per cent. premium; Boston par; American bills at ¼ per cent. advance of New York quotations.

Freights from Toronto by rail and steamer, to Boston 75c a 1d, to Portland 85c. a 1d., 28c. bush.; to New York 53c a 1d.; to Ogdensburgh 20c. a 1d.,

Charges on Wheat are 5c per bus., which covers commission for purchasing, storing, bagging, and putting on board. On Flour—1 per c. with funds in hand, or 2½ drawing with Bill Lading

SCHNAPPS.
This medicinal beverage is manufactured by the proprietor, at Scheidam, Holland, expressly for medicinal use, by a process peculiar to his own Factory. It is the pure Tincture of the Italian Juniper Berry, whose more vinous extract is distilled and rectified with its spirituous solvent, which thus becomes a concentrated tincture of exquisite flavor and aroma, all together, transcendant in its cordial and medicinal properties to any alcoholic stimulant now made in the world. It is now prescribed by more than 5,000 physicians in the United States, in cases of Gravel, Gout, Dropsy, and Bladder and Kidney Complaints.

SOLE Agents for the above Goods, have on hand a large Stock of the same, suitable for shore and sea wear

These fabrics, since their first introduction to the public, (almost three years since,) have been fully tested, and the result has proved them to possess all the qualities requisite to make a perfect article. They have on hand numerous testimonials from gentlemen in the navy and merchant service, which they would be pleased to show any one who may favor them with a call. They have been supplying some of the officers of the Falmouth, who have tested the Rubber goods, and found them unit for sea service.

Nos. 33 & 37 Market Street.

MOSES & DOWNIE.

The following remedies are offered to the public as the best, most perfect, which medical science can afford. AYER'S CATHARTIC PILLS have been prepared with the utmost skill which the medical profession of this generation can impart, and combine the virtues which surpass any combination of medicines hitherto known. Other preparations do more or less good; but this cures such dangerous complaints, so quick and so surely, as to prove an efficacy and a power to expel disease beyond any thing which men have known before. By removing the obstructions of the internal organs and stimulating them into healthy action, they renovate the fountains of life and vigor, — health courses anew through the body, and the sick man is well again. They are adapted to disease, and disease only, for when taken by one in health they produce but little effect. This is the perfection of medicine. It is antagonistic to disease, and no more. Tender children may take them with impunity. If they are sick they will cure them, if they are well they will do them no harm.

Give them to some patient who has been prostrated with bilious complaint: see his bent-up, tottering form straighten with strength again; see his long-load appetite return; see his clammy features blossom into health. Give them to some sufferer whose foul blood has burst out in scrofula till his skin is covered with sores; who stands, or sits, or lies in anguish. He has been drenched inside and out with every potion which ingenuity could suggest. Give him these PILLS, and mark the effect; see the scabs fall from his body; see the new, fair skin that has grown under them; see the late leper that is clean. Give them to him whose angry humors have plunged rheumatism in his joints and bones; move him, and he screeches with pain; he too has been soaked through every muscle of his body with liniments and salves; give him these PILLS to purify his blood; they may not cure him, for, alas! there are cases which no mortal power can reach; but mark, he walks with crutches now, and now he walks alone; they have cured him. Give them to the lean, sour, haggard dyspeptic, whose gnawing stomach has long ago eaten every smile from his face and every hope from his breast. See his appetite return, and with it his health; see the new man. See her that was radiant with health and loveliness blasted and too early withering away; want of exercise or mental anguish, or some lurking disease, has deranged the internal organs of digestion, assimilation or secretion, till they do their office ill. Her blood is vitiated, her health is gone. Give her these PILLS to stimulate the vital principle into a renewed vigor, to cast out the obstructions, and infuse a new vitality into the blood. Now look again — the roses blossom on her cheek, and where lately sorrow sat joy bursts from every feature. See the sweet infant wasted with worms. Its mom, pale face, worn with pain, wrinkled and painfully distinct, that they scream at the life away. Its pinched-up nose and ears, and restless sleepings, tell the dreadful truth in language which every mother knows. Give it the PILLS in large doses to expel these vile parasites from the body. Now turn again and see the ruddy cheeks of childhood. Is it nothing to do these things? Nay, are they not the marvel of this age? And yet they are done around you every day.

Has some one near you these symptoms of these distempers, they are the easier cured. Jaundice, Costiveness, Headache, Sickness, Heartburn, Foul Stomach, Nausea, Pain in the Bowels, Flatulency, Loss of Appetite, King's Evil, Neuralgia, Gout, and kindred complaints, all arise from derangements which these PILLS rapidly cure. Take them regularly, and under the counsel of a good Physician if you can; if not, take them judiciously by such advice as we give you, and the distressing, dangerous disease will be cured, when all the many millions of the human race are cast out like the dreds of old — they must burrow in the brutes and in the sea. Price 25 cents per box — 5 boxes for $1.

Through a trial of many years and through every nation of the world, the Cherry Pectoral Pectoral has been found to afford more relief and to cure more cases of pulmonary disease than any other remedy known to mankind. Cases of apparently settled consumption have been cured by it, and thousands who once lingered and died, deemed beyond the reach of human aid, have been restored to their friends and usefulness, to sound health and the enjoyments of life, by this all-powerful antidote to disease of the lungs and throat. Here a cold had settled on the lungs. Soon the dry, hacking cough, the glassy eye, and the pale, thin features of him, who was lately lusty and strong, whisper to all but him CONSUMPTION. He sees every thing; but the disease is gnawing at his vitals, and shows its fatal symptoms unapparelled to every eye but his friend. He is taking the CHERRY PECTORAL now; it has stopped his cough and made his breathing easy; his sleep is sound at night; his appetite returns, and with it his strength. The dart which pierced his lungs, and which, without the antidote, would one be found which has not some living trophy like this to shadow forth the virtues which have won for the CHERRY PECTORAL an impenetrable renown. But its usefulness does not end here. Nay, it accomplishes more wonders in the way of curing the numerous colds and coughs which it cures are the seed which would have ripened into a dreadful harvest of incurable diseases. Influenza, Croup, Bronchitis, Hoarseness, Pleurisy, Whooping Cough, and all irritations of the throat and lungs are easily cured by the CHERRY PECTORAL if taken in season. Every family should have it by them, and they will find it an invaluable protection from the insidious prowler which carries off the parent sheep from many a flock, the darling lamb from many a home.

Authenticated evidence of these facts, with directions for the treatment of each complaint, may be found in Ayer's American Almanac, of which we publish three improved editions, and scatter them broadcast over the earth, in order that the sick every where may have before them the information it contains. Druggists and dealers in medicine generally have them for distribution gratis, and also for sale these remedies, prepared by Dr. J. C. AYER, Practical and Analytical Chemist, Lowell, Mass.

S. D. & H. W. Smith,

—MANUFACTURERS OF—

Melodeons, Organ Melodeons,

—and—

PEDAL BASS MELODEONS.

No. 511 Washington St., Boston.

The first premium over all competitors, at the Fair of the Mass. Charitable Mechanic Association, of the National Fair, Washington, D. C., also at the Ohio State Fair, held at Columbus, Ohio, was awarded to these Manufacturers.

By means of a new method of Voicing, known only to themselves, they have succeeded in removing the harsh and buzzing sound which formerly characterized the instruments, and rendering the tones full, clear and organ like. The action is prompt and reliable, enabling the performer to execute the most rapid music without blurring the tones. The swell is arranged to give great expression.

THE PEDAL BASS MELODEONS,

Are designed particularly for Churches, Lodges, Halls, &c. It is arranged with two manuals, or banks of Keys, the lower set running an octave higher than the other, and may be used separately, and thus get in one case two distinct instruments; or by means of the coupler, the two banks of keys may be played at the same time by use of the front set only. This connected with the Pedal Bass, will produce the effect of a large organ, and is sufficiently heavy to fill a house that seats from 1000 to 1500 persons.

THE ORGAN MELODEON

Is designed for parlor and private use. The construction is similar to the Church Instrument, being arranged with two banks of keys, and when used together, by means of the coupler, is capable of as great volume of power as the Church Instrument, but toned without the Pedals. Also, every variety of MELODEONS for Parlor use.

Purchasers may rely upon instruments from our Manufactory, being made in the most complete and thorough manner. Having removed to the spacious Buildings

511 Washington Street,

We have every facility for manufacturing purposes, and employ none but the most experienced and skilful workmen. In short, we will promise our customers an Instrument equal, if not superior, to any Manufacturer, and guarantee an entire satisfaction in every case.

Music Teachers, Leaders of Choirs, and others interested in musical matters, are respectfully invited to call and examine at any time and examine or test the instruments on exhibition for sale at their pleasure.

As a still further guarantee to the public as to the excellence of the MELODEONS from our Manufactory, we beg leave to refer, by permission, to the following

Piano Forte Manufacturers of Boston,

who have examined our Instruments, and will give their opinion when called upon:

Chickering & Sons,	Hallett & Cumston,
T. Gilbert & Co.,	Wm. P. Emerson,
Brown & Allen,	A. W. Ladd & Co.,
George Hewes,	Woodward & Brown,
	Newhall & Co.

MELODEONS RENTED.

Persons who wish to hire Melodeons with a view of purchasing at the end of the year, can have the rent credited as part payment of the purchase money. This matter is worthy of special note, as it enables those who desire a fair test of the instruments before purchasing, to obtain it at the expense of the manufacturers, to the extent at least of a year's rent.

Orders from any part of the country or world, sent direct to the manufactory in Boston, with cash, or satisfactory references, will be promptly attended to, and as faithfully executed as if the parties were present, or employed an agent to select, and on as reasonable terms.

SOLD IN THE
NEW ENGLAND STATES
IN ONE YEAR.

THE RESTORATIVE OF PROF. O. J. WOOD for restoring hair perfectly and permanently, has never yet had a rival. Volume after volume might be given from all parts of the world and from the most intelligent to prove that it is a perfect Restorative; but read the circular and you cannot doubt; read also the following.

THE HAIR.—People have for centuries been afflicted with bald heads, and the only remedy, heretofore, has been those unnatural monstrous wigs. By a recent discovery of Professor Wood these articles are being last dispensed with, but a great many are still prejudiced against them, though they have been so often imposed upon by Hair Tonics of different kinds. To all such persons we earnestly make the request that they will try one again, for in Wood's Restorative there is no such thing as fail. We know of a lady who was bald, who used the article a short time, and her head is now covered with a fine head of the finest and most beautiful curls imaginable. We know of numerous cases where hair was rapidly falling out, when it was restored in greater perfection than it ever had been before.

It is also without doubt one of the best articles for keeping the hair in good condition, making it soft and glossy, removing dandruff, and has proved itself the greatest enemy to all the ills that hair is heir to.

It is the duty of every one to improve their personal appearance though some may differ in regard to the ways of doing it; but every one will admit that a luxuriant growth of hair adds to man or woman, is an object much to be desired, and there are no means that should be left untried to obtain such a consideration.—Women's Advocate, Philadelphia.

COSHOCTON, Ohio, Nov. 17, 1856.

O. J. Wood & Co.—Gents: As I have been engaged in selling your Hair Restorative the last season for one of your local agents (R. M. Buckingham, Esq.) I have concluded to try the effects of it myself. I would like to obtain an agency for the State of Ohio or some state in the west, should you wish to make such an arrangement, as I am convinced it is nothing equal to it in the United States, for restoring the hair. I have been engaged in the Drug business for several years, and have sold many preparations for the hair, but have found nothing that restores the secretive organs or invigorates the scalp as well as yours, be it concerned that your preparation is what you represent it to be, I would like to engage in the sale of it, for I am satisfied it must sell.

Yours truly, S. T. STOCKMAN.

WAYLAND, MASS., Feb. 5, 1857.

Prof. O. J. Wood & Co.—Gents: Having realized the good effects of your Hair Restorative, I wish to state, that finding my hair growing thin, as well as gray, I was induced from what I read and heard, to try the article prepared by you, to promote its growth and change its color as it was in youth, both of which it has effected completely. In the operation I have used nearly 3 bottles.

Yours &c., JAMES FRANCIS.

LOTTERIES.

THE Lotteries of Samuel Swan & Co. are chartered by the State of Georgia, and have sworn commissioners appointed to superintend their drawings, and certify that everything connected with the same is done in a strictly honorable manner. They offer to the public a fair opportunity for investment, the interests of parties at a distance being as well protected as if they were present. The Manager would respectfully call attention to the fact that those who have a legal right to send orders for tickets to Georgia, as the lotteries of Samuel Swan & Co. are authorized by the Legislature of that State, a lottery will be once again, for in Wood's Restorative there is no such thing as fail. We know of a lady who was bald, who used the article a short time, and her head is now covered with a fine head of the finest and most beautiful curls imaginable. We know of numerous cases where hair was rapidly falling out, when it was restored in greater perfection than it ever had been before.

CAUTION NOTICE.

PERSONS living at a distance should be extremely cautious of whom they order Lottery Tickets or Certificates of Packages of Tickets. The following is the Managers' Schemes for Lotteries. Every inducement is held out to get persons to invest money in them. Capital Prizes of from $20,000 to $40,000 head their schemes—with tickets at One Dollar. $100,000 capital prizes are offered, tickets $5. All such, in every instance, are frauds; and if money is sent to them they will not even send a return about the shadow of a chance of getting a prize. Beware of all Lotteries where the Capital Prize is unusually large in comparison to the price of tickets—in every instance where large prizes are offered for a small cost of tickets, put it down as a certain fraud.

The Kentucky State Lottery for the benefit of the Shelby College, under our management, is the only Lottery in the United States which is legally decided by the Maryland Court to be a bona fide Lotteries which put port to be decided by the Maryland Drawings, are frauds.

THE MARYLAND STATE LOTTERIES.

Purchase in the Maryland State Lotteries, then you are sure of being right. And in ordering in the Maryland Lotteries, you are sure of fair and honest drawings.

One thing look to, and that is, if you order from any licensed vender in Baltimore, do not receive any but Managers' Tickets and Managers' Printed Certificates of Packages. The Managers' Certificates have the numbers printed, and have the lithographic signature of R. France & Co.

No one has a right to send his individual certificates, if he does it, be sure there is a fraud at the bottom of it. R. FRANCE & CO.,

A PROCLAMATION

TO THE LADIES.

WHEREAS, it appears that the days of right, honor, and integrity are fast fading away, and WHEREAS, the unscrupulous and ignorant are daily taking advantage of the profound and learned. BE IT KNOWN THEREFORE, to all, whether MAIDS, WIVES, or WIDOWS, that Dr. CHEESEMAN'S FEMALE PILLS are an invaluable remedy for the the trouble incident to female disorganization; they ALONE correcting all painful menstruations, assuaging palpitations of the heart, disturbed sleep, pain in the side, and causing health and happiness to whole sex; more especially to the married portion, as they are certain to bring on the monthly period with regularity. Therefore, be it resolved, that notwithstanding the said PILLS of Dr. CHEESEMAN will accomplish the desired object, when DISAPPOINTMENT has been experienced under the regime of OTHER PILLS; and the Ladies will cause this Proclamation to spread amongst them, to their own everlasting benefit—always promising that each Proclamation in one case and be correct, RUE and TRUE, that is to say the PILLS MUST NOT be taken when any female is in an INTERESTING situation, otherwise a MISCARRIAGE will be the inevitable result.

So light as not to wake the snowiest down
Upon the dove's breast, winging her bright way
Calm and sublime as Grace unto the soul,
Toward her far native grove; now, stern and strong
As ordnance, overturning tree and tower;
Cooling the white brows of the peaks of fire—
Turning the Sea's broad furrows like a plough—
Fanning the fruitening plains, breathing the sweets
Of meadows, wandering o'er blinding snows,
And sands like sea-beds, and the streets of cities,
Where men as garner'd grain lie heap'd together;
Freshening the cheeks, and mingling off the locks
Of youth and beauty 'neath star speaking eye,
Swelling the pride of canvas, or, in wrath,
Scattering the fleets of nations like dead leaves:
In all, the same o'ermastery, sightless force.

THE MYSTERY OF LIFE.

I have often thought my dear Hypolito,
That could we, by some spell of magic, change
The world and its inhabitants to stone,
In the same attitudes they now are in,
What fearful glances downward might we cast
Into the hollow chasms of human life!
What groups should we behold about the death-bed,
Putting to shame the group of Niobe!
What joyful welcomes and what sad farewells!
What stony tears in those congealed eyes!
What visible joy or anguish in those cheeks!
What bridal pomp, and what funeral shows!
What foes, like gladiators, fierce and struggling!
What lovers with their marble lips together!

LADIES WITH PRICES AFFIXED.—Of this class of persons the Independent thus discourses:

"Large sums are expended for articles of dress whose chief value consists in the known cost of production. As an instance of the latter class, we recall the inquiry of a lady of refined taste, but limited experience in the mysteries of dry goods, addressed to her neighbor at a Fifth Avenue gathering: 'Who, pray, is that extremely Slovenly-dressed lady, just crossing the room?' 'Slovenly?' returns the interrogated, with a 'shocked' expression of countenance; 'why, that is Mrs.——; she has on an exquisite dress of real point lace, which never cost less than two thousand five hundred dollars!' The value of this dress to the owner consisted entirely in its cost; an item, moreover, with which only experienced shoppers or professional dry goods dealers could be even approximately acquainted."

Alphonso Karr says: "Say of a woman that she is wicked, obstinate, frivolous, but add that she is beautiful, and be assured that she will think kindly of you. Say that she is good, kind, virtuous and sensible, but very homely, and she will never forgive you in her life.

Saying this, Eugene hastened below, where he found the other boatmen sleeping so soundly as to require considerable effort, on his part, to awake them. At last, getting them fairly roused, he informed them almost in a whisper, for he did not care to disturb the others, that a heavy fog had suddenly arisen, and he wished their presence on deck immediately.

"A fog, Cap'n!" exclaimed one, in a tone which indicated that he comprehended the peril with the word.

"Hush!" returned Eugene, "there is no necessity for waking the others, and having a scene. Up! and follow me, without a word!"

He glided back to the deck, and was almost immediately joined by the boatmen, to whom he briefly made known his hopes and fears.

They thought, like their companion, that the boat would be safest made fast to an overhanging limb of the Kentucky shore; but frankly admitted that this could not now be done without difficulty and danger, and that there was a possibility of keeping the current.

"Then make that possibility a certainty, and it shall be the best night's work you ever performed!" rejoined Eugene, in a quick, excited tone.

"We'll do the best we can, Cap'n," was the response, "but no man can be sartin of the current of this here crooked stream in a foggy night."

A long silence followed—the voyagers slowly drifting down through a misty darkness impenetrable to the eye—when, suddenly, our young commander, who was standing near the bow, felt the extended branch of an overhanging limb silently brush his face. He started, with an exclamation of alarm, and at the same moment the boatmen on the right called out:

"Quick, here, boys! we're agin the shore, as sure as death!"

Then followed a scene of hurried and anxious confusion, the voices of the three boatmen mingling together in loud, quick, excited tones.

"Push off the bow!" cried one.

"Quick! altogether, now! over with her!" shouted another.

"The de'il's in it! she's running aground here on a muddy bottom!" almost yelled a third.

Meantime the laden boat was brushing along against projecting bushes and overreaching limbs, and every moment getting more and more entangled the while; the long poles and sweeps of the boatmen, as they attempted to push her off, were often plunged without touching bottom, into what appeared to be a soft clayey mud, from which they were only extricated by such an outlay of strength as tended still more to draw the clumsy craft upon the bank they wished to avoid. At length, scarcely more than a minute from the first alarm, there was a kind of settling together, as it were, and the boat became fast and immovable.

The fact was announced by Dick Winter, in his characteristic manner—who added, with an oath, that it was just what he expected. For a moment or two a dead silence followed, as if each was reproached that the matter was one to be viewed in a very serious light.

"I'll get over the bow, and try to git the lay of the land with my feet," said Tom Harris; and forthwith he set about the not very pleasant undertaking.

At this moment Eugene heard his name pronounced by a voice that seldom failed to excite a peculiar emotion in his breast, and now sent a strange thrill through every nerve; and hastening below, he found Blanche, fully dressed, with a light in her hand, standing just outside of her cabin, in the regular passage which led lengthwise through the centre of the boat.

"I have heard something, Eugene," she said, "enough to know that we have met with an accident, but not sufficient to fully comprehend its nature."

"Unfortunately, about two hours ago," replied Eugene, "we suddenly became involved in a dense fog; and in spite of our utmost efforts, oars and care, we have run aground—it may be against the Ohio shore—it may be against an island—it is so dark we can't tell. But be not alarmed, Miss Blanche," he hurriedly added; "I trust we shall soon be afloat again; though in any event, the darkness is sufficient to conceal us from the savages, even were they in the vicinity."

"I know little of danger, indeed," returned Blanch; "but I have always understood that they are somewhat remarkable for their acuteness of hearing; and if such is the case, there would be no necessity of their being very near, to be made acquainted with our locality, judging from the loud voices I heard a few minutes ago."

"I fear we've been rather imprudent," said Eugene, in a deprecating tone; "but be not alarmed."

His words were suddenly cut short by several loud voices of alarm from without, followed by a quick and heavy trampling across the deck; and the next moment Seth Harper and Dick Winter burst into the passage, the former exclaiming:

"We've run plum into a red nigger's nest, Cap'n, and Tom Harris is already butchered and scalped!"

And even as he spoke, as if in confirmation of his dreadful intelligence, there arose a series of wild, piercing, demoniacal yells followed by a dead and ominous silence.

So far we have followed the lovely heroine and her friends in this adventure; but the foregoing is all that we can publish in our columns. The balance of the narrative can only be found in the New York Ledger, the great family paper, which can be obtained at all the periodical stores where papers are sold. Remember to ask for the "Ledger," dated May 22nd, and in it you will get the continuation of the narrative from where it leaves off here. If there are no book-stores or newsoffices convenient to where you reside, the publisher of the Ledger will send you a copy by mail, if you will send him five cents in a letter. Address, Robert Bonner, Ledger Office, 44 Ann street, New York. This story is entitled, "Life of the Border," and grows more and more interesting as it goes on.

JUDGE SHAW ON NUISANCES.

The following remarks on the late decision of Judge Shaw, are by a learned lawyer of Newburyport, and are published in the Herald.

The charge of the Chief Justice, in the case of "Brown vs. Perkins and wife," would probably have escaped the criticism which it has so generally received from the press, if the case had been in the first instance correctly and fully reported. It is obvious from the remarks which have been made, that the facts in the case and the particular provisions of the statutes upon which the ruling of the court was based, are very imperfectly understood.

The language of the Chief Justice should be taken in connection with the circumstances. It was proved at the trial that, although some two hundred persons were probably implicated, to a greater or less extent, in this attempt to exterminate the tippling shops in the town of Rockport, there was no uproar, no tumult, nor riotous proceedings on the part of the persons concerned, which would give to the transaction the character of a mob or a riot. When therefore the Judge said that "an act, if justifiable when done by one person, is justifiable when done by the combined action of many," the facts in the case did not call upon him to qualify the remark, by the obvious limitation that a number of persons could not abate a nuisance in a riotous manner.

The charge of the Chief Justice has been criticised as if it enunciated some rule of law that was inconsistent with the security of property and the good order of society. But the fault, if there be any, is not in the charge, but in the statute of 1855, concerning the sale of intoxicating liquors, which makes such a charge in such a case inevitable. It is the province of the Judge to expound and declare the law, not to make or alter it. And the phraseology of these statutes makes the charge a necessity. Those therefore who do not like it, should quarrel with the statutes, and not with the decision which these statutes have rendered necessary. The act of 1855, chap. 215, page 37, declares that all intoxicating liquors kept for sale tools and implements used therefor; are common nuisances, and are to be regarded and treated as such. And the act of 1855, chap. 405, page 1, provides that all buildings, &c., used for the illegal sale of intoxicating liquors are common nuisances, and are to be so treated. The term common nuisance is a term of well-defined meaning in the law, and the principles which are laid down by the Judge in the case are the established principles of the common law which apply to the case of a common nuisance. Those principles, in their ordinary application, for instance in the obstruction of a highway, seem just and reasonable; but when by positive statute they are misapplied, and made to embrace a class of cases which do not naturally and properly come within their operation, then they seem absurd and indefensible. In our zeal to promote a good cause, we are sometimes hurried into the passage of a measure which is inconsistent with the nature of things, and, in the end, perhaps discover that in attempting to remove one evil from society, we have introduced another which is equally objectionable. Very little of ultimate good can be accomplished by any legislation which, though having the color of legal analogies, violates the principles of natural justice.

We copy the whole of the above, to show that the author is not a radical—and also to show the great difference between the behavior of a crowd of people who come together to destroy liquor, and that of another crowd who come together to defend it.

Those women who destroyed the liquors at Rockport, and their husbands and other men who went with them, it seems by the evidence in the case, offered no personal violence, made no uproar, tumult or riot! When and where did anything like this happen in a crowd of rummies who got together to fight for their jugs, and die in the last ditch? Never—nowhere.

The decision, says the Herald, is "of great importance, as it completely outlaws not only the illegal traffic in spirituous liquors, and the contraband liquors themselves, but by another act the buildings used for the illegal sale; and it is very queer indeed, if one individual or any number of individuals have a right to destroy the liquor and buildings of the hundreds of persons in the commonwealth who are living in violation of the liquor laws."

This does not look exactly as if the law was quite dead, or a dead letter—but somewhat as if it were alive and kicking.

The Herald speaks thus of the women's rights and wrongs:

So far as the Rockport case is concerned, we have no objection to the decision. The liquor was there destroyed by women—by mothers and wives and sisters, who are the sufferers from drunkenness—whose houses are turned into hells, their associates to demons, and all their hopes blasted by the liquor business. They have no power at the ballot box, or as legislators, none in jury and judges' benches, and we should have no objection to a special law that women might protect themselves against the illegal accursed traffic, by spilling the rum, tearing down the grog shops, and cowhiding those who without license or law, deal ruin to humanity and curses for firesides that otherwise might be happy.

The editor, however, enters a caveat against the men's operations, thus:

But we cannot say that such a decision for men, as Chief Justice Shaw gives, is at all pleasing to us. It opens too wide a door for malice and revenge to play, and for riot and destruction to have vent, that in the end might overturn all law, and all security for property or persons either.

If he will just look at Judge Shaw's decision, fairly reported in the Salem papers, and at his correspondent's remarks, he will see that riots cannot take shelter under this law, and that no more force must be used than is needful.

The laws and this decision in Massachusetts, only outlaw the traffic and its tools, declaring them a nuisance—and this is well. But all this does not repeal those other laws which restrain violence and uproar, tumult and riot.

Finally, an obstruction in the highways is a nuisance, and may be removed by any body, because it might injure an ox, or break a horse's leg, or stop a carriage.—But a grog shop on the corner of the same highway is a greater nuisance, and should be removed by somebody, because it will injure a man, break a woman's heart, and stop a soul from inheriting the kingdom of God.

Police officers, like those in Cambridge and Worcester, are just the men to abate such nuisances.

CONGRESS.

On Monday, May 10, in the Senate, the question of discontinuing the fishing bounties was discussed by several Senators, but no action was taken.

Mr. Fessenden of Maine made an elaborate argument in support of the continuance of bounties. The line of his reasoning was, that the Government policy which bestowed these bounties was to produce a hardy corps of seamen who would be available in naval warfare. Secondly, this policy has proved effectual for the purpose for which it was designed; and finally, that its continuance is absolutely necessary to the navy, whereas its repeal would be disastrous.

Mr. Simmons of R. I. spoke in favor of the continuance of the bounty, saying that the repeal of the act would be the most unfortunate species of economy.

Mr. Crittenden of Ky., had, from his entry into public life, regarded this as a part of the policy of the Government, and he had not found occasion to change his opinion. A bill had passed the House to educate men as farmers, and we may equally educate them as seamen; hence he would vote against the repeal.

Mr. Toombs spoke generally against bounties, military, naval and farming, for the reason that governments educate worse and dearer than anybody else. This bounty was not originated as a means of founding a nursery of seamen, but only a drawback in salt.

Mr. Benjamin of Louisiana, showed that the bounty received by the fishing vessels is only $100 to $200 each. Notwithstanding the repeal of the amount, Cod would not cease to be an article of human consumption.

Mr. Collamer of Vermont, had no doubt of the continuance of a sufficiency of Cod for the supply of the world, but the Senate must remember that the reciprocity treaty admits duty free, fish caught by the British Provincials, and the effect of the repeal will be to raise seamen for the British Navy instead of the United States.

Mr. Benjamin replied, that the reciprocity treaty was acceded to by the South with the sole view of benefit to their Northern brethren, there being no reciprocal trade between Canada and the southern portion of the Union.

Mr. Collamer, in reply, said that in his opinion the South acceded to the reciprocity treaty with the view of giving Canada all the commercial advantages of a connection with this Union, without her coming into it to disturb the balance of political power between the North and South.

HOUSE.

The Post Office, Ocean Steamer, Deficiency and Supplementary Indian bills were reported; also bills for constructing a wagon road in New Mexico, for a survey of the Columbia river, for the completion of the military roads in Washington Territory, for the completion of the Fort Ridgely and South Pass wagon roads, and for establishing and regulating the right of suffrage in the Territories of the United States. The Military Academy bill, the resolution extending the time for examining the records of the Naval Court of inquiry, and the Senate resolution authorizing the President to make proper acknowledgments to the British naval officers at Jamaica, for the relief afforded to the crew of the Susquehanna, and a number of bills of minor importance, were passed. Upon the bill to pay for certain slaves carried off by the British in the war of 1812, Mr. Garnett of Virginia and Mr. Giddings of Ohio became involved in a warm personal debate.

BIDDYISM.—Biddy—Oh! if you please, mum, there was one other thing I should like. Lady—Yes. Biddy—An' where is it yer go in the country in the summer? Because I couldn't stop at a dull place, and where the air wasn't very leaving.—N. Y. Picayune.

DRY GOODS.—The Independent of Saturday last, in its financial article, remarks that the importations of dry goods seem to decrease week by week, and the absence of further supplies is having the effect of strengthening the prices of all new and desirable styles of French goods, especially fine and fancy dress silks and robes. The present month promises to be good for jobbers, who already are selling their new stocks more freely at good prices. The auction sales are diminishing, but at private there is an improved trade in both British and German as well as French goods. The business now doing is of an unusually safe and prudent character, limited in extent, at limited credits, and at fair profits. There is an absence of competition, which is beneficially felt notwithstanding. The commission houses are active, and the clothing houses are buying a little more extensively. In the general features of trade there is no change. Old styles and coarse, low-priced goods are all in over-stock and unsaleable, except at a great sacrifice, while new goods and fresh styles are getting scarce and buoyant in price.

The expenditures, exclusive of dividends paid, were $380,-551. They paid, however, the very large sum of $173,400 in dividends to the stockholders, being 34 per cent. on its capital stock, and leaving a surplus of over $290,-000. WASHINGTON, May 10.—The object of Lieut. Gen. Scott's visit to Washington, is to decide upon the description of volunteers to be called out, and the places where they will be stationed. All three regiments will be mounted, and employed to protect the Indian frontier, and occupy various military posts from which the regulars have been withdrawn.

The Secretary of State has asked an appropriation of $20,000, to carry into effect the act for the admission of Kansas into the Union.

The Senate, in executive session to-day, confirmed a large number of appointments, principally those made during the recess of Congress, including Marshals, District Attorneys, Land Officers, and Postmasters. Those for New York, Baltimore, Boston and Philadelphia were also sent in, nearly 200 in all, but not acted on.

ADVERTISING. — The Buffalo Republic gives a convincing example of the benefits of advertising. The other day a man lost a pocket book containing valuables, in all amounting to $5500. He immediately put an advertisement in the Republic, and on the first day of its appearance his wife discovered the pocket-book in his "other pants," which he had left at home for repairs. Nothing like advertising!

REMEDY OVERDONE.—A private letter of the 15th ult. from the village of Longview, Arkansas, says—"A poor man died here to-day from the bite of a rattlesnake. He was bitten yesterday about noon, and died this morning about eight o'clock.—Three pints of whiskey were given him when bitten, and I am of opinion that it was the whiskey, instead of the snake, that killed him."—Mobile Tribune.

☞ It will be seen that Mr. Pearson commences a new Singing Class this afternoon, at his fine Music Room, Exchange Hall. The long continuance of this institution, is sufficient evidence of the regard in which it is held by our citizens who appreciate music. For a trifle, the young receive instruction which will conduce to their happiness and health through life.

☞ Among the multitude of Lamps now being offered to the public, none promises more than Dr. Green's, advertised this morning. It is a handsome article, and certainly appears to be an excellent invention; and Fluid would be the favorite article for light, were the people sure it could be safely burned. This new lamp is well worth examining.

3 DAYS LATER FROM EUROPE.

SANDY HOOK, May 11.—Steamship Persia, from Liverpool 1st inst., has just arrived off this point.

On the 30th, in the Commons, Mr. Disraeli's motion in regard to the government of India came up. An amendment offered by Lord Harry Vane, declaring it inexpedient to transfer the government to the Crown was lost—447 to 57.

Mr. Disraeli's first resolution, affirming the expediency of the change, was carried without a division.

The debate was then adjourned until the 3d of May.

The experiments upon the new paying out machine for the Atlantic cable, demonstrated its perfect success. On the 30th the Agamemnon had 1260, and the Niagara 990 miles of wire on board. The Directors had decided to order 100 miles more cable, so that there will be on each ship a surplus of over 500 miles.

Later India news had been received.

Sir Hugh Rose laid siege to Jhansi on the 27th of March. On the first of April 25,000 rebels with 18 guns, called the army of Peshawee, endeavored to raise the siege, but were defeated with the slaughter of 1500 men. The garrison escaped in the night, were pursued, and 3000 cut up. Six British officers were killed.

The Hong Kong correspondent of the London Times, writing on the 11th of March, says that Mr. Reed, the American Commissioner, was at Manilla at last advices, and would proceed thence to Shanghae.

The new viceroy of Canton, Hwang, is believed to be friendly to British intercourse and commerce.

It is stated that Lord Elgin, who had visited Swatow, the mart of the Coolie trade, and verified all the evils of the traffic, would take instant steps to put an end to it.

The U. S. steamers San Jacinto and Antelope were at Hong Kong on the 15th of March, and the Mississippi was at Shanghae on the 9th.

Cape Good Hope dates are to March 22. The King of Delhi is to be confined in fort Cox on the frontier. Rev. J. Wilson had been cruelly murdered in Caffraria. Other murders had been committed, and a hostile feeling was spreading.

RENEWAL OF LIQUOR LICENSES.—At their meeting Monday evening, the Mayor and Aldermen of Newburyport granted licenses to twenty-seven persons, most of whose agencies had expired—among them a number of persons who were recently indicted for illegal selling. These licenses were all granted, except one, by the casting vote of the Mayor.—Boston Journal.

—MANUFACTURERS OF—

Melodeons, Organ Melodeons,

—and—

PEDAL BASS MELODEONS,

No. 511 Washington St., Boston,

(Second Story.)

The first premium over all competitors, at the Fair of the Mass. Charitable Mechanic Association, of the National Fair, Washington, D. C., also at the Ohio State Fair, held at Columbus, Ohio, was awarded to these Manufacturers.

By means of a new method of Voicing, known only to themselves, they have succeeded in removing the harsh and buzzing sound which formerly characterized the instrument, and rendering the tones full, clear and organ like. The action is prompt and reliable, enabling the performer to execute the most rapid music without blurring the tones. The swell is arranged to give great expression.

THE PEDAL BASS MELODEONS,

Are designed particularly for Churches, Lodges, Halls, &c. It is arranged with two manuals, or banks of Keys, the lower set running an octave higher than the other, and may be used separately, and thus get in one case two distinct instruments; or by use of the coupler, the two banks of keys may be played at the same time by use of the treadles only. This combined with the Pedal Bass, will produce the effect of a large organ, and is sufficiently heavy to fill a house that seats from 1000 to 2000 persons.

THE ORGAN MELODEON

Is designed for parlor and private use. The construction is similar to the Church Instrument, being arranged with two banks of Keys, and when used together, by means of the coupler, is capable of as great volume of power as the Church Instrument when used without the pedals. Also, every variety of MELODEONS for Parlor use.

Purchasers may rely upon instruments from our Manufactory, being made in the most complete and thorough manner. Having removed to the spacious Buildings

511 Washington Street,

We have every facility for manufacturing purposes, and employ none but the most experienced skilled workmen. In short, we will promise our customers an Instrument equal, if not superior, to any Manufacturer, and guarantee an entire and perfect satisfaction.

Music Teachers, Leaders of Choirs, and others interested in musical matters, are respectfully invited to visit our Rooms at any time and examine or test the instruments on exhibition for sale at their pleasure.

As a still further guarantee to the public as to the excellence of the MELODEONS from our Manufactory, we beg leave to refer, by permission, to the following

Piano Forte Manufacturers of Boston,

who have examined our Instruments, and will give their opinion when called upon:

Chickering & Sons, Hallett & Cumston,
T. Gilbert & Co., Wm. P. Emerson,
Brown & Allen, A. W. Ladd & Co.,
George Hewes, Woodward & Brown,
Newhall & Co.

MELODEONS RENTED.

Persons who wish to hire Melodeons with a view of purchasing at the end of the year, can have the rent credited as part payment of the purchase money. This matter is worthy of special note, as it enables the hirer to secure a fair test of the instruments before purchasing, to obtain it at the expense of the manufacturers, to the extent at least of a year's rent.

Orders from any part of the country or world, sent direct to the manufactory in Boston, with cash, or satisfactory reference, will be promptly attended to, and be faithfully executed as if the parties were present, or employed an agent to select, and on as reasonable terms.

It is the pure Tincture of the Italian Juniper Berry, whose more vinous extract is distilled and rectified with its spirituous solvent, which thus becomes a concentrated tincture of exquisite flavor and aroma, altogether, transcendant in its cordial and medicinal properties to any alcoholic stimulant now made in the world. It is now prescribed by more than 5,000 physicians in the United States, in cases of Gravel, Gout, Dropsy, and Bladder and Kidney Complaints.

The Perils of the Border.

While reading recently an account of the frightful massacre of several white families by the Blackfoot Indians, we were reminded of a thrilling event which occurred in the "Wild West," a short time subsequent to the Revolution, in which a highly accomplished young lady, the daughter of a distinguished officer of the American Army, played an important part. The story being of a most thrilling nature, and exhibiting in a striking manner the "Perils of the Border," we have concluded to give an extract from it, as originally published, as follows:

The angle on the right bank of the Great Kanawha, formed by its junction with the Ohio, is called Point Pleasant, and is a place of historical note.—Here, on the 10th of October, 1774, during what is known as Lord Dunmore's War, was fought one of the fiercest and most desperate battles that ever took place between the Virginians and their forest foes.

After the battle in question, in which the Indians were defeated with great loss, a fort was here erected by the victors, which became a post of great importance throughout the sanguinary scenes of strife which almost immediately followed, and which in this section of the country were continued for many years after the establishment of peace which acknowledged the United Colonies of America a free and independent nation.

At the landing of the fort, on the day our story opens, was fastened a flat-boat of the kind used by the early navigators of the Western rivers.

Upon the deck of this boat, at the moment we present the scene to the reader, stood five individuals, alike engaged in watching a group of persons, mostly females, who were slowly approaching the landing. Of those five, one was a stout, sleek negro, in partial livery, and evidently a house or body servant; three were boatmen and borderers, as indicated by their rough, bronzed visages and coarse attire; but the fifth was a young man, some twenty-and-twenty years of age, of a fine commanding person, and a clear, open, intelligent countenance; and in the lofty carriage of his head—in the gleam of his large, bright, hazel eye—there was something which denoted one of superior mind; but as we shall have occasion in the course of our narrative to fully set forth who and what Eugene Fairfax was, we will leave him for the present, and turn to the approaching group, whom he seemed to be regarding with lively interest.

Of this group, composed of a middle-aged man and four females, with a black female servant following some five or six paces in the rear, there was one whom the most casual eye would have singled out and rested upon with pleasure. The lady in question, was apparently about twenty years of age, of a slender and graceful figure, and of that peculiar cast of features, which, besides being beautiful in every lineament, rarely fails to affect the beholder with something like a charm.

Her traveling costume—a fine brown habit, high in the neck, buttoned closely over the bosom and coming down to her small pretty feet, without trailing on the ground—was both neat and becoming; and with her riding-cap and its waving ostrich plume, set gally above her flowing curls, her appearance contrasted forcibly with the rough, unpolished looks of those of her sex beside her, with their linsey bed-gowns, coarse flannel petticoats, and bleached linen caps.

"Oh, Blanche," said one of the more venerable of her female companions, pursuing a conversation which had been maintained since quitting the open fort behind them, "I cannot bear to let you go; for it just seems to me as if something were going to happen to you, and when I feel that way, something generally does happen."

"Well, aunt," returned Blanche, with a light laugh, "I do not doubt in the least that something will happen—for I expect one of these days to reach my dear father and blessed mother, and give them such an embrace as is due from a dutiful daughter to her parents—and this will be something that has not happened for two long years at least."

"But I don't mean that, Blanche," returned the other, somewhat peralantly; "and you just laugh like a gay and thoughtless girl, when you ought to be serious. Because you have come safe thus far, through a partially settled country, you think, perhaps, your own pretty face will ward off danger in the more perilous wilderness—but I warn you that a fearful journey is before you! Scarcely a boat descends the Ohio, that does not encounter more or less peril from the savages that prowl along either shore; and some of them that go down freighted with human life, are heard of no more, and none ever return to tell the tale."

"And why repeat this to me, dear aunt," returned Blanche, with a more serious air, "when you know it is my destiny, either good or bad, to attempt the voyage? My parents have sent for me to join them in their new home, and it is my duty to go to them, be the peril what it may."

"You never did know what it was to fear!" pursued the good woman, rather proudly. "No," she repeated, turning to the others, "Blanche Bertrand never did know what it was to fear, I believe."

"Just like her father!" joined in the husband of the matron, the brother of Blanche's mother, the commander of the station, and the middle-aged gentleman mentioned as one of the party; "true daughter of a true soldier. Her father, Colonel Philip Bertrand, God bless him for a true heart! never did seem to know what it was to fear—and Blanche is just like him."

By this time the parties had reached the boat; and the young man already described—Eugene Fairfax, the secretary of Blanche's father—at once stepped forward, and, in a polite and deferential manner, offered his hand to the different females, to assist them on board. The hand of Blanche was the last to touch his—and then but slightly, as she sprung quickly and lightly to the deck—but a close observer might have detected the slight flush which mantled his noble, expressive features, as his eye for a single instant met hers. She might herself have seen it—perhaps she did—but there was no corresponding glow on her own bright, pretty face, as she inquired, in the calm, dignified tone of one having the right to put the question, and who might also have been aware of the inequality of position between herself and him she addressed:

"Eugene, is everything prepared for our departure? It will not do for our boat to spring a leak again, as it did coming down the Kanawha—for it will not be safe for us, I am told, to touch either shore between the different ports and trading-posts on our route, this side of our destination,—the Falls of the Ohio."

"No, indeed!" rejoined her aunt, quickly; "it will be as much as your lives are worth to venture a foot from the main current of the Ohio—for news reached us only the other day, that many boats had been attacked this spring, and several lost, with all on board."

"No one feels more concerned about the safe passage of Miss Bertland than myself," replied Eugene, in a deferential tone; "and since our arrival here, I have left nothing undone that I thought might possibly add to her security and comfort."

"That is true, to my personal knowledge," joined in the uncle of Blanche; "and I thank you, Mr. Fairfax, in behalf of my fair kinswoman. There will, perhaps," he pursued, "be no great danger, so long as you keep in the current; but your watch must not be neglected for a single moment, either night or day; and do not, I most solemnly charge and warn you, under any circumstances, or on any pretence whatsoever, suffer yourselves to be decoyed to either shore!"

"I hope we understand our duty better, Colonel," said one of the men, respectfully.

"I doubt it not," replied the commander of the Point; "I believe you are all faithful and true men, or you would not have been selected by the agent of Colonel Bertrand, for taking down more precious freight than you ever carried before; but still the wisest and the best of men have lost their lives by giving ear to the most earnest appeals of humanity. You understand what I mean! White men, apparently in the greatest distress, will hail your boat, represent themselves as having just escaped from the Indians, and beg of you, for the love of God, in the most piteous tones, to come to their relief; but turn a deaf ear to them—to each and all of them—even should you know the pleaders to be of your own kin; for in such a case your own brother might deceive you—not wilfully and voluntarily, perhaps—but because of being goaded on by the savages, themselves concealed. Yes, such things have been known in one friend being thus used to lure another to his destruction; and so be cautious, vigilant, brave and true, and may the good God keep you all from harm!"

As he finished speaking, Blanche proceeded to take an affectionate leave of all, receiving many a tender message for her parents from those who held them in love and veneration: and the boat swung out, and began to float down with the current, now fairly entered upon the most dangerous portion of a long and perilous journey.

The father of Blanche, Colonel Phillip Bertrand, was a native of Virginia, and a descendant of one of the Huguenot refugees, who fled from their native land after the revocation of the edict of Nants in 1665. He had been an officer of some note during the Revolution—a warm political and personal friend of the author of the Declaration of Independence—and a gentleman who had always stood high in the esteem of his associates and cotemporaries.

Though at one time a man of wealth, Colonel Bertrand had lost much, and suffered much, through British invasion; and when, shortly after the close of the war, he had met with a few more serious reverses, he had been fain to accept a grant of land, near the Falls of the Ohio, now Louisville, tendered him by Virginia, which then held jurisdiction over the entire territory now constituting the State of Kentucky.

The grant had decided the Colonel upon seeking his new possessions and building up a new home in the then Far West, and as his wife had insisted upon accompanying him on his first tour, he had assented to her desire, on condition that Blanche should be left among her friends, till such time as a place could be prepared which might in some degree be considered a fit abode for one so carefully and tenderly reared.

Blanche would gladly have gone with her parents; but on this point her father had been inexorable—declaring that she would have to remain at the East all he should see proper to send for her; and as he was a man of positive character, and a rigid disciplinarian, the matter had been settled without argument.

When Colonel Bertrand removed to the West, Eugene Fairfax, as we have seen, accompanied him; and coming of age shortly after, he had accepted the liberal offer of his noble benefactor, to remain with him in the capacity of private secretary and confidential agent.

On taking possession of his grant, the Colonel had almost immediately erected a fort, and offered such inducements to settlers as to speedily collect around him quite a little community—of which, as a matter of course, he became the head and chief; and to supply the wants of his own and those of others, and insure what the object was, and to freeze the blood in her veins. The glowing eyes of a huge panther met her gaze. The suddenness of the discovery was paralyzing, and she had been overpowered, ing. With a deafening shriek she fell upon her knees and clasped her hands before her breast. The panther crouched for his deadly leap, but ere he sprang, the attention of the creature had been attracted to another human, was the only person on deck besides Blanche,) was buried to the hilt in his side, inflicting a severe but not fatal wound. The panther had been at once turned upon Eugene, and a deadly struggle ensued. But it was a short one. The polished blade of the knife played back and forth like lightning flashes, and at every plunge it was buried to the hilt in the vitals of the beast. Soon fell to the deck, dragging the dauntless Eugene with him. On seeing her protector fall, Blanche uttered another shriek, and sank, as if lifeless, upon the deck. Another arms was at hand. The boatmen gathered round, and the savage monster was literally hacked in pieces with the knives of the hunters. The deck was covered with blood, was dragged from under his carcass. Supposing him to be dead or mortally wounded, Blanche threw her arms around his neck and gave vent to a burst of sorrow and grief. But soon the cry—he was not even hurt, with the exception of a few slight scratches. The blood with which he was covered was the panther's, and not his own. But Blanche's sorrow was for a precious treasure—an index of her heart's emotions and affections. It was to color his whole future life, as will be seen in the progress of our story.

Scarcely had the excitement caused by the attack, dip and plash of the steersman's oar, the boat of our voyagers was borne along upon the bosom of the current, on the third night after leaving the Point. The boatmen, Blanche and Eugene, the only one seize except the watch, was suddenly startled by a rough hand being placed upon his shoulder, accompanied by the words, in the gruff tones of the boatman:

"I say, Cap'n, here's trouble!"

"What is it, Dick?" inquired Eugene, starting to his feet.

"Don't you see that's a heavy for riding, that'll soon river as up so thick that we won't be able to tell a white man from a nigger?" replied the boatman, pointing to the west, where a full, bony, muscular, athletic specimen of his class.

"Good heaven! so there is!" exclaimed Eugene, looking off upon the threatening misty manner. It must have gathered very suddenly, for all was clear a minute ago. What is to be done now? This is something I was not prepared for, on such a night as this."

"Is too much trouble, Cap'n, I'll allow," returned Dick, "but we're in for't, that's sartin, and I s'pose we'll have to make the best on't."

"But what is to be done?—what do you advise?"—asked Eugene, in a quick, excited tone, that indicated some degree of alarm.

"Why, of you want to skeered about the young lady, and it is not to be skeered agin the orders from head quarters, my plan would be a c'r and easy one—I'd just run over to the Kentuck shore, and tie up."

"No, no," hastily rejoined Eugene, positively; "that will never do, Dick—that will never do! I would not think of such a thing for a moment! We must keep in the current by all means."

"If you can," rejoined the boatman, "but when it gits so dark as we can't tell one thing from t'other, it'll be powerful hard to do; and if we don't run agin a bar or bank afore morning, in spite of the best o' us, it'll be the luckiest go that ever I had a hand in. See, Cap'n—it's thickening up fast; we can't see eyther bank at all, nor the water ripplin' against the sides' thin, and it looks as if thar was a cloud all round us."

"I see! I see!" returned Eugene, excitedly, "Merciful Heaven! I hope no accident will befall us here—and yet my heart almost whispers me for this, I believe, is the most dangerous part of our journey—the vicinity where most of our boats have been captured by the savages."

CAUTION NOTICE.
PERSONS living at a distance should be extremely cautious of whom they order Lottery Tickets or Certificates of Packages of Tickets. The country is flooded with bogus and swindling Lotteries. Every inducement is held out to get persons to invest money in them. Capital Prizes of from $20,000 to $40,000 head their schemes—with tickets at One Dollar. $100,000 capital prizes are offered, tickets $5. All such, in every instance, are humbugs, and if money is sent to them for tickets, it is so much thrown away without the shadow of a chance of getting a prize. Beware of all Lotteries where the Capital Prize is unusually large in comparison to the price of tickets—in every instance where large prizes are offered for a small cost of tickets, put it down as a certain fraud.
The Kentucky State Lottery for the benefit of the Shelby College, under our management, is the only Lottery in the United States which is legally decided by the Maryland Drawings; all other Lotteries which pretport to be decided by the Maryland Drawings, are frauds.

A PROCLAMATION TO THE LADIES.
WHEREAS, it appears that the days of right, honor, and integrity are fast fading away, and WHEREAS, the unscrupulous and ignorant are daily taking advantage of the profound and learned. BE IT KNOWN THEREFORE, to all, whether MAIDS, WIVES, or WIDOWS, that Dr. Cheesemen's FEMALE PILLS are alone the certain panacea for the troublesome accident to female disorganization; they alone correcting all painful menstruation, assuaging palpitations of the heart, disturbed sleep, pain in the side, and restoring health and happiness to whole sex; more especially to the married portion, as they are certain to bring on the monthly period with regularity.—AND WHEREAS, these PILLS are purely vegetable and entirely free from mineral's, therefore perfectly harmless in their operations and wholly unlike other medicines thrust upon the public, purporting to effect the objects already detailed. THEREFORE, BE IT KNOWN, that NOTHING but the said PILLS or Dr. Cheeseman will accomplish the desired object. Never has Dr. Cheeseman's been experienced under the regime of OTHER PILLS; and the Ladies will cause this Proclamation to spread among them, in their own everlasting benefit—always promising that said Proclamation in one case must be considered full and void; that is to say the Pills must not be taken when any female is in a pregnancy situation, otherwise a MISCARRIAGE will be the inevitable result.
Explicit directions, to be carefully read, accompany each box. Price $1. Sent by mail on enclosing $1 to Dr. Cornelius L. Cheeseman, Box No. 4,651, Post Office, New York City. Sold by Druggists in every town in the United States.
Given under my hand and seal.

IMMORTELLES.

THOUGHTS OF GOD.

Men have a claim on God; and none who hath
A heart of kindness, reverence and love,
But dare look God in the face and ask His smile,
He dwells in no fierce light—no cloud of flame;
And if it were, Faith's eye can look thro' Hell,
And through the solid world. We must all think
On God, for water must reflect the sky.
Midnight! Day hath too much light for us,
To see things spiritually. Mind and Night
Will meet, though in silence, like forbidden lovers.
With whom to see each other's sacred form
Must satisfy. The stillness of deep bliss,
Sound as the silence of the high hill top
Whence thunder finds no echo—like God's voice
Upon the worldling's proud, cold, rocky heart—
Fills full the sky; and the eye shares with Heaven.
That look, so like to feeling, which the bright
And glorious things of nature ever wear.
—[Festus.

DEATH.

Death is here, and death is there,
Death is busy everywhere,
All around, within, beneath,
Above is death—and we are death.

First our pleasures die—and then
Our hopes, and then our fears—and when
These are dead, the dobt is due,
Dust claims dust—and we die too.

All things that we love and cherish,
Like ourselves, must fade and perish;
Such is our rude mortal lot—
Love itself would, did they not.—[Shelly.

CIRCUMSTANCE.

Two children in two neighbor villages
Playing mad pranks along the healthy lees;
Two strangers meeting at a festival;
Two lovers whispering by an orchard wall;
Two lives bound fast in one with golden case;
Two graves grass green beside a gray church tower,
Washed with still rains and daisy blossomed;
Two children in one hamlet born and bred;
So runs the round of life from hour to hour.
—[Tennyson.

REARING BOYS.

CHAPTER I.

"What! stay at home for that squalling young one? Catch me to." And the young mother threw on a bonnet and shawl, and humming a gay air, sauntered out on the promenade. One and another bowed and smiled as she moved along, flushed, triumphant and beautiful. A young man met her just as she was passing the shop of a well-known firm.

"Ah! out again, Delia?" he said, carelessly. "Where is Charley?"

"With Hannah, of course. You don't expect me to tie myself to him," she returned.

The young man's face grew cloudy.—"No," he returned with a half sigh; "but I can't bear to have him left with the servants."

"Oh! well, I can," she said, and with a radiant smile left her husband hard at work, and flitted on.

CHAPTER II.

"Answer all his questions? make myself a slave, as I should be obliged to? Oh, no, can't think of it. If I give him his breakfast and plenty of playthings, I consider my duty done. I don't believe in fussing over children—let them find out things as they grow up."

"There's the danger," replied the dear old lady, casting a pitying look upon the richly embroidered cloak her son's wife had bent over all day, "they find out things that ruin them, unless the mother be constantly imparting the right kind of knowledge.

"O, you want to make him a piece of perfection, like his father; well, I can't say I do. I don't like these faultless men. See! now, isn't the contrast beautiful? Come here, Charley, lovey, he shall have the handsomest cloak in the whole city."

CHAPTER III.

"A cigar? bless me, what a boy, and he only twelve! Are you sure you saw him smoke it?

"Well, I dare say it made him sick enough; boys will be boys, you know."

"Yes, but to think you should allow him to go to the theatre without my knowledge!" and the husband groaned.

"Dear me! why, what a fret you are in; do let the child see something of the world."

CHAPTER IV.

"In jail! my God! husband—not our boy!"

"Yes, in jail, for stealing!"

"Not our boy! not our Charley! no, it cannot be. Let me die—kill me—but don't tell me our Charley is a thief."

The boy was sentenced to the State prison, and the mother may yet be carried to the lunatic asylum.

EXTRACTS FROM "DOUGLASS JERROLD'S WIT," to be published in a few days by Ticknor & Fields:

Elegant Portrait Painting.—They painted me with a military cloak slipping off my shoulders; my hand, with ten rings upon it, supporting my head; my forehead an enormous piece of white paint; and my eyes fixed upon a star, poetically placed in a corner of the picture, within an inch of the frame. I was seated on a rock, with a very handsome ink-stand beside me, and my right hand grasping, as if in a spasm of inspiration, an eagle's feather! Altogether I made a very pretty show.

Accommodation Bills.—There is one objection to a bill—it puts another pair of wings to the back of Time.

Dogmatism is puppyism come to its full growth.

An Exemplary Schoolmaster.—It was his prejudice to prefer one slip of olive to a whole grove of birch.

Commentators.—Worthy folks who too often write on books, as men with diamonds write on glass—obscuring light with scratches.

Gambling.—I never by chance hear the rattling of dice that it doesn't sound to me like the funeral bell of a whole family.

A GREAT QUESTION.—The Morning Star, a very able freewill baptist paper, contains a communication from one who signs himself Inquirer, on the subject of "Singing to build up error?" The writer sees a danger, and says:

The question has been proposed, "Is it right for those who feel they have been converted, to sing on hire for Unitarian or Universalist congregations on the Sabbath?" I have answered the question in the negative, but some have thought me to be too bigoted, and I wish to submit the case to your consideration.

I know it is customary for members of one evangelical denomination to sing for other evangelical denominations, and this has looked to me like making merchandise of religion; but to leave the place of worship where we believe fundamental truth is preached, and go and assist in the exercises where fundamental errors are inculcated, seems to me like solemn mockery, and is what no friend of Christ can consistently do. It is no excuse that they receive pay for so doing, and that they need the pay. "Go and sell all that thou hast," was the command to the young man, if he would be a disciple. It did not lessen the guilt of Judas, in betraying his master, that he was paid for it, nor did the money he received ever do him the least good.

But I will not discuss the point; I wish for light. Is it right for a Christian to sell his service to a Unitarian or Universalist choir?

Morning Chronicle.

THURSDAY, MAY 13, 1858.

STRONG PUFFING.—The Western Recorder, of Louisville, publishes resolutions of a church in Kentucky, declaring a series of articles in the Recorder to be of "infinite value to the cause of truth," and proposing to 'pay for ten dollars' worth of them,' if published in pamphlet form.

The same paper has an announcement from a correspondent, saying that "Elder J. R. Graves," of the Tennessee Baptist, "will address the Literary Societies of Georgetown College, in June, and that "brother Graves is a high-toned Christian gentleman, a fine scholar, an accomplished orator, a Baptist of Bible mould, and the Napoleon of the pen."

☞ Steam on Canals has long been a desideratum, but most inventions for its application have failed, through the waves they produced washing the banks. The successful working of the "James La Cathcart," on the Chesapeake and Ohio canal, however, bids fair to introduce steamboats to general use on these highways. Four are now building for the great Erie canal.

☞ The Washington Union retracts an assertion it made, the other day that the backbone of the Republican party is broken. It says: "A little further reflection and observation induces us to believe that we made a slight mistake." It thinks, upon calm reflection, that the party will survive "until after the fall elections!"

☞ In Boston, on Tuesday at noon, the freight depot of the New York Central Railroad was burnt, with a quantity of paper which was saved from the Federal street fire.

About twenty persons were arraigned in the Municipal Court for keeping groggeries contrary to the law. Eighteen of them plead not guilty, and are to be tried, giving each $300 bonds. Two, McNally and Clifford, plead guilty to the charge of keeping nuisances.

McNally, in reply to inquiries from the Court, stated that he intended to go to California in the course of four or five weeks, but he supposed his wife would carry on the business while he was gone. He also said he could not give the Court assurance that he would abandon the business, and Judge Huntington thereupon sentenced him to three months' hard labor in the House of Correction.

Clifford thought he could find sureties to keep the peace, and said that he never should sell any more liquor. His sentence was deferred.

☞ On Monday the police of Chelsea, under the nuisance law, spilt the drink of three groggeries where some illegal doings had taken place, particularly selling to boys, and on Sunday. They were vile holes of the baser sort.

WESTMINSTER, MASS.—A correspondent of the Boston Traveller says:—

The town of Westminster, Worcester Co., numbers only about 2000 inhabitants, and it has seven rum shops! The baneful influence is seen in the great increase of intemperance, especially among the young men.

The friends of temperance, who are in the minority, both in vote and wealth, have been long using "moral suasion" with little apparent effect. Of late they have begun the use of "legal suasion." This measure has been followed by an outrage on temperance. Sabbath morning revealed the man and cowardly deeds which the spirit of rum had committed under the darkness of the preceding night. Some miserable tools broke into the Orthodox Church, tied the bell-rope into knots, took the pulpit bible, obscenely bemeared it and laid it on the door-step of the pastor's residence. They went to the premises of a leading temperance man and cut down 27 beautiful trees, and they also girdled quite a number of large pear trees of another temperance man. They broke into a paint shop of two friends of temperance, and poured out the varnish and oil upon the floor.

Such is the man and cowardly work of rum! But worse than this, it is also girdling and cutting down some of the young men who should become the glory and ornament of the town.

There must be some nuisance there.

DEATH FROM SCALDS.—At Nashua, N. H., on Thursday morning, a little daughter of Mr. John Lovejoy, between two and three years old, was so badly scalded by the tipping over of a coffee-pot full of boiling coffee, directly upon her, that she died the same day.

PASTOR RECALLED.—The First Universalist Society, Hanover street, Boston, have voted to recall the Rev. N. M. Gaylord, to become their sole pastor.

QUICK POISON.—Last Wednesday night a lad of six years, son of Timothy Mack of Ware, Mass., drank so much rum that he died in a few hours.

KILLED BY A ROTTEN BRIDGE.

A dispatch from Utica, New York, May 11, says:—

A frightful accident occurred this morning at 6 1-2 o'clock, on the Central Railroad, by the crushing of a bridge over the Saquoit Creek, 3 1-4 miles west of Utica, near Whitesboro'.

Seven or eight persons are already dead, and five or six others are hardly alive. The injured number 40 or more.

The accident occurred to the Cincinnati express train, due here at 20 minutes past 6. It was somewhat behind time, at Whitesboro', and it was coming up at a high rate of speed, when it met, on the bridge over the Saquoit creek, the Utica accommodation train for the West, each on its own track. The engine crossed the bridge, but as the passenger cars of the express, and the freight cars of the accommodation came upon the north side, it gave way, precipitating the freight cars into the creek, piling the passenger cars one above the other, and splintering the platform and seats to atoms, as the cars struck the abutments.

The following are the dead:—A. Moore, of Rising Sun, Ind; Daniel S. Brayton, of Phelps, Ontario Co., N. Y.; two children of Abraham Mack, of Cincinnati, one a girl of 12, and the other a boy of 6 years; John Fitzgerald, of New York, who had been to Detroit on a visit to his sons; Wm. H. Sharpe, a colored preacher; Charles Bellman, of Cincinnati, aged 12 years—his body was found in the Creek just before dark.

Among the wounded, are,—Hugh Lislay of Minnesota, bound for Dover, N. H.—head cut open badly, the scalp torn off off the forehead, and eyelid cut loose.

G. R. Knowles of Sanboruton Bridge, N. H.—terribly bruised about the head; he is now deranged and can hardly recover,—a small hole having been made in the top of his head. He worked for some time to rescue others, without knowledge of his injuries, until he became delirious.

The bridge at which the accident occurred, was entirely rotten, several of the main beams on which the track was laid being found decayed all the way through. There is no doubt but that the accident occurred through the breaking of these timbers by the weight of the two locomotives passing over the bridge at the same time. The greater portion of the heart of the wood is like so much punk, and the wonder is that the bridge had stood so long.

The smash is a most terrible one, and the ruins convey a vivid impression of the horrors of the disaster. Between the stone abutments of the bridge is a space of 52 feet. The ordinary length of a car is 35 feet; and the depth to the bottom of the creek is nine feet. Three entire cars lay lengthways, crushed up like a telescope, between the abutments of the bridge, thus occupying a space of but little more than the length of one car.

The Coroner's jury examined Benj. Stoutenger, Engineer of the up-train, whose testimony shows that both engines passed over the bridge at the same time. He felt nothing until his engine got on the west side of the bridge, when there was suddenly a jerk, and the tender broke short off. He looked round and saw the cars piling up in the Creek. The engineers have orders not to run engines at the same time over the bridge at Rome, but no such orders as to any other bridges. Both engines passed over the bridge, and remained on their separate tracks.

Chas. Champlain, of Yorkville, was then sworn—Helped get out the dead and wounded; had heard several persons talk lately of the rottenness and insecurity of the bridge, and predict an accident there.

George Baylis, Justice of the Peace, of Whitestown, deposed that two weeks since he passed over the bridge and was struck by the rottenness of the wood. Many of the beams were bastard elm, apparently unfit to bear their own weight. He had stamped his heel into them by the side of the rails, and found them perfectly rotten. This unsoundness was so apparent as to be evident to his eye, while crossing the bridge.

EXPOSURE OF THE MILK TRADE.—A large space in Frank Leslie's Illustrated newspaper is devoted this week to an exposure of the milk adulteration, and the horrible manufacture of milk going on in Brooklyn. The New York children are fed upon this milk, and the result is, that the mortality amongst them exceeds immensely that of all other large towns, here or in Europe. Paralysis, cholera infantum and a host of other diseases, are engendered by this "swill" milk—and a very unusually large proportion of little children die of one or other of these milk diseases before they are five years old. Mr. Leslie is the only man in New York courageous enough to attack and denounce the Brooklyn baby murderers, although their practices have long been notorious, and well known to the people and the authorities. Mr. Leslie has instituted a regular police to watch the secret doings of the manufacturers, and to follow their carts through the city. He publishes the numbers of those grocers' stores where cans are left. His artists and agents have been attacked by the "swill" milk maidens, (stout fellows of from twenty to thirty years old,) and one of his private carriages has been seized in the public streets by these desperadoes—the horse taken out and turned adrift, and the vehicle broken to pieces. Mr. Leslie will persevere, nevertheless, and we thank him for his bravery, and hail him as a public benefactor. The newspaper for this week contains abundant illustrations of this swill manufacture.—Truth.

ORGANIZING FOR FUTURE OPERATIONS. In England recently a notice was put up in a country inn, requesting all persons interested "in the universal salvation of mankind," to meet the next week for choice of officers.

CONGRESS.

TUESDAY, May 11.

SENATE.—The bill for the repeal of the Fishing Bounties Act, was taken up and Mr. Hale (of N. H.) spoke against it, and in favor of the system of bounties.

Mr. Seward of New York, spoke against the prejudice sought to be raised by calling the fisheries a local interest, tracing the history of the bounties, he showed that they were built on a policy of the British government, which had been found successful in its operation, and which has continued to answer the purpose of that policy—the education of seamen—and he (Seward) would vote for the continuance of the bounties.

The Senate here went into executive session, and at its close adjourned.

HOUSE.—Mr. Smith of Va. asked leave to report a bill to organize the Territory of Nevada.

Mr. Clemens of Va., objected.

The House then rejected the bill, amendatory of the act of 1851, limiting the liability of ship-owners.

The Senate bill for the admission of Minnesota was then taken up.

Mr. Ricaud of Maryland, spoke against the alien suffrage clause in the constitution, that none but citizens of the United States should be allowed to vote.

Mr. Stephens of Georgia, answered the various objections which had been made against the bill, arguing that Congress could only look into the Constitution of a new State to see whether it is Republican in form, and legally and fairly expresses the will of the people. It it conflicts with the Constitution of the United States, that instrument points out a remedy.

The House voted on the substitute proposed by Mr. Sherman of Ohio, requiring as a fundamental condition precedent for the admission of Minnesota, the alteration of its Constitution by a new convention to make it conform to the Constitution and laws of the United States,—and it was rejected—51 against 141.

The bill was then passed in the precise form in which it came from the Senate, by 157 against 38.

The House then took up the bill to prevent the inconvenient accumulation in the Post Office Department of Deputy Postmasters' quarterly returns.

Mr. English of Indiana, remarked that 65,000 bushels had accumulated.

Mr. Morgan of New York said that the opposition proposed during the next administration to investigate all these matters; hence he wanted the time for the destruction of these papers to be extended to five instead of two years. (Laughter.)

Mr. English of Indiana wanted to know whether the gentleman was serious.

Mr. Morgan said he was.

The bill was passed.

The House debated the preamble to the resolution authorizing the President to abrogate the Clayton-Bulwer treaty—and finally rejected the preamble, 99 to 67.—They debated the general subject, till the adjournment.

The 38 members of the House who voted against the bill for the admission of Minnesota into the Union, are as follows:—Messrs. Anderson, Bingham, Blair, Clark of Ct., Clawson, Davis of Md., Davis of Iowa, Dean, Edie, Eustis, Foster, Garnett, Giddings, Gilmer, Granger, Harris of Md., Hill, Horton, Kelsey, Kunkel of Pa., Marshall of Ky., Maynard, Morgan, Morris of Pa., Morse of Me., Olin, Read, Ricaud, Robbins, Ruffin, Sherman of Ohio, Smith of Va., Stanton, Trippe, Underwood and Zollicoffer.

☞ The Washington correspondent of the New York Evening Post says:

The United States war-ship Roanoke, now lying at Boston, was damaged to such an extent in launching as to require an appropriation of $300,000 to put her in safe condition. That amount will be asked for in the forthcoming Naval Appropriation bill. She was built at the Norfolk (Va.) Yard, by Constructor Hart, and has been one voyage. I understand that Capt. Montgomery, who commanded her, gave it as his opinion that she was so badly damaged that she would not have survived a severe storm.

Washington News.—The committee appointed to investigate the charges against the doorkeeper of the House, have decided to recommend his discharge for malfeasance in office.

VULGAR WORDS.—A young man who allows himself to use profane or vulgar words, has not only shown that there is a foul spot on his mind, but, by the utterance of that word, he extends the spot and inflames it, till, by indulgence, it will soon pollute and ruin the whole soul. Be careful of your words as well as thoughts. If you can control the tongue so that no improper words be pronounced by it, you will soon be able to control the mind and save it from corruption.

THE AMERICAN TRACT SOCIETY.—New York, May 12.—At the adjourned meeting last night of the opposition members of the American Tract Society, it was unanimously resolved that the fourth resolution of the series adopted by the Society last year, should be emphatically affirmed, and that the Society ought to publish facts on the moral duties which grow out of the existence of slavery, and on those evils and vices which it is known to promote.

A committee was appointed to arrange the details of action at the business meeting to-day.

☞ A Buffalo paper announces the appearance, in that city, of a "celebrated English Gymnast and Acrobat." The Cincinnati Gazette asks if it is Cox?

☞ A French paper, of recent date, contains the following paragraph:—

The Mayor of Douai has just published an order that persons who get shamefully drunk in public houses, and the proprietors of such establishments who allow them to become so, shall be fined and imprisoned.

Use Philbrick's Celebrated Fire-Kindlings.

THESE Kindlings are the best of anything that has ever been used for wood or charcoal fires. They are CHEAP, a BOX containing 144 squares, I square being sufficient to kindle a fire, burning from 8 to 10 minutes with a free blaze, therefore kindling nearly 6 fires for 1 cent, and are not affected by age or climate. They are safe, being composed of a substance not liable to spontaneous combustion, thus dispensing with use of shavings and paper, thus removing a great risk of fire from buildings, and are HANDIER, CHEAPER and CLEANER.

DIRECTIONS.—One of the small squares lighted and placed on the bottom of the stove or grate is sufficient to kindle a wood or charcoal fire.

Mrs. Sarah Benjamin died in Mt. Pleasant township, Pa., on the 20th ult., at the extraordinary age of 114 years and a half, lacking a few days. Her maiden name was Sarah Matthews, and she had outlived three husbands. She accompanied her second husband in the revolutionary army, cooking for the soldiers and mending their clothes. She once took her husband's place as a sentry. At the surrender of Cornwallis, she was busy during the battle in carrying water to the soldiers and relieving the wounded. When passing where the bullets of the enemy were flying, she met Washington, who said, "young woman, are not afraid of the bullets?" She pleasantly answered, "The bullets will never cheat the gallows." She possessed extraordinary energy, even in her extreme age, and would relate the events of her early days with all the vivacity of youth.

Fallen from Grace.—George Ives, a printer, lately from Westfield, and a subject of the recent revival, has yielded this week to the temptation of that "respectable" tavern, the Armory House, licensed by the board of aldermen last week, on a motion of alderman Day of the first ward, and was taken thence, dead drunk, by the city-marshal, to the lock-up on Monday night. He agrees to testify against those who sold him liquor, and warrants are out for their arrest. Ives is the funny witness against the Westfield rumsellers at the last December court, and then remembered his experience to a dot. Mr. Ames the proprietor of the house, will be arraigned this morning.—Springfield Republican, 5th.

Love thy Neighbor as Thyself.—One of the tax collectors of California says that he found a Norwegian in Eldorado county, who made oath that his sole earthly taxable effects were a church and a schoolhouse. This singular individual is a poor miner, and has built the above mentioned establishments with his own hands, without aid from any one. His church is free for any sect of religionists, except Mormons and Universalists. He has a mining claim which he has worked for five years; and whenever his diggings will average more than two dollars a day, he will go out into the highway and coax some poor fellow to share the profit of his labors.

An old man of 77, at Lowell, who had enjoyed the society of an affectionate daughter during fifteen years of his widowhood, lately married a new wife younger than his child, who had made his property the condition of the unnatural union.—On the day of the celebration of the nuptials, he retired to an ante-room, reclined upon a sofa, and died. The property was wholly in the possession of the newly wedded wife, and the daughter, now destitute, was thrown upon the charity of her friends.

Dead Body Found.—The body of a traveling root doctor, by the name of Roby, was recently found in a field beside a fence, between the upper and lower villages in Strafford. It appears that he must have perished from intoxication and exposure, as a bottle containing some liquor was found near him. A watch, with a small sum of money was found on his person. It is supposed that he had lain there since the 27th of Nov. last, but the body was said to be in a remarkable state of preservation.—Manchester Mirror.

There is an ugly kind of forgiveness in this world—a kind of hedgehog forgiveness, shot out like quills. Men take one who has offended, and set him down before the blowpipe of their indignation, and scorch him, and burn his faults into him; and when they have kneaded him sufficiently with their fiery fists, then—they forgive him.

New York, May 12.—Henry Dwight, a Wall street broker, was arrested yesterday on a charge of embezzlement, fraud and perjury, in connection with the Chicago, Alton and St. Louis Railroad, by which bondholders and creditors of that company, as well as several New England Banks and New York merchants are sufferers to the amount of millions of dollars. TRIUMPHANT SUCCESS OF Buchan's Hungarian Balsam of Life,
THE GREAT ENGLISH REMEDY FOR Colds, Coughs, Asthma, and Consumption.

RELIABLE EVIDENCE OF THE EFFECTS OF BUCHAN'S HUNGARIAN BALSAM.

From the Christian Freeman.

While we repudiate quackery, we are always pleased to give credit for that which is truly useful, and to give information which may benefit others. A few days ago a gentleman of our town Norway, Me., came into our office, in comfortable health, whom we did not expect to see again on earth. We received a letter a few weeks since, from another person, resident in the same house with him, saying that he was confined to his bed, and could not probably continue long. Judge then of our surprise when we saw him enter our office. He has a slight cough remaining, as it would be natural that he should have, until he has had further time for acquiring strength of lungs. But he is in comfortable health. The following letter which he addresses to the general Boston Agent for the medicine which has restored him so wonderfully, will show what medicine has been the instrument of the good work.

Boston, Feb. 16, 1847.

Da D. F. Bradlee—Sir.—I cannot refrain from saying a word to you in commendation of "Buchan's Hungarian Balsam of Life." Here is a plain statement of facts in relation to my case, and if they are of any service in inducing the sick to seek relief at the source whence I obtained it, I shall be thankful.

My residence is Norway, Me. Three years ago last fall, I took a violent cold, which left a cough of the most aggravated kind, accompanied by a severe pain in the left side. Last June I had become so feeble that I was obliged to quit all work and was confined to the house until about four weeks since. During that time I received the best medical attendance, and tried nearly all the medicines which are recommended in such cases, but could find no relief; grew worse, and for the last three weeks was confined to my bed. Two of my physicians gave me up as past recovery. But as a forlorn hope, I tried it, I heard of the Hungarian Balsam, and immediately procured a bottle. This gave me instant relief, and six bottles have broken up my cough, and placed me in a situation to resume, with advancing health, my usual occupation. Yours, truly, Churchill Conn.

IMPORTANT TO
TOBACCO CHEWERS.
DR. GUSTAV LINNARD'S
TASTE RESTORATIVE TROCHES,
The Great Substitute for Tobacco.

It is a well known and incontrovertable fact that the use of Tobacco is the promoting cause of many of the most serious ills of life to which the race of man is subject, as careful analysis and long and painful experience have clearly proven that it contains certain narcotic and poisonous properties more dangerous in their effects, which by entering into the blood derange the functions and operations of the Heart, causing many to suppose that organ to be seriously diseased.

TOBACCO affects also the entire nervous system, manifesting itself—as all who have ever used the medicine need well know—in Nervous Irritability, Water Brash, Dyspepsia, and many other disorders of a similar character.

THE TASTE RESTORATIVE TROCHES

are designed to counteract these baneful influences, and have proved most efficacious in a multitude of cases, and wherever used. Being harmless in themselves they exert a beneficial effect upon the system, restoring the taste which has become vitiated or destroyed by great indulgence, completely removing the irritation and accompanying tickling sensation of the Throat—which is always consequent upon abstaining from the use of Tobacco, and by giving a healthy tone to the Stomach, invigorate the whole system.

Persons who are irretrievably undermining their constitutions by chewing, shortening their lives, should use these Troches immediately and throw off the injurious and unpleasant habit of Tobacco Chewing.

These Troches or Lozenges are put up in a convenient and portable form at the low price of 50 Cents per Box. A liberal discount to the Trade.

Prepared solely by the undersigned, to whom all orders should be addressed.

Wolfe's Celebrated Scheidam Aromatic SCHNAPPS.

This medicinal beverage is manufactured by the proprietor, at Scheidam, Holland, expressly for medicinal use, by a process peculiar to his own Factory. It is the pure Tincture of the Italian Juniper Berry, whose more vinous extract is distilled and rectified with its spirituous solvent, which thus becmes a concentrated tincture of exquisite flavor and aroma, altogether, transcendant in its cordial and medicinal properties to any alcoholic stimulant now made in the world. It is now prescribed by more than 5,000 physicians in the United States, in cases of Gravel, Gout, Dropsy, and Bladder and Kidney Complaints.

Put up in Quart and Pint Bottles, in cases of one dozen qts., and cases of two dozen pts., and for sale by all Druggists and Country Merchants.

Ayer's Pills

are particularly adapted to derangements of the digestive apparatus, and diseases arising from impurity of the blood, which is a part of all the complaints that afflict mankind originate in one of these organs, and consequently these Pills are found to cure many maladies of disease.

[illegible] the statements from some eminent physicians in their practice.

AS A FAMILY PHYSIC,

[illegible] Dr. Ayer's Cathartic Pills are admirably adapted to their purpose, as specimens from all parts of the country testify. Their excellent qualities are known to thousands, and they are now resorted to in their active sphere of usefulness, with the full assurance that they will do their work well. Indeed, they have long been the family physic.

THE JAUNDICE AND ALL LIVER COMPLAINTS,

From Dr. Theodore Bell, of New York City.

[illegible] are your Pills admirably adapted to their purpose, as specimens from all parts of the country testify. Their excellent qualities are known to thousands, and they are now resorted to in their active sphere of usefulness, with the full assurance that they will do their work well. Indeed, they have long been the family physic.

DYSPEPSIA — INDIGESTION.

From Dr. Henry S. Bean, of St. Louis.

"Dr. Ayer: I am so well satisfied with the good your Pills have done me, that I feel it a duty I owe to the public to make known the fact. I was for a long time a victim to dyspepsia, in its worst form, and had tried almost every thing recommended for the disease, but without any permanent benefit. I was induced to try your Pills, and they have cured me. I have since used them in my family, and find they never fail to cure the complaint for which they are recommended. Indeed, I have experimented with them in almost all the cases for which they are recommended, and they have never failed to do good. I cannot, therefore, but recommend them to the public as the best cathartic with which I am acquainted."

DYSENTERY — DIARRHŒA — RELAX.

From Dr. J. G. Coons, of Chicago.

"Dr. Ayer: I have had a long trial in my practice, and I hold them in estimation for the speedy relief and cure of those very dangerous complaints, Dysentery and Diarrhœa. They are the best medicine we have for the cure of those complaints, which, although not enough in itself, is the property of others that are worse, I believe, owing to their superior powers, but your Pills effect their cure and cure the disease."

INTERNAL OBSTRUCTION — WORMS — SUPPRESSION.

From Mrs. E. Sweet, who presides at a Pigeons and Hotel.

"I find one or two large doses of your Pills, taken at the proper time, are excellent promotives of the natural secretion when wholly or partially suppressed, and also very effectual in expelling the worms with which I expel worms. They are so much the best physic we have that I recommend no other to my patients."

CONSTIPATION — COSTIVENESS.

From Dr. H. P. Pineda, Montreal, Canada.

"Dr. Ayer: I cannot be said of your Pills for the cure of costiveness. All others of our Materia have found them as efficacious as I have, they should join me in proclaiming their virtues. I have a lady friend who suffer from that complaint, which, although not enough in itself, is the producer of others that are worse, I believe, owing to their superior powers, but your Pills effect their cure and cure the disease."

INFLUENCE OF THE BLOOD — SCROFULA — ERYSIPELAS — SALT RHEUM — TETTER — TUMORS — RHEUMATISM — GOUT — NEURALGIA.

From Dr. Rudolph Bell, Philadelphia.

"You ask my opinion, Dr. Ayer, in saying that your Pills purify the blood. They do that. I have used them of late years in my practice and never with your statements of their virtues. They stimulate the system into healthy action, and all the impurities that exist in the blood, engendering disease. They stimulate the organs of digestion, and infuse vitality and vigor into the system.

"It is a wonder of the age, and as you prepare it a national benefit, and you deserve great credit for them."

FOR HEADACHES — SICK HEADACHE — FOUL STOMACH — PILES — DROPSY — PLETHORA — PARALYSIS — FITS — ETC.

From Dr. Edward Reed, Baltimore.

"Dear Dr. Ayer: I cannot answer you what complaints I have found with your Pills better than to say all that we find to be a popular medicine, and I have a great deal on an effectual remedy, in my daily contest with disease, and believing as I do that your Pills afford us the best we have, I of course value them highly."

Any of the Pills in market contain Mercury, which, although a valuable remedy in the hands of a few, is dangerous in a mass pill, and the dreadful consequences that frequently follow its incautious use. These contain no mercury or mineral substance whatever.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral

Has long been manufactured by a practical chemist, and every dose of it can be relied on to cure, with invariable accuracy and ease. It is sealed and protected by law from counterfeits, and consequently can be relied on as genuine, without adulteration. It is recommended by the medical world as the best remedy for the cure of all pulmonary complaints; for Colds, Coughs, Hoarseness, Asthma, Chronic, Bronchial Coughs, Incipient Consumption, and Whooping Cough, it is the most effectual remedy ever offered to the public, and it is daily saving the victims of these diseases. As time makes their virtues and better known, this medicine has gradually become the best reliance of the afflicted, from the log cabin of the American pioneer to the palaces of European kings. Throughout this entire country, in every state and city, and indeed almost every hamlet it contains, CHERRY PECTORAL is known as the best of all remedies for diseases of the throat and lungs. In many foreign countries it is extensively used by their most intelligent physicians. If there is any dependence on what men of every station certify it has done for them; if we can trust our own senses when we see the diseases alleviated of the human frame, and if we can depend on the testimony of intelligent physicians, whose business it is to know; in short, if there is any reliance from everything that is truthfully proven that this medicine does what it is claimed, it is designed for, beyond any and all other remedies known to mankind. Nothing but its intrinsic virtues, and the unmistakable benefit conferred on thousands of sufferers, could originate and maintain the reputation it enjoys. While many inferior remedies have been thrust upon the community, have failed, and been discarded, this has gained friends by every trial, confirmed doubts on the efficacy of other remedies, and produced cures too numerous and remarkable to be forgotten.

—MANUFACTURERS OF—

Melodeons, Organ Melodeons,

—and—

PEDAL BASS MELODEONS,

No. 511 Washington St., Boston.

The first premium over all competitors, at the Fair of the Mass. Charitable Mechanic Association, of the National Fair, Washington, D. C., also at the Ohio State Fair, held at Columbus, Ohio, was awarded to these Manufacturers.

By means of a new method of Voicing, known only to themselves, they have succeeded in removing the harsh and burning sound which formerly characterized the instrument, and rendering the tones full, clear and organ like. The action is prompt and reliable, enabling the performer to execute the most rapid music without blurring the tones. The swell is arranged to give great expression.

THE PEDAL BASS MELODEONS,

Are designed particularly for Churches, Lodges, Halls, &c., where a full, smooth and mellow bass, or banks of Keys, the lower set running an octave higher than the other, and may be used separately, and thus get in one case two distinct instruments; or by the use of the coupler, the two banks of keys may be played at the same time by use of the front set only. This connected with the Pedal Bass, will produce the effect of a large organ, and is sufficiently heavy to fill a house that seats from 1000 to 1500 persons.

THE ORGAN MELODEON

Is designed for parlor and private use. The construction is similar to the Church Instrument, being arranged with two banks of Keys, and when used together, by means of the coupler, is capable of as great volume of power as the Church Instrument when used without the pedals. Also, every variety of MELODEONS for Parlor use.

Purchasers may rely upon instruments from our Manufactory, being made in the most complete and thorough manner. Having removed to the spacious buildings

511 Washington Street,

We have every facility for manufacturing purposes, and employ none but the most experienced and skilful workmen. In short, we will promise our customers an Instrument equal, if not superior, to any Manufacturer, and guarantee satisfaction.

Music Teachers, Leaders of Choirs, and others interested in musical matters, are respectfully invited to call on our Rooms at any time, and examine or test the instruments on exhibition for their pleasure.

As a still further guarantee to the public as to the excellence of the MELODEONS from our Manufactory, we beg leave to refer, by permission, to the following

Piano Forte Manufacturers of Boston,

who have examined our Instruments, and will give their opinion when called upon:

Chickering & Sons, Hallett & Cumston,
T. Gilbert & Co., Wm. P. Emerson,
Brown & Allen, A. W. Ladd & Co.,
George Hewes, Woodward & Brown,
Newhall & Co.

MELODEONS RENTED.

Persons who wish to hire Melodeons with a view of purchasing at the end of the year, can have the rent credited as part payment of the purchase money. This matter is worthy of special note, as it enables those who desire a fair test of the instruments before purchasing, to obtain it at the expense of the manufacturers, to the extent at least of a year's rent.

Orders from any part of the country or world, sent direct to the manufactory in Boston, with cash, or satisfactory references, will be promptly attended to, and as faithfully executed as if the parties were present, or employed an agent to select, and on as reasonable terms.

THE RESTORATIVE OF Prof. O. J. WOOD for restoring hair perfectly and permanently, has never yet had a rival. Volume after volume might be given from all parts of the world and from the highest ranks to prove that it is a perfect Restorative; but read the circular and you cannot doubt; read also the following.

THE HAIR.—People have for centuries been afflicted with bald heads, and the only remedy, heretofore known, has been the abominable stuff. By a recent discovery of Professor Wood these articles are being fast dispensed with, but a great many persons still patronize them, because they know no better. We have proved upon by Hair Tonics of different kinds. To all such persons we earnestly make the request that they will try once again, for in Wood's Restorative they will find what they want. We know of a lady who was bald, who used the article a short time, and her head is covered completely with the finest and most luxuriant hair imaginable. We know of numerous cases where hair was rapidly falling out, which it restored in greater perfection than it ever had been before.

It is also without doubt one of the best articles for keeping the hair in good condition, making it soft and glossy, removing dandruff, which is one of the most troublesome and greatest enemy to all the like that hair is heir to.

It is the duty of every one to improve their personal appearance though some may differ in regard to the ways of doing it; but every one will admit that a beautiful head of hair either in man or woman, is an object much to be desired. Gentlemen and ladies, your attention should be left untried to obtain such a consideration.—Woman's Advocate, Philadelphia.

COCHOCTON, Ohio, Nov. 17, 1856.

O. J. Wood & Co.—Gents: As I have been engaged in selling your Restorative, I feel a pleasure in recommending it to all agents (R. M. Hockinson,) and having experienced the beneficial effects of it myself, I would like to obtain an agency for the State of Ohio; and I would say to all those you wish to make such an arrangement, as I am convinced there is nothing equal to it in the world, for restoring the hair, as I have tested it, and engaged in the hair business for several years, and have sold various preparations for the hair, but have found nothing that restored the hair to its organs or invigorated the scalp as well as yours, being convinced that your restorative is what you represent it to be, I would like to engage in the sale of it, for I am satisfied it must sell.

Yours truly, S. T. STOCKMAN.

WAILING, Mass., Feb. 5, 1857.

Prof. O. J. Wood & Co.—Gents: Having realized the good effects of your Hair Restorative, I wish to state, that finding my hair growing thin, as well as gray, I was induced from what I read and heard, to try the article prepared by you, to promote its growth and change its color as it was in my youth, both of which it has effected completely. In the opinion of all I have used nearly 3 bottles.

Yours &c., JAMES FRANCIS.

LOTTERIES.

THE Lotteries of Samuel Swan & Co. are chartered by the State of Georgia, and have sworn commissioners appointed to drawing their drawings, and certify that everything connected with the same is done in a strictly honorable manner. They offer to the public a fair opportunity for investment, the interests of parties at a distance being as well protected as if they were present. The Manager would respectfully call attention to the fact that all persons have a legal right to send orders for tickets to Georgia, as the lotteries of Samuel Swan & Co. are authorized by the Legislature of that State. Tickets will be drawn every Saturday throughout the year, all orders received being filled in the drawing next to take place after the same comes to hand. According to the scheme one prize in every ten must draw a prize. Tickets are $10; halves, $5; quarters, $2 50. No tickets sent unless the money accompanies the order. Send a free one, specifying the number on each ticket, and are so simple that none can fail to understand them. There is no combination of numbers to mystify the buyer. Prizes cashed and remitted, every prize being drawn, and result of drawing forwarded to all purchasers

☞ A list of the numbers that are drawn from the wheel, with the amount each prize is entitled to, will be published after every drawing, in the following papers:—New Orleans Delta, Mobile Register, Charleston Standard, Louisville Courier, Atlanta Intelligencer, and New York Weekly Day Book. Write your address plainly, and direct to S. SWAN & CO., Augusta, Georgia

Prizes paid in full—no percentage deducted from prizes as in other lotteries.

All communications strictly confidential. m31y

Maryland State Lotteries.

R. FRANCE & CO. ..... MANAGERS.

CAUTION NOTICE.

PERSONS living at a distance should be extremely careful of whom they order Lottery Tickets or Certificates of Packages of Tickets.—The country is flooded with bogus and swindling Lotteries. Every inducement is held out to get persons to remit money in them. Capital Prizes of from $20,000 to $40,000 head their schemes—with tickets at One Dollar. $100,000 capital prizes are offered, tickets $5. All such, in every instance, are frauds; and if money is sent to them for tickets, it is so much thrown away without the shadow of a chance of getting a prize. Beware how you send money where the Capital Prize is unusually large in comparison to the price of tickets—in every instance where large prizes are offered for a small cost of tickets, put it down as a certain fraud.

The Kentucky State Lottery for the benefit of the Shelby College, under new management, is the only Lottery in the United States which is legally decided by the Maryland Drawings; all other Lotteries which purport to be decided by the Maryland Drawings, are frauds.

THE MARYLAND STATE LOTTERIES.

Purchase in the Maryland State Lotteries, then you are sure of being right. And in ordering in the Maryland Lotteries, you are sure of fair and honest drawings.

One thing look to, and that is, if you order from any Managers' Tickets and Managers' Printed Certificates of Packages. The Managers' Certificates have the numbers printed, and have the lithographic signature of R. France & Co.

No one has a right to send his individual certificates. If he does it, be sure there is a fraud at the bottom of it.

IMMORTELLES.

TEARS.

Thank God, bless God, all ye who suffer not
More grief than you can weep for. That is well—
That is light grieving! lighter none befell,
Since Adam forfeited the primal lot.
Tears! what are tears? The babe weeps in its cot,
The mother sleeping; at her marriage bell,
The bride weeps; and before the oracle
Of funeral bills, the poet hath forgot
That moisture on his cheeks. Thank God for grace,
Whoever weep; albeit, as some have done,
Ye grope tear blinded, in a desert place,
And touch but tombs,—look up! Those tears will run
Soon, in long rivers, down the lifted face,
And leave the vision clear for stars and sun.

—[Mrs. Browning.

SONG.

What martial music is to marching men,
Should Song be to Humanity. In song
The thoughts are strong and winds are free.
A beauteous menial to our wants divine,
A shape celestial tending the dark earth
With light and silver service like the moon,
Is Poesy. —[Alex Smith.

FRIENDSHIP.

It is a sweet thing, friendship, a dear balm,
A happy and auspicious bird of calm,
Which rides o'er life's severe tumultuous ocean;
A God that broods o'er chaos in commotion;
A flower which fresh as Lapland roses are,
Lifts its bold head into the world's pure air,
And blooms most radiantly when others die,
Health, hope and youth, and brief prosperity;
And, with the light and color of its bloom,
Shining within the dungeon and the tomb;
Whose coming is as light and music are
'Mid dissonance and gloom—a star
Which moves not 'mid the moving heavens alone,
A smile amid dark frowns—a gentle tone
Among rude voices, a beloved light,
A solitude, a refuge, a delight. —[Shelly.

FALSE FRIENDS.

There are no tricks in plain and simple faith;
But hollow men, like horses hot at hand,
Make gallant show and promise of their mettle;
But when they should endure the bloody spur,
They fall their crests, and, like deceitful jades,
Sink in the trial. —[Shakspeare.

THE PERILS OF PHONOGRAPHY.—The art of phonographic reporting is the best ever invented, but nevertheless sometimes leads to mistakes. Not long since, a member of Congress made a speech, quoting Latin, "Socrates, amicus Plato est, sed magis amicus Veritas." (Socrates is my friend, but Plato is my friend, but truth is much more my friend.) This appeared next day in the report as follows:—"I may cuss Socrates, I may cuss Plato, said Major Veritas!" On another occasion, Senator Bright had something to say about his constituents and "actual settlers." Mr. Bright was astonished next day to see his constituents referred to as "cattle stealers"—"actual stealers" and "cattle stealers" being represented by the same sign in phonographic writing.

One of our German citizens—bearing a fair reputation for industry and sobriety—undertook, upon a wager, to drink an almost fabulous quantity of lager beer.—The feat was more than accomplished.—After performing this disgusting guzzling attempt, while in a state of utter helplessness, he made another fool-hardy bet, and to carry the game out, he was allowed to swallow ten glasses more, in order to convince the witnesses of his folly, that "some things can be done as well as others."—The consequence was that he became a raving maniac, a most frightful and offensive object to look at, and had to be removed to his home. For hours he hung between life and death, roaring and groaning, vomiting blood, and suffering the most excruciating bodily and mental agony. For a time it seemed impossible that he could survive, but the constant and unremitting attention of physicians and friends, who stood over him day and night, at length snatched him from the grave, and he is now slowly recovering.—Watertown, Wis. Democrat.

"THE WRONG MAID, SIR."—A few days ago a couple residing in the neighborhood of Bridestowne, Devon, went to the parish church to be married. The bridegroom, instead of taking his intended bride at the church door and accompanying her to the altar, walked thither with the bride's sister, who was one of the bridesmaids.—The bride appeared to have thought that her intended husband had changed his mind at the last moment, and she retired into a pew in a very dejected state of mind. The ceremony proceeded, and it was not until the clergyman came to the important question, "Wilt thou have this woman to be thy wedded wife?" that the bridegroom was conscious of his mistake. He then looked round the church with astonishment, and exclaimed, "This is the wrong maid, sir!" The right maid was soon found: the ceremony was again commenced, and the right maid was married to the right man, much to the satisfaction of all parties.

PICTURE OF LIFE AMONG THE MORMONS. The Leeds, England, Mercury, publishes a letter from a young woman named Elizabeth Cotton, who formerly resided in that place, but was induced to join a Mormon emigrating party. The following are extracts from the letter:—

"I am afraid I shall never see you again, but still I live in hopes.

We started from Salt Lake some time since to go home again, but the Mormons met us, and we were compelled to go back.

On arriving at the Salt Lake, I was not a little surprised to see the men running after the women and asking them if they were married, but I have not got married yet, and I do not intend to. Many of the men have eight or ten wives, and he sleeps with one two nights and another two nights and so on, and this is Mormonism; but this is not all, for Brigham Young has 60 women, and they had twelve sons in one year, and I don't know how many daughters. What they preach about is ——, stealing and cutting anybody's throat, and if you ask anything about it you are told it is none of your d——d business.

I know one young woman of fifteen, who has had four husbands in five months, and that gives you an idea of Mormonism. Ann Jubb came along with us across the plains, and when she got to Salt Lake, there were so many men running after her she got married, and she is the second wife, and they call her Ann Webb, but she is far from being comfortable, and would be glad to be back again.

If I was in England and any Mormon elder came to the house where I was I would give him a pretty warm reception. Mormonism in England and Mormonism in Salt Lake are as different as chalk and cheese.

When we crossed the plains, in 1856, we had a quarter of a pound of flour in one day; it was very cold weather, nearly 14 feet deep in snow. We could not travel, and had to wait on the plains until the Mormons came out with teams to fetch us in. I could not tell you a great deal more if I was with you.

I am your affection daughter,
ELIZABETH COTTON.

HOUSE OF REFORMATION.

AT MANCHESTER, N. H.

On Wednesday, the dedication of the N. H. House of Reformation came off, according to announcement. Many notable gentlemen of the old Granite State were present, and the opening was as auspicious as could be wished.

After a fervent and appropriate prayer by the Rev. C. W. Wallace, of the First Congregational Church in Manchester, and the singing of a Dedicatory Anthem under the direction of Mr. J. H. Willard, the keys were delivered to the Governor by the Hon. Frederick Smyth, Chairman of the Commissioners for the erection of the building, with appropriate remarks, which are fully reported in the Traveller.

Mr. Smyth, speaking for the Commissioners, said:

We have not in any instance departed from that strict economy, which is the true policy and fixed habit of the people of New Hampshire in their public undertakings. Everything about the building is of the most permanent kind. The interior walls of brick render the building nearly fire-proof; that the structure will prove faultless, or that ingenious grumblers may not find this too dear, or that too cheap, is hardly to be expected. Time can only demonstrate the utility and adaptation of the work. Future expansion or alteration can be made without extra expense or doing violence to the general plan. Some of the interiors, as of the hall, wash rooms, &c., are left unplastered, dampness being guarded against by air spaces in the walls. But this is no time for specification. The building is open to you all, and with a little additional furniture will accommodate 150 boys and 25 girls, with the family of the superintendent. It has cost $34,000, which added to the $11,000, the price of the land, makes $45,000, the amount authorised by the Legislature to be expended for that purpose. Beyond this, the furniture ordered, to be of the most economical kind, and the supplying the building with a constant stream of running water, will cost $4500.

The Commissioners entered on their duties in September, '55; purchased the farm by approval of the Governor and Council in November. The foundation was laid in the spring, and the building commenced in the summer of '56; was finished in the fall of '57, and furnished in the spring of '58.

Governor Haile, on receiving the keys, made an appropriate reply, and also made an address to the Board of Trustees. From the latter we make a brief extract:

The prevention of crime by the reformation of youthful offenders who have just entered upon and set out in a course of guilt, is one of the demands of the age in which we live. Without this regard to the interest of the public in the prevention of crime, the reformation of a vicious lad, who has taken the first step in offending against the laws, is well worth the best efforts of men, and the surest way of effecting it in this institution will be the subject of your earnest attention.

The instruction of youthful delinquents in morality and piety, and in such branches of useful knowledge as may be adapted to their capacity, and in some regular course of labor, to the end that they may become useful and intelligent citizens, (and for the prevention of crime,) was the design of the institution with the management of which you are now by law entrusted.

The House of Reformation is not intended to evade the just punishment due for the commission of crime, or to mitigate the disgrace of the guilty. We must yet have prisons, and the public security demands the severe and certain punishment for crime. * * * Within these walls the young of both sexes of this and perhaps succeeding generations may learn that the ways of virtue are more easily trodden than the paths of sin.

The lad who in a thoughtless moment was led into crime, but who had never received parental instruction, and has been bred in ignorance and vice, amid companions more vicious than himself, may here find a refuge, and we may indulge the hope that he may carry away from this place such impressions as will lead him to a life of usefulness and honor.

Governor Haile, having concluded his remarks, delivered the keys into the hands of the Chairman of the Board of Trustees, Hon. Horton D. Walker, late Mayor of Portsmouth, who responded substantially as follows:

Your Excellency:—In accepting at your hands the keys of this new completed building, permit me to express my sense of the honor and responsibility which is conferred on me by being called to preside in its Board of Trustees. I regard this as a proud day for our State. Never has there been erected a building in New Hampshire towards which the eye of the patriot and the Christian could turn more hopefully than to this. Originating in the generous offering of a noble-hearted individual, fostered by judicious legislation, erected on land associated with an honored name of revolutionary memory, this building cannot fail to be regarded with the deepest interest.

But if on these accounts it enlists our energies and our sympathies, how much more, in consideration of its grand aim. You, sir, have clearly and forcibly presented the object of this enterprise. It does indeed look to the prevention of crime. Its arms are extended to receive the young upon whom temptation has laid its grasp. It will bring to bear upon them discipline and motives tending to reform; such was the grand object which animated the heart of its wise and thoughtful benefactor. Reform shall be written on its very door posts and virtue upon all its walls, and these shall be the great objects for which we labor. The necessity for such an institution may not be as deeply felt in the rural and more sparsely settled portions of the State, such as that in which you have the privilege to reside, but among us it is most strongly required, and never was an object more worthy, or an aim more thoroughly christian; and if but one youth is saved from a life of profligacy and crime, and made a virtuous and useful citizen, who would say the money was not well expended? Can you estimate in dollars and cents such a result? Can you calculate the difference between a life of honesty and industry, and of idleness and crime, between truth and virtue on the one hand, and of falsehood and vice on the other? If so, then can you can you in some degree estimate the worth of the enterprise to-day commenced.

But we confidently expect not one, nor twenty, but that hundreds will depart from the threshold of this home, reformed, made useful and happy.

The erection of this structure was committed to other hands, gentlemen whose known integrity, fidelity and zeal in this matter was fully commensurate with its high aim.

With this presentation to you, sir, their labors happily end, while ours begin. Permit me to express the hope that we may be as successful in winning the confidence of the public, in accomplishing the great object before us, as they have been in completing theirs.

I will, therefore, in accepting these keys at your hand, say that I am deeply sensible of the responsibility resting on myself and my associates.

I congratulate you, sir, and the State whose highest office you have the honor to fill, that an enterprise so worthy in its aim has been so successfully completed. May the highest hopes of its most sanguine friends be more than realized.

Addresses were also made by Hon. T. M. Edwards of Keene; Mr. Nichols, of the Reform School of Maine, at Westborough; Mr. Lincoln of a similar school at Cape Elizabeth; Mr. Starr, of the Reform School at Westborough, Mass.; by Hon. Amos Tuck, Rev. Mr. Spear, Rev. Dr. Burroughs, and others, after which the services were concluded with the singing of Old Hundred, and with the benediction.

☞ At New York, May 11, the anniversary meeting of the American Anti-Slavery Society, was well attended. Wm. Lloyd presided. Among the resolutions was one denouncing the present religious revival as delusive and spurious, because it excludes the millions in bondage, from all consideration, ect. Great excitement followed the reading of this resolution, with mingled applause, hisses and cries of "shame."

The Treasurer's report shows the receipts for the year to be nearly $36,000: expenditures $33,000.

The anniversary of the American and Foreign Christian Union was held at the Church of the Puritans. There was a large attendance. The labors of the Society during the past year have been very successful. Receipts for the year nearly $77,000, and expenditures nearly $80,000.

☞ Phillips, Sampson & Co. of Boston, have just published, and C. C. Harvey, of this city has for sale, a neat pocket volume called Revival Hymns, by Henry Ward Beecher. There are 414 hymns, short, pithy, stirring lyrics; price 25 cts.—It is a popular book for the times, and will command a large scale.

BALANCE WHEEL BROKEN.—On Wednesday just before noon, in Newburyport, the balance wheel of the Bartlett Mill engine, weighing upwards of eight tons, broke, throwing fragments weighing three thousand pounds about seventy feet, demolishing in its course partitions and machinery. The engine room occupied the centre of the building, and wonderful to relate, but one person is injured. The engineer had just left, and the fireman was near the door. The workmen had just left the room. The injured man was struck by a fragment of the partition, but it is hoped will recover. The mill will stop about two weeks for repairs.

☞ We would call the attention of cities, towns, individuals, and dealers in Fireworks, to the advertisement of Messrs. James G. Hovey & Co., Mass., who will this year sell their large and varied stock of Fireworks at reduced prices. Having given, this season, their exclusive attention to the above business, all articles ordered may be relied upon as of superior quality.

☞ One Joseph Ashcroft was fined $8 and costs for taking a pink root from the cemetery lot of Benjamin Hutchinson, in Manchester, N. H.

HOW THE SPIRIT COMES DOWN.—The New York Examiner, an able Baptist paper, says, at the close of an article:

But a further question, of the deepest practical importance, arises, Why is the Divine spirit now so peculiarly given?—Sovereign grace is indeed "the conclusion of the whole matter." But if we are permitted to understand the method and conditions through which this grace is pleased to operate, we may then apply ourselves, both reverently and consistently, to the most importunate, incessant, and confident solicitation of sovereign grace. We know that when even a limited number of Christians are united in fervent and importunate prayer, with persevering fidelity in applying the gospel to the minds of men—then the Holy Spirit comes down. In proportion to the universality and devotedness of the prayer and labor on the part of a community of Christians, we find, by experience, that the influence of the Spirit comes down broadly, like showers that soften and open all the surrounding soil;—quickening Christian life to a high and joyous intensity, and preparing all nature, as it were, to break forth into spring-time. True, we know that this antecedent prayer and devotedness of Christians is itself the work of the Holy Spirit, so that sovereign grace is all in all: but we know, too, that every soul is called of God, and of course enabled to exercise voluntarily all that fidelity which, on the part of a Christian body, secures the outpouring of the Spirit. What, then, is lacking in the system of grace, that we should not be the instruments of universal and permanent revival—and enjoy a constant succession of these softening and vivifying showers—if, by God's grace, we are but willing?

It would seem from this, that God is over the same—it is only man that changes; that our Heavenly Father is always more ready to give the Holy Spirit to those who ask him, than earthly parents are to give good gifts to their children; and that constant and confident prayer would be the means of universal and permanent revival and continuance of a truly Christian era, a kingdom of heaven, a new Jerusalem, coming down from God out of heaven, upon the earth.

From the Boston Saturday Evening Gazette.

I MUST NOT BE SAD TO-DAY.

BY HARRIET MCEWEN KIMBALL.

The sky is blue, and the sunshine bright:
I must not be sad to-day!
The tears that fell with the falling night,
Are fled away by the lips of light
That drink the drops of the dew and rain:
The gentle breath of this balmy morn,
Whereon dead weeks of sorrow are borne,
Hath lent swift wings to my lingering pain:
And, thrilling Space like a pulse of love,
A Voice floats out of the arch above,
Seeming in sunshine and breeze to say,
"You must not be sad to-day, O child!
You must not be sad to-day!"

The maples blush for the joy of Spring:
I must not be sad to-day!
The robins rock in the elms and sing,
The woods and thickets with warblings ring;
Over field, and meadow, and dimpling dell,
The verdure rolls like an emerald wave
To meet the musical tides that lave
The sloping shore with their silvery swell!
And still the Voice of the wind and beam,
Flows through the waters that toss and gleam;
And seems in bird song and wave to say,
"You must not be sad to-day, O child!
You must not be sad to-day!"

There's not a shadow on Nature's face—
I must not be sad to day!
I turn mine eyes to the burial place—
Yet there sweet Spring, with tender grace,
Has dotted the hillocks in freshest green;
And starry flowers of blue and gold
Look meekly up from their grassy fold,
To light my faith with their beauty serene!
And, wafted in perfume, the Voice I hear
In rippling water and song of bird,
Stealing from flower-lips, seems to say,
"You must not be sad to-day, O child!
You must not be sad to-day!"

THIS Lamp possesses important advantages over any other Lamps now in use. It is perfectly safe, simple and convenient. It gives a steady light with no flickering, and can be carried in the wind and not extinguished; and under no circumstances can you get an accident. A conductor put into it to-day, and all you have to do for six months is to fill it when empty. It will light a large room for one cent per hour, and the quality of the flame is unequalled.

All kinds of Lamps can be altered into GAS LAMPS.

Applications for County and Town rights will receive immediate attention. Rare inducements offered to those who wish to make money.

POLICE COURT.

Before Justice Odell.—May 23.—John Falvey was found guilty of assaulting a woman; fined $7; costs, 5.75. Paid, and gave bonds for good behavior.

A few days since, Pelatiah Moulton and Anno Moulton, were found guilty of being vagabonds, and sent to the House of Correction for 30 days,—and ordered to pay costs 4.97 and 4.80. They should be, if any law could be found for it, kept as permanent laborers, where no rum could be procured.

The above are allthe criminal entries since April 5.

☞ The new Custom House and Post Office building, in this city, progresses finely. The foundation walls are nearly completed, and a portion of the iron girders are laid for the first floor. The building is to be of stone and iron, fire-proof, and will be the finest structure in the State. We understand that the corner-stone will be laid with Masonic ceremonies, by the Grand Lodge of New Hampshire, on some day between the 24th and 28th of May inst.,—the precise day not being yet fixed. The occasion will doubtless be one of much interest to our citizens.

There was a premature bogus corner-stone laid a long while since, with some ceremony, documents, &c.; but that is buried deep in the foundation, and past all probable resuscitation.

LOST AND FOUND.—On the 28th of March last Mr. Wm. May, from this city, while on his way from Portland to Portsmouth, lost in Eliot a pocket-book containing about $4000 in bank bills and notes. A woman living in Eliot picked up the wallet, while in company with four other women; and the property has but just got back to the owner. As it had become generally known in Eliot that the woman had found and for some time retained the treasure, it seems but fair that the return should be made equally public—for which reason the finder desired a notice to this effect from Mr. May to be inserted in the Chronicle. We have these statements from the lady most concerned in the matter. It certainly seems strange that the loss or the finding of the money was not advertised immediately.

☞ A little daughter of Mr. Wm. A. Vaughan, of this city, had a large portion of the fingers of right hand cut off in a revolving hay-cutter, on Thursday morning, while playing with the dangerous machine in company with another little girl. Such implements should always be tied or locked, if children have access to them.

FINE POEM.—The poem on the first page, by Miss Harriet McEwen Kimball, of Portsmouth, is very beautiful. She promises to take rank, if she has not already done so, at the head of the female poets of the country. Portsmouth really seems to be the place for American poets to hail from at the present time.—Boston Transcript.

☞ The Rockingham Quarterly Conference of Universalists will be held at Fremont, on Wednesday and Thursday, May 19 and 20.

HORSE STEALING.—The Dover Enquirer of Thursday says, the horse and wagon of Mr. Ephraim Ham, were stolen by some graceless scamp, on Sunday forenoon last, from the front of the Orthodox Meeting House at the corner, where they had been left by the owner while attending the services at the Church. The team was seen by different persons passing down by the Unitarian Church, by the landing, and down the Turnpike, towards South Berwick—after which all trace of it was lost. The horse was a valuable one, and the wagon new—both together probably worth $300.

☞ In Newburyport, on Tuesday evening, as a son of Mr. Wm. Currier, Jr., some 15 years old, was entering his residence, he was knocked down by some unknown person, and the keys of his father's clothing store were taken from him, but afterwards found near the spot.

CONGRESS.—On Wednesday, May 12, in Senate, a communication was received from the war department relative to the purchase of a site for a fort in San Francisco harbor; and asking for an appropriation of $200,000. Senator Broderick declared that the whole ranche was not worth $7000. The subject was referred. The debate on the bill to repeal the fishing bounties, was resumed by Senator Wilson. Several amendments, with a view of killing the bill, were proposed, but the whole subject was laid aside for more pressing matters. The credentials of Henry M. Rice, one of the Senators elect from the State of Minnesota, having been presented, objections were made to their reception. Mr. Rice's credentials were, however, received, and he was sworn in, and at once made a speech. Mr. Shields was also sworn, so Minnesota is now fully represented in the Senate. The House of Representatives did some territorial business of no general interest.

☞ Steamer Star of the West arrived at New York on Thursday, bringing California mails of the 20th ult., and over $1,615,000 in gold.

Mining and agricultural prospects are eminently favorable.

Forest City, Sierra county, was nearly destroyed by fire, April 10. Loss $180,000.

RUSSIAN SERFS.—There are nearly twenty-one millions of Serfs in Russia, about twelve millions of whom belong to the nobility and nine millions to the estates of the crown. The emperor proposes to manifest his interest in emancipation by making his own serfs free first. There are but 127,000 land owners in Russia, of whom 2000 possess from 1000 to 10,000 serfs each, and the others smaller numbers.—The immense numbers awaiting emancipation by the justice of the czar, gives a grandeur to the event seldom witnessed in any former enterprise. Think of a population about as large as the present white population of the United States, raised from personal degradation and chattelism, and that too by the great and absolute government of northern Europe, whose name has been the representation of absolute despotism for centuries. The greatness of the act does not seem to be appreciated.

QUALIFICATIONS FOR A "CLARK."—The deacons of Surrey Tabernacle, London, in advertising for a clerk, after saying that he must be one that lives as well as professes the gospel, add: "It is not desired that the hymn, in giving out, should be growled out, nor squeaked out, nor bawled out, nor whispered out, nor hurried out, nor dandled out; but given out as dictated by common sense and a feeling heart, in a voice distinct, earnest and impressive."

BRONCHITIS AND COUGH which so often terminate fatally in our nothern latitudes, are easily arrested in a majority of cases, if recourse is had to the Wild Cherry preparation of Dr. Wistar. Abundant evidence of this fact has been given.

IMPORTANT TO
TOBACCO CHEWERS.
DR. GUSTAV LINNARD'S
TASTE RESTORATIVE TROCHES,
The Great Substitute for Tobacco.

IT is a well known and incontrovertable fact that the use of Tobacco is the promoting cause of many of the most severe
MENTAL AND PHYSICAL DISORDERS
to which the race of man is subject, as careful analysis and long and painful experience have clearly proven that it contains certain narcotic and poisonous properties most dangerous in their effects, which by entering into the blood derange the functions and operations of the Heart, causing many to suppose that organ to be seriously diseased.
TOBACCO affects also the entire nervous system, manifesting itself—as all who have ever used the noxious weed will testify—in Lassitude, Nervous Irritability, Water Brash, Dyspepsia, and many other disorders of a similar character.
THE TASTE RESTORATIVE TROCHES
are designed to counteract these baneful influences, and have proved entirely successful in a multitude of cases, and wherever used. Being harmless in themselves they exert a beneficial effect upon the system, restoring the taste which has become vitiated or destroyed by great indulgence, completely removing the irritation and accompanying tickling sensation of the Throat—which are always consequent upon abstaining from the use of Tobacco, and by giving a healthy tone to the stomach, invigorate the whole system.
Persons who are irretrievably undermining their constitutions and shortening their lives, should use these Troches immediately and throw off the injurious and unpleasant habit of Tobacco Chewing.

Wolfe's Celebrated Scheidam Aromatic
SCHNAPPS.
This medicinal beverage is manufactured by the proprietor, at Scheidam, Holland, expressly for medicinal use, by a process peculiar to his own Factory. It is the pure Tincture of the Italian Juniper Berry, whose more vinous extract is distilled and rectified with its spirituous solvent, which thus becomes a concentrated tincture of exquisite flavor and aroma, altogether, transcendant in its cordial and medicinal properties to any alcoholic stimulant now made in the world. It is now prescribed by more than 5,000 physicians in the United States, in cases of Gravel, Gout, Dropsy, and Bladder and Kidney Complaints.
Put up in Quart and Pint Bottles, in cases of one dozen qts., and cases of two dozen pts., and for sale by all Druggists and Country Merchants.

Ayer's Pills

Are particularly adapted to derangements of the digestive apparatus, and diseases arising from impurity of the blood. A large part of all the complaints that afflict mankind originate in one of these, and consequently these Pills are found to cure many varieties of disease.

Subjoined are the statements from some eminent physicians, of their effects in their practice.

AS A FAMILY PHYSIC.

From Dr. R. W. Cartwright, of New Orleans.

"YOUR PILLS are the prince of purges. Their excellent qualities surpass any cathartic we possess. They are mild, but very certain and effectual in their action on the bowels, which makes them invaluable to us in the daily treatment of disease."

FOR JAUNDICE AND ALL LIVER COMPLAINTS.

From Dr. Theodore Bell, of New York City.

"Not only are your Pills admirably adapted to their purposes as aperients, but I find their beneficial effects upon the Liver very marked indeed. They have in my practice proved more effectual for the cure of bilious complaints than any one remedy I can mention. I sincerely rejoice that we have at length a purgative which is worthy the confidence of the profession and the people."

DYSPEPSIA — INDIGESTION.

From Dr. Henry J. Ross, of St. Louis.

"The Pills you were kind enough to send me have been all used in my practice, and have satisfied me that they are truly an extraordinary medicine. So peculiarly are they adapted to the diseases of the human stomach, that they seem to work upon them alone. I have cured some cases of dyspepsia and indigestion with them, which had resisted the other remedies we commonly use. Indeed I have expected mentally from them to be effectual in almost all the complaints for which you recommend them."

DYSENTERY — DIARRHŒA — RELAX.

From Dr. J. G. Green, of Chicago.

"YOUR PILLS have had a long trial in my family practice, and I hold them in esteem as one of the best aperients I have ever found. Their alterative effect upon the liver makes them an excellent remedy, when given in small doses in inflammatory and chronic diarrhœa. Their compounding makes them very acceptable and convenient for the use of women and children."

INTERNAL OBSTRUCTION—WORMS—SUPPRESSION.

From Mr. R. Stuart, who practices as a Physician and Midwife.

"I find one or two large doses of your PILLS, taken at the proper time, are excellent promotives of the menses, when they are wholly or partially suppressed, and also very effectual to cleanse the stomach and expel worms. They are so much the best physic we have that I recommend no other to my patients."

CONSTIPATION — COSTIVENESS.

From Dr. J. P. Vimpie, Montreal, Canada.

"Too much cannot be said of your PILLS for the cure of costiveness. If others of our fraternity have found them as efficacious as I have, they should join in proclaiming it for the benefit of the multitude who suffer from that complaint, which, although bad enough in itself, is the prolegomenon of others that are more dangerous in their origination in the liver, but your PILLS affect that organ and cure the disease."

IMPURITIES OF THE BLOOD — SCROFULA — ERYSIPELAS — SALT RHEUM — TETTER — TUMORS — RHEUMATISM — GOUT — NEURALGIA.

From Dr. Enoch Ball, Philadelphia.

"You were right, Doctor, in saying that your PILLS purify the blood. They do that. I have used them of late years in my practice, and agree with your discrimination of their effects. They stimulate the secretories, and carry off the impurities that stagnate in the blood, engendering disease. They stimulate the organs of digestion, and infuse vitality and vigor into the system.

"Such remedies as you prepare are a national benefit, and you deserve great credit for them."

FOR HEADACHE — SICK HEADACHE — FOUL STOMACH — PILES — DROPSY — PLETHORA — PARALYSIS — FITS — &c.

From Dr. Edward Boyd, Baltimore.

"DEAR DR. AYER: I cannot answer you what complaints I have cured with your PILLS better than by saying that I ever tested a purgative so generally useful. I place great dependence on an efficient cathartic in my daily contest with disease, and believing as I do that your PILLS afford us the best we have, I of course will use them freely."

☞ Most of the Pills in market contain Mercury, which, although a valuable remedy in skillful hands, is dangerous in a public pill, from the dreadful consequences that frequently follow its injudious use. These contain no mercury or mineral substance whatever.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral

Has long been manufactured by a practical chemist, and every ounce of it under his own eye, with invariable accuracy and care. It is sealed and protected by law from counterfeits, and consequently can be relied on as genuine, without adulteration. It especially is the most remedy the world has ever known for the cure of all pulmonary complaints; for COUGHS, COLDS, HOARSENESS, ASTHMA, CROUP, WHOOPING COUGH, BRONCHITIS, INCIPIENT CONSUMPTION. Many of the most distinguished clergymen have found it the best relief for their hoarseness, and public speakers find it invaluable to clear the throat and give tone to the voice. Many of our most eminent singers have used it to prepare for a song. Many of our public men have found it a safeguard against the effects of speaking in cold halls and churches. Many eminent physicians have given it to their patients, and have found nothing like it to arrest the progress of lung disease. Many of our most intelligent clergymen have recommended it to their congregations, and have published the fact that it has cured them of bronchitis, and other dangerous lung affections. Many of our most eminent lawyers have found it the best means to keep their faculties in full vigor for the exertion of their profession. Many of our most eminent merchants have found it the best means of preserving their health, amidst the exposures and changes of our climate. Many of our most eminent actors have found it the best means of preserving their voices for the exertion they have to make. Many of our most eminent musicians have found it the best means of preventing a cough or hoarseness from interfering with their exertions. Many of our most eminent public men have found it the best means of preventing their valuable lives from being cut short by pulmonary disease. Many of our most eminent physicians have given it to their own children, when they were in the last stage of consumption, and have seen it cure them. Many of our most eminent clergymen have published the fact that it has cured them of the most dangerous pulmonary complaints, when their life was despaired of by their friends. Many of our most eminent merchants have published the fact that it has cured them of pulmonary complaints, when they were so low that they could not walk across their counting rooms. Many of our most eminent lawyers have published the fact that it has cured them of pulmonary complaints, when they were so low that they could not walk across the court house to plead the cause of their fellow citizens. Many of our most eminent public men have published the fact that it has cured them of pulmonary complaints, when their friends and physicians thought they could not live. Many of our most eminent actors have published the fact that it has cured them of pulmonary complaints, when they were so low that they could not walk across the stage to receive the plaudits of their admiring friends. Many of our most eminent singers have published the fact that it has cured them of pulmonary complaints, when they were so low that they could not sing a note above a whisper. Many of our most eminent public men have published the fact that it has cured them of pulmonary complaints, when their life was despaired of by their friends and physicians. Many of our most eminent physicians have published the fact that it has cured their own children, when they were in the last stage of consumption, and have seen it cure them. Many of our most eminent clergymen have published the fact that it has cured them of the most dangerous pulmonary complaints, when their life was despaired of by their friends and physicians

HENRY DWIGHT.

The railroad swindling now charged on Henry Dwight, of New York, if proved or not disproved, casts Tuckerman quite into the shade, and makes his peculation on the Eastern Road to appear like a trifle.

Some of our readers may have heard mention made of the famous firm of Swindle, Dwindle and Company. Dwight, as the affidavits against him now run, has swindled and dwindled the Chicago, Alton and St. Louis Railroad Company so that the stockholders, bondholders and creditors generally of that institution, as well as several New England banks and New York merchants, are sufferers to the amount of millions of dollars. The affidavits are sworn to by Mr. Samuel M. Blatchford, Stewart Brown, Seabury Brewster, and Chas. Gould, before Judge Russell of New York, charging Henry Dwight, Henry Hotchkiss and Hamilton Spencer, directors and chief managers of the railroad company, with swindling, embezzlement, and sundry other grave offenses. Six warrants were issued against Mr. Dwight on two separate charges of perjury; one for fraudulent issue of coupons, one for the fraudulent issue of canceled bonds, and another for conspiracy. A warrant was issued at the same time for the arrest of Hotchkiss and Spencer on a charge of conspiracy to defraud the creditors of the company. Dwight was arrested on Tuesday, and is in custody, awaiting examination.

Dwight's whole operations comprised about $8,000,000 of railroad property—and he controlled the whole, and played into his own pocket, by getting his confederates and tools, to be directors, agents, &c.

Mr. Charles Gould, one of the deponents, charged that Mr. Dwight pledged $2,000,000 second mortgage bonds for his own private debts; also for the same purpose $230,000,000 income bonds; that being a director in the board, he caused sundry frauds to be committed for his own benefit; that he got into his possession, and used at various times, four million dollars of mortgage bonds; and that none of them were used for the purpose of laying down a double track, as agreed upon by a previous contract, according to which he was to get six millions for laying such track and completing the road from Springfield to Joliet.

THE RELIGIOUS REVIVAL IN AMERICA.—In an article on this subject the London Morning Post says:—

"From the accounts of the great revival in America which have reached this country, it does not seem to have deep seated conviction for its basis, and to be only one of those outbreaks of religious excitement regarded by psychologists as epidemics of slight insanity, the two main characteristics of which are hysterical disorder and evanescence. The 'gift of tongues' which broke out in London some years ago was an epidemic of this description. It was moderate in its spread, though decided in its character. In connection with the religious excitement now prevailing on the other side of the Atlantic, the histories of the old revivals and camp preachings of America and Scotland might be most instructively studied by those who are apt to consider real religion and religious emotion as one and the same thing."

Some of the latter remarks are correct and well-timed.—But the London Morning Post does not fully understand the American character,—and seems not to have clear ideas of the present revival or reformation.

NUISANCES.—Tuesday, May 11, Jeremiah Hartnett was arraigned for keeping a nuisance in Newburyport.

Martin Follen, on a complaint for keeping a nuisance, was discharged, owing to some informality. Martin is the proprietor of a small laboratory in "Elbow Lane," where his leisure time is devoted to compounding and retailing "grave drops."—The three leading varieties kept at this establishment are the "Watch House Elixir," one glass of which has the magical effect of getting its possessor into a row, ending in the lock-up. The "County House Tonic" is another favorite juice squeezed out at this establishment, two glasses of which usually succeeds in obtaining a recommendation for incarceration for a term of months, for the unfortunate culprit who indulges in the too free use of this beverage. The last decoction which Martin has succeeded in perfecting through his indefatigable scientific research, is the celebrated "Paddy Killer," a very soothing, palatable and detonating fluid, one glass of which slightly exhilarates and gently warms the system; the second glass inebriates and very much inflames the stomach; the third glass causes a spontaneous combustion of the whole internal organization.—Herald.

PORTSMOUTH GOING AHEAD.—Notwithstanding the hard times generally, the business of our city is not depressed as it is in many of our neighboring cities. At the present time there is much doing in the way of enlarging, repairing and painting. Besides, quite a number of new buildings are now in progress of erection in many parts of our city, particularly the west part, where the tide of emigration sets. Woodbury street is being widened, and will shortly appear one of the widest in our city, which will add much to the value of land in that vicinity. Several new streets are being laid out from Woodbury street, leading to the parks and mill pond. The owners of land have recently sold from forty to fifty spacious building lots, and the sound of the axe and hammer are already heard on the premises. A park has been laid out on the ground east of the Woodbury mansion, which when graded and enclosed will be quite an ornament to our city. The prospect of business the coming season is perhaps better with us than in most other places of its size in New England.—One thing is certain, if a man wants to obtain a good house he has to look around sharp to find one to suit; and the large increase of building for a few years past, leads us to conclude that there is quite an increase of population in the city of Portsmouth.—Journal.
